Picton (Special) — Acceptance of the offer of Post 78 Canadian Legion to purchase the McMullen Homestead here to be used as a hall and headquarters, was announced yesterday by the trustees of the estate of the late Dr. S. H. Roblin. Members of the Post will meet Thursday night to ratify the purchase and to make plans for its operation. The Legion earlier had made an offer of $10-000 for the estate which is one of the landmarks of the town.

The stone house which contains 25 rooms, was erected in 1860 by the late Walter Ross, an early merchant of this town. It was later taken over by George W. McMullen and twenty years ago was purchased by McMullen's son-in-law, Dr. Roblin, who died last December. Original cost of the house was $80,000 and in recent years it has been thoroughly modernized. It is centrally located on East Main Street.

Miss Reta Chappelle and Miss Lenore Bradden were responsible for the decorations.

Apples the Legendary Fruit

The apple appears in the mythology, tradition, history and even archaeology of most ancient nations. The Romans took apples to Britain. With the settlement of American Colonies the apple cultivation began on this continent.

The story is told of the arrival of the first apple seeds in the west. These were brought around the horn early in the nineteenth century by a group of men of the Hudson's Bay Company. Before leaving home a group of fair ladies presented the seeds to those men so that when the trees grew, the men though far from home, would have something to remind them of England.

Winter apples, firm, cool and juicy are excellent appetisers when eaten raw. When cooked they may be included in menus for every meal. Apple pie still heads the dessert list with most men with apple dumplings competing with apple sauce for second place.

Canned apple sauce is rated as a new comer to the canned food family. It is often a convenience to have a supply on the pantry shelf. It is delicious when served, chilled just as it comes from the can and is a time saver for use in cooked desserts.

2 egg yolks
1-3 cup sugar

Cool slightly, stir in the well-beaten egg yolks, and turn into a baking dish. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, add the 2 tablespoons sugar beating in gradually. Pile on top of first mixture and bake in a moderately slow oven, 325 degrees F., until the top is nicely browned. Serve hot or cold. Six servings.

or

Sift the dry ingredients together and add alternately with the applesauce to the first mixture If raisins are used, sift a little of the dry ingredients over them before adding to cake mixture. Anglican Primate Says Youth Must Take God as Guide

Ottawa, Feb. 10. (CP)—Youth must rise to face the problem of global relations and take as its guide the love of God, The Most Rev. George Frederick Kingston, Anglican Primate of all Canada and Archbishop of Nova Scotia, said last night.

Addressing 1,000 guests from the Ottawa diocese at a reception, Archbishop Kingston said he had confidence that Canadian youth will play its full part in the responsibility of world problems.

Canada's youth had once before risen to the challenge, he said referring to the Second World War, and now Canada again would play a great part in world affairs. Her part would not be selfish but one which would contribute to world peace.

These were times for confidence and steadiness and, with the love of God as a guide, the Christian world would advance toward world peace.

18 Canadian Dental Supply Firms Will Face Trial

Toronto, Feb. 10. (CP)—Mr. Justice G. A. Urquhart ruled Monday that 18 Canadian Dental Supply firms will face trial before an Assize Court jury here Feb. 23 on charges of conspiracy to restrain trade.

Mr. Justice Uruqhart refused a defence motion to quash a grand jury indictment and declined to accept a second motion for more "particulars" of the offences charged by the Federal Department of Health and Welfare.

On behalf of five of the companys named in the indictment, J. W. Pickup said he could not adequately direct a defence on the information supplied by the Crown. He asked for more details and elaboration of the Crown's case.

"The Crown is responsible for its own case and does not have to give more particulars," His Lordship replied. "If they make a mistake they will have to pay for it."

The charges, first of their kind to be laid in Canada, alleges that the companies combined to control dental supplies, including "artificial teeth, refinished dental equipment, previous metals and other articles or commodities used in dentistry."

The indictment charges conspiracy extending from 1930 to 1947 to "unduly prevent or lessen competition in production, manufacture, barter, sale, transportation or supply."

St. Laurent Says No Government Wants Conflict

Quebec, Feb. 10 — (CP)—Despite "inflammable material" existing at the four corners of the world, no government is likely to step into a situation from which war would result, External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said here last night.

Mr. St. Laurent, who spoke at the annual dinner of the Canadian Shoe Retailers' Association, said:

"I don't think any governments want war. I don't think any governments will blunder into any situations which will make war."

He warned that another armed conflict would involve use of atomic weapons 10 times as powerful as the bombs dropped in Japan.

Mr. St. Laurent who was introduced by Association president Harvey R. Pollock of Toronto as "Canada's next prime minister," noted that some newspapers referred to present strained international relations as the "cold war."

"No nations and no peoples, at this time, wish anything but a 'cold war'," he said.

He listed the world danger points: Palestine, Greece, Korea, Indonesia, India and Pakistan whose problems are under study by the United Nations Organization.

Still other problems for the United Nations to settle were atomic control and "proper exercise of the veto which means the very existence of the United Nations."

Last September, Mr. St. Laurent said Canada had taken the decision to stand for election to the security council of which Canadian delegate Gen. McNaughton now is chairman.

"Our faith in the organization was being tested," he said. "The enterprise was not prospering. Its purpose was to dissolve threats to peace and it hasn't been very successful in doing that so far."

Canada had not wanted to "confess lack of faith" in the United Nations, an organization in which the nation could take its part in preventing future world wars, he said.

2 Airmen Killed In Plane Crash

Hendon, Middlesex, England, Feb. 10 — (Reuters) — Two airmen were killed and at least three other persons were severely injured Monday when an Anson aircraft crashed into a trolley bus and then into the wall of a factory near here.

The plane tore the scaffolding from a block of flats as it came down, ripping the standards from the trolley bus and overturned on the pavement, after demolishing the front of the bus.

The driver and conductor of the bus and a passenger were injured. The crash was heard a mile away and ambulances hurried to the scene with firemen and rescue squads.

Urges More Publicity On Potatoes as Food

Toronto, Feb. 9 — (CP)—The Ontario potato industry, with an annual crop valued at $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 is "big business," J. A. Garner, director of extension, Ontario Agricultural Department, today told the Ontario Crop Improvement Association, opening a four-day session here.

Mr. Garner said growers should aim to have Ontario-grown potatoes available for consumers every days of the year. He cited potato imports of 3,500 carlots in 1947 and 5,400 carlots in 1946 as proof of the market still available for Ontario producers.

He said the public is "food-conscious," and advised greater publicity regarding what a dollar will buy in potatoes as compared with other products.

BOMBERS SOON READY

Nanking, Feb. 9 — (Reuters) — One hundred and fifty Canadian-manufactured Mosquito bombers shipped here under a Canadian-Chinese agreement will be ready for service within two weeks, it was learned today.

Six technicians from the De Haviland Aircraft Company at Toronto who will supervise assembling the machines with improvised equipment said they will be able to make two planes serviceable each week.

Catholic Church Totally Destroyed, Loss is $250,000

Smiths Falls, Feb. 10—(CP) — Firemen early today poured water on the embers of historic St. Francis De Sales Roman Catholic church, destroyed yesterday in a two-hour flash fire which swept the huge building with lightning speed. Estimates of the damage has risen from a previous $200,000 to $250,000.

Meanwhile, other town churches placed their facilities at the disposal of the parish and attempts were made to restore the heating system for nearby St Francis separate school.

Located directly across from the ruined church, the school was threatened by the flames and children were hurriedly evacuated by their teacher.

Pumps were put into operation, draining the pipes which carry heat from the church boilers to the school. Pupils may return to their classrooms in a day or two if pipelines are found to be undamaged and fires can be rekindled.

Only the stone walls and steeple of the church were able to withstand the ravaging flames. Firemen of Smiths Falls, Perth and a local manufacturing plant, working in below-zero weather, were able to save the two-ton bell and the church tower. At the peak of the blaze, Re. J. T. Hanley and his curate Rev. D. MacDonald, rescued the sacraments and vestments.

HEAVY GALES IN BRITAIN

London, Feb. 10 — (Reuters) — Winds of near gale force caused widespread damage in Britain Sunday night.

In a village in Durham county an 80-mile-an-hour wind lifted the roof of a house. The five occupants escaped injury.

Seventeen Scottish telephone exchanges were temporarily put out of action by winds. In Northern England many roads were blocked by fallen trees and debris while in several ports small ships were torn from their moorings.

Opposing Opinions Expressed on Arms Shipments to China

Toronto, Feb. 10 — (CP)—Two Toronto residents, recently returned from China, have expressed conflicting opinions on Canada supplying arms to Chinese Nationalist forces.

N. Powell Bowles, former Deputy Chief of Supply in the China office of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, said: "Canada's action in allowing arms to be shipped to the Nationalist government in China is reaping the ill-will of the majority of the Chinese people."

Archdeacon George A. Andrew, Anglican Missionary to China for 29 years, said: "If China is not provided with arms and munitions, we shall soon be looking at things from the point of view of our own safety."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Experienced bridge players are practical. They go after all the big bonuses they can get. But they will seldom sacrifice a sure small slam for a doubtful grand. The boys got a deal like this:

NORTH
♠K 6 4 3
♥K Q 4
♣A 6 4

WEST
♠J 8 5
♥10
♦J 9 8 7 2
♣Q J 9 8

EAST
♠Q 9 7 2
♥J 9 8 3
♦10
♣10 7 3 2

SOUTH
♥A 7 6 5 2
♦K Q 6 3
♣K 5

This is how their bidding went:

South	North
1 H	3 H
4 NT	6 H

An immediate one jump assist in a major suit guarantees five tricks inclusive of two sure. With seven tricks, south was thus able to count at least 12 in their pair.

His four no-trump bid was the ace and king convention. The reply of six hearts is Kibitzer convention signal for showing two aces and two kings. South must decide the final contract.

All the aces and kings are thus known to be in their pair. It is a temptation to try for a grand slam. And many players would, no doubt. But this declarer was sensible enough to pass six hearts.

Before showing you the play that developed, it may be well to comment on the heart assist. Some north players would prefer making a first reply of no-trump instead of the heart assist. Why?

Partners of such players often bid a suit that is not biddable. They bid shaded suits. And for such an assist with only three cards will not always be adequate support.

Horse Sense players, however, do not start with a shaded suit. Consequently we are prepared for an assist with only three cards if at least one of them is a high card.

We may bid a shaded suit later. But only after warning partner it is shaded. Good bridge does not keep partner in doubt.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 10—(AP)—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene:

The "B" pictures are coming back. The much-maligned lower budget films are on the upswing in Hollywood, as part of the industry's readjustment to tighter economic conditions. Warners has its "B's" in production already and MGM has announced a semi-documentary series.

This news may cause some movie customers to groan. But "B's" can sometimes be good pictures. I said sometimes

Calling Dr. Kildare

Lionel Barrymore was asked on the "Key Largo" set if MGM planned to revive his Dr. Gillespie series.

"I hope so," he answered. "Those were good little pictures—moneymakers, too. And look at the stars that came out of them—Van Johnson, Red Skelton, Laraine Day, Lana Turner, Donna Reed and many others" . . .

Van Johnson is reported to steal acting honors in "State of the Union" from stars Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn. In fact, insiders are predicting he'll regain his popularity. The Johnson proves that no new star can continue on top without the aid of a good picture. P S. I hope Paramount is coming up with some better ones for its boy Ladd. . .

More nominations are coming in for the worst picture of 1947. Likely contenders for our razzberry award now include "It Had to be You," "Forever Amber." "Suddenly it's Spring," "Easy Come, Easy Go," "The Corpse Came C.O.D.," "Dead Reckoning," "Magic Town," "Framed." any more suggestions.

Hollywood Sights

Johnny Weissmuller sweating it out at Terry Hunt's health emporium so he can continue playing Tarzan. . . Ann Blyth emphatically denying that she'll stay a blonde (is that so bad?). . . Rita Hayworth distastefully eyeing the 2rd chicken leg she had to gnaw for a difficult eating scene in "Carmen". . . Glenn Ford and Victor Jory stattering on the "Carmen" set after three days of knife fight scenes. . . Edward G. Robinson resoundly slapping Humphrey Bogart in "Key Largo." ("that's all right," asides Bogie, "I kill him at the end of the picture.")

$5,000 Bond Turns Up on Sidewalk

Baltimore, Feb. 9 — (AP) — Samuel B. Ebert's $5,000 United States government bond turned up on a sidewalk near where he was changing trains, but not before the Federal Bureau of Investigation had gotten into the case,

During a wait between trains in Baltimore, he checked to make sure it was still there. It wasn't.

F. B. I. men dashed to Ebert's assistance, on the grounds that the case might involve grand larceny on an interstate train. But before they finished questioning persons in the station the bond was produced by a man who said he found it lying on the ground.

Ebert made his train on time.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York, Feb. 10 (AP)—When a first-rate track star comes into California, that's news. You've heard of plenty coming out of the golden state.. Now Brutus Hamilton, University of California track coach, admits that his prospects in the mile and two-mile run wouldn't be bright this year if a fellow named Kaare Yefling hadn't turned up from Norway... Yefling, who never has had any formal coaching, can run 1,500 metres in 3:53—roughly equivalent to a 4:10 miles—and is strong enough to run two miles the same afternoon.

Maybe that explains why he's so eager to fight, ...Bobby Locke's wife and daughter are visiting in Pinehurst, N.C. While the South African golfer is hitting the tournament trail, Bobby's plan to take time out to see them was cancelled when he heard about a foot of snow on the Pinehurst golf courses.

Cleaning the Cuff

St. Ambrose (Iowa) and Augustana (Illinois) colleges are ending a 55-year-old athletic rivalry tonight with a "rubber" basketball game. Each has won 44 times. Only explanation is that Augustana thinks St. Ambrose is getting two strong...A movie company spent 12 days in Ordner's gym in Los Angeles filming a Federal Bureau of Information picture called "A Street With no Name." Actors included three ex-champs, Girilla Jones, Hal Dade and Chalky Wright, and assorted other fighters and managers.. If it had been the real F.B.I.—or the D.A.—shooting, they probably would have found only guys with no names.

Olympic Champs May Get Chance At Allan Cup

(By The Canadian Press)

President A. W. Pickard of The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said yesterday at Regina "every consideration" would be given a recommendation of the Ottawa and District Hockey Association that the R.C.A.F. Flyers, Olympic Hockey champions be permitted to challenge for the Allan Cup.

Canada's champion blind golfer, Dr. William Oxenham, Toronto Osteopath, will leave Feb. 27 with four other blind Canadians to take part in the Bing Crosby-Bob Hope tournament for sightless golfers at Los Angeles, Calif., March 5-7.

Former star guard with Cleveland Rams, 1945 United States professional football champions, Charles (Chuck) Menzener of Buffalo has signed up with Hamilton Wildcats of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, manager Art McCready said yesterday.

Toronto Maple Leafs will open the hockey season in Ottawa next fall in an exhibition game with Ottawa Senators, T. P. Gorman owner of the Senators announced yesterday. He said it would be the first time in 15 years that any Toronto Maple Leaf team had visited the capital.

Claude Kewley, recruiting for the Scottish Ice Hockey Association, says he will need 30 or 40 more young Canadian players to go to Scotland. Player trials are expected to be held at Toronto in April, for the eight club league.

Gil Dodds was stricken with the mumps yesterday at Boston. Friends say it is doubtful that the "Flying Parson" will run in the Baxter mile in the New York Athletic Club games at New York Saturday.

Marcel Cerdan, French holder of the middleweight boxing championship, last night knocked out Jean Walzack of France in the fourth round of a scheduled 10 round bout at Paris.

Although he garnered only 2 points last week, Carl Liscombe of Providence Reds continues to enjoy a commanding lead in the American Hockey League's scoring race. Liscombe has 82 points made up of 39 goals and 43 assists. In second-place is his teammate Harvey Fraser with 70 points and Indianapolis' Cliff Simpson is third with 60 points.

Hank Greenberg, former major league home run king, conferred with Cleveland Indians' officials last night, and a Tribe spokesman said "it's a fair assumption that Greenberg will sign a contract with the Indians as player coach." Greenberg hit his peak as a slugger when he clubbed 58 homers for the Detroit Tigers in 1938.

Lightweight king Ike Williams scored an easy 10-round non-title decision over Livio Minelli of Milan, Italy, at Philadelphia last night and feels that today he is ready for Ray (Sugar) Robinson, welterweight champ. Williams said he was tired of chasing back-tracking lightweights and was ready for a "man"—like Robinson.

"Ridiculous" Names Raise Cleric's Ire

London, Feb. 10 — (CP) — Parishioners need not expect Rev. W. A. Gibson to baptize their children with "ridiculous" names after film stars, racehorses, greyhounds or battles.

"Already I have refused to baptize three girls because of such names," he said. "One father wanted his child named Lettuce, but I persuaded him to accept the good old-fashioned name of Mary.

"The other two were Vickie and Latta. Goodness knows where the parents got them. They could not tell me. They agreed to other Christian names I suggested.

"The majority of the names I take exception to are those borrowed from American film stars. It is un-English and un-Christian to saddle children with ridiculous fancy names and I intend to do all I can to discourage the practice."

Archbishop Cody Dies Following Lengthy Illness

Saint John, N.B., Feb. 10 (CP)—A life of religious service and adventure was ended today as the Church of England mourned the death of Ven. H. A. Cody, Archbishop of Saint John.

The 75-year-old son of a lumberman who had served St. James Church here for 32 years and previously had spent six years in the Yukon as a travelling missionary died last night following a lengthy illness.

Named Archdeacon of Saint John in 1927, Mr Cody was well known across Canada as the author of more than 20 novels, many of them based on his life in the northland from 1904 to 1910.

Hiram Alfred Cody was born at Cody's, N.B., July 3, 1872, and graduated from King's University, Windsor, N.S., with his Master of Arts Degree in 1897.

In 1904 he enlisted for missionary work in the Yukon after being ordained Deacon of Christ Church Cathedral in Fredericton.

His first novels were written while he still was in the Yukon where he met Robert W. Service, the Canadian author, who became his vestry clerk.

He accepted a call to St. James Church here in 1911 and served until ill health forced his retirement in 1943.

His last novel, "Storm King Benner," was published in 1937. Probably his best known was "The Frontiersman," which later was made into a motion picture.

Little Benny's Note Book

Miss Kitty was telling the class about peace being the best thing there is, and war the werst, and what makes countries fight each other, saying, Now who can tell me the most common cause of war?

Well, in a way, naturelly, Miss Kitty said. But most of the trubble between countries is caused by the fact that the people dont try to understand one another. Everybody unreasonably expects everybody else to be just like themselves, and int's the little differences between countries and races that make all the difference, so to speak. Now unless there are any questions, we will go an to arifmetic, she said.

Sounding like a perfect time to ask questions, and I quick waved my hand, saying, If a Frentchman married a Russian and they both kept on speeking their own language, whose fault would it be that they didn't understand each other?

I'm afraid they would be equally to blame, and that's rather a sensible question, in a way, because many people believe that a common language would solve many of the werld's problems, Miss Kitty said. Now is that all? she said.

Which it wasn't, Artie Bromfield waving and saying, Is it true that canniballs dont eat their best frends more because they're afraid they'll get the indigestion from a bad conscience than because they think it's a wrong thing to do?

I was never a cannibal and I never happened to meet any canniballs, so I'm afraid I dont know, and do you think that was a sensible question? Miss Kitty said, and Artie said, Yes mam.

Does anyone else think so? Miss Kitty said, and everybody raised their hand and some raised 2.

Meening they all did, and Miss Kitty said, Sutch a class.

The result being arifmetic.

Li'l Arthur King Scores T.K.O. Over Webb to Win Canadian Lightweight Title

By WILLIAM H. DUMSDAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Feb. 10 (CP)— A sepia streak flashed from a shiny left shoulder, an ugly gash laid ebony flesh wide open over an already-damaged right eye, and a new king of Canada's lightweight boxers was crowned — Li'l Arthur King.

The Toronto boy who won't be eligible to vote till Feb. 23, last night dethroned another Negro, Danny Webb of Montreal, when he scored a technical knockout in the eighth of a scheduled 12-round bout. As he aveaged a lost decision when the two fighters met 15 months ago, King weighed 134 1-2 pounds, just 1-2 heavier than Webb.

"You could have buried your finger in that cut and it would have endangered Webb's ring future if I had permitted the bout to proceed," said referee Billy Burke, telling of the cut caused by King's left hook. Eight stitches were required to close the wound and in the previous round King opened a cut on Webb's right eye lid.

An in and out fighter since he turned professional two years ago the Zulu-like King, his kinky hair standing straight up, uncorked the right hand he seemed to have strapped to his side in recent bouts as he coasted to a wide lead on points in the first seven rounds.

But it was Li'l Arthur's rapier-like left which did most of the damage and brought roars of approval from the 7,500 fans who paid about $14,500 to see the title change hands in the first Canadian championship contest here in a decade.

King Given Edge

On The Canadian Press score card King gained an edge in five of the first seven heats, with the third and fifth even.

The new champ showed his superiority over the 26-year-old Webb in the sixth round when he staggered the former titleholder with two left hooks. Webb was noticeably hurt and from that point on King beat him to the punch on every exchange.

Brightest fighter among the preliminary boys was Harvey Mathe, Sudbury French-Canadian lightweight, who gave away 6 1-2 pounds to 140 1-2 pound Leo Schott of Detroit. Mathe sent Schott down with a right cross to the chin in the third round and although the Detroiter struggled to his feet, the referee ruled he had been counted out.

Another son of Sudbury, Wild Wilf Sauve, 185 1-2, rough-housed his way to an unpopular 4-round split decision over Keith Prosser, 199 1-2, of Toronto. Jackie Dugan, 161 3-4, of Peterborough was impressive in his professional debut, as he outpointed Billy Fifield, 159, of Toronto.

In the curtain-raiser, hard-hitting Irishman from Dublin, Frank O'Connor, 147 1-2, took an easy verdict in four rounds from Kippy Dumas, 148 1-4 of Detroit.

CANADIAN SPORT SNAPSHOTS

By BOB JELLISON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Halifax, Feb. 10—(CP)—Sport writers seldom get professionally romatic, especially on a national scale, but the professionally of La Belle Scott's success and the recent visit of Mary Pickford to her native Toronto has been too much for the sentimental old heart of Alex Nickerson.

He nominates the Ottawa queen as heiress apparent and logical successor to the throne of "Sweetheart of the World,' vacated by La Belle Pickford, he says, when silent films bowed out.

From that year to this, Canada never produced another candidate for this sweetheart business. But Barbara Ann now is the most publized member of her sex (female) since the original glamor girl from Manhattan, Brenda Frazier, started using Ponds.

The Olympic performance that ended Friday has left the Canadian champion with no new worlds to conquer, sighs Nick. She has won every skating crown in sight and is likely to retain them for a long time.

The best charge her adversaries can muster against her is that she lacks showmanship. To this Nick says only "possibly" but in such a way to doubt what business a sweetheart has in being a showman anyway.

In addition to merely being highly gracious and decorative, Barbara Ann has a smile that makes her the best ambassador Canada ever made.

Alex says "we greatly doubt" that she will turn professional, despite European dispatches. The world of Hollywood and bright lights lies ahead.

Soviet vs Canada Hockey Causes Real Controversy

Moscow, Feb. 10. (Reuters)—A controversy has developed among sporting circles in the Soviet Union on the subject of Canadian hockey versus the traditional Russian hockey, "Hockey Bendy' 'as it is called a form of football on ice played on a field 100 yards long by 65 wide.

The Communist newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda complained that Soviet Sports authorities were encouraging the new Canadian game, "with unusually rough methods, typical of the Bourgeois West" and pushing into the background the Russian game.

"The small size of the icefield (in Canadian hockey) does not come from a good life", the newspaper said.

"The games in Canadan hockey take place the whole year round, mainly in closed buildings, on artificial ice hence the small field and the small number of players (six). The question is have we to cram ourselves when we have a long winter and big skating stadiums?"

This year for the first time, the U.S.S.R. championship is being fought out in Canadian hockey, first introduced in the Soviet Union in a big way last year, whereas in Russian hockey there are only all-union cup competitions.

The all-union committee of Physical Culture and Sports ruled this winter that those competing in championships must play either the Canadian game or Russian hockey, but not both. As a result, many of the leading Russian hockey players have switched to the Canadian game.

Russian hockey, played between teams of 11 without substitutes, requires a ball instead of a puck. There is no play behind the goal, which is on the baselines. Offside rules are roughly the same as football.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

According to the latest official standing of the Senior "B" group hereabouts Belleville's Veterans, who got the disdainful glances of Lady Luck on Saturday night when cavorting around the Kingston Saints' net, are now two points behind the third place Saints but with a game in hand.

• • •

At present, the Redshirts have the better of the moral and mental advantage for they have two games to play and both at home. They meet the loop-leading Peterborough Hockey Club who absorbed a 6-4 defeat at the hands of the Petes Legion on Friday night, here on Wednesday, and on Friday night they will be hosts to the second - place Legionnaires.

• • •

And almost anything can happen. The Saints face a more or less terrific chore on Friday when they clash with the Petes Hockey Club in the Omemee band - box, and that squad has yet to take a licking on their adopted ice. If they take the Saints on Friday, and our lads knock off the Petes on Wednesday, then Kingston and Belleville are all even-stephen and everything will hinge on the Legion - Reds game fish - day gloaming. On the other hand, if the Saints vanquish the Petes, our buckaroos must beat both Peterborough teams to earn a tie with the Saints and that will mean a playoff squabble for 3rd slot.

• • •

Blonde Barbara Ann Scott, Canada's superb ballerina of the ice, who won Sonja Henie's Olympic figure-skating crown last week with a dazzling display of grace and beauty will make her first public appearance in Canada in Montreal in late April when she will skate at the Kinsmen Carnival, according to a Montreal announcement.

• • •

There's plenty of hockey on tap this week for the fans, with the Midgets and Juveniles holding the spotlight here on Thursday night. Memorial Arena will be the scene of a double-header that evening when the Belleville Merchants Midgets, conquerors of Trenton meet their intra-city rivals the Inter-Service Club Midgets in the first game of a goals-to-count first round playdown series.

• • •

In the second game the Inter - Service Club juveniles meet the Trenton juveniles in their first round playdowns. It will be the first appearance of the Inter - service teams on Belleville ice in actual competition, and from reports of ticket sales there should be a bumper crowd on hand to see the youngsters perform. The Inter-service Mids defeated a Point Anne team last week, and they should give a good account of themselves against friendly enemies the Merchants kids.

• • •

While we have not seen the Belleville juveniles in action, we had a gander at them in a brief practice session. They are a big husky crew and should give a good account of themselves.

• • •

• • •

Incidentally, the winner of the juvenile clash between Belleville and Trenton will go on to meet the winner of the Bowmanville - Port Hope series in the next round. And while on the subject of the kids' double-header, there will be a handsome door prize given away, so hang on to that ticket stub bearing the lucky number.

Looked in on a rehearsal of the Quinte Skating Club's 1948 ice extravaganza over the week end and if their performance on the blades, collectively and individually can be judged a criterion, then their show scheduled for Feb. 20-21st. of this month should be one of the most colorful spectacles in the history of the organization.

Over 150 members of the club will form the cast of the show, which is replete with novelties, pageants, pantomimic spectacles and the blade artisfry of the stars of the club. We can't give away any secrets as yet, but take it from this desk, that the 1948 edition of the Quinte will be well worth the price of admission. And Prexy Clare Ridley informs us that there will be a special matinee given on Saturday, February 21st.

• • •

Flashing up and down the ice-lanes in the spectacle will be such local stars as Clare Ridley, Betty McNally, Wilma Graham and Doris Kerr who will be seen in singles, and Marylin and Doris Kerr, a sister act who will perform in a doubles number. A special skit will feature Stan Keay, Rae Lancaster, Jim Calnan, Everett Close and Ruben Kline. Another comedy act will see Clare Ridley and Jack Dickens at their funniest.

• • •

Special attractions of the show will be a galaxy of stars from the Toronto Skating Club. Popular here in former shows will be beautiful Francis Dafoe who will do a single as will the Misses Sally Blogg, and Marlene Smith. Seen in doubles will be Miss Bessie Henry and Mr. W. A. deNance, and Miss Bette Wrinch and Mr. M. Thornton Opie. In charge of the Toronto party will be Mrs. Wrinch.

• • •

The entire troupe is undergoing stiff rehearsals in an effort to make their show this year one of the best ever produced. It will have variety, color, special features, and brand new musical effects. It should be a must for those who like color, beauty, and artistry in their winter sports diet.

• • •

We have just been informed that the Trenton - Belleville juvenile game here Thursday night will be the second game of the series. The teams clash in the initial encounter in Trenton on Wednesday night, so Thursday's joust will be that more important.

• • •

Years ago before the official entry into the ball-and-chain class, and we could afford to play golf, we sliced a drive off the second tee on the Picton course. The drive went for a club record travelling three miles before it came to earth. The pellet landed slap-bang into the middle of a load of hay proceeding along the road across which we had to drive. Now the record's gone blooey. The other day in Newcastle, S. Africa, another dub sliced the ball. It landed on top of a car on a freight train travelling towards Durban, 200 miles away.

• • •

Tonight's hockey tidbit at Memorial Arena sees the Port Hope Ontarios clash with the Trenton RCAF flyers. The game is an important one for both squads as on the result may hinge their playoff chances. Flyers are in third slot behind Trenton Town and Cobourg with the Ports slightly below in the cellar slot. In any event the game should be a rousing affair and the fans should not miss this classy Intermediate "A' tilt.

BOY'S HAND CAUGHT IN VENDING MACHINE

Miami, Fla., Feb. 10 — (AP) — When Carl Engle, nine, put his dime in the ice cream vending machine at a downtown theatre Sunday and no ice cream came out, he stuck his hand in the slot to see what was wrong. It took two policemen and the fire department's emergency squad to get his hand out again. He was not injured.

Lou Marsh Trophy Awarded To Barbara Ann Scott

Toronto, Feb. 10. (CP)—Barbara Ann Scott has been awarded the Lou Marsh trophy for 1947 as the year's outstanding sports competitor, Elwood A. Hughes, chairman of the five-man selection board, announced today.

Miss Scott, who won the award in 1945, is the only person to be named twice by the committee. The Board's decision was based on Barbara Ann's victories in world and European competitions in February last year.

For the second time in three years, Barbara Ann last month was named the Dominion's most outstanding woman athlete by the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada and was awarded the W.A.A.F.'s rose bowl. This award confirmed the opinion of Canadian Sports editors, who earlier this year, in a Canadian Press poll, voted Barbara Ann in top position among Canadian women athletes in 1947.

RECORD'S 70TH BIRTHDAY

Kitchener, Feb. 10 — (CP) — The Kitchener - Waterloo Record Monday observed its 70th birthday anniversary. Its forerunner, the Daily News, came out for the first time Feb. 9, 1878, the first daily newspaper in this city, then named Berlin.

Lip-Tatooing For Race Horses Not Yet Decided

Toronto, Feb. 10 — (CP)—The Toronto Daily Star said Monday it had received a telegram from James Heffering, Incorporated Canadian Racing Associations chairman, stating that the I. C. R. A. had discussed and considered lip - tattoing as a means of identifying thoroughbred race horses but had "not reached any decision regarding its adoption."

Mr. Heffering, wintering at Coral Gables, Fla., had been previously reported as announcing that lip-tattoing of all horses racing under I. C. R. A. jurisdiction would be invoked on Ontario tracks next summer.

A hard-fighting underdog gang of Belleville Rockets flashed back into the Junior "B" hockey picture in Kingston Monday night, defeating the fast-travelling Kingston Vics 5-4 to even the three-of-five playoff series at one victory each.

The game was one of the best seen on Kingston ice this season. Rockets flashing a more or less spectacular brand of hockey and operating under new supervision were full value for their win in a game the score of which just about indicates the difference between these two classy junior squads.

Entirely unaffected by the vaunted prowess of their starry opponents who were heavy favorites to take the series in a clean sweep, the Rockets uncorked a brand of offensive and defensive hockey against the Vics that finally paid off on the scoreboard.

Hard-Checking Game

It was a close hard-checking game throughout with the Belleville team grabbing a lead early in the second period which they never relinquished. Vics pulled about every trick they had in their hockey war-bags to cop the nod for their second straight win of the series, but the Rockets long-dormant ability at last flashing to the surface, roared to the attack in offensive and defensive play that paid off in goals or threw the desperate Vics back on their haunches.

But it was no walkover for the local squad. Vics went all out to grab the laurel wreath, and as was mentioned before, Kingston fans saw some of the best hockey pastiming flashed on the Harty ice this season.

Joe Nolan finally came into his own last night behind the Belleville bluelines. The lanky defenceman played the best game of his career as a Rocket and climaxed a brilliant effort with a neat solo goal in the second period. Tommy Schreider also played brilliantly on the defence while up front Angy Defelice with two goals and two assists paced the Rocket attack aided by brilliant work by Don Semark and Johnny Green.

Goalies Stand Out

LeFort and Stone in the respective nets stood out with some spectacular plays thwarting many opposing forays as the enemy swept in on their citadels.

Dugan with two goals to his credit was the star for Vics with Flint, Aikens, and Joyce flashing their always outstanding brand of offensive play. Flint and Aikens potted the two remaining Kingston goals with assists from Danby, and Flint getting the helper on the Aiken's marker.

The third game will be played in Kingston next Monday night with the fourth scheduled for Memorial Arena here week from Wednesday.

Only five penalties were handed out by referee Jack McEachern of Toronto these going to Patterson twice, Hurst, Aikens and Don Semark.

The Teams

Buddy O'Connor Well on His Way To Scoring Title

Montreal, Feb. 10. (CP) — Buddy O'Connor appears to be well on his way to copping the National Hockey League scoring title for the first time in his seven-year big league career if he keeps up his steady pace.

The classy New York Rangers' playmaker has led the scoring race for six straight weeks, and official statistics released today show lightweight Buddy with 47 points and five better than Max Bentley of Toronto, and Montreal's Elmer Lach who are deadlocked with 42 apiece.

O'Connor has sniped 20 goals and earned 27 assists in 44 games while Max Bentley and Lach boast identical records—23 markers and 19 helpings.

Three players are tied for fourth spot with 41 points, Detroit's Ted Lindsay and Jim McFadden, and the fast-climbing Norman (Bud) Poile of Chicago Black Hawks.

The sharp-shooting Lindsay is in the van of the goal-getting department with 26 tallies in 46 games, while O'Connor tops the assists column with 27.

Badman honors in the circuit still go to Bouncing Bill Barilko of Toronto, but the Leaf's big blocker has been in a penalty "slump" of late, and is being chased by Kenny Reardon of Montreal, who now has spent 102 minutes in the cooler.

Goalie Harry Lumley of the Red Wings has the best goals-against average among the loop's netminders, having allowed 108 shutouts in 46 games for a 2.34 percentage. Lumley also heads the shutout list with six blankings.

RMC, West Point Cadets to Resume Hockey Series

Ottawa, Feb. 9—(CP)— Cadets of Royal Military College, Kingston, and the United States Military Academy at West Point will resume their traditional annual hockey matches again, Brig. D. R. Agnew, Commandant of R.M.C., announced today.

The famous series was first started in 1923 and was last played in 1942 when West Point won. Since that year the Royal Military College has been closed but it will re-open permanently in September of this year.

It is expected the first game of the postwar series will be played at West Point March 5, 1949, and that the custom of the American and Canadian Cadets visiting each other's colleges on alternate years will be continued.

When the new hockey series starts, West Point Cadets will for the first time be playing against Canadian Navy, Army and Air Force Cadets, since R. M. C. is being opened on a tri-service basis.

The question of trophies is unusual in this international hockey series. In 1923 when R. M. C. defeated West Point, a trophy was presented to the academy from the college as a memento of the first athletic meeting between the sister institutions.

Then in 1939, on the occasion of the West Point initial victory, the academy presented R. M. C. a companion trophy to remain at the college as a pledge of friendship.

The matter of home support also is unusual. It is the practice for half of the home college to cheer for the opposing team, having been well rehearsed beforehand in its rival's yells and cheers. No half-hearted cheering has ever resulted, in fact a stranger at the game would imagine the visiting team to be the home favorite with the large crowd in attendance.

Barrie Flyers Tied for Third With Stratford

(By The Canadian Press)

The extra man coach Joe Primeau used on the attack in the dying seconds of Toronto Marlboros' game last night against Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen paid off for the Dukes.

With the Dutchmen leading 3-2 and only 25 seconds to play in overtime, Primeau yanked goalie Howie Harvey. Marlies got the face-off in Dutchmen's zone, Bob Paul winning the tip. He passed to Johnny McCormack — to Ray Hannigan who beat Keith Woodall in Dutchmen's goal to give the second-place Marlboros a 3-3 tie with the fifth-place Dutchmen in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A tilt at Waterloo.

Stratford Kroehlers walloped the eighth-place Guelph Biltmores 10-6 at Galt and Barrie Flyers won their 20th victory in 33 tries by defeating the seventh-place Toronto Marlboros 5-4 at Barrie leaving Stratford and Barrie still tied on the junior loop's third rung.

Leo Curik gave Primeau's Dukes a first-period 1-0 lead at Waterloo. The Dutchmen took a 2-1 second-frame lead on goals by George Zuk and Sparky Weiler.

Al Buchanan scored the Toronto tying counter at the 18:45 mark of the third session, Art Hurst put Kitchener-Waterloo ahead in the overtime period but Hannigan tied it up again.

In the Galt tilt Guelph led 6-2 at the 11:36 mark in the second period but Stratford's Ken Candler sparked Kroehlers with his hat trick within six minutes after Biltmores' final goal and Stratford notched their other 5 counters in a final splurge.

Other Stratford marksmen were Dinny Flanagan, Elwood Small and Pierre Cadieux with two goals each while George Armstrong scored the other. Guelph snipers were Glen Sonmor and Yacker Flynn with two goals each, Ed Bolan and Neil Gordon.

Jerry Reid notched Barrie's winning counter with one second left in the game and scored another to lead the Barrie attack. Bill Barrett, Gil St. Pierre and Stan Long scored Flyers' other counters. Toronto goal-getters were Bill Ford with two, Bobby Hassard and Ray Timgren.

Brantford Redmen visit Owen Sound Mercurys in tonight's only senior game. There are four junior fixtures slated with Barrie at Toronto Marlboros, Guelph at Toronto St. Michael's, Toronto Young Rangers at Stratford and Galt at Windsor.

Stewart, Kennedy Latest Additions To Century Club

Montreal, Feb. 10 — (CP) — Gaye Stewart, Chicago Black Hawks' fast - skating forward and Toronto's Ted (Teeter) Kennedy are the latest additions to the National Hockey League's select century club — made up of active players who have scored 100 or more goals.

When Stewart beat Montreal goalie Bill Durnan late in the third period of last Thursday's Hawks - Canadiens game, he became the 18th member of the club. Kennedy, the only other player to reach the century mark this season, turned the trick on Jan. 25.

Strange as it may seem, the cellar - dwelling Chicago Black Hawks have the greatest representation. The Hawks have five members in the select circle, — Stewart, Doug Bentley, Red Hamill, Bill Mosienko and Roy Conacher.

Toronto's second - place Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens have four each. Boston Bruins have three representatives and New York Rangers two. Detroit Red Wings, youngest team in the N. H. L. and in first place, do not have a player in the century club.

Syl Apps with 192 goals ranks as runner - up to Blake. The other Leaf members are Nick Metz, Kennedy and Max Bentley.

LEARNING ELECTRONICS

ONTARIO'S products are desired and purchased by people all over the world, and the capacity to produce such goods largely determines the economic welfare of every man, woman and child within her borders. Because the sale of every article produced in Ontario brings valuable dollars into this Province, we are all more assured of job security ... and we and our children can have more of the better things in life. But to produce such goods in sufficient quantities, skilled labour is vital. That is why every single one of us should be glad that war veterans are constantly being trained to provide the skilled hands so needed by Ontario industry. They receive ON THE JOB training under expert instructors in our Ontario factories.

This training, provided through the co-operation of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Federal Department of Labour and the Ontario Department of Education, starts the veteran off on the road to skilled craftsmanship. Radio, television and the field of industrial electronics all offer outstanding opportunities for skilled technicians and because Ontario's electronics products are eagerly purchased by countries the world over, every effort of these newly skilled veterans helps to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and contributes to the welfare and happiness of all her citizens.

ELECTRONICS

Stanley Barlow, 21, and S. R. Inkster, 26, both of Toronto, and both former members of the Royal Canadian Air Force, are typical of the hundreds of veterans who have been trained in schools and ON THE JOB.

Here they check the measurements and performance characteristics of an electronic control device for control of motor speeds. This instrument was designed and constructed by these two veterans under supervision of an electronics expert.

Adventure in Love

By Kathryn Bemis Wilson

CHAPTER 13.

A swim? No, she didn't care to swim. But it might give her the exact stimulus she needed. It might freshen her brain, give her inspiration. Goodness knew, she needed inspiration this morning. Clarence had been a kind neighbor during their stay at camp. She liked him immensely. Now that she was leaving, if her being with him annoyed Maude, so much the better. She was in the mood deliberately to annoy her, to let her boil in torment for having been cruel to a girl who expected only loving consideration in this family.

"I'll be right down, Clarence," she said, sounding like her old brisk self. "I'm glad you called."

Velma in bright yellow bathing suit and sandals to match, was a colorful, vibrant creature as she ran across the white sand to meet Clarence Pell.

He grabbed both her hands, swung her around and around in a circle until she was dizzy, laughing and begging for mercy. "Stop —Clarence —please!" she cried.

He obeyed, but did not release her. His little blue eyes, on a level with her own wide brown ones, were filled with something resembling worship.

"I'm going to miss you, Velma," he said, his round face paling under its tan. "Mother likes the fall down here, so we generally don't go back to town until November. But—I could run up to see you—almost any time."

It was an embarrasing moment for Velma.

Clarence Pell was far too earnest. Velma dreaded to hurt him. She gently withdrew her hands from his, said slowly, "But—I may not be inCarryville."

"I've been discharged," she said, with a twinkle in her eyes.

He burst into uproarious laughter. Finally, he scowled. "Discharged? Why, those Clark halfwits couldn't compose a letter, much less get it down in black and white! They're impossible! How'll they get along without you? Their manners are bad—their executive ability worse."

"I can't consider all that. I've been staying on to finish a few things I started for Marie, to settle everything as she'd like to have it settled. I wasn't planning to be a permanent fixture at the Clarks."

"You poor kid." He laid a pudgy hand on her arm.

If he weren't so seriously sweet, she could laugh at the figure he made in his green and red striped thrunks. They made him look like one of those fat baloon dolls sold by venders at busy street corners.

She turned away, began wading into the lake. She said, over her shoulder, "I'm a working woman, you know. I'll have to get busy on another job."

"That's too bad," he remarked, waddling beside her.

"Why I like being busy. I like to be a wage-earner. It makes me feel important. If—" her brown eyes became wistful, "if I only could find a congenial job,"

"What can you do?"

She gave him a quick glance. She remembered hom scornfully Flanders Smith had asked that very question. But Clarence's countenance was blandly cherubic. Plainly, he was trying to help her solve her problem.

"I—I think I'd like to model. I understand it pays fairly well."

"Let's discuss it," he suggested, swinging himself up on the pier.

He pulled her up beside him. They sat there, dandling their bare feet in the soothingly cool water.

"I might be able to find something for you," he said.

She turned to him brightly. "Oh, could you? Have you thought of a position I could fill?"

"I certainly have!" His small blue eyes held the loyality pampered by this young women, and was worried for fear he never would be.

"If I could be fortunate enough to have a girl like you—for my wife—that would be something."

Her brows knitted. Oh dear, was he proposing to her? It was a splendid opportunity as far as financial rating went—his father manufactured a famous automobile—but it was no opportunity she desired.

"There are so many girls, Clarence. You'll find one. I'm not through flapping my wings yet. To me, marriage seems so futile-prosaid. Perhaps I'll never dare take a chance on it."

"I—see," he said, in a disappointed tone.

She slid into the lake. "Let's get in our swim," she cried, with forced gaiety. "I should be packing this very minute—and here I am gallavanting around with the most eligible man here' bouts!" She made her laugh sound merry.

"Wait!" he ejaculated, plunging beside her. "I've just thought of something! I know a woman who's opened a smart gown shop in Carryville. Mae Forland! If I give you a letter to her, she might take you on to model."

"Oh, that would be marvelous!"

"She's mother's distant cousin. We're interested in seeing her make a success of the venture. If she had ou to show off her stock—that would be something!"

"I'll go to town tonght and see Mae Forland in the morning—if you'll be kind enough to give me that letter."

"You can have it, my dear—and may luck be with you!"

He neglected to add that his mother was financing Mae's latest business venture, and his suggestion to Mae that she hire Velma Wilkins would ge equal to a command, especially if he paid the model's salary out of his own pocket. Instinctively, he realized that Velma must never know this. But he was desparately fond of her and a position in Carryville would at least enable him to keep in touch with her.

"I don't know how to thank you, Clarnce. You're really—a very precious man."

A flush came through his dark tan. "Adults who flush usually have nice dispositions," thought Velma. Clarence was, after all, a real friend. She hoped she never again would think of him as ludicrous.

Armed with a letter of introduction to Mae Forland, Velma boarded the midnight train for Carryville. Maude Clark had bidden her a condescending au revior and glared impatiently when Clarenec Pell came to take her to the station in his car. Velma thought it considerate of him and appreciated his attention. He had secured her tickets, including one for a drawing-room, which he insisted he be allowed to give her as a parting tribute. She accepted it graciously, as coming from a devoted friend. Anyway, it was blessed relief to be alone, away from the proximity of her fellow travellers, where she could think over the events of the preceding months and wonder at the changes wrought by them.

In Marie Clark, she had lost a valuable ally, but gained the certain hostility of her two daughters. This was disappointing. But it had been unavoidable. One of them had brazenly insulted her, and the other had snatched away the only man she had ever loved. Her visit at the Clarks' had been destined for failure from the very start.

Before going to bed, she read a rambling letter Millie Roberts, who still wrote her intermittently. "Flanders Smith's engagement to Virginia Dewey has just been announced," was the first sentence. Velma gasped in astonishment, and read on. Velma's old crowd was, it seemed, agog with the news. They were giving many parties for the bride-to-be. Flanders was receiving the kotows of the climbers, and the wedding date was set for Christmas.

"The—the cad!" She said to herself. "Perhaps this time he will succeed in getting real money! Virginia will be taken in by him just as I was. Love? Why, Flanders knows nothing about love! Poor Virginia!"

She crawled into bed at last, filled with gratitude. At least the smash of her fortunes had prevented her from leaping into a grave matrimonial error. How miserable she would have been married to a man of Flanders' caliber! How right her father had been about him! Oh, how sorry she was that she had ever worried her darling parent about such a fortune-hunter! Tears welled in her eyes as the music of swifty whirling wheels on rails lulled her into slumber.

t Mae Forland was a tall, arrogant woman of not less than forty, pretending with her bobbed, hennaed hair, plucked eyebrows and wide staring eyes to be far under the unwelcome age. She was, in grooming and poise, smartness personified. Her sharp-pointed features were prominently accented by a face haggard from relentless dieting. But her black wool frock fitted her beautifully thin figure like a glove, and she moved too quickly and efficiently to allow any one, particularly customers, to dwell on much else but what they came to the shop to think about. Clothes! The Forland Shoppe had them in imported models, in domestic models, in models that any woman, and quite frequently men, couldn't resist purchasing, in spite of the high price scale for a small city like Carryville.

DON Velma was intrigued with the deep-napped carpet, modernistic metal deck chairs, and crystal and chromium electroliers. She adored the small glass tables holding perfumed cigarettes, red matches and yellow ash trays, and the exquisitely appointed miniature stage for the parading of fashionable wearing apparel. It seemed utterly Parisian and much too good to be true—this charming little shop to which Clarence Pell had directed her.

She gave Mae Forland one of her most engaging, vivacious smiles and said, "I have a letter from Mr. Pell. He thought you might need a model."

Miss Forland tried to fix Velma with the formidable glance she fastened on all persons in her employ. It kept them in their places, she felt. But this pretty girl, standing so eagerly before her, was so happy a surprise that she nearly unbent. Clarence and she had had a lengthy telephone conversation last night concerning the hiring of Velma Wilkins, and Mae had been skeptical. She couldn't believe that Clarence was a good judge of women. Why! The girl was a find! She had everything! She had beauty, clothes sense, and elegance of manner that would put the finishing touches on this smart salon.

PRINCE HARALD OF DENMARK REPORTED ILL

Copenhagen, Feb. 10 — (AP)— A source close to the Danish Royal Family said today that Prince Harald, 71, brother of the late King Christian, is suffering from pneumonia. His general condition was described as "not too promising."

RUSSIANS CHARGE

Publish Long Statement

"Hitlerite aggression became possible firstly because the United States of America helped the Germans establish, within a short period of time after the (First World) War an economic base for German aggression and secondly because the rejection of collective security by ruling Anglo-French circles disorganized the ranks of peace-loving countries."

All Moscow newspapers published the long statement in full, but made no editorial comment. The official statement said the documents mentioned would be published "shortly."

The information bureau charged:

1. A "golden rain of American dollars . . . fertilized heavy industry for Hitler Germany and in particular her war industry."

2. "It was the billions of American dollars invested by overseas monopolies in the war economy of Hitler Germany that re-established Germany's war potential and placed into the hands of the Hitler regime the weapons it needed for aggression."

3. In 1934 Britain and France manoeuvred a non-aggression pact between Germany and Poland which was instrumental "in the preparation of German aggression."

The statement asserted that American financial aid to a beaten Germany after the First World War enabled the former Reich quickly to re-establish a powerful war industry.

The Russians said publication of Nazi documents by the United States was done without "carefull, objective verification" and "could only lead to a worsening of relations between the member states of the anti-Hitlerite coalition.

"The statement of Anglo-American circles does not correspond to fact."

ARE YOU PAYING TOO MUCH INSURANCE

Sometimes a man, who is already carrying several kinds of insurance to protect his various interests, resents it when an insurance man comes along and suggests that he needs certain additional coverage to make his protection adequate. He usually feels that he is already struggling under a big enough load of insurance premiums and the thought of adding to the burden is repugnant to him, but it is the conditions under which we live in this modern age which have made so many lines of insurance necessary.

Our manner of life has become more complex, our labor more specialized. At the present time a man's home and its contents is often equal in value to the money he could save from earnings in ten, fifteen or twenty years. If it is destroyed by fire, it is a real disaster, unless there is insurance to more or less cover the loss.

Nowadays almost every family seems to have an automobile. Liability has attached to automobile ownership since the first car appeared on the highway, and because this liability can become such a crushing load, a man generally realizes that it is wise to insure.

With the change from an agricultural to an industrial age, we have reached a stage where our whole mode of life is geared to money. So that now it is often a major disaster for the family if anything interferes to stop that inflow of money. Some plan is needed which will provide financial protection at reasonable cost. Life, accident and sickness insurance policies are well-designed to do so.

The premium charge is simply a measure of the hazard or hazards involved. No one is under an obligation to buy most lines of insurance, but no one can escape bearing his share of the hazards, even if he carries no insurance.

INSTRUCTION FOR WARNING

London, Feb. 10 — (CP)—War Minister Shinwell said in the House of Commons he favored boxing instruction for soldiers in spite of a warning by Ian Mikardo, Labor member for Reading, that this sport taught a man to love his enemies.

Announcement Of Increases For Veterans Expected

Ottawa, Feb. 10. (CP)—Loud and repeated cries of student veterans that their living allowances are inadequate now are before the Cabinet and it is considered probable in informed quarters that there will be an announcement of increases within the near future.

The announcement may come from Prime Minister Mackenzie King at the same time that the discloses the government's intention to go beyond the increases he outlined last Dec. 19 for disabled pensioners and war widows. That should be within the next two weeks.

Veterans Minister Gregg gave an inkling of the students' increase in the Commons yesterday after T. A. Kidd (PC—Kingston City) asked him "when can the veterans at present attending University expect an announcement regarding their application for extra assistance or a cost-of-living bonus?"

Mr. Gregg replied that "a statement on the matter will be made just as soon as possible."

The single veterans have been getting $60 a month and married veterans $80 plus $12 for a first child and $10 for a second in addition to their books and fees and allowances for commuting.

It is believed that the Cabinet's decision will bear particularly on the case of the veteran with children, since the single man and the married man with no children are in better position to combat living costs.

In the case of the Pensions' increases, the Cabinet has paid considerable attention to the long-term effects because once there are jumps it would be practically impossible to revoke them even if living costs went far down. In the case of the students, however, the whole thing likely will be finished within a few years.

No Solution Seen For Critical Gas Shortage

Windsor, Feb. 10 —(CP)— Its three-week-old natural gas famine today found Western Ontario still with thousands idle, scores of plants closed, possibility of emergency fuel and relief vouchers — and definite assurance of no solution unless cold weather subsides.

Mayor Arthur Resume of Windsor said Provincial Fuel Controller A. R. Crozier yesterday told him there will be no gas today — and probably none for the rest of the week.

Meanwhile, border city union leaders said about $2,000,000 in wages has been lost since the frigid spell and shortage struck the city. At the weekend, Windsor had 24,899 jobless, National Employment Service offices announced.

City officials said return to relief voucher systems of the depression '30s is being considered and, in any event, they expect emergency food and fuel relief will cost at least $20,000.

All hopes for easing of the paralysis that struck more than 10 Western Ontario communities are based in advent of four or five mild days to allow gas pressure storage for industrial use.

No gas for industrial use is flowing to Galt, Hespeler, Woodstock, Paris, London, St. Thomas, Ingersoll, Dutton and Lambeth. Dominion Natural Gas Company said gas made from bitane is being supplied to Brantford domestic consumers.

Hamilton was warned by Fuel Controller Crozier that it is facing a critical shortage and the city may have to ration supplies.

11 BLIND CHILDREN FIND WAY TO SAFETY FROM FIRE

Pittsburgh, Feb. 10 — (AP) — Marching in single file as they had been taught, 11 blind children found their way to safety Sunday night when fire broke out in the school for the blind. The youngsters, ranging in age from five to 10, were sleeping on the school's second floor when the blaze started.

Union of Protestant Churches Long Time in Future Says Anglican Primate

Ottawa, Feb. 10—(CP)—Most Rev. George Frederick Kingston, Anglican Archbishop of Nova Scotia and Primate of all Canada, has announced that the General Synod of the Anglican Church will be held in Halifax in early September, 1949.

At a press conference, the Primate said it was decided this week by church authorities to hold the Synod in Halifax where the oldest Anglican Church in Canada, St. Paul's, will celebrate its 200th anniversary.

This will be the Primate's first general synod since his election to succeed the late Primate Derwyn T. Owen.

Archbishop Kingston said that the General Synod will present a memorial to mark the 200th anniversary of St. Paul's which was established as a royal foundation in 1749. The ancient wooden church is still intact and it is believed to be one of the oldest Protestant Churches in the British Overseas Dominions.

(Believe In Union)

Turning to the question of union of Protestant churches in Canada, The Primate said all parties believed in the ultimate accomplishment of union but "would admit it will be a long" time before complete union is possible.

He said at present the Anglican Church and the United Church are discussing the matter in relation to "a mutually acceptable ministry."

The tall, white-haired Primate said he foresaw the eventuality of a reunion of all Christendom. The reunion of the Christian world was, of course, a thing of the far future but there was no reason why it could not be brought about through co-operation of both Protestant and Catholic churches.

This was, like the reunion of Protestant churches in Canada, a matter which could not be pushed. It must be entered into carefully and after consideration.

(Will Attend World Council)

One thing which might help to reunite the Christian world was the world council of churches. The council will hold its first meeting in Amsterdam, Aug. 24—Sept. 4 and Archbishop Kingston said he will represent the Anglican Church in Canada at the conference following the Lambeth Conference in London, July 14 to Aug. 12.

The Lambeth Conference is a meeting of all Bishops in the Anglican Communion originally called every 10 years by the Archbisop of Canterbury. Because of the war, this year's conference will be the first since 1930.

Problems of the church and its place in the lives of members will be discussed. It is a purely consultative body with no legislative power but its findings will be published after the conference.

Archbishop Kingston will preach June 29 in St. Paul's while in London on the occasion of the 250th anniversary of the Society for the Promotion of Christian Knowledge, an organization, the Primate said which has done much in the past to spread Christian knowledge throughout the world.

The Primate said that the Social Service will take an active part in the Canadian Appeal For Children. The appeal has an objective of $10,000,000 to buy food for European children.

Archbishop Kingston has accepted a position as one of the patrons of the appeal.

Drew Against Over-Valuing Canadian Dollar

Timmins, Feb. 10 (CP) —Ontario Premier Drew said yesterday in an address to a joint luncheon of the Kiwanis Club and the Board of Trade that every country which over-valued its money in relation to the United States dollar was asking for trouble. He added that Canada was one such country.

After asserting his belief, expressed in previous addresses elsewhere, that many of this country's problems would be solved if Canada's dollar were allowed to find its own level in international exchange, he said:

"I would like to see the Canadian dollar at par with U.S. funds or even at a premium. But I am convinced the only way it can ever get there with advantage to the people of Canada is to let it reach its own proper level as quickly as possible. Then by increased domestic production and export trade, let the dollar work its way upward with a value which has a direct relationship to our increased production and expanding international trade."

KILLED BY TRAIN

Henry Sokall, 64, was killed when he attempted to cross an intersection in front of the train.

An hour earlier the same train struck a car driven by Mrs. Wesley Harp, 19, as the car skidded on the tracks. The three occupants leaped to safety before the crash.

Milk Co-Op In Toronto Mooted To Cut Prices

Toronto, Feb. 10 (CP) — A move to establish a co-operative milk organization here will be discussed tonight at a meeting of the foods division of the Toronto Retail Merchants' Association.. The plan, as proposed, would involve one city dairy and a number of retailers.

Its aim would be to supply the public almost immediately with milk at 16 cents a quart. Present retail price in the Toronto area is 18 cents.

The plan calls for formation of an association in which each retailer wishing to become a member can buy a share at $100. On joining he would pay $5 down. Dividends would be declared every three months and they would go toward paying off the $95 outstanding on the share purchase.

When each member's share is full paid, dividends will go toward further reduction of milk prices to the consumer. The plan's sponsors say they hope at the outset to buy milk at 15 cents a quart for resale at 16 cents.

Testifies Canadian Price Level Below Most of World

Price Probe Given Figures By Dominion Statistician

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 11 —(CP)— Dominion Statistician Herbert Marshall told the parliamentary price probe today at its second sitting that the present Canadian price level was lower than practically all other countries for which figures are available.

Appearing as the first witness in this inquiry into the causes for rise in Canadian prices, he said that only three countries had lower price levels than Canada.

Australia, S. A. Lower

A statistical memorandum presented to the committee by Mr. Marshall said that price increases "have not gone as far in Canada as they have in the United States or the United Kingdom. They have exceeded those of Australia, New Zealand and South Africa."

The tables gave the retail (cost-of-living) price index in the United States at November, 1947, the latest available figure, as 165 points.

The United Kingdom index for the same date was 163. The Canadian index was given as 148 for January, 1948. Australia's for September, 1947, was 136, New Zealand's for September, 1947, was 127 and South Africa's for October, 1947, was 145.

Wholesale Price Index

Australia's for October, 1947, was 158; New Zealand's for August, 1947 was 161 and South Africa's for October, 1947, was 176.

The order of the first witnesses was determined as Mr. Marshall, Kenneth Taylor, chairman of the Prices Board and then Fred McGregor, commissioner under the Combines Investigation Act.

37 TRADE UNIONS VOTE TO DEMAND WAGE INCREASES

Defy Labor Government's Wage-Freezing Policy on Voluntary Basis

London, Feb. 11 — (CP) — Thirty - seven trade unions, defying the labor government's wage - freezing policy, voted today to demand higher pay for 3,000,000 members.

The Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions agreed in a meeting at Newcastle to press for increases averaging about 14 shillings ($2.80) a week.

The government, fearful of going bankrupt within six months, fought to get trade union backing for its program to freeze both wages and profits. The program is on a voluntary basis.

Observers believe that a dangerous situation will face the government if the resistance to the wage policy spreads further before tomorrow's critical House of Commons debate on the program.

A threat to the plan has been introduced by 21 rank-and-file labor members of parliament, who have introduced a motion asking withdrawal of the government document setting out the new wages policy.

These M.P.s argue that the plan perpetuates anomalies in payments, earnings, conditions and status and contains fallacious economic ideas.

They call for a constructive economic policy based on "the layout of a national and industrial plan that will lead to increased output. The preservation of collective bargaining, the ensuring of price stability, limitation of profit, and avoidance of inflation."

Chief mover in this development is Ellis Smith, a labor member who for a time served under Sir Stafford Cripps when the Chancellor of the Exchequer was president of the Board of Trade.

The 21 members introduced their motion at almost the same hour that Sir Stafford was giving the country details of Britain's "menacing" adverse balance of payments.

Political quarters fear that many of Britain's industrial workers will respond to the plea to forego wage increases only if satisfactory assurances are given that stringent measures will be taken to control profits in industry.

Some Precautions To Prevent Fires

Ottawa, Feb. 11 (CP) —Dominion Fire Commissioner W. L. Clairmont, noting the loss of 44 lives in Eastern Canada fires said today Canadians might well ponder those points on every-day fire protection:

1. Be careful where you put that cigaret.
2. Make doubly sure that electrical devices in the home are not over taxing the house wiring.
3. Don't thaw frozen water pipes with a blow torch or burning papers— wrap cloth around them and douse them with hot water.
4. Be careful in operation of the furnace and if it has automatic control, check it frequently anyway.

Frank Ferraro Is Sent to Trial

Winnipeg, Feb. 11. (CP) — Frank Ferraro, 33, of Belleville, charged with murder in connection with the death in a night club brawl of taxi driver Hugh Scott, was committed for trial yesterday at his preliminary hearing. Scott was injured fatally in a fight Jan. 19.

O.P.P. Officers To Police Town

Essex, Ont., Feb. 11 —(CP)— Two Ontario Provincial Police officers will take over active policing of this town next Monday, it was announced today.

Constable Edward Godfrey, who has been on highway patrol duty on highways 2 and 39, will be in charge of the detachment assigned to the town, with Constable Arthur Vosdling, formerly of the Chatham detachment, the second man on the squad.

Constable James Dever will take over the highway patrol work. Constable Robert Barron will be moved to Essex from Chatham to take over other county duties from Constable Dever.

The town came to agreement with O.P.P. authorities for the policing of the town by provincial members when the town's lone policeman, Norman Hogarth, resigned the first of the year to join the O.P.P.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Feb. 11 — (CP) — War veterans here are beating the housing shortage by planning their own community. Representatives of 50 veterans asked city council for at least 15 acres of land at reasonable cost and said that they planned to spend $400,000 for the new homes

London Cabbies Say Only Thing Not Changed Since War is Fares

London, Feb. 11 —(CP)— London's taxi-drivers, ramming their unmistakable cabs through the jungle of West End traffic, do so with unmistakable gloom today, because "L'see, Guvnor, this job ain't no picnic."

Sitting in his exposed front seat, the target of chill winds and an occasional dollop of rain, the driver has many complaints — the difficulty of getting new cabs, gasoline rationing, the lowness of fares, the general stinginess of customers.

He's inclined to regard himself as a persecuted if not a dying race. About 8,370 cabbies operate 6,000 licensed vehicles in London, compared with 11,471 employed in 7,986 cabs before the war. But in the good old days 240 replacements yearly drove onto the streets; today 400 are continually laid up for repairs.

"The only thing that 'asn't changed since pre-war is the fares," groused the old veteran. "Ninepence (18 cents) for yer first two-thirds of a mile. Coo!"

Limited to 4½ gallons of gasoline a day, the average cabbie runs up a mileage of 50 to 60 miles. Those employed in a fleet get 33 1-3 per cent commission on every £1 clocked, and pocket the "dropsy," as they call the tips.

They regard this largesse as a right and don't hesitate to comment contemptuously if it doesn't come up to expectations. Londoners whose tipping scale was upset by generous-handed American

Commons Votes 120-80 For 16-Man Committee

Ottawa, Feb. 11 —(CP)— The Commons, with Prime Minister Mackenzie King providing a fiery windup to a seven-day debate, voted 120 to 80 yesterday for the establishment of a 16-man committee to investigate reasons for recent increases in living costs, and the fact-finding body set to work almost immediately under powers originally planned by the government.

Mr. King, denouncing opposition members for "delaying" establishment of the committee, declined to meet their requests that the body be given powers to make recommendations. His charges set off a series of noisy, angry scenes and led the C.C.F. to challenge a Speaker's ruling before the main division was called.

Only Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. members opposed adoption of the committee resolution.

Less than three hours after the battle ended in the Commons, the committee held an organization meeting and decided to start formal hearings today.

Martin is Chairman

Health Minister Martin, chosen as chairman, suggested the committee should inquire first into costs of bread, butter, meat, vegetables, shoes and clothing.

However, he indicated that before delving into the operations of specific industries, the body might be briefed by economic experts on the basic factors making for the present price situation.

Urging fast action, Mr. Martin said the "facts must be exposed" but he cautioned the members against either "white-washing" or "smearing."

No one who had acted fairly need fear the investigation, he declared. "But we should act without fear of favor."

Committee members, he said, had both the right and the responsibility to act "fearlessly" in bringing to light factors keeping prices above what was right and reasonable. By helping arouse awareness, their findings could "significantly influence fair price levels."

Two Young Girls Burned to Death At St. Rose, Que

Ste. Rose, Que., Feb. 11 (CP) —Two young girls were burned to death early today when an exploding oil-stove set their home ablaze in this Laurentian village 25 miles north of Montreal.

The girls, between the ages of 14 and 18, were trapped in the stone house of Mr. and Mrs. McGillivray, their parents. Two other children, at first believed to have also been trapped, later turned up at the home of a neighbor where they had been given shelter after their escape.

No other homes were menaced because the McGillivray house stood by itself. Volunteer fighters aided Mr. and Mrs. McGillivray in attempts to extinguish the blaze.

Inside Story of Midget Sub Attack on German Battleship Von Tirpitz

London, Feb. 11 — (Reuters) — Captured British sailors glanced anxiously at their watches while being given hot coffee and schnapps on board the 41,000-ton battleship Tirpitz, pride of the German navy, in a Norwegian fjord on a September morning in 1943.

They knew, and the Germans did not, that before being picked up after scuttling their midget submarine they had accomplished their mission — to drop powerful charges beneath the keel of the Tirpitz.

Soon afterwards, great explosions heaved the giant battleship five or six feet out of the water. She settled down again so severely damaged that she could not be moved from her berth for six or seven months, during which hundreds of Germans worked feverishly to repair her.

The submarine on surfacing had found itself almost touching the hull of the Tirpitz. It was sighted, so the commanding officer and his three comrades scuttled their vessel before being taken on board the Tirpitz.

The story is told in three war dispatches to the British Admiralty, published for the first time tonight.

Two of six top secret British midget submarines which left Scotland are known to have penetrated the Tirpitz defences and to have laid their charges. One of them, known as X-6, without the use of compass or periscope, charged blindly at its target, manoeuvred alongside and released its charges. Its commander then destroyed secret equipment, scuttled his submarine and he and his crew were picked up before the explosions took place.

The second, X-7, attacked while its exhaust pipe was patched up with tape, canvas and chewing gum and its compass out of order. It struck the Tirpitz under water, slid gently under her keel and laid its charges.

Then, attempting to escape, X-7 found itself caught in anti-submarine defence nets.

When eventually it escaped it immediately encountered another net and while trapped there were tremendous explosions and X-7 was severely damaged. It surfaced and two of its crew escaped. Two others went down with it.

The Tirpitz was put out of the war for more than six months and then she crept from her hiding place only to be further battered and eventually sunk by British planes.

Post-War Inflation's Back Broken Say U.S. Analysts, Confident of Future Outlook

New York, Feb. 11 -- (AP) — The post-war inflation has had its back broken, and the American consumer can sit back today and say to himself, "So far, so good."

This is the big conclusion to be drawn to date from the spectacular break in commodity prices in the United States which began just a week ago. Now there are other things to think about.

Is a recession at hand? Will it be brought on by panic selling? What will check it?

The top business brains of the country pondered these questions today, and most analysts viewed the situation with confidence.

First it must be recognized that wherever there is room for panic, wherever people act in the mass as they do on the great trading markets, then anything can happen. The psychological factor is the big unknown which most frequently upsets economists' predictions.

After allowance is made for this however, this is what economists see:

Economists' Summary

The shakedown in commodities was overdue. Now it has come But the American economy as a whole is too strong to be stampeded at this time into a severe recession or depression. There are too many jobs yet to be done, too many things that people need and won't be able to get for some time.

The farmer has seen his best prices. Food must be cheaper, now that the rest of the world is beginning to take care of itself. With food cheaper, other retail prices should come down gradually, or at least stop going up.

All that is necessary is to leave the ultimate consumer with enough money to buy these things The speeding inflation of the last six months was draining the consumer of money. Too much of it would have spelled the disaster of an economic crash.

Chicago — (AP) — Grain prices came under selling pressure as the Chicago pits opened today and stocks skidded again although more slowly than in yesterday's widespread break.

It was a week ago today that rising prices had their first decisive drop.

All deliveries of wheat and corn fell the limit within a few minutes after trading started.

Hog prices started 50 to 73 cents a hundred pounds higher with the top $23.25 as arrivals were the smallest for a Wednesday since Oct. 9, 1946, the last week of ceiling prices.

Reactions to the price breaks, which were violent in commodity and security markets alike yesterday, are being felt around the world.

London stocks slumped: Leading issues on the Manila stock exchange were down fractions to $2 and at Sydney, Australia, share values fell as much as 10 per cent.

Cotton prices at New Orleans fell more than $10 a bale at the opening.

The housewife, meanwhile, is paying less for meats, flour, butter and sugar.

Protest to Russia And Hungary Over 'Abduction'

Washington, Feb. 11 —(AP)— The United States has protested to Russia and Hungary against what it termed the "abduction" of two American military attaches by Soviet troops in Hungary.

A note to Moscow, made public today by the State Department, declared that the action is "an arbitrary and unjustified exercise of police power" by Red Army troops.

The attaches, Lt.-Col. Bernard Thielen and Peter J. Kopgsak, were seized by Soviet troops in Hungary Jan. 14 They were taken across the frontier to Vienna, and released there when United States authorities protested.

GIVES NOTICE OF MOTION

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 11 —(CP) —Alderman William C. Riggs last night gave notice of a motion asking that Windsor city council go on record as favoring public ownership of the gas industry and that the Ontario government be asked to take steps to carry this out.

Same methods and general principles now used in the operation of the Hydro system are advocated by Alderman Riggs.

Discussion was deferred until the next regular meeting.

25 Jap Ex-Leaders Murderers Says Prosecutor

Tokyo, Feb. 11 (AP) — The prosecution began final arguments today in the long war crimes trial of Japan's former leaders, calling all 25 defendants murderers.

Ex-dictator Hideki Tojo, in the prisoners' box, stared blandly at the ceiling as chief prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan urged "the sternest punishment known to the law." (Keenan told reporters he meant all 25 should be hanged.)

Tojo looked at Keenan only once, when the prosecutor's back was turned. And fellow prisoner Teiichi Suzuki, once called Tojo's brain-truster, sat throughout the speech with his eyes tight shut. His hands were folded at first, as though in prayer. Tojo seemed less disturbed. He managed to grin at spectators when Keenan finished.

Keenan blamed the defendants for "the revolting slaughter of millions of their neighbors." British associate prosecutor Arthur Comyns Carr, who followed Keenan, declared:

"It is our contention that war is simply killing and that legal war is simple illegal killing, and being obviously intentional, is therefore murder."

FOUR-DAY DEATH TOLL IN MAJOR FIRES IS 47

Damage Estimated At $2,500,000

(By The Canadian Press)

The death of two young girls in a burning Laurentian home and the suffocation of a baby in a Halifax apartment today brought the two-day fire toll in Canada and Newfoundland to 44 and the death toll for the week to 47.

Total damage in fires since Sunday was estimated at more than $2,500,000 with major conflagrations in the last 24 hours in Montreal, Hamilton, Rimouski, Que., and St. John's, Nfld.

The two girls died early this morning when an oil-stove exploded in a village home in Ste. Rose, 25 miles north of Montreal. Two other children, for whom fears were held at first, later were found at the home of neighbors where they had been given shelter.

In Halifax where seven died yesterday in a tenement house fire 18-months-old Donald MacDonald smothered in his crib while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward MacDonald, and another son Peter were injured in making their escape from a burning apartment.

Most serious fire was yesterday's blaze in an old People's Home in St. John's where 34 died in a gale-whipped conflagration. It was the worst fire in North America this year.

Taxed to Limit

Montreal's fire-fighting facilities were taxed to the limit last night when two double-alarm blazes brake out in the downtown area. More than half of the city's 100 fire trucks concentrated on these two blazes while the rest were kept busy by a host of minor fires and false alarms.

Damage was reported to be $200,000. Destroyed were two 3-storey buildings at the corner of Iberville and St. Catharine Streets and on Youville Square, near the waterfront.

Hamilton also had two big fires during the day. The first which caused an estimated $250,000 loss gutted a business and warehouse block. The second swept the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., storage warehouse on Rebecca Street, a short block from City Hall, with damage set at $100,000. All available fire equipment was put into use.

In Rimouskie, Que., 400 patrons filed out of the Rimouski theatre when fire broke out. No one was injured but the $75,000 building was razed.

In St. Johns, officials and relatives of the victims were still experiencing considerable difficulty in identifying the 34 dead.

Two Fliers Killed In Plane Crash

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 11 (AP) —Two fliers were killed and eight others hurt, two critically, in the crash of a United States navy Martin Mariner about 20 miles south of here last night.

The craft, returning with 10 aboard from a training flight to Puerto Rico, was seeking a landing place after weather conditions prevented it from setting down at the naval air base here. The plane crashed in a wooded area and partly burned, officials said.

Complaints Voiced For Lack of Gas In Western Ontario

Empty Pay-Envelopes Cause Much Hardship

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 11 (CP) — Complaints and criticism arising from western Ontario's three-week-old natural gas shortage which has brought shutdowns, unemployment and reappearance of relief vouchers, today reverberated here, in Toronto — and Washington, D.C.

With thousands idle in Windsor area, Mayor Arthur Reaume said yesterday he was advised by Ottawa authorities to broach the problem of emergency relief to the Ontario government.

"I was told to place the matter of government assistance in meeting cost of our present food and fuel vouchers before provincial welfare officials and they, in turn, would contact," Ottawa" said the mayor.

The city estimates $20,000 will have been spent by the weeknd to aid families facing hardships because of empty pay-envelopes.

Meanwhile, city council last night criticized the mayor and welfare department for failure to furnish exact procedure and cost of issuing relief vouchers.

Alderman William C. Riggs said it "looks as if the Provincial and Dominion governments are playing hide-and-seek."

In Toronto, Paul Siren, International representative of the United Auto Workers (C. I. O.), charged that the Union Gas Company, which supplies the Windsor district, has a monopoly approved by the Ontario government. He told the Toronto Labor Council (C. I. O.) last night that Windsor labor is asking for a publicly-owned gas system.

N. P. Petersen, president of the Canadian Acme Screw and Gear Company, said yesterday that its Toronto plant faced a layoff affecting 1,000 employees next week unless Windsor plants resumed operation. Acme Screw and Gear makes automobile parts and relies on castings and gears from the border city.

At Niagara Falls, Ont., more than 200 workers at gas-short plants are laid off. Danger of immediate industrial snarl-ups have been averted at Hamilton where emergency measures to conserve gas were invoked.

Wants Priority

The Union Gas Company last night presented its brief to the United States Power Commission at Washington. It asks for priority over demands of American Industrial consumers for fuel from the Panhandle (Texas) Eastern Pipeline Company.

Union complains that it will be forced out of business unless Panhandle sticks to its contract. Detroit also entered a complaint that unless the Texas company furnishes a larger flow of gas through its pipe line there is little hope of sending back to work 125,000 workers made idle by lack of the fuel.

Raymond Kelly, Detroit counsel, said the "desperate shortage" has closed 95 plants.

New Spring Wheat for Cake, Pastry Trade Developed for Eastern Canada

Ottawa, Feb. 11 — (CP)—Canada's wheat scientists, the men whose tireless experiments produced sawfly-resistant Rescue and Rugged Regent and Renown strains for the prairie farmer, have come up with a new spring wheat called Cascade, especially developed for growing in Eastern Canada.

The Agriculture Department announced today that the new strain, developed by the cereal division of the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, now is available to farmers. Limited quantities of seed is being offered to next spring's seeding.

Cascade was developed to serve a special purpose — to meet the frequent shortage of soft white wheat for the cake and pastry trade. It has been in the development stage since 1938.

Cascade is a white, semi-hard beadless wheat and resulted from a number of crosses of low-protein yet rust-resistant types. Under exacting tests during the last few years it has proved to be of excellent yielding ability. It won first prize at the 1947 Royal Winter Fair, a similar prize at last year's Ottawa Winter Fair and took fourth at the 1947 International Grain and Hay Show in Chicago.

The specific breeding program was directed by J. G. C. Fraser, working under Dr. T. H. Newman, the Dominion cerealist whose plant breeders at experimental stations all across Canada have helped make Canada's huge wheat yield what it is today.

In setting out to create Cascade, the departmental plant breeders knew only that they sought a new wheat that must be white in color and yet of low protein value. Bread wheats must be high in protein, but those used in making pastry flour have four to five per cent less. The new variety, they knew, must also be rust-resistant and inherently productive.

Cascade meets all these requirements.

Abbott Pilots Foreign Exchange Bill Through Clause-by-Clause Study

Ottawa, Feb. 11 —(CP)— Finance Minister Abbott told the Commons yesterday that even with all the expert advice available he could not hazard a guess as to how long unsettled world economic conditions would force Canada to keep operative the exchange conservation measures brought into effect last November.

Piloting the Foreign Exchange Conservation Bill through clause-by-clause study, he reiterated that Canada as a hard currency—dollar—country could not prosper while there was an impoverished or unsettled soft currency—sterling—area.

He declined to estimate how soon European countries might be able to pay for Canadian purchases in U. S. dollars once the Marshall Plan became effective.

Shortly before adjournment Rodney Adamson (PC-York West) moved that the word "emergency" be stricken from the title of the bill, because the current condition would be a chronic one unless the government changed its policy.

No action was taken on the amendment and no clause of the 15-clause bill was adopted. It was not known when study of the measure would be resumed as debate on the Throne Speech is scheduled to be resumed today and Thursday.

LEGION MEMBERS ENDORSE STAND OF PRESIDENT

Members of the Canadian Legion at their regular monthly meeting in the clubrooms on Tuesday night fully endorsed the stand taken by their president, Ald. Angus Duffy, in the employment of veterans by the Corporation. One candidate was initiated into the Branch and all the reports for the year were given. James Shepherd, who served with the paratroopers and was dropped behind the lines before D-Day, gave the members an outline of his experiences in the weeks that followed. His address was most interesting and he was thanked by the president.

It was decided to hold an Easter Monday dance at the Club Commodore and every veteran and his wife or sweetheart is expected to be in attendance. At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served under the chairmanship of Ernie Dainard.

DEFECTIVE CHIMNEY BELIEVED CAUSE

Believed to have resulted from a defective chimney, fire in the joist near the furnace of the Rivercourt Apartments on Cannifton Road caused small damage this morning. City firemen were called to the scene and quickly extinguished the blaze keeping the loss to a minimum.

Firemen stated that when the chimney had been constructed one of the floor joists had been permitted to extend too far into the brick of the chimney with result that it eventually took fire.

Strike Action For Recognition Meets Disapproval

Toronto, Feb. 11 — A declaration of policy frowning on strike action by unions to win recognition from employers was contained in a judgment handed down by the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

The labor board makes it clear it considers that in the absence of voluntary recognition by the employer, the proper course for the union is an application to the board for certification.

The board refused an application by the United Electrical Workers (CIO-CCL) for certification at Corbin Lock Co., Belleville. The board found the union had called a strike prior to filing its application, and that the strike was still in progress when the application was made.

"The board is not prepared to entertain a petition for certification in such circumstances," the judgment, written by labor board chairman P. M. Draper, stated.

Also indicated by the decision was that the board looked with disfavor on employers granting privileges to one of two competing unions.

The board dismissed an application for certification by a rival AFL union, the International Molders and Foundry Workers. It was not satisfied, the judgment stated, that the AFL union in electing bargaining representatives, did so with the authority of the majority of employees.

Though not dealing with the "propriety" of the action by the company in giving the AFL union check-off privileges while the proceedings were before the board, the judgment drew attention of the parties to another case where an applicant for certification had been dismissed under similar circumstances.

Fuel Deliveries Heavy During The Past Month

Result of almost continued zero weather city coal merchants have been doing something of a land office business during the past month in delivering fuel to bewildered householders who possibly never before have seen coal bins depleted with such rapidity.

"Coal is being delivered in the city just as fast as it is being received," stated one coal merchant yesterday, "city householders possibly have never burned as much fuel as during the past one and a half months."

The fuel oil situation also is tight, according to this dealer. Many of the larger users of this type of fuel have been advised to cut consumption as much as possible to conserve supplies.

Full-Time Fire Inspector Needed in City Fire Marshal Tells Kiwanis Club Members

Employment of a full-time inspector within the fire department, adequate fire equipment and new fire hall were recommended for the City of Belleville by W.J. Scott, K.C. Fire Marshal for Ontario, when he addressed the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon held Tuesday at the Kiwanis Centre. Mr. Scott was in the city on a routine check and to attend the inquest when two inmates of the Home for the Aged were asphyxiated in a recent fire in that building.

Introduced by Lorne McDougall, Mr. Scott told the gathering that in 1860 Belleville was the 13th largest city in Canada but did not keep pace with the continual growth until a few years ago and now has arrived at the period, when certain undertakings will have to be made to reduce fire hazzard in the community. "As you grow you assume increased responsibility" said the speaker "and I wonder if the city council realizes its position with respect to the taxpayer in the matter fire protection and inspection." He stated he was shocked at the number of large fires during the past few weeks and specially referred to the two serious fires, which have taken place in this city. The probable cause of the fires has been due in a large measure to the extreme cold weather, when pipes furnaces and other fire equipment has been worked to full capacity.

Nine Years Behind

Mr. Scott stated that Ontario was nearly nine years behind the times in the matter of maintenance and repairs and it was natural to assume that the fire hazzards would be greater. "It is almost impossible to secure repairs and maintenance help is very scarce with the result that not much work is being done to prevent fires. He praised the Belleville department with their limited staff and also Mr. Frank Gardiner, Fire Marshal in this area, whom the speaker stated had the largest total of prosecutions in respect to arson of any inspector in the Province.

Turning to this city Mr. Scott stated the first offence against fire was an adequate fire department and he was pleased to know that new equipment had been ordered but that the city desperately need a new fire hall and placed where it is not troubled with traffic problems such as face the present fire hall location. "I might say that due to the industrial and residential expansion that is going on in the city at the present time the day is not far distant when Belleville will need two fire halls," said the speaker. He also appealed for more firemen because he said without an aerial ladder it is necessary to use six men to place a 30-foot ladder and I am informed there are certain times at the Hall when only seven men are on active duty.

An Old City

"As you know Belleville is an old city" said Mr. Scott" and it was not constructed to combat the fire hazzards that are prevalent today. There are few buildings of fire restriction construction and those buildings that were fairly secure have had holes punched in them to make alterations and thus the fire hazzard has been increased."

The speaker contended that one person in the fire department was needed, whose sole occupation should be that of inspection work and "I believe his efforts will be well repaid." Under an inspector an order for repairs is issued under the Fire Marshal's Act and the council have nothing to say about the prosecution of the case but the owner can appeal to a county judge against the ruling of the Fire Marshal "but I have had few appeals against my decisions." stated the speaker.

Mr. Scott explained the workings of the Fire Marshal's office showing schools were conducted by the department for firemen and inspectors and these trained men were better able to serve their respective communities. The appreciation of the club was expressed by Ald. Angus Duffy. Chairman of Fire, in the city council. Ted Schwab presided at luncheon with Ray Grant collecting the several fines. Harold Carruthers was song leader with Phil Huddleston at the piano.

Proprietor of New Laundry Business Had Distinguished Record in RAF

It is a far cry from the controls of a huge Woodley Bomber flying high over Germany in flak-strewn skies to the quiet of an office in Belleville. But that is one of the things of life and that is what has happened to former Squadron Leader Harry Gibson, RAF, present owner of Belleville's newest laundry business at 19 Footbridge.

Mr. Gibson has established something new in the way of wash-day facilities for Madame Housewife of this city. With his new Super de Luxe Bendix batteries of washing machines, it is now possible for the lady of the house to take or send the weekly wash to the Thirty-Minute Economy Laundry, spend a half-hour shopping or relaxing in the comfortable lounging rooms of the new establishment, and then take her laundry home with wash-day worries obliterated.

Or, the weekly wash will be called for and delivered if such is desired.

Complete Wash Service

And the new service includes practically everything that is washable, from the heavy rugs, blankets, bathmats, etc., to baby's diapers, all at reasonable prices. There are drying facilities too, at a slightly increased cost. In fact the new laundry establishment is just about the answer to the busy housewife's prayer, especially those who live in apartments.

British-born Harry Gibson, head of the new city business had over seven years service with the Royal Air Force to his credit. He started as an humble AC-2 getting the magnificent sum of 48 cents a day, but from that point on his story is tinged with an Horatio Alger touch.

37 Bomber Flights

He rose from the ranks of the RAF, not an easy achievement, to the rank of squadron leader pilot of night bombers. He has 37 trips over Germany and was in on the strafing of Holland, Hamburg, Berlin, and other large enemy centres during the war. He saw service in Malta in 1941.

In 1944 he was loaned to the Royal Canadian Air Force and was sent to Deseronto as commanding officer of the RCAF station. It was there that romance entered his life and he met and married Miss "Bets" Webster of Napanee. He also saw service at the Trenton Air Station.

Mr. Gibson's new laundry establishment officially opened today with business hours stated as being from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. from Monday to Friday, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

Department Probes Nine Fires At Hamilton

Hamilton, Feb. 11 —(CP)— Six big fires during January and three this month today were under investigation by members of the Ontario Fire Marshal's Department, police and firemen. Detectives are checking reports that a man was seen running from the scene of last night's fire when firemen arrived at the T. Eaton Company's carpentry and display building. The fire, believed of incendiary origin, once endangered two nearby blocks. Loss is estimated at nearly $100,000.

Representing the Fire Marshal's Department in investigations here today are Inspector Alex Grant and Trevor Lucas. Fires during January, to be checked, are those at the Campbell Glass Company, in the building where the Tasker Haberdashery is located, the Cabot Macaroni Plant, Langs Candy, Lloyds Glass, and King Appliances, during January.

Larger fires this month include that at the Lloyds Glass Plant and the one yesterday morning which destroyed a wing of the old Burrow, Stewart, Milne Block at Hughson and Cannon streets.

DEATH TOLL IS 33

St. John's, Nfld., Feb. 11—(CP) — A recount today of the dead in yesterday's holocaust in the old people's home here reduced the death toll to 33. This was one under the total announced last night and it meant that 10 persons had escaped the early morning blaze.

Toronto Pair Finish Third At Davos Platz

Davos Platz, Switzerland, Feb. 11 —(CP— Wallace Distelmeyer and Suzanne Morrow of Toronto placed third today behind Micheline Lannoy and Pierre Baugniet of Belgium as the world skating championships opened with the mixed pairs event.

The order of the first three pairs thus duplicated the sequence of the first three finishers in the Olympic pairs at St. Moritz last week.

Karol and Peter Kennedy of Seattle, Wash., were fourth, followed by Yvonne Sherman and Robert Swenning of New York. In the Olympic competition the Kennedys were sixth and the Sherman-Swenning pair placed fourth.

The event was contested in a light snowfall and over choppy ice which handicapped contestants.

The winning pair received 14.5 placings and 11.34 points, the Hungarians 24.5 placings and 11.12 points and the Canadians 26 placings and 11.07 points.

Distelmeyer also will compete in men's singles during championships here. Miss Morrow will be entered in the ladies' singles starting Friday in which Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa will defend her title.

Eclipsed though they have been by Barbara Ann in her sweep of skating honors, Distelmeyer and Miss Morrow in their third-place showing nevertheless reaffirmed that Canadian skating talent does not end with the Ottawa champion.

In any other year, a third in the Olympics and a third in the world championships would be considered a large feather in Canada's cap.

The Distelmeyer-Morrow partnership is a comparatively new one. With Distelmeyer only 21 and Miss Morrow 18, they appear destined to become Canada's top pairing for years.

Oddly, skating isn't even Miss Morrow's favorite sport—she prefers skiing. The other ambition of the blonde high school student is to become a surgeon.

Distelmeyer, a 167-pound blonde who came to Toronto from Kitchener, Ont., wants to become a chartered accountant.

Blames Party Line Subscribers For Death of Daughter

Fort Erie, Feb. 11 —(CP)— A telephone "party line" who blocked him from calling for aid yesterday was blamed by Robert F. Dennis for the death Monday of his 20-month-old daughter. Dennis bitterly described how the party line subscribers refused to listen to his frantic pleas. As a result of not being able to get speedy aid, he said, doctors were unable to save the baby.

Stratford, Feb. 11 (CP)—Premier Drew of Ontario today blamed the provincial power shortage on th e"paralyzing inaction" of Farquhar Oliver, Provincial Liberal leader, and other members of the Liberal government in power from 1934 to 1943.

The Premier reviewed the "sorry tale of incompetence and confusion" in a recorded address broadcast to electors of nearby Huron riding.

The address dealt with issues in Monday's provincial by-election in Huron, a straight two-man fight between Progressive Conservative Thomas Pryde and Liberal Benson Tuckey, both Exeter business men seeking the seat left vacant by the death of Dr. Hobbs Taylor, a Progressive Conservative.

Pre Premier spoke of charges by Mr. Oliver during the by-election campaign that the present government was responsible for the power shortage and declared that the Liberal leader "must share the responsibility for all the failures and confusion of that irresponsible government of which he was a member."

When we took office there was no single department of the government which was not in a chaotic condition through administrative inefficiency, and in many cases, almost complete lack of supervision by the minister in charge of the departments."

He recalled "repudiation" by the Liberal government of contracts with Quebec for electrical power and called this and failure to build generating plants except two small ones, "an expression of their lack of faith in the future of Ontario."

The present government reached an agreement with Quebec on power development and now "construction is proceeding at the tremendous power sites on the Ottawa river from which hundreds of thousands of new horsepower of electrical energy will be flowing into our provincial transmission systems within the next few years."

It had added 900,000 horsepower to Ontario production since it took office in 1943 through construction of new generating units and new purchase contracts. When present construction was completed it would add 1,100,000 horsepower.

The premier accused Mr. Oliver of resorting to "cheap politics" in criticism of the appointment of Mayor Saunders of Torontoas chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. In so doing the Liberal leader "perhaps is giving you the true measurement of his own political stature, but when he goes on to say that this is merely part of a broad plan of political interference with the ... commission, he know better than anyone else that he is simply not telling the truth."

Bombay Politician Under Arrest

Bombay, Feb. 11 (AP)—Police said today they have jailed a Bombay politician accused of a pre-assassination conference with the man held for killing Mohandas K. Gandhi.

The politician was not identified.

Police also raided the office of the Communist Red Guards Organization and arrested P. B. Dowde, an organizer.

Police said they had information that the killing of Gandhi Jan. 30 was part of a plot by an underground Hindu volunteer corps to kill government leaders. The organization is known as the Hindu Dal.

The information, police reported, came from Madan Lal, a young Punjab refugee accused of exploding a makeshift bomb near a Gandhi prayer meeting Jan. 20. Lal and N. V. Godse, in jail at New Delhi accused of shooting Gandhi, had conferred at the home of the Bombay politician and Godse then took Lal to New Delhi.

Police said the Hindu Dal planned to kill not only Gandhi, but Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, and Education Minister Maulana Abdul Kalam Azad.

After such assassinations the Hindu Dal had expected to force Deputy Prime Minister Sardar Vallabhai Patel into retirement.

With Patel out, the Hindu Dal expected to instal leaders of its own.

The White Cane

This week Canadians are marking White Cane Week, sponsored by the Canadian Council of the Blind and The Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

The aim is to promote a better understanding by the public of the needs and activities of those Canadians who are not blessed with the full sight which most persons enjoy.

Now the White Cane is the mark of one who is handicapped as to sight. It is an invitation to others to lend aid where necessary as in places of heavy traffic and at crossings. The blind have recognized the kindness of so many in lending assistance as they go about on the duties for the blind have their duties and loyalty they carry out their work.

There is also the object of the White Cane Week observance to attract attention to necessary legislation in respect to the blind and also to the medical and health problem of the means of preventing blindness and of preserving sight.

In this week everyone can come to know more intimately those who walk in the twilight or darkness of limited vision or lack of sight and to know their problems. They are a class who are most industrious and happy. They are grateful for any assistance to open new avenues of opportunity for them.

Zero

Zero is a word heard not very often at any time except in winter. In some years the cold season makes a few dips down below the zero mark on the thermometer. Then there are years like this present one in which the cold waves sweep in again and again with the zero temperature fairly well in control of the weather situation.

In some cold winters, there are occasions when the mercury does not rise above zero even in the daytime. But this season is not one of such seasons. The day does get to the point when it has warmed up above the zero mark in these parts. Weather when the temperature is below zero night and day is cold, everyone knows.

The present winter has sent some heavy snowstorms but little snow has fallen for weeks.

What in nature combines to make winters just what they are is something no one can tell in advance. Winters in one part of the country are generally all marked with the same characteristics, though some unforseen factor creates enough difference by being emphasized so that winters have an individuality. This is reasonable for there are many variations possible and so no two winters cannot be exactly alike.

This present winter differs greatly from last year's when the elements mixed things up so that some of the early snow and sleet which fell remained on the ground until almost the arrival of spring. This year the snowfalls have not been so capricious and while the fall has not been light the land has not been deeply covered .However there has been enough so far and what with cold waves most people are longing for spring's awakening.

Canadians are used to hard winters. But parts of the United States not so familiar with snowstorms and blizzards have been having blizzard after blizzard and cold wave crowding upon cold wave. Into the unusual conditions have been projected problems of shortages and shutdowns. However what this winter has been in North America cannot be compared to the disastrous winter Britain went through a year ago, which added up with the economic problems to create an unusual situation which called for all the strength of the British spirit. And they pulled through.

New Hope in Austria

Attention is given to Austria since Russia has submitted to the special deputies for the Austrian treaty her proposals on the question of German assets in that country. These assets are in three groups, the Manchester Guradian Weekly points out: oil, Danube shipping, and others and in each case the Russians are now claiming rather more than the French plan offered as put forward by the French deputy last October to try to avert a deadlock. They (the Russians) stand by Mr. Molotov's earlier request for two-thirds of Austrian oil production and prospecting rights; they want only a quarter of the assets of the Danube Shipping Company in Austria (the French suggested half) but all of that country's assets in the neighboring south-eastern countries, and payment of $200,000,000 in convertible currency over two years in respect of other German assets to which Russia is entitled. The French proposal was for $100,000,000 paid over eight years. Austrians who welcome the proposals as affording a fresh basis of discussion and thus a new hope of a treaty will nevertheless ask if they are practicable within the limits of Austrian economy.

"One comment is that the payment of $200,000,000 in two years would just about exhaust the amount of help that Austria expects from America within a similar period," says the Guardian.

The deputies will discuss the assets question on Friday of next week. The Allied Council in Vienna has received a Russian proposal to abolish Allied Military Governments and civil administrations in Austria and to hand over to the Austrian Government such functions as are at present being carried out by the powers in occupying Powers.

The Guardian points out that the Powers agree in principle on the advisability of giving more power to the Austrians but differ in detail on other matters such as the right to veto Austrian legislation "which the Russians evidently do not want to give up," and jurisdiction over displaced persons.

Blinking of an Eye

As a measure of time the wink of an eye has usually been thought as negligible as is Euclid's point in space. If each involuntary blink is a brief but complete blackout, we neither see nor feel it that way, nor realize that we are periodically unsighted by a succession of blinks however carefully we seem to use our eyes. But to the physicist the blink is a matter of moment (and magnitude), well worth the close investigation which Dr. R. Lawson of Sheffield University has described in a communication to this week's "Nature."

If the blind periods last over half a second, with a small enough gap between blinks, the most bright-eyed observer may be blind for as much as a fifth of the time he is looking at something really rapid and evanescent. Many thousands of the scintillating evidence of radio activity, for instance, may be crowded into the dark half seconds and never be seen at all. In this world of small spaces and durations Dr. Lawson is concerned with accurate measurement of the probabilities of error and the methods and degrees by which they may be corrected. Outside the laboratory he suggests a wider field of research into the effects of the blink which might attract more popular attention. Is Bradman an unblinking cricketer, and are there others who get out more easily because the ball is unsighted, when it should most be seen, by an involuntary and uncontrollable blink? Is the "accident-prone" motorist another victim of the blink, to whom even average speeds are dangerous? There are clearly wide variations in the human "blinking rate" and in some observed cases blindness to rapid movement may go as high as 60 per cent.—Manchester Guardian Weekly.

Toll From Illness

If Canadians could real battle casualty lists for illness, they would be shocked. Except when it strikes in one's own home, peacetime death seems so remote—because it usually lacks the spectacular. Yet—during the war years, alone, Canada lost more civilians than fighting men! The tragedy is that most of this loss was preventable, and public health authorities are attempting to arouse Canadians to the practice of security measures to ward off continuing attacks of our most deadly foe—disease.

Joy may elevate, ambition, glorify, but only sorrow can consecrate. — Greeley.

THE GOOD FEELING

Whenever I've dreaded what ought to be done
And thought up excuses my duty to shun,
I've found when I've gone, though I wanted to stay,
I've always felt better when coming away.

The paths that are pleasant are easy to tread.
It's always the difficult journey I dread,
But whenever I've done what I wished to delay,
I've always felt better at close of the day.

I fancy we're all an excuse-making lot.
Time bids us to do what we'd much rather not;
But I know when I've made myself do what I should,
There's a glow in the heart and that feeling is good.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

Feb. 11th., 1928

Early History of Belleville Waterworks System: In the early part of 1886 the citizens of Belleville had no idea that in two years' time they would have a system of waterworks second to none in the Dominion. Yet such proved to be the case as in Feb. 1888 the system was in operation and proving very satisfactory. The contract to construct the system was signed on Oct. 12th, 1886. The extent of pipes was to be at least 14 miles from the pump house with at least 164 hydrants for which the corporation was to pay $7,000.00 per annum for a term of ten years. Work was to be commenced within two months of the signing of the contract. Early in December ex. Mayor McIninch turned the first sod on the spot where the stand pipe is now located. The first lot of pipes arrived in March from Hamilton. In the work 1820 tons of pipe were used at a cost of $60,600. Fifteen and a half miles of pipe were laid and 168 hydrants were installed. Active work was commenced in June with about 38 men employed. As the supply of pipes accumulated the force of laborers was increased until the pay roll numbered 280 men. Eight and one-half miles or 38,725 cubic yards of rock were blasted in making the trenches; four and one half tons of explosives were used. The conduit pipe, 20 inches in diameter reaches 1600 feet out into the bay and rests upon a gravel bottom where the water is 20 feet deep. In the work 80,568 feet of pipe were used. The last pipe was laid about the 10th of January 1888. Between $75,000.00 and $85,000.00 were paid for labor. The total cost of the work in round figures was $225,000.00.

Mayor Patt has issued the following statement: "The fuel situation in Belleville is such as to make it imperative that every economy should be practised for the next two weeks in the consumption of coal. No persons who has fuel sufficient for more than four days' use need apply at the city hall or to the fuel controller for a supply. All persons who have a quantity of coal larger than needed for the next few weeks are urged to share with their neighbors who may be in want."

Fire in the dental offices of Dr. Joseph Caldwell in the Caldwell Block on Front St. yesterday caused little damage, but despite the fact that as little water as possible was used by the firemen, quite a quantity went through into the store of Quick and Robertson, clothiers, and some damage was done to the stock.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Do Presidents deliver messages to Congress in person?

The Constitution says the President "shall from time to time give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient."

Since Congress was required to meet at least once every year, President Washington adopted the practice of personally addressing a joint meeting of each annual session. This speech came to be known as the President's annual message. Congress in turn replied to each annual message formally. Other messages to Congress from the President were sent in writing by messenger.

John Adams followed the precedent set by Washington. The Jeffersonians regarded this practice as an imitation of the British King's address at the opening of Parliament and ridiculed it as "the speech from the throne." When Jefferson became President he decided to send his annual messages, like other messages, to Congress in writing. He was no doubt prompted largely by republican principles, but the fact that he was a good writer but a poor speaker may have had something to do with it.

On December 8, 1801, President Jefferson sent his first annual message to the Capitol by his private secretary, who took with him identic explanatory notes to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The precedent set by Jefferson was followed by all his successors until it was broken by Woodrow Wilson. In 1913, soon after his first inauguration, President Wilson called a special session of Congress to revise the tariff. He appeared in person before a joint session of the two Houses and read his message. Later he personally addressed another meeting of the same special session.

Harding followed the Wilson precedent and delivered his annual message to Congress in 1921 personally, but then abandoned the practice and thereafter sent annual messages in writing by messenger. Hoover did not appear before a joint session of Congress but on one occasion personally addressed the Senate of the budget. Franklin D. Roosevelt delivered his first annual message to Congress and continued the practice. He also appeared before the joint meetings of Congress on several special occasions. President Truman has followed the Roosevelt precedent of appearing before Congress in person with messages.

Theodore Roosevelt in 1901 was the first President to send his annual message to Congress in print instead of script. This message contained more than 20,000 words and is said to be the longest message, exclusive of accompanying documents, ever sent to Congress by a President. His message of December 17, 1906, giving the results of his inspection trip to the Panama Canal, was illustrated with photographs.

New Regulations May Stimulate Sale of U.K. Cars

Ottawa, Feb. 11 (CP)—Stimulation of Britain's automobile sales in Canada at the expense of United States factories was seen today as a consequence of new Dominion import regulations.

While relaxing the three-months-old ban on the import of vehicles from the U.S., the regulations in their practical effect were held as being of less benefit to U.S. exporters than to British traders and the Canadian assembly business.

Trade Minister Howe, in an interview after the changes were announced, said they would open the way for more British car sales in Canada. He said "a reasonable" over-all quota for imports from sterling areas would be established.

For the moment, the official announcement was that the outright ban on import of U.E.-made automobiles, clamped down last Nov. 17 as a dollar-saving measure, was being eased. Also, the import of automobile parts was being put on a quota basis. Both quotas were related to imports of the year ended last Oct. 31.

Mr. Howe estimated the program would cut the import value of American-made cars to 16 per cent of the 1947 total.

But immediately President William A. Wecker of General Motors of Canada said this company planned to use its automobile dollar allotment to buy parts for the manufacture of cars in Canada.

This would mean that a considerable proportion of the dollar-value for automobiles would be applied to boosting the output of Canadian-made cars, to offset an estimated reduction of $25,000,000 in the $100,000,000-a-year allotment o fimported parts for Canadian production.

Mr. Wecker said at Oshawa, Ont., the restrictions might have the result of keeping domestic production below what the Canadian market could use. But he said the industry would accept the mas a means of improving Canada's long-range trading position.

For Britain and other countries in the sterling area, officials said, quotas now were being worked out. Meanwhile, imports will be handled with individual permits

SLAIN

Climaxing a long series of highway hold-ups in California, is the death of Marjorie Winn, 17, daughter of a prominent family of Redlands. A bandit held up the pretty high school senior and her companion, James Sloan, 21, with a shotgun and demanded the couple's money. Marjorie screamed and cried, "Let's go, Jim," and as Sloan started the car the bandit pulled the trigger killing the girl instantly. A posse is searching for the killer.

PYORRHEA

Family dentist took X-rays, said my teeth are loose, bad case of pyorrhea advised dental plates and immediate removal of all teeth. So I went to a pyorrhea specialist to check family dentist's diagnosis and he confirmed the diagnosis and advised immediate removal of all teeth.

(Comment by Brady: Reminds me of the radical age of surgery—say the second half of the 19th century—when a nasty wound of a hand or foot or a very bad fracture in or near hand or foot warranted amputation. Today, the era of conservative surgery, amputation is a rare and desperate last resort.

Dentists claim pyorrhea destroying my ridges and bone structure and that later I'll have difficulty in wearing plates because of insufficient bases to hold them. Also pyorrhea may any day break down my good health.

(C. C. E. expresses it as though the breakdown in health may occur at two o'clock next week. I may not understand the nuances of the degeneration or disease known as pyorrhea, but, as I shall explain present, it seems to me that breakdown in health precedes the breakdown in the gums, teeth and jaws, and so I'd hang onto any snags I could use at all if I had pyorrhea.)

But reader C. C. E. astonishes me, in fact he flabbergasts me, with this final note:

Am 43 years old have all but two teeth. Have always enjoyed excellent health, in spite of my pyorrhea condition, which I have known of. I am inclined to disregard the advice of family dentist and the advice of pyorrhea specialist to sacrifice all my teeth. Would appreciate your views and opinion. (C. C. E.)

Let me say that I have the highest regard for the importance and value of the skill of the dentist, whose professional service is really priceless when one considers how much comfort, happiness, health, efficiency, vite and longevity one can get at modest cost from a good dentist. But I must say that in C.C.E.'s place if my dentist made such a diagnosis I'd accept it and proceed accordingly or else I'd change dentists. But certainly I would not rate a "pyorrhea specialist" of his opinion above my dentist or his opinion. "Pyorrhea specialist", my eye. Might as well have left ear specialists or upper lip specialist. Such specialism, in my opinion, is crass quackery.

But I can't comprehend how this young man can have such excellent health as he says he has, and all but two of his teeth intact, yet have pyorrhea so far advanced that his teeth are doomed. It is not logical. Something wrong here. Now I wonder whether the man may not have a comparatively simple gingivitis (gum inflammation) from using the wrong dentifrice, for example—there were many such cases in the Army and Navy during the war.

Once more I urge as required reading for all dentists, physicians and people who have due respect for the value of good teeth and functionally efficient dentures, the classic work Nutrition and Physical Degeneration, by Weston A. Price, M.S., D.D.S., F. A. C. D. published by the author at Redlands, Calif. The book is as entertaining as it is instructive to read, not just for dentists, physicians and nutritionists, but for every one who is interested in health, good looks, happiness and longevity.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Feed the Person Wheat

Have you a book on how to feed a colitis person? (R.R.D.)

Answer—No. Best suggestion I can offer is feed the person wheat, plain wheat,, just as it comes from thresher. Use undoctored wheat in the person's diet in place of refined white flour and everything made of it. Appetizing ways to use wheat in the everyday dietary are suggested in the pamphlet Wheat to Eat, available on written request if you inclose stamped self addressed envelope and omit clipping.

Milk and Teeth

M. Told if you drink too much milk your teeth will get soft and decay easily. I thought the more milk one drinks the better one's teeth will be. (E. B.)

Answer—To promote development of sound, even teeth, every child should consume not less than 1 1-2 points of milk (three large glassfuls) daily, and every adult not less than a pint (two large glassfuls) daily.

Iodin

There's no reason why you should explain or apologize for your spelling of iodin without the final e. The final e is dropped from many words today—such as atropin, morphin, vitamin. (P. L. C.)

Answer—Thank you. So you birds who want to know about how to get the right amount of nutritional iodin may ask in writing for the pamphlet The Iodin Ration. If you want to know about medicinal iodine ask your physician.

CLAIMS CURE FOR CANCER

John Braund, a 79-year-old Englishman, of Sydney, Australia, claims that he has been treating cancer for 50 years and has been striving for recognition all that time. In an interview, Braund, who incidentally is not a medical doctor, said that he was willing to share his secret with the world and he hoped there would be a place for a physician from the United States in his planned clinic. Several Sydney people asserted that Braund had saved them after doctors had pronounced them incurable. He said his treatment of cancer and other growths is along these lines: The patient's bloodstream is "purified" and circulation throughout the body "equalized." An injection is made at the root of the cancer which kills the growth. The cancer "shrinks away from the flesh" and breaks through the skin. The cancer is lifted out with forceps and the wound is dressed and left to heal. Somewhere in the treatment is another stage, but the Englishman said "that is a secret—the greatest secret in the world."

OX-TAIL SOUP?

Naboomspruit, South Africa — (CP)— The ox would not pull the plow properly. Solomon Macheke, the 27-year-old plowman, lost his temper and viciously bit off the ox's tail. He was given three months' hard labor and five lashes for cruelty.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

WORK "RACKET" IN YOUR OFFICE?

Right in your own office, a "racket" is probably going on every working day. This racket is not a "job for the police" — but just plain ordinary noise that cuts down efficiency and causes costly errors. In fact, a Johns-Manville test shows that clattering typewriters, clicking heels and buzzing bells can make an office 40 per cent noisier than the average busy street.

But office noise can be controlled. Johns-Manville Acoustical Materials literally absorb noise like a sponge —help to reduce errors — increase output.

Scores of offices, schools and hospitals have cut down noise—greatly increased efficiency and comfort — by installing Johns-Manville Acoustical Materials. If you have a noise problem, send for free J-M Sound Control Booklet. Canadian Johns-Manville, 199 Bay St., Toronto.

Tabernacle United Church Reports Year of Activity

The annual congregational meeting of Tabernacle Church was held Monday evening in the form of a pot luck supper. Ethel Horton was appointed recording secretary. The minutes of last year's meeting were read by Gardner Duff the retiring recording secretary.

Rev. F. R. Harback was chairman of the meeting, and in his remarks mentioned that 1947 had been a good year at Tabernacle. Substantial advances have been made on all fronts, the front of evangelism, interest in missions, increase in membership, in givings, and religious education, which is being stressed in all the groups. He paid tribute to the sterling qualities of the men who comprise the Board of Sessions and the Committee of Stewards, and to the efforts of all the organizations who were jointly responsible for a successful year.

They purchased a dining room suite and other furnishings for the parsonage, and had a sink and cupboard installed in the church kitchen. They have started an organ fund, to which contributions from all sources would be welcome.

The Keen Age Club, a new organization of young married women, who were not already attached to any other group, was introduced by Mrs. J. Hall. They are keen to be active church members.

A motion was made by A. D. Archibald, seconded by Jane Smythe that the Repair Committee give a complete report to the Committee of Stewards, who would review the situation and recommend to the Official Board what action should be taken in this regard. Carried.

Two solos, "Just A'Wearing for You," and "Beautiful Dreamer," were contributed by Capt. J. Buchanan accompanied by Mrs. Duff.

Seven members were elected to the Board of Sessions for a period of three years: Mr. A. D. Archibald, Mr. J. Brennan, Mr. Geo. Barlow, Mr. R. J. Goodfellow, Mr. J. Hall and Mr. C. Finkle.

The seven members elected to the Committee of Stewards for a three-year period are Mr. J. Buchanan, R. Irwin, S. McGuire, A. Naylor, E. Taylor, Geo. Stanton and M. Hackett.

Miss Ethel Horton expressed appreciation to all the retiring officers of all the various groups. Mr. G. F. Lent thanked the ladies who arranged the supper.

Mr. Archibald expressed the thanks of the congregation to Rev. and Mrs. Harback for their leadership. He said that another chapter was being written in the history of Tabernacle Church, and that the first page had been turned, and he hoped that in 1948 another successful page would be written. The influence of the Harbacks has been felt not alone in Tabernacle Church, but in the life of the city and surrounding district. Mr. Harback responded to the vote of thanks and following a motion to adjourn, pronounced the benediction.

College Hill S.S. Re-organized

The annual re-organization of the College Hill Sunday School for the ensuing year, was held in the Sunday School hall, with Rev. E. Farnsworth presiding.

The Superintendent, Mr. R. G Coulter, gave a resume of the past year's work, and expressed sincere appreciation to the officers and teachers, as well as to the College Hill Women's Group, for their co-operation and assistance during the past year. He referred to the steadily mounting increase in attendance at the school, and said some improvements have been made to both the interior and exterior of the building.

Mr. A. Johns, treasurer, presented a concise report, showing a balance of $369.49, as the result of a prosperous financial year. Contributions from the United Churches of the city, and from Service Clubs as well as from private citizens, have helped greatly in financing the school and the repairs to the building.

An election of officers resulted as follows:

Superintendent, Mr. R. G. Coulter; Assistant Superintendent Mrs. R. G. Coulter; Secretary, Mrs. J. L. Bird; Treasurer Mr. A. Johns; Organist, Mr. Dana Cooke; Temperance Secretary, Mrs. F. Rogers; Missionary Secretary, Mrs. A. Dickens; Sick and Social Secretary, Mrs. A. Johns.

On Monday evening, Feb. 2nd., Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Coulter were "at home" to the Executive Committee and the Adult Bible Class of the College Hill Sunday School, at their home on North Front Street.

Ways and means for the carrying on of this project were discussed; teachers were appointed and the classes arranged.

Plans were completed for a Valentine Party for the primary department on the afternoon of Friday, with a sleigh ride for the older pupils during the evening.

Business being concluded an enjoyable social hour, with a sing song and a contest closed the meeting, and refreshments were served by the hostess.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Reply to Invitation "In Kind"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman;

The perfect rule to remember is: Reply "in kind". If the invitation is a formal one. . .that is, worded in the third person. . . the reply should be a formal one, worded in the third person, the wording and spacing of the lines of the answer corresponding as nearly as possible to the form and spacing of the invitation. If the invitation is an informal one—for example, a note of invitation —the reply should be in the form of a note.

When Guests Are Leaving Large Reception

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am never sure whether, at a large reception (for example, a wedding reception or a reception given for an important person), I should make a point of going back to the hostess, when I have decided to leave, to say good-by, to thank her for inviting me and to tell her what a pleasant time I have had. My inclination is to do this, because it seems to me the polite thing to do, but, on the other hand, when the hostess is still receiving guests, it does seem a bit forced. What is the really proper, and practical, procedure?

Diane R.

If the hostess is still receiving arriving guests, it is not customary for a departing guest to go down the receiving-line a second time. If all the guests did this, the receiving-line would be too prolonged! However, if the receiving is over and you see that your hostess is not too occupied in introductions or chatting with guests, you may stop for a very brief moment to say good-bye and to thank her.

Correct Name-Forms For Letter to new Daughter-in-Law

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My son, who was divorced several years ago, recently married a widow. Apparently they decided on the spur of the moment to be married, when he was given the news by his firm that he was to take a long business trip. She wrote me a very lovely letter, telling me about the news, and enclosing her letter with my son's letter. She began her letter "Dear Mrs. Brown," and signed it "Dorothy". Since I have not yet met my son's wife, how should I begin my letter to her, and how should I sign it?

Bill's Mother

Begin your letter "Dear Dorothy" and sign it "Margaret Brown". Undoubtedly when you meet and get to know each other, or ever perhaps after a longer-continued correspondence, you and she will hit upon some form of name for you more informal and personal than "Mrs. Brown". You might ask your son for a name-suggestion, or perhaps there is a loving name or nickname by which you are called by another son or daughter or grandchild or other relative, a name you would like to have your daughter-in-law also use for you.

Don't Tell Sender That Fruit Was Spoiled

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Today my husband and I received a box of oranges from the South, and when we opened the box we discovered that most of the fruit was spoiled. Do you think that I should mention this fact in my letter of thanks, so that our friends who sent the box of fruit can put in a claim, either to the place from which they ordered it, or to the express company?

Reader

If I were you, I would write an enthusiastic letter thanking your friends for their kindness and thoughtfulness, and not mention the unfortunate condition of the fruit on arrival. It seems to me unnecessary to distress them with this news, which would certainly cast a shadow on their pleasant plan to give you happiness. . . and also might make them feel that they should send a duplicate box, even perhaps that you expected them to send a duplicate box.

Fashion Flashes

THERE'S NO END to the revivals in fashion noted this season, among them the court or opera pump in suede or satin decorated with large square buckles of marcasite or cut shell. So, if you have such buckles, dig them out and wear 'em; they are high style.

NEW LOOKING ensembles for Spring, such as a delightful design in beige or pale blue woollen. The simple dress has crossed bands set into the bodice and slim skirt with a cluster of pleats opening from the knee down on either side. Crushed snake-skin belt binds the waist. With it a hip-length matching cape bound all around with lynx-dyed white fox.

DEMURE CHARM with a darling look manifests itself in some of the newest evening frocks. Cut on very slim lines in black silk chiffon over a curved, strapless black silk crepe sheath, is in evening frock with much fullness just below the knee line that is achieved by setting ostrich feathers onto circles of net in a very tight, full mass above the curved corsage of the foundation. The bodice and sleeves are of nude-pink fine silk net. Neckline is high; sleeves are long.

VEERING to one side are many of the new hats. Beige felt is used for a head-hugging hat that dips to one side with a tiny cascade of pink moss roses. Folds of soft brown tulle mark the curved line in front.

STILL OUT at the sides are hips. Those on slim suit jackets have slight padding or stiffening or other detail. Fine gabardine is used for a smart suit, the cardigan-necked jacket very fitted through the waist, with hip interest achieved by three pockets on either side. The pockets, set one above the other, have curved, buttoned flaps.

LOOK OUT for the wide cummerbund belt that buckles in front. Nice in snakeskin, suede or calf in all sorts of lovely colors.

Taffeta afternoon dress

By VERA WINSTON

DEEP RICH PLUM shades are mounting on the color card and will really bloom come Spring, which is as it should be! Plum colored taffeta makes this crisp afternoon dress which sports a stand-up rolled collar that cleverly simulates a bolero front. Seams are full at the shoulder tapering and crushed at the elbow. The full skirt is slightly padded at the hips. A narrow sash ties in front.

You may transfer the top crust to the top of the pie in like manner.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Plain Jane can make herself adorable

Pretty girls are a dime a dozen. You see them everywhere. But charming girls! Ah, that is something else again. The plainest girl can acquire chic, can make herself so attractive that nobody will notice if her nose is too long or too snubby, her figure nothing to yodel about.

Exterior perfections are nice to have. The roses-and-gardenia complexion is a sweet inheritance. The svelte shape is comforting when one goes gown-getting. It is very pleasant and satisfying to be good-looking, but it is better to be sweet and beloved, if one must make a choice. Many a homely wife and mother is adored by her family. That makes for happiness and contentment, doesn't it? Of course it does. After all, happiness means more than the reflection in the mirror.

How many times have you been at a party and noticed that a dowdy woman got all the attention? How come? She is attractive, wholly alive, animated. She has developed within herself a certain splendor to compensate for having been short-changed when the beauty gifts were passed around.

Any fellow will tell you that he likes to escort a good-looking girl. He will also tell you that if she is a dumb cluck he won't clang her telephone; he steps out, makes a get-away.

Pretty girls are a dime a dozen

Let's get down to brass tacks. Plain Jane will want to know how she can line up with the charmers. First, she must forget that she is not entitled to stand in the front row of the beauty chorus. She mustn't think about it. She must cultivate her sense of beauty to a high degree, love beautiful things, become interested in luscious colors, be observing.

She can charm with her voice. She can say nice things to people. She can be gracious to everyone, thoughtful and considerate; there are a lot of good-looking women who lack these qualities.

She can learn to move with spirit and grace, to carry herself splendidly.

If here eyes are small or the color uninteresting, it doesn't matter. She can turn the lights on.

To dress in good taste is possible to every woman who really desires to learn about line and color. One can be chic without spending a lot of money.

Free of vanity, Plain Jane is likely to be genuine, true blue, blessed with pleasant human qualities. If she will make the effort, she can be nice to talk with, nice to walk with, nice to do nothing at all with.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Escape from a Drunken Husband

Admittedly, it is difficult to decide what attitude a wife should take toward a husband who drinks.

Intelligent people today have come to realize that the true alcoholic is a sick person, rather than a depraved or mean one who wants to go his own way regardless of the havoc he is wreaking upon his family relationships. Obviously, if a wife has this conception of her husband's drinking, she wants to give him every help she can in the hope that he may eventually be able to recover from this dreadful disease. For the sake of a possibly happy future, she is often willing to put up temporarily with the deep distress her drinking husband causes her. rather than walk out and leave him to struggle alone.

All this is very well, if the husband has any desire whatever to be cured of drinking. In most cases, where he seriously wishes to stop, he will find it possible to do so even though it may be a long time, and he may go through many relapses, before the goal is achieved. The organization known as "Alcoholics Anonymous" has thousands of members who can verify this statement from their own experiences.

It is something else again, however, when the husband has no idea of trying to help himself or to let anyone else help him. When such an attitude is complicated by definite abuse of his family, then I can see little point in a wife continuing to put up with him. In fact, to leave him might be the one thing that would shock him into a realization of how he is wrecking his life and bring him to the point of wanting to do something about it.

To leave a husband who is supporting her, even though sketchily, however, a wife must obviously have some way of getting hold of enough money to take care of herself and her children, if any. She must either have money of her own, have relatives who will take responsibility for her and her family, or be able to go out and earn money herself. If none of these three avenues of escape is open to her, and she has come to the point where she can endure no more, then the only recourse left for her is to take the husband to court, obtain a legal separation from him and a court order requiring him to pay her a stipulated sum each week. The problem then becomes one of getting the money from him, something that is often difficult to do.

Such a legal action, however, is all that I can see for a correspondent who signs herself "An Unhappy Mother", and who writes me that she and her four children are kept in a "living hell" but the abusively drunken sprees in which her husband indulges on his weekly pay day. Apparently her sole reason for staying with this man is an economic one, as she says she is completely dependent on him for support. She feels it is impossible for her to work herself, "because of shattered nerves". Hence she can see nothing ahead but dogged endurance of the situation.

I wonder if this unhappy wife has thought of the possibility that her shattered nerves might miraculously mend themselves if she were free of the terrible strain under which she now lives. I wonder if she knows that it might be possible to have her children cared for, through some social agency, until she gets on her feet and is able to take care of them herself.

This is something that I think she should definitely talk over with someone in her own community who would be able to tell her how she might go about it, and advise her on the legal steps to take against her husband.

If she does not know of any agency in her town that can give her such help, I will be glad to try and locate one for her if she will write me a personal letter and tell me where I can reply to her.

Threat of Second Maritime Mine Strike Dissipated

Glace Bay, N. S., Feb. 11—(CP) — The threat of a second Maritime mine strike in a year has been dissipated.

Though the contract between Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation and the United Mine Workers (C.C.L.) district 26 has not yet been signed, 13,000 soft coal miners will vote in a referendum Feb. 17 to decide its terms.

Unlike last winter, questions on the ballot do not refer to any possible strike action. They offer a choice of two company offers or rejection of both.

The company offers grew out of long sessions of negotiations in which Freeman Jenkins, the stocky, square - jawed union president, and Harold Gordon, tall, soft-spoken coal operations chief for Dosco, again faced each other across the conference table.

Both sides gave ground. The Union had asked a wage boost of $1.10 a day above the current $7.24 and presented a submission for revision of working conditions.

The company had offered an increase of 25 cents a day on conditions the union accept its 14-clause plan for changes in working conditions.

Jump Price

Following a week's tussle, the U. M. W. executive announced it was prepared to have its membership vote on two company proposals, one an offer of 40 cents a day across the board and the other a 55-cent increase conditional on acceptance of a six-point plan for revision of working conditions.

Meanwhile, Dosco has jumped the price of coal 40 cents a ton, bringing the price here to $10.60, less truckage costs of $1.20 a ton.

If the offer is accepted, the basic daily rate will be $7.64 with a top of $11.40 for operators of Joy mechanical loaders.

After ballot results are known, wage negotiations will open with operators in the union's Minto, N. B., sub-district and with the smaller independent operators throughout Nova Scotia. The independents usually follow Dosco's lead. Either increase will be retroactive to Jan. 31, when the union-Dosco contract ran out.

The wage negotiations this year were in marked contrast to those last year which finally toppled and crashed into a 17-weeks strike — a walkout which, if costly for both sides, is generally regarded as having resulted in improved labor - management relations.

CONDITIONS GROWING WORSE IN TORONTO

Toronto, Feb. 11 — (CP) — H. S. Rupert, city welfare commissioner, told today's session of city council that housing conditions within the city were growing worse instead of better, as had been reported earlier this year and that requests to the housing division for assistance had risen to 450 during January.

In 1947 the total for the same month was 248. Only 30 families were accommodated by the division during the month, compared with 65 families in the same month in 1947.

Englishwomen Like Husbands to Show Temper Now and Then

London, Feb. 11 —(CP)— Englishwomen like husbands to "show their temper now and then," Mrs. L. J. Norman, London housewife, said in a letter to the Daily Mirror.

"My kind sympathetic neighbors seem to think that because my husband has a temper and lets off steam now and again they should shed a few tears for me.

"On the contrary I admire my husband for having the guts to show he has a temper. I wouldn't like a man who was too afraid of what 'they' may say or think to challenge me.

"I think most Englishwomen are the same."

THESE CHINESE WOMEN PREFER TO BEG IN STREETS RATHER THAN WORK

Destitute, ill-clad and poverty stricken, these Chinese women, many of them holding babies, are pictured as they were rounded up by the police from the streets and sent to one of the winter relief shelters in western suburbs of Shanghai. They were rounded up as vagrants, who preferred to continue begging and picking pockets in the street rather than be fed, clothed and put to work. None of them seemed willing to enjoy the hospitality provided by the city, and many of them sought to escape.

Aboard Gandhi's Funeral Train, En Route to Allahabad, Feb. 11—(AP) — Sorrowing crowds by the thousands packed railway stations today as Mohandas K. Gandhi's funeral train rolled toward Allahabad.

As the train of third class coaches stopped, jostling mobs pushed forward toward the funeral car where Gandhi's ashes repose in an urn. Garlands and money were tossed into the open window of the special compartment holding the urn.

Tomorrow at noon the ashes will be immersed at Triveni Sangham, near Allahabad, before an estimated 2,000,000 persons. There the Ganges, Jumna and Saraswati — most sacred rives to Hindus — meet.

As the train swung into the open countryside it picked up speed, passing little groups of Indians who had gathered by the tracks to see it pass.

The train, decked with flags of the free India he did so much to create, pulled out of New Delhi today.

A great crowd stood solemnly as the remains of the assassinated Hindu spiritual leader were carried into the train by his son, Ram Das, and a disciple.

Suddenly, it broke, and men, women and children rushed police lines. Some of them wanted a last look at the remains of the man they loved so well. Others, who struggled through a mass of humanity, reached in the funeral car window to snatch flowers from around the urn.

Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru held off a part of the mob which seemed about to crush a woman. He also snatched up a little boy endangered by the trampling feet. For 15 minutes disorder prevailed.

Then Nehru walked to the little third class coach where Gandhi's funeral urn sat fixed to a palanquin. He gazed quietly into the window at the urn, which rested on a darkly stained varnished stand. Six small spotlights brightened the urn and etched the outlines of the Indian flag on which it stood.

On the outside of the coach the freshly-gilded Roman numeral III was a reminder of the simplicity of Gandhi. Always in life he had ridden the hard benches of a third class coach. In deference to him, the whole funeral train was composed of third class cars.

Want Investigation Of Difference In Price of Bread

Toronto, Feb. 11 —(CP)— A meeting called by the Toronto Food Division of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada unanimously approved last night two resolutions to be forwarded to Finance Minister Abbott, demanding investigation of the difference in price of bread sold by independent groceries and chain food stores.

The resolutions, identical except that they named different organizations, charged that bread was sold to independents at 11½ cents for retail sale at 14 cents, whereas bread was sold to chain stores at "approximately eight cents," for retail at 10 cents.

Lengthy discussion occurred on a proposal that members of the association consider an offer from an independent dairy to form a group to take co-operative milk for sale "at a price to compete with any chain in the country." It was decided that interested members would confer with the executive on the merits of the proposal.

Georgia Negro Denies He Killed Man in Crap Game

Kingston, Feb. 11 — (CP)—Denial that he killed Gerald Harrison of Toronto, fatally stabbed during a fight following a crap game in Lake Ontario Park here last Aug. 3 was contained in a statement by Leon Stafford admitted yesterday at Stafford's re-trial on a charge of murder in the death.

Last October a jury disagreed and the new trial was ordered.

When Crown Attorney T. J. Rigney produced the statement, B. J. Spencer Pitt, defence counsel, admitted it had been given voluntarily. Kenneth Harrison, brother of the dead man, was due to continue his evidence when the trial resumes today.

In the statement Stafford, 24-year-old Negro from Waycross, Ga., said: "I honestly didn't do it — I have never carried a knife and never owned one except when I was in the Navy — all I did was put up my hands and then I saw the guy was cut. There should have been some honest people around who saw what happened — I'm right-handed and I saw blood on my left hand."

Kenneth Harrison told the court he broke up one scuffle between Stafford and his brother on the night of Aug. 3 in the park and had started to walk away from the scene of the crap game when he heard some more scuffling.

"I started running back to the place and then I saw Gerald start to fall — there was blood all over his shirt. As I ran I saw two men running away in different directions; one wore a white jacket and the other a dark suit. I chased the fellow wearing the white jacket (Johnny Harris, a material witness at the first trial but absent at the present hearing) and caught up with him in a car just to the east of the pavilion.

"I told him he wasn't going anywhere and then Detective Vincent McQuaide came along."

Earlier Detective McQuaide under cross-examination, said he first noticed spots of blood on Harris' coat after they had arrived at the police station. Afterwards he noticed blood on the sleeve of Stafford's coat.

Mayor Counters Council Action With $21,000 Bill

So said Mayor Charles W. Cox today. To support his contention, he referred to a $21,000 bill submitted by him to city council last night covering expenses incurred during the last 14 years in his position as chief magistrate of this Lakehead city and for which he had made no previous claims.

The matter probably never would have come up had council not approved a recommendation of the civic finance committee that $20.15 be deducted from the mayor's March salary.

When council made its recommendation mayor Cox countered with his expense account. Providing the latter was approved for payment, he said he was agreeable to having $20.15 deducted, leaving the city in debt to him by only $20,979.85.

The $20.15 item represented the cost of a new dress and some hosiery purchased for a Port Arthur woman who said she had fallen on one of the city's sidewalks and ruined her dress and stockings.

Council had denied her claim for new apparel. Mayor Cox, however, said he believed he could "save the city money" by authorizing Mrs. James Wigmore to buy a new dress and hose at a price not exceeding $20.

It was the bill incurred by these council - unauthorized purchases which the aldermen decided should be deducted from the mayor's pay cheque.

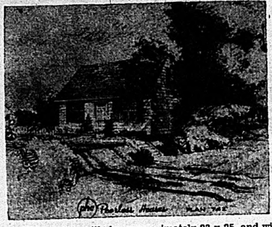
Mayor Cox said he had no objection, if council would approve his expense account.

Aldermen decided to refer the matter to the civic finance committee.

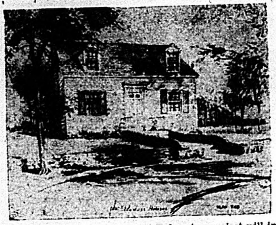
LOWER, RAISE BLOOD PRESSURE

Cleveland, Feb. 11 — (AP)—A mechanical method for lowering or raising blood pressure during an operation by withdrawal or addition of blood through an artery has been developed by two Cleveland surgeons, Dr. Irvine H. Page and Dr. Otto Glasser. They reported it helpful in certain cases in which bleeding is likely to be profuse and difficult to cope with.

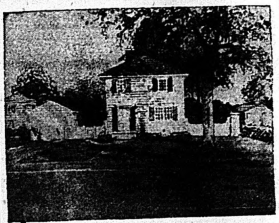
Air Force to Build 125 Houses at Trenton



This model will be approximately 23 x 25, and will have seven rooms. The R.C.A.F. will erect 15 of these on the new site between the Town of Trenton and the airport. Note—The illustrations of three houses shown are the architect's conception of the finished product, but it will not necessarily include all the fences, trees and shrubs shown.



Trenton's permanent R.C.A.F. housing project will include 35 of this two-storey, seven-room model. Approximate dimensions are 22 x 24.



Seventy-five units of Trenton's Air Force housing project will be similar to this one; 18 in the style shown, and 57 of the same model with a gabled roof. Seven rooms, approximate dimensions 22 x 24.

Trenton, Ont., February 11 — Plans are completed, and land surveys for the R.C.A.F.'s 125 permanent houses in Trenton area are already being made. Contracts for the construction have been let and the builder anticipates completion of the entire project by 15th July this year.

The land, formerly known as the Glen White farm, and recently purchased for the Air Force, comprises 100 acres situated immediately west of the 6 Repair Depot Road, some 500 feet north of highway number 2.

To Landscape Lots

The lots are to be 70 x 100 feet, and the area is to be completely landscaped. Individuality will be emphasized with the houses set at different attitudes and at different distances from the street. There are four distinctive types of houses, and those of one type will not be grouped together but will be mixed through the others to avoid monotony.

A park area, enclosed by the houses and their adjoining grounds, may be developed at a later date.

The first model will be a 1¼-storey house, approximately 23 x 25, with five rooms on the ground floor and two on the second floor. The other three models will be two-storey, seven-room, structures approximately 22 x 24. Two have gabled roofs and the other has a hipped roof.

Include Basements

All houses will have full-sized basements and will be equipped with individual hot-air furnaces. These will have thermostatic control, and will be hand-stoked with coal.

Twenty-five of the houses will be allotted initially to personnel of 6 Repair Depot, and the remainder will be for personnel of Central Air Command Headquarters and R.C.A.F. Station Trenton. Distribution will be handled by the Commanding Officers of the two stations, 85% are to go to airmen, and 15% to officers.

The houses are not prefabricated, but the material is mostly pre-cut.

Hog Producers Must Handle Own Affairs Says Pres.

Brantford, Feb. 11 — (CP)—If agriculture is to play a part in the establishment of a new world it must not depend on governments and speculators to shape its policy, Charles McInnes, Iroquois, Ont., president of the Ontario Hog Producers Association, said last night.

"It must handle its own affairs," he told a joint meeting of the Brant County Federation of Agriculture and the Brant County Hog Producers, Mr. McInnes, said that if agriculture needed anything today it was a good marketing program.

"We must not let governments and speculators market our produce for us. We must establish a collective marketing scheme of our own."

"If we don't have such a scheme, you and I are going to be a bunch of galley slaves working to provide food for the aristocrats of the urban centres."

To reach their goal producers would have to make use of all the legislation available," Mr. McInnes said.

"But if the present legislation is not adequate, steps must be taken to see that suitable legislation is obtained.

He advocated that producers have a hold and claim on their product from the time it leaves the pens until it reaches the consumers. Other industries have this privilege but not the hog producing industry.

EXTENSIVELY DAMAGED

Famous Falls At Montmorency Frozen Over

Montmorency, Que, Feb. 11—(CP) — Montmorency's famous falls has frozen over—an unheard of happening among the old-timers of this rapidly-growing little town six miles from the heart of Quebec City. The February cold wave, coupled with the low level of the Montmorency River last fall, turned the trick.

While down through the years nature was responsible for building fascinating mountains of ice that made the falls a winter-playground for Quebeckers, never before has it succeeded in fully stopping the flow of water from cascading 274 feet into the gorge. Today there's not the faintest sign of a trickle.

Philippe Perusse, who at 89 is Montmorency's oldest resident, said that 80 years ago some mighty huge ice formations grew at the falls after prolonged cold spells—but even then one could always find some water flowing over the chutes.

In winter, he said, the ice at the bottom of the falls formed on stones and, as the cold held on, grew tier upon tier into oddly-shaped formations which the natives called "pain de sucre" (sugar loaf). The tallest of them reached a height of 175 feet.

Sugar loaf time was the signal for Quebeckers to set out on some pretty fair sprees. They came in cutters or sleighs for tobagganing. Camps sprung up in which the visitors brought refreshments—most of it of the contraband type. One year, the visitors dug a tunnel under the tallest sugar loaf and held parties.

A parish priest of Montmorency hearing of these orgies at the falls, damned the "pain de sucre" from his pulpit in a sermon one Sunday, and legend has it that the giant ice formation—the 175-footer—never again grew as high.

Jack Miner Foundation To Sponsor National Wild Life Week

Kingsville, Ont., Feb. 11—By a unanimous vote of The Canadian House of Commons and the Senate of last year's session, a bill introduced by Mr. John R. MacNicol, M.P. (Davenport, Toronto) makes the week of April 10 to 16 inclusive known as National Wild Life Week. A week when everybody's attention will be focussed on God's great outdoors.

Manly F. Miner, who succeeded his father, the late Jack Miner, as President of The Jack Miner Foundation, said today in an interview that the educational department of The Foundation was devoting its entire time during these winter months to prepare and sponsor a program during that week. In no way said Manly Miner, will there be a tag day or apple day. It will be strictly an educational week and no money would change hands in connection with same.

A week when all churches of all denominations will be asked on Sunday, April 11, to emphasize in their sermons God's great outdoors and how important it is to conserve the natural resources God has given to us.

The various service clubs will be asked to not only have a speaker that week speak on our National Wild Life and Conservation of same but they will be asked to sponsor bird house building contests in the schools. The school teachers will be asked during the week of April 10 - 16 to stress in the school classes the value of bird life and all Canada's natural resources. Canada's great outdoors.

All business concerns that advertise their goods in the press will be asked to devote their advertising space in the papers calling attention to the value and conservation of all Canada's National Wild Life. Many large stores throughout Canada have already expressed their willingness to decorate their windows calling attention to the educational value of such a week throughout the entire Dominion. The newspapers, magazines and periodicals, have always stood ready to do their part, said Manly Miner, in any such a worth while project from which all Canada can and will benefit. In fact, he said, several magazines are already having drawings or paintings made to use on their covers to call people's attention to the importance of the week.

N.Y. State Outlaws Racial Discrimination

By Saul Pett

"Are you a high school graduate?' asked the personnel manager.

"I'm a college graduate."

"Are you married?"

"Yes."

"Ah, in that case, I'm sorry. You see, we don't hire married women. Nor college graduates. Just high school graduates."

Her color was never mentioned, but the woman felt she was getting a racial brushoff. Two and a half years ago, she might have been turned down with much less subtlety and she couldn't have done anything about it. But the woman in this case eventually got the job, after the employer was reminded of New York's state law against discrimination.

Though it is surrounded by conflicting opinions, this first law of its kind is taking on increasing importance as an experiment designed to legislate out of existence at least one fruit of racial and religious prejudice.

From every region of the U. S. and from places as far away as Australia and Hawaii, the New York State Commission Against Discrimination has been getting inquiries as to its operations and effectiveness.

Proving Effective

SCAD (the Commission) thinks the law is proving effective, although the sentiment now ranges from all-out praise to "it's better than no law at all." Among the original opponents, the feeling now extends from complete support to complete condemnation.

In 2 1/2 years SCAD has not found it necessary to go to court once. In every case, it reports, where anyone was found to be using discriminatory methods, he yielded to conciliation and persuasian, backed up by the implied or expressed threat of punishment provided in law.

Since it began, the five-man Commission has handled 1,131 complaints and investigations. Just how the conciliation techhique operates is illustrated by the case of the Negro woman turned down for the switchboard job. The Commission found the company had hired married women for similar jobs and that it was consistently turning down Negroes.

The employer denied any racial discrimination. Finally, said he feared his white employees would resent him. The SCAD man told him about an up-state telephone company which changed its policy to hire Negro operators. Several weeks later, when one of the older girls was given a wedding shower, the guests included the two Negro girls.

The employer agreed to try the Negro applicant. Six months later, on a re-check, a commission investigator found he had hired another Negro woman with no damage in his employee relations.

OPERATION POOCH

A frolicking, but foolhardy, small white dog, which had gone for a romp on ice-choked Gravesend Bay, N.Y., was finally rescued after one of the most involved sea-land rescue operations ever seen in local waters. Before the shivering pup was removed from an ice floe on which it had been marooned for hours a short distance off shore, the services of the state police department, fire department, ASPCA, coast guard and volunteer civilians had been called into play. All failed to reach the dog until three civilians set out in a small sailboat and finally managed to paddle their way to the trapped canine. But before they got the dog into the boat, one of the trio, who had ventured on to the ice floe, slipped into the icy waters and after seizing the pup was pulled back into the boat. Photo at left shows Fred Landa, who got the dunking on the ice trying to coax the dog to him as Landa's two companions wait in the boat.

Terry, Aged Three, Won Fight for Life

Toronto, Feb.—(CP)— There's no age limit for heroes, although little Terry Stafford is only three years old, he has been fighting a cheerful and winning battle against an ailment which made doctors prophesy he would not live more than three hours.

Terry, who lives in Lakeview, 15 miles southwest of Toronto on the shore of Lake Ontario, was born with a growth at the base of his spine which left a section of spinal cord and nerve tissue exposed and rendered his leg useless.

The baby lived through the fateful three hours and began a fight for health. An operation was performed by Dr. A. B. LeMesurier at the Hospital for Sick Children here and the exposed tissue was covered.

But the child's limbs remained shrunken and for the first 2½ years of his life Terry could move only by crawling along the floor dragging his atrophied legs behind him.

The Staffords faced the possibility that their child would never be able to walk like other children. On their modest budget they couldn't pay for the expensive equipment and medical attention needed to effect a cure.

But help came without solicitation. The Crippled Children's Committee of the Rameses Temple Shriners in Toronto heard of the case and made arrangements for special treatment at the Sick Children's Hospital. There Terry was fitted with a steel brace and a tiny pair of crutches.

Today-due to the restorative action of these devices—the right leg is approaching normal and the left, which was more distorted, is gradually coming down into a natural position as Terry exercises by making tours of his parents' living room.

Terry told a recent visitor to his home. "Come again. I will be better soon."

That promise may some day be realized.

Fire Destroys Splendid Home Of Clayton Dice

Picton. (Special)—Believed to have started from a blow torch being used to workmen to thaw frozen pipes, the home of Clayton M. Dice near Bloomfield, ten miles north of Picton, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday. The men were working outside the building with the torches. When they entered the kitchen they found it ablaze. They were unable to control the outbreak and put in a telephone call for help. Neighbors managed to carry out the greater part of the furniture from downstairs rooms but that upstairs was lost. The house had been thoroughly modernized since it was purchased two years ago by Mr. Dice from Sheldon Orser. Loss is estimated at $8,000.

The chemical fire fighting apparatus from Bloomfield village was called to the scene but the fire had progressed so far they could do little. With men who carried pails of water in zero weather, the firemen watched the barn near by and prevented it from igniting. They were assisted by the fact that the house had been covered with grey slate shingles which kept the flames confined. The canning factory a few hundred feet away was not endangered.

Mr. and Mrs. Dice are spending the winter in Toronto and until their arrival, Clayton Metcalfe of Deseronto, took charge of the furniture which had been salvaged. The home was unoccupied but a fire had been kept burning by a caretaker.

Railmen 'Heroes' in North

When the temperature dropped to 58 below zero in the Hornepayne district of Northern Ontario recently, veteran railroaders shivered and thought kindly of the men operating the trains in that sector this winter.

Mr. A.B. Saunders, divisional superintendent of the Canadian National Railways with headquarters at St. Thomas, was in the Hornepayne district for a few years. That is one of the worst divisions on the entire C. N. R. in winter. It does not matter which winter, because all winters up there are bad, some being worse than others, but none being good says a Windsor Star Writer.

Mr Saunders was sent up to Hornepayne to straighten out some of the motive power problems and he had his own fun keeping the trains moving in the blizzards and cold.

Keep Them Rolling

The chief idea up there is not to let the trains stop rolling long enough to freeze up. Just keep them going and hope they do not get stuck. That is the doctrine on which the railroaders operate in what some of them facetiously call the banana belt of Canada.

There was one winter when the storms were bad in the Cornwall area. The Cornwall railroad men wanted Hornepayne to keep the freight trains up in that part of the country until the tracks were cleared and they could handle them.

But, if those freight trains had ever been put in the sidings with blizzards and 50 below zero temperatures, the railroad men would not have got them out until the spring thaws came to melt the snow and thaw out the trains.

Number of Locomotives

Even this winter some trains got stalled and it took a number of locomotives to get them rolling again.

When people are riding comfortably in a warm passenger train, they do not always appreciate the problems confronting the operating men of the railways. They look out and see the fields and woods flying past, but never pause to think what happens when a freight gets into a siding and is there so long it freezes right up.

Steam Necessary

The extreme cold up in Northern Ontario makes it bad for diesel engines. Railroad men claim the diesel cannot generate enough steam to heat a stalled train. And, as the blizzards will come and trains will be late, or even stopped, it is necessary to have steam heat.

The steam locomotives can put the heat through the passenger cars and keep the people comfortable. But, if a diesel engine were operating through that section in winter, everyone would have to keep his fingers crossed to make sure there would be no halt.

One superintendent of the C.N.R. at Hornepayne thought up a novel scheme to remove the snow that struck the station and yards one severe winter. He called on the schoolboys and got up a contest. Prizes were offered the boys who could remove the most snow. And, while all boys were paid for the work each did, those who did the best got prizes in addition to their regular pay.

That removed a lot of snow in a short time and got the railway through an emergency. It was a brilliant thought on the part of the superintendent, who found it worked better than he had even hoped.

Hot Boxes

Cold weather is bad for hot boxes. Because, no matter how cold it may be, a car will develop a hot box. And, if the axle gets red hot and then cools off quickly in the below zero weather, the metal will crystallize and it can snap into bits.

One of the strange facts about hot boxes is that a wisp of waste can cause the trouble. If the railroad man checking the journals and wheels puts waste and oil in the box and allows even a single string of waste to hang outside he is asking for trouble. That single string of waste can siphon off all the oil in the box and leave the thing dry. And, that will mean a hot box.

The body of one of 12 employees of the Teikoku Bank, in Tokyo, is shown as it was removed from the bank while police were still seeking the robber whose like has never before been encountered in fact or fiction. The robber, representing himself as a doctor from the municipal health department, walked into the bank and announced he was ordered to disinfect the premises. But, he said, his equipment had not arrived, so all members of the staff would have to take a preventative medicine. All drank the potion given them. It has since been identified as prussic acid. Twelve died and four were in a critical condition. Bank officials said they did not know how much money was taken, but believed it was a negligible amount.

U.S. Art Expert Names Medieval Mystery Painter

By PRESTON GROVER

Paris,—(AP)— A United States art expert with an international reputation claims to have solved one of the world's art mysteries by naming the man who for centuries has been identified simply as the "Unknown Painter," or as the "Master of Moulins."

Dr. Maurice H. Goldblatt of Chicago, director of the art galleries of Notre Dame University, said in an interview here that he had established beyond question that the "Master of Moulins," a great painter who worked about 1500, was Jean Hay, sometimes known as Jean Clouet the Elder after he moved to Paris from Flanders.

For years a number of paintings in France and elsewhere have been credited to the "Master of Moulins," Art experts agreed they were executed by the same man who painted a famous group in a three-panelled work (Triptych) in the Cathedral of Moulins in southern France sometime between 1450 and 1500.

Nobody knew his name. Historians had reported there was a great painter of the period, ranked above all others in France, but his name had been lost.

Dr. Goldblatt's discovery resulted from detective work that he had been pursuing for 20 years, partly on his own initiative and partly at the request of Edouard Herriot, now president of the French Assembly.

Dr. Goldblatt now is certain that he has established Jean Hay Clouet as the "Master of Moulins.' He said his disclosures, to be made officially in a forthcoming number of the art magazine, Connoisseur, of London, already had won acclaim of French art critics.

Elusive Clue

His work in identifying Jean Hay Clouet as the unknown artist extended from Brussels to Chicago, but the keystone in the search was found virtually under the noses of French experts who had been trying for more than two centuries to name the master painter.

Dr. Goldblatt, an active, slightly rotund man of about 65 years, said the discovery was the result of much thought, great patience and a magnifying glass.

The great Triptych in the Cathedral of Moulins from which the master drew his title is about five feet square and placed high on the wall. Balancing himself on a ladder, Dr. Goldblatt went over the work inch by inch with a magnifying glass.

Then he concentrated the same care on the other sides of the wings on the Triptych and there made the find which one French expert commented would be a "sensation." This discovery, made seven years ago, was a mysterious signature faintly worked into the painting of the grain of the wood on the little lectern supporting a book. The name "J. Hay" appears, Dr. Goldblatt said, to be painted clearly in this spot almost in the middle of the outside panel.

"The name 'Clouet' appears twice in the signature in cryptic form," Dr Goldblatt said. "The head of a nail, 'Clou' in French, is painted between the J. and H. in J. Hay. In turn the head of another nail is painted inside the upper part of the a in Hay.

"One cryptogram thus reads 'J-Clou-Hay' (pronounced just like Clouet in French). The other reads 'J-H-Clou-Ay' again the name pronounced the same way."

Checks, Stripes Feature London Wool Exhibition

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London,—(CP)—The variations in color, texture and weight of which wool is capable were demonstrated at the International Wool Secretariat's London Exhibition.

The secretariat has developed new uses for wool and new processes such as moth-proofing and shrink-resisting. It has also devolved methods of modifying its affinity for waters and dyes.

Checks and stripes of every description including clan tartans and the personal tartans of Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret were features of the exhibit.

The plaid check too was back in black and white, with many variations. Every description of check was used, and the conservative pencil-thin ones like the Scotch Glen Urquhart contrasted with gay colors combined in the looser woven tartan styles.

Stripes of every style were on display from the old boater stripe to the wide panel used in new material called "crepe" tweed." This can be made in light weights and in such combinations as grey with brown and black, grey and white and brown and white. The herringbone and diagonal are given new life with two colors making, respectively, a horizontal and diagonal stripe.

Peachskin Wool

One of the loveliest of the materials was the peachskin blue wool fabric worn in Princess Elizabeth's going -away outfit. This is well named as, to the touch, it feels exactly like the skin of a peach.

Heavy reversible overcoatings also included tartans, checks and stripes. Jaeger's latest show gave examples of attractively-designed tartan skirts, with the "new look," under coats lined with the same tartan. Checks were used in many other styles.

New light-weight wool fabrics using an alginate rayon thread of a nylon fabric have been produced to take the place of silk for evening dresses, dinner dresses and two-pieces, and evening coats. These light fabrics can be draped and designed in all styles so successfully that from even a short distance it is difficult to tell them from silk.

New colors which have been introduced include bedouin green, a new tan, stone color, pale orchid, rich mulberry, matinee blue, iced coffee, summer blonde, lineflower, linden, derby tan, chestnut, gold cup, star pink, dusky coral, elegant amber, totem red and lancers blue.

Perpetual Round of Cleaning Marks Life of British Lighthouse Keepers

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Guiding mariners past the treacherous teeth of Britain's jagged coastline, 120 weather-worn lighthouse keepers spend among them every 12 months a total of 80 years in isolation.

Through sun, storm, wind and spray they spend eight months out of the 12 keeping the warning beacons flashing from their austere seven-roomed towers.

Plight of lighthouse men eight miles off Lands End, who were isolated by raging gales for 26 days before food and supplies could be dropped to them Saturday, temporarily put the British lighthouse keeper in the spotlight.

In the tradition of Vancouver's "Mr. Good Evening" who sent greetings to lighthouses in a nightly newscast for 18 years, the BBC last week dedicated a special program to lighthouse men.

Around Britain's coast are some "true" lights controlled by Trinity House Headquarters, port of London authority. Each has its own particular story of solitude, for lighthouse men say that their solitude is relieved only by lighthouse-to-shore radio communication.

His day is divided into eight-hour watches. Dog watches are hour watches, his night into four-spent tending the lamp, checking equipment, renewing wiring, in the case of electric beacons or trimming wicks and "topping up" where oil is used.

There's a perputal round of cleaning. Every metal part must be kept shining, every pane of the lantern free from encrusting sea salt. Stairways and platforms must be scrubbed and fresh water pumped from tanks which are sunk below the floor of the lowest room.

From sunset to dawn, the beam must flash its warning and while on duty—especially during the current storm period—the keeper has little time to reflect on his lonely calling.

Careful Food Planning

Necessity has made the lighthouse man a good cook but nowadays his food stores require careful planning since he receives no more than a regular seaman's rations.

Ironically, though, lighthouse-keeping is at its worst just now and Trinity House is advertising throughout the country for candidates of good character and education, unmarried and of good vision."

SUNDAY EVENING UPLIFT PROGRAM BIG ATTRACTION

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

Chicago, Feb. 11 — (AP) — Shows move in and out of other theatres, but one attraction has been running at Orchestra Hall for 40 years.

Crowds have been going to the spacious auditorium on Michigan Avenue for the Chicago Sunday Evening Club's weekly programs of music, prayers and talks since Feb. 16, 1908.

The club was founded by Clifford W. Barnes, a great-grandson of Daniel Webster, as a convenient source of "Christian inspiration in the business centre of the city."

The idea of turning a house of entertainment into a house of worship one night a week arched eyebrows at the time. But the first audience of 800, and subsequent attendance averaging 1,400 and ranging as high as 3,000, gave ample evidence of popular support.

The services are non-denominational, and are free. The rostrum — sometimes called "The Nation's Pulpit" — has been occupied by a wide variety of Protestant clergymen and laymen, Jewish rabbis and Catholic laymen.

There is a different featured speaker each Sunday. Among them have been William Howard Taft, Jane Addams, Cordell Hull, The British archbishop of Canterbury and York, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, Booker T. Washington, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Marshal Joffre, Charles Evans Hughes, William Jennings Bryan, Josephus Daniels, Ballington Booth.

They are booked for addresses, not sermons, although a religious thread runs through all the remarks. The people laugh at the humorous passages and applaud the orators, soloists and 75-voice choir.

The two - hour programs include music, a 15-minute talk on a Biblical topic, a couple of prayers, the main address and a benediction.

Expenses are met by a collection, box seat rentals, endowment funds and annual contributions of $5 to $100.

The majority of those who attend are men. The audiences consist of a nucleus of regulars, residents of the Chicago area and out-of-towners from loop hotels.

Dr. Albert J. McCartney, the director, reports the club has had to cope with the "increased secularization of Sundays, the movies and radio" in recent seasons.

But as the organization prepares to celebrate its 40th anniversary Feb. 15, he predicts it will "carry on quite as vigorously in the foreseeable future."

Eating With Hubby Learns He's Buried

Norwich, Norfolk England, Feb.—(CP)—While eating breakfast with her husband, Mrs. E. E. Goodham opened a letter from the War Graves Commission and read Mr. Goodham had been buried in France.

She wasn't surprised. Ever since Dunkerque she has been trying to persuade the war Office her husband is alive.

"When he came back from Dunkerque I had a letter to say he was missing," she said. I rang up the War Office and told them he had arrived home. Later they sent me an application form for a pension."

Mr. Goodham, who was demobilized two years ago with the rank of lieutenant-colonel, said:

"When I left the beaches at Dunkerque I had to leave my kit in a dugout. Perhaps someone who did not escape picked it up and was later killed. . . Someone is buried in my name in France."

Canada's Penal System Criticized By Psychiatrist

Toronto, Feb. 11 —(CP)— Canada's penal system is based on safe custody and punishment and society is merely "exacting its penalty of revenge," with little or no effect made to cure the disease, Dr. C. M. Crawford, Kingston Penitentiary psychiatrist, said in an address here last night.

He described the average Canadian penitentiary criminal. "Generally, he is a man between the ages of 18 and 27. His education is limited. He comes from a family where one parent is missing . . . his family is poor, on relief or close to it and lives 'across the tracks' in a slum area. Most leisure time has been devoted to gambling, excessive drinking or sex."

"His family is large and his home crowded. He has been most likely a chronic truant, a thief or both . . . He began his criminal pursuits at the early age of 9½ years by stealing at home . . . Has been sent to St. John's Industrial School or Bowmanville Training School, has graduated therefrom with questionable honors and has served a sentence or two at Guelph or Burwash for setaling a motor car . . .

"He is dead certain that he has never received a square deal from society and he professes no particular shame for his criminal career to date, in fact, rather glories in it. He has an overwhelming confidence in his own opinions and is most unreceptive to advice from the professional officers of the institution."

With this criminal, reform is probably hopeless, said Dr. Crawford, but all inmates at Kingston are not so patently hopeless.

Dr. Crawford recommended that first offenders should be put on probation, if imprisoned, they should be segregated from habitual and professional criminals and all methods of reform tried. The latter group should be given indeterminate sentences, and unless their behaviour changes markedly should be taken out of circulation permanently.

Washington, Feb. 11 — (AP)— The Justice Department today announced the arrest for deportation of John Williamson, labor secretary of the Communist party in the United States.

The department said Williamson, a member of the Communist Party's National Committee, "has been posing as an American Citizen for many years, whereas he is an alien."

Records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation showed he was born in Scotland 45 years ago.

Immigration service officials and F. B. I. agents took Williamson into custody this morning as he was leaving his home in New York.

He was taken to Ellis Island and held there without bond to await deportation proceedings.

Williamson has represented himself as a native of California, department officials said. They described Williamson as a member of the "High Policy Board" of the Communist Party in the United States.

TO COMMAND AIR GROUPS

CANADIANS GIVEN CHANCE TO HELP CHILDREN OF DEVASTATED COUNTRIES

Rodeo Life No Career for Fops

Tall, brawny Casey Davis, his right arm in a sling, stood beside a gate in the horse pens beneath the arena of the National Western Stock show at Denver, relates a writer in The Kansas City Star. At intervals at the shout of "Casey," he would use his good arm to open the gate to let a wild-eyed, plunging bronco into the pen at which he stood guard.

With other cowboy rodeo performers, Casey was aiding in the morning line-up of bucking horses preparatory for the rodeo show to be given in the arena that afternoon and night.

Rides a Bull

The previous afternoon, Casey had ridden into the arena on board a snorting, jumping, twisting Brahma bull. There was a wild cheer from the chrowd and a yell from Casey, as the bull plunged from the "chute," where the animal had been held while the cowboy got astride his back.

Casey, a veteran rodeo hand, who had won top money in the big rodeo last July 4 at Klamath Falls, Ore., had eight seconds to stay atop the bull to keep in the money at the recent Denver show.

But eight seconds was four too many. Half way across the arena he was tossed into the dust. Casey landed pitching forward and he was attempting to scramble to his feet when the bull turned, caught him on his posterior with a horn and tossed him some thirty feet. Casey landed from this free trip through the air on his shoulder.

Able to Walk Away

Momentarily there was a hush over the crowd as the cowboy lay sprawled on the arena tan bark. Then there was a cheer. Casey managed to get to his feet and walked out.

"These cowboys are tough," the announcer exclaimed over the loud speaker system. "It is amazing what they can take. They fall hard, but they get up and walk under their own power."

Casey was tough, but not so hard that he wouldn't break. His injury was a fractured shoulder bone, the doctor said.

Leaning on the horse gate the next morning, Casey was philosophical about his bad luck; the shoulder had been broken before, he said.

Just Little Bone

"It's just the little bone," he explained, "and will be all right for the show at Fort Worth, two weeks away."

In looking forward to the Fort Worth show, Casey was planning ahead the same as any businessman, because he and some 600 cowboys like him make their living riding the broncs and Brahma bulls, roping and wrestling steers —not on ranches, but in front of rodeo audiences.

Why in the world would a man want to choose such a dangerous way of making a living?

Gets Into System

"I don't know," Casey answered frankly. "I guess it gets into your blood. Maybe it's like anything else. When you get pretty good at something, you stick with it. These boys think they can ride."

Casey ought to know. Now 35, he was 14 when at Cheyenne, he rode his first bronc out of a chute. Of course, he had learned to tame a bucking horse as a youngster on the ranch where he was reared near Cheyenne. Most of the rodeo performers are ranch-reared and trained, but they prefer life in hotels and in rodeos to riding the range. Casey has been a professional rodeo cowboy for years. He is married and Mrs. Davis sits with the audience, watching him make his ride or take his fall.

STOCKS DROP ON SYDNEY EXCHANGE

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 10 — (AP) — Widespread price declines on the Sydney stock exchange wiped hundreds of thousands of pounds off the value of leading stocks today. (The Australian pound is quoted at $3.22). Industrial stocks suffered heavy losses and practically all sections of the market fell in the greatest selling wave in nearly a year.

Dock Workers' Ban Hits Australian Trade With Islands of Indonesia

By LESLIE BRODIE
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 11 — (CP) — The Australian waterside workers' ban on the handling of Netherlands ships in Australian waters has cost the Commonwealth at least $125,000,000 in lost trade according to the Chamber of Manufacturers.

The ban was imposed by the Waterside Workers' Federation more than two years ago on the grounds that Dutch ships were carrying arms for use against the Indonesian republican forces. It is being maintained despite the cease-fire agreement signed by both parties to the dispute.

Action was first taken by Brisbane dock workers who stopped work in September 1945. Melbourne and Sydney workers quickly followed their lead.

Prime Minister Chifley assured the Dutch minister to Australia that his government would see to it that food and medical supplies, badly needed in Indonesia, would be loaded, but the waterside workers refused to have anything to do with them.

The Australian Council of Trade Unions backed Mr. Chifley and called upon the men to obey the prime minister's request to load "mercy" supplies intended for former internees and ex-prisoners of war, but the union ignored the appeal.

Order Cancelled

In April, 1946, the Dutch were forced to cancel a $20,000,000 order for Australian goods. Other cancellations followed.

Dutch - Australian relations were further strained when the destroyer Piet Hein, leaking after a collision, arrived for repairs. The workers refused to touch the destroyer, regarded as "black" on account of the watersiders' ban an all Dutch shipping.

External Affairs Minister Evatt succeeded last June in having the ban lifted after long discussions with the men and Senator Ashley, minister for supply and shipping.

When the Dutch "police action" began a month later in Indonesia the ban was re-imposed — this time on all Dutch shipping including ships trading between Australia and Holland.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

A skillful player gets no bang out of a laydown contract. What he enjoys are the deals that make him work for success. Mastering a tough hand is what gives him such keen interest in the game.

Beginners are often discouraged by the clever advance planning of such experts. Let them remember that the easy steps of play must be learned first. More freight can be added gradually.

South was declarer at a heart small slam in this deal:

SOUTH

The opening lead from west was club queen. A quick look at the dummy hand is encouraging. If something can be done about the south fourth diamond, 13 tricks may be had.

So, trick one was taken by the south club ace and dummy pulled two trump rounds with king and queen. But when west shows out on the second heart round, east is known to have a sure trump trick.

However, the needed 12 tricks are still safe if the fourth south diamond can be ruffed. Or so it would seem if there is no other fear.

What danger could there be? East might ruff a high diamond and return a trump. This would prevent a dummy ruff of the fourth diamond. It would mean the loss of a diamond as well as a trump.

A small diamond was led from there. If east ruffs, south can sluff a small diamond and he is safe from there in.

However, east sluffed a club on the second diamond and south won with the queen. Dummy got in again with club ace and led the third diamond. Again east sluffed and south won with the king.

The fourth diamond was ruffed in dummy. East overruffed this. Any return from east was taken by declarer. The heart ace picked up the last east trump and there were no more losers.

Employ a safe plan whenever you can.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 11 —(AP)— Abbott and Costello now plan to leave late in July for England, where they will make appearances and film a picture.

Lou told me that he and Bud are considering two scripts, one of which will be filmed under their own auspices in England this summer. They also plan to play four weeks at London's Palladium.

"But we won't bring the money home from the Palladium engagement," he added. "We will donate half of the proceeds to aid English orphans and half for Italian orphans."

Echo of Spy Trials

"The Iron Curtain" has returned for some additional shooting, but not because of protests from friends of the Soviet Union. "We are shooting the ending," Dana Andrews explained, "and a few added scenes to make the picture more melodramatic." The story, based on the Canadian spy trials, has been filmed in semi-documentary style.

Marlene Dietrich almost balked at playing a scene in "A Foreign Affair." She was supposed to play a newsreel scene in which she would Heil Hitler (played by Bobby Watson) and chat with him. Director Billy Wilder talked her into doing the scene . . .

Not Yet?

"Oklahoma!" is again being talked about as a film vehicle. The ambition of producer Paul Jones is to make it with Bing Crosby as star. That would be a great combination, but with the show still a hit wherever it plays, I doubt if it will be filmed for at least a decade . . .

Producer Lester Cowan is going ahead with his plans to film "The Free Press," which he says will be a frank treatment of newspaper freedom in the United States. He is negotiating with John Hersey to write the screenplay.

10-Second Review

"Call Northside 777" (TCF) is another semi-documentary, and, unlike most film trends, this one hasn't worn thin. "Northside" packs as much action and excitement as its predecessors and makes the ordinary Hollywood film seem tame in comparison. James Stewart leads the cast in the story of the Chicago newspaper man whose research freed an innocent man convicted of murder.

Whitby, Ont., Feb. 11 —(CP)— Mrs. Agnes Johnson was sentenced to prison here today — for two minutes. Mrs. Johnson, charged with theft of household furniture amounting to $280 which had been bought by her husband on D.V.A. credits, was first given a suspended sentence by Judge D. B. Coleman. But when A. C. Hall, Crown Counsel, protested, the judge changed it to "two minutes in prison and the court will rise until that time."

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma told me to go and wash my hands and face before supper, especially my face, and I said, Aw G, ma, they're not so derty.

Perhaps not, but they're also not so cleen, ma said. Now really, Benny, I mean really, it's time you terned over a cleen leaf in your washing habits. What would you think of me if I made a long face every time I washed my hands for land sakes? she said and I said, Well jimminy, ma, you're different, I mean you really like to get washed, so why should you get credit for doing something you actually injoy? I said.

Well now there's a good eel of sense in that remark, ma said, It's quite true that nuthing pleases me more than to see a nice cleen pair of my own hands emerge from nice soapy water, so after all why should I expect it to be an occasion for being patted on the back and praised to the skies? she said, and I said, Sure, ma, every time you wash your hands you're doing yourself a big favor, but how about me? I'm practically suffering, I said.

I realize it, ma said. So you see, when you make a sensible statement like that, you'll always find me reddy to listen. Now run and get yourself cleen and shining, and I promise to give you all the credit you could possibly wish for, she said, and I said, Aw heck, ma G wizzickers why? I mean you admitted I won the argument, didn't you, ma? said.

Now we've listened to each other sweetly and sensibly, so run along without another werd, ma said.

Meening it was the end of the subject.

Trenton Flyers Defeat Port Hope 10-2 to Strengthen Hold on Third Place in Intermediate "A" Loop

With diminutive Nicky Sargent, Picton's gift to Air Force hockey playing one of the best games of the season and grabbing himself a goal and four assists, the Trenton RCAF Flyers strengthened their hold on third place in the district Intermediate "A" group here last night, defeating the Port Hope Ontarios by a 10-2 score.

Flyers turned in a good effort and were easily value for their win. Their pasing plays were clicking and they backchecked the speedy Ontario forwards to a standstill especially in the second and third periods when they had a definite margin of territorial play.

They fired home two goals in the first period to a single return by the Ontarios, slapped in three more in the second heat to clinch the game and added 5 in the third to make the win more convincing. Port Hope got their second goal midway through the third heat, and should have had more but for the outstanding work of McKenna in the Flyers nets.

Ten penalties were handed out by Referee St. Louis the teams splitting the sin-bin trips on the night. Gilhooley, Ports centre, one of the fastest men on the ice marred an otherwise fine effort by drawing a misconduct penalty in the second heat when he spoke out of turn to the officials.

Best Hockey In First

The first period was productive of the best hockey of the game with Gilhooley drawing first blood for the Ports at the seven minute mark. Christie got that one back two minutes later and Sargent fired home a picture goal with a half minute to go that gave the Flyers a lead they never relinquished.

Edwards, Cowick and Wade fired home three more markers in the second period as the Flyers showed the best around the goal nets in some time. McKenna in the airmens' nets made some spectacular saves with the speedy Ports forwards all around him and held them to a period duck-egg.

Flyers had a clear edge in the last period. Edwards, Brackenbury, Ault, Wade and Middleton sinking the puck for five goals while Ashby got the second Ports goal of the night after thirteen minutes of play. Flyers checking both ways stood out in this period, and the fleet Ports' attacking divisions were held at bay.

Sargent, Christie, Cowick, Ault, Middleton and McKenna and Miller were the best for the Flyers with Gilhooley, Douglas, Bradley and Yourth with Austin in the nets being the best for the losers.

The teams:—

Port Hope — goal, Austin; defence, Currelly, Douglas; centre, Gilhooley; wings, Yourth, Scott; subs, Hay, Bradley, Ashby, Hutchinson, Wiseman, Kelly.

SUMMARY

1st Period—

1. Port Hope — Gilhooley 7.20
2. RCAF — Christie (Ault) 9.40
3. RCAF — Sargent 19.30

Penalties: Christie, Sargent, Scott.

2nd Period—

4. RCAF — Edwards (Sargent) 9.10
5. RCAF — Cowick (Sargent) 17.20

Regina, Feb. 11 (CP) —With the professional hockey talent hunt becoming as competitive as the bargain hunt during ladies' day at the department store, younger and younger players each year are signing professional contracts and options — some of them probably moving to pro clubs before they are ready.

From his vantage point amid a player-producing area, Murray (Moose Jaw Times-Herald) Brown reports that local hockey executives are beginning to think of the advantages of boosting the junior hockey age limit from 20 to 21 in order to keep the kids in amateur hockey another year.

Among the scheme's backers is President George Vogan of Moose Jaw Canucks, perennial Memorial Cup contenders who have contributed their share of recruits to professional leagues. Brown quotes Vogan as saying most of the younger players need the extra year as a junior before turning pro.

"Most of them are at least a year away from pro company when they step up now and that extra year would give them the physical growth and hockey polish they need," Vogan said.

Two of the Canucks prize alumni, Metro Prystal and Hal Tarala, made the big jump last fall, Prystai to Chicago Black Hawks and Tarala to Kansas City Pla-Mors, the Hawks United States Hockey League farm club. Vogan thinks they weren't ready.

"It was a mistake to take them up ahead of time and nobody knows that better now than the Hawks themselves," Vogan said. "They have learned their lesson the hard way and I don't think you'll see them rushing juniors up there any more."

Boxers, Second Largest Entry In Dog Show

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—Madison Square Garden went to the dogs today.

The best canines in the United States and Canada—2,540 of them—were on display in the 72nd annual Westminster Kennel Club show.

All but the puppies already are blue ribbon winners. Tomorrow night a new best-of-show champion will be picked from a half dozen variety group winners.

Judging of the huge entry list, largest in the show's history, started this morning.

The blue ribbon feature is new. Only dogs that won firsts at previous shows licensed by the Canadian or American Kennel Clubs have been admitted.

Four variety group winners of last year will be back, but not the grand champion, Warlord of Mazelaine, first foxer ever to win the title.

Thirty-nine States and Canada are represented in the show. There are more Dachshunds—148—than anything else, followed by boxers, 139; fox terriers, 113, and collies 108. Altogether, 102 breeds are entered.

Yesterday Mrs. G. W. Hyslop's champion Kilmet of Cairndania, from Brockville, Ont., won the best-of-breed award for Cairn terriers at the dog show of The Associated Terrier Club. The show was a preliminary to the Westminster event starting today.

Talented Texan, Lavern Roach, To Meet M. Cerdan

New York, Feb. 11. (AP) — France's Marcel Cerdan, European middleweight champion, and Lavern Roach, the young, talented Texan, will have it out in Madison Square Garden March 12 in a bout that should do bonanza business at the box office.

The handlers of the two crown-pleasing fighters agreed to terms yesterday with the 20th Century Sporting Club for the 10-rounder. A $100,000 gross gate seems a good possibility.

Roach made the jump to the big time last Jan. 16 when he decisively outpointed Tony Janiro of Youngstown, O., in a garden feature. The 22-year-old ex-marine, named boxing's 1947 "rookie of the year" by Ring magazine, appeared calm and collected in his garden debut.

It was Roach's 18th straight victory and his 23rd in 24 pro starts. In Cerdan he will meet an opponent with the same eagerness to swap punches.

Cerdan, 31, has fought three times in the United tates. He outpointed veteran Georgie Abrams in his first bout, flattened Harold Green in the second, and narrowly outscored rugged Anton Raadik although floored three times in the final round.

The winner may be in line for a title shot if and when champion Rocky Graziano gets straightened out with the New York Commission and has his return with ex-title-holder Tony Zale. Graziano's licence was revoked by the New York body.

Dodds Has Run Last Indoor Race

Boston, Feb. 12 (AP) —Halted by mumps, Gil Dodds, the 4:05.3 mile record-make has run his last indoor race, Jack Ryder, his veteran coach said last night. Stricken Monday, Boston's famed "Flying Parson" will be in hospital until late next week.

"Then he will return to his Wheaton, Ill., home to rest up before starting his outdoor training for an Olympic team berth," Ryder said.

"Dodds plans to quit competitive running after the Olympics, so I guess he has run his last indoor race.

"I have cancelled his bookings for three New York meets, including the indoor national championships, as well as others that will be staged in Hamilton, Ont., Cleveland and Chicago."

Ryder plans to have Dodds return here in April to start priming for the Olympic 1,500-metre event.

Mercurys Move Into Third Place Of Senior Race

(By The Canadian Press)

Tommy Burlington's Owen Sound Mercury's used the hapless Brantford Redmen as a stepping stone to climb into third place, one point ahead of Stratford Indians, with a 12-5 victory over the last-place Redmen in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A tilt at Owen Sound last night.

There were no junior games.

Burlington and Pat McCreavy fattened their scoring totals, each picking up two goals and four assists. Bun White and Todd Miller tallied two goals each while Fred Smith, Jim Boddy, Doug Gillespie and Johnny Sullivan also scored.

Ken Pidgeon led Brantford with two goals and one assist, with other tallies going to Robin Hewson, Roly Beauchamp and Bernie Smith.

No senior games are scheduled for tonight but on the junior slate Barrie visits Toronto Marlboros, Guelph faces Toronto St. Michaels, Toronto Young Rangers go to Stratford and Galt visits Windsor.

Sports Shorts from Britain

By MICHAEL O'MARA
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 11 (CP)—Remember "National Velvet", that Hollywood opus of a few seasons back? It was based on a novel about a little girl who rode her horse to victory in the Grand National and then was disqualified because of a fuddy-duddy rule that bars women from riding at Aintree.

Britain's movie-going race fans recalled the film when they read recently of the training program of Lovely Cottage, Irish-owned 1946 National victor, currently getting in shape at Bognor, Sussex, for this year's renewal.

Regular rider for the Cottage as he practises for the thrills and chills of Becher's Brook is Caula Cleveland, 20-year-old gymkhana expert. In the evenings she works as a hotel receptionist but every morning early she's up and off over the jumps and along the sands with Lovely Cottage.

Stablemen say they rarely have seen a horse so fond of its rider.

Owner J. Morant says: "If Lovely Cottage wins this year, it will be largely through Miss Cleveland's efforts."

Trinidad's Olympic working committee has brightened Britain's track prospects for the Games by ruling that ace sprinter E. MacDonald Bailey may compete for the latter country at Wembley this summer.

The West Indian R.A.F. veteran holds the A.A.A. 100-and 220-yard championships and the British record for the 100.

The Trinidad body said it would not deprive Britain of Bailey's services since he had been "trained and encouraged" in England.

Rugger fans, surveying the international teams whose members' average age is 28, frequently wonder where are the up-and-coming stars of the game.

One who may have a big future in the game is 19-year-old C. M. Wilkinson, capped for the English Schoolboy teams of 1943-46.

Wilkinson isn't playing rugger this season, but is training hard for the Olympic Games, in which he is considered a "probable" for Britain's track team. Fans in Canada and Australia are sending him regular food parcels and Wilkinson, weighing 161, figures he'll be in top form by July.

One hundred girl swimmers have been chosen from among 5,000 applicants to swim in the Water Ballett — highlight of Health and Holiday Exhibition to be staged at Earls Court Stadium starting in February.

King Henry's Legs

(From London Calling)

For 700 years, the family of Dymoke have had the privilege of acting as the King's champion. Once, this was a very real office; the champion of an unpopular monarch might have had to fight his lord's critics in the field. Even after that ceased to be likely, the office had high honor and symbolic significance. Right up to the coronation of George IV, in 1821, a member of the Dymoke family, as King's champion, had to ride into Westminster Hall where the coronation banquet was being held, and fling down his gage as a challenge to all present to dispute the King's right.

Since 1821, the banquet has been abandoned, and so has the challenge ceremony. But the Dymokes still function as King's champion, and Mr. Frank Dymoke, who died last year, carried the King's banner of England in Westminster Abbey during the coronation services of the last three monarchs to be crowned.

It was the custom, each time a King of old was crowned, for the champion to be given a new suit of armor. These suits were retained at the Dymoke's house, Scrivelsby Court. After Mr. Dymoke's death, officials visited and inspected the collection of armors, and were delighted to find Henry VIII's legs—or rather the legs of one of his suits of armor in the Tower of London, one which had stood legless for centuries. The legs were added to the body and the suit in the Tower is now complete.

It is a handsome, almost graceful affair, with a full skirt, a pointed visor, and square-toed feet. And it shows that "Bluff King Hal" who loved all manner of sports, including single combat, was, in his youth, a tall, slim knight, as different in physical shape as one can imagine from the stout figure we know so well from portraits made in his later days.

STRONG MAJORITY

ed requests for the immediate re-imposition of prices controls and subsidies on essential goods, Mr. King said the first necessary step in combating the rising cost of living was to investigate the causes. The government planned to do this.

"There is the simple statement of what the House was asked to do, but what have we had from gentlemen opposite in the way of acquiesing in that request?

"We have listened to a lot of declamation and ridicule; we have had to listen to many approbrious epithets; we have had displayed anger by honorable gentlemen opposite; we have had threats of boycotting; we have had amendments moved to this simple resolution and we have had appeals from the speaker's rulings in regard to those amendments.

Only One Explanation

"On what grounds can these actions be defended? There is only one explanation that can be given. Honorable gentlemen opposite have recognized that the step which the government has taken is one which the people of this country want taken and want taken quickly. Therefore, they are doing the best in their power to obscure the importance of that step."

The opposition parties had no agreement whatever on policy "but when it comes to a question of trying to embarrass the government they are ready to join hands and dance together merrily enough." But the public had not been "deceived by the performance."

"There had been efforts to change the character of the committee from that of a fact-finding body to one of policy.

"If we continue with that kind of thing, we will soon find the whole basis of our system of responsible government being slowly undermined, with consequences that no one at this moment may foresee," said Mr. King.

Have Full Powers

Under the government's resolution, the committee would have "all the powers of a Royal Commission, the power to summon persons from one end of the country to other, to engage experts to make inquiry into any phase of this question to have highly-trained accountants serve the committee in its efforts to find out what is the cause of the rise in prices."

Referring to the threats of boycott, Mr. King said such threats had been employed by Russia at the United Nations. He hoped the government in Canada would not be carried on along those lines.

"And I hope," he added, "we have heard the last of any suggestions from honorable members that they intend to proceed in accordance with these new revolutionary methods, if they may be so termed."

The division on the speaker's ruling came after Dr. Gaspard Fauteux ruled that in his opinion Mr. King had not imputed motives to the opposition while speaking of how they had voted on a C.C.F. amendment to the committee resolution.

Mr. King said the opposition members "must have known" that the speaker was right in ruling the amendment out of order.

This statement brought loud and angry protests from the C.C.F. and Progressive Conservative benches and demands for withdrawal. Mr. King contended he had nothing to withdraw and the speaker upheld him. The C.C.F. appealed the decision, but despite a solid vote by the Progressive Conservative, C.C.F. and Social Credit parties, the speaker was upheld 107 to 90.

Bud Goodfellow, Kingston Saints, Stands Suspended

Toronto, Feb. 11 —(CP)— Since they didn't have the required 8 residents of "Victoria Square," as ruled by the constitution of the Ontario Hockey Association, the Stouffville junior hockey club, now known as the Victoria Square Hockey Club, will have to enter the O.H.A. playoffs as a Junior "B" entry, it was ruled by the O.H.A. executive committee in session here yesterday.

The team, now in Junior "C" will be allowed to carry on in this group under the Victoria Square name for the remainder of the current season only.

Fergus intermediates were denied permission to sign Jack Mason, who previously played for Owen Sound Mercurys in the Senior "A" loop. Appeals from Hamilton Pats for the return of players Bill Hutchinson and Russ Hann, and Hamilton Tigers request for two replacements were also rejected. Bill Sherry, who left the Tigers to coach the Guelph Biltmores, however, is eligible to play for the Hamilton senior club.

Previously signed with a Hamilton Junior "B" team, Bill Murphy was denied permission to play for Caledonia intermediates. Floyd Martin previously with Guelph and Waterloo juniors was denied his request to play for Palmerston while A. S. Williamson was ruled eligible for the Hespeler club, and Durham's claim for Billy Bishop was upheld.

Can Play With Petes

Keith Montgomery was ruled a signed player for the Peterborough Triple-Link junior club and could play the customary three games, on a move-up trial basis with Peterborough Legion's Senior "B" team. Steve Wright and J. P. Hunter, recently transferred to Clinton R.C.A.F. would be allowed to play for that team provided that he had already been in the service for six months or more.

Since Don Crowe lives and works in Toronto, Peterborough Legions' playing certificate for him was not passed by the committee because he failed to qualify as a resident.

President Panter of Gravenhurst, has been appointed convention manager, and J. J. McFayden of Galt and Frank Buckland of Peterborough have been appointed assistants for the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's annual meeting at Toronto, starting April 22.

Senior and Junior "A" club delegates will meet with the O.H.A. executive committee Feb. 15 to complete playoff arrangements.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

They tell me that Bill Cook stepped out of character in Kingston on Monday night, donned the bib and tucker of a managerial maestro, mixed up his Rocket birds in a tasty shinny pie, garnished them well with liberal gobs of good advice and served up a dainty dish to set before a Kingston squad.

• • •

Whatever he did outside of digesting seven cigars without benefit of the "one-a-day" matches, doing a reasonable facsimile of a hula gal on a binge, losing sixteen pounds in weight and calling on the hockey gods to forgive him his sins, and smile for a change, is not known. But whatever it is, we hope he has recorded it for future reference.

• • •

We did not view the joust in Kingston, when the Rockets — (they were flying Jets that night) took the amazed Kingston Victorias into camp by a 5-4 count, but a couple of neutral observers who dropped into the sports slave - mart yesterday gloaming, tell interesting stories of the doings of the Rocks, as they rocked the Vics to the short end of the score.

• • •

As one N. O. remarked: — "They were fairly flying all night and played hockey as though inspired. I don't know what their manager did to them but if it wasn't the turpentine treatment then it was something that smacked strongly of atomic vitamins. In any event whatever was wrong with them in the several games I saw them play, was strangely missing Monday night, and your kids fully deserved their victory."

• • •

The victory over the Vics will act like a tonic to the Rockets. They have now discovered that the highly - touted Kingston squad, can be beaten, and that they can do it. If they can turn the trick again next Monday night down in the Limestone village, they should receive a grand welcome here a week from tonight when they again meet the Vics in the fourth game of the series.

• • •

Tonight the Senior "B" Veterans are hosts to the Peterborough Hockey Club in what is one of the most important games of the current season. If the Reds can pin back the ears of the first - slot Petes, and hang Honey Tompkins et al hides on the topmost rafter, they will be perched on the same loop roost as the Kingston Saints. Then all that has to happen is for the Reds to knock off the Petes Legion squad here Friday night while the Petes Hockey Club is giving the Limestone lads a hockey lesson way up there in the jungles of Omemee. Simple, aint it?

• • •

Yeah, strange things have happened and can still happen in this Senior "B" set-up. Despite the ups and downs, and various whatnots that have occurred, all four teams can be called "money" players when the chips are down. The two Peterborough squads are safely ensconced in first and second playoff slots, and the real battle is for third position and the last playoff berth. Our buckaroos have the best chance as the Kingston team needs must flash better hockey than heretofore this season if they want to take the high-flying Petes Hockey Club on Friday night. Mebbe we'd better have Bill Cook inject some of that Rockets pep into the Reds in their quest for that playoff position.

• • •

However much depends on tonight's game. If the Petes hang one on the chin of our hockey hearties, it means crepe, a trip to the wailing wall, and curtains, for them. So that means, that with their backs to the wall, the gang will go out there, a fighting, battling crew intent on one thing alone, victory.

• • •

Ottawa will usurp Toronto's famed sports monicker "Hog Town" at least temporarily after the Olympic Queen of the Silver Blades, glamerous Barbara Ann Scott, and her Princes of the Hockey Lanes, the RCAF Flyers arrive home; but Bytown will wear the name in a nice way.

• • •

Receptions are already being planned for both Ballerina Barbara and the Flyers in Ottawa where government heads and RCAF heads will make presentations to individual members of the team and to the Ice Queen.

• • •

According to an Ottawa story yesterday, Mayor Lewis of that city said while his city was very proud of the RCAF's Olympic victory particularly in view of the fact that the city and district are well represented on the team, the Government will take the lead in any reception to be held for the champions there.

• • •

However Ottawa will extend a welcome probably exceeding even the tumultuous greeting last year, to Barbara Ann on her return as Olympic champion. The champion competes this week in the world figure - skating events in Europe and will take part in some exhibitions and enjoy a well-earned rest before returning to her home town.

• • •

The Flyers left St. Moritz on Monday for games at Arosa, Berne and Lausanne this week. They will play their Czechoslovakian Olympic rivals at Prague on Feb. 16. Later they will play in Paris, Stockholm, Amsterdam, London and Scotland.

• • •

A meeting of the Belleville Softball Association has been called for next Monday, Feb. 16th at Memorial Arena, so our grapevine operator informs us. And its about time. There is a lot to be cleared up if the association is to function this year and in any event things should be put in ship-shape condition before the annual OASA meeting scheduled for Kingston on Good Friday. So don't say you weren't told. Next Monday night at the Arena.

• • •

The OHA took action on the alleged striking over the head of Crowley, Petes Legion player by B. Goodfellow of Kingston Saints during the last game between the squads. The Executive Committee of the governing body slapped a suspension on the Saints player at its meeting yesterday and ordered him to appear before them next Sunday and explain the whys and wherefores. — That means that Goodfellow will not be seen in action against the Petes on Friday night in Omemee.

• • •

The Committee also refused to pass Don Crowe's certificate since he lives in Toronto. Crowe was signed by the Petes Legion, but the OHA said "No" because he failed to qualify as a resident. (At long last). However, Keith Montgomery, a Pete junior player was ruled eligible to play for the Legionnaires.

Rangers Recall Chuck Rayner As Insurance

(By The Canadian Press)

With the National Hockey League's 60-game schedule three-quarters finished, and only six weeks left before the playoffs, the teams appeared today to be pretty well standing pat on what they've got for the stretch drive.

The deadline for recall of players from the minors passed at midnight last night with nothing more startling than the announcement that New York Rangers have recalled Claude (Chuck) Rayner from New Haven Ramblers of the American Hockey League. This was strictly an insurance measure, for Sugar Jim Henry, who started substituting for Rayner in the Ranger nets months ago, is doing very well.

The league-leading Detroit Red Wings said nothing at all about drafts from the minors. The second-place Toronto Maple Leafs said they'd string along with the present squad, and if worst came to worst they still can call on amateurs.

Can Draft Anytime

Amateurs can be drafted any time on a three-game trial basis without losing their amateur status. Leafs used Johnny McCormack of the Toronto senior amateur Marlboros for two games at centre when Syl Apps was laid up with a leg injury; they can still use him in one game without ruining Johnny's amateur status.

In all the cognitation that went on among managers and coaches before the deadline, probably no one noticed a little fellow playing amateur hockey in Montreal. He's not a senior, nor a junior nor even a junior "B" player. He's in the Outremont school league. His name is Don Currie, and Monday night he scored all his team's goals in an 88-2 victory for the Guy Drummond Pee-Wees over LaJoie. Young Don can safely figure that he's be on some team's priority call-up before long.

Detroit now holds a three-point lead over Toronto and the third-place Rangers are six full games behind the Leafs. The present tussle is for the fourth and last playoff spot. Boston holds it at the moment, two points ahead of Montreal. The only mid-week game sees the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks at Boston tonight, and if Bruins win, then it's going to be a long road ahead of Montreal and Chicago.

Ruth no Orphan And Very Proud Of His School

(By The Canadian Press)

Babe Ruth was no orphan. His father's name was always Ruth and not Ehrhardt or Gearhardt. As a juvenile incorrigible, he was placed in a Baltimore institution.

These are a few facts the Babe tells of his youth. "I look back on St. Mary's (industrial school in Baltimore, Md.,) as one of the most constructive periods of my life," he said. "I'm as proud of it as any Harvard man is proud of his school."

Ruth said his father, George Herman Ruth, lived until his second year in the majors. His mother died when he was 13. Most of the first seven years of his life were spent living over his father's saloon in Baltimore.

Jack Jackson, Kansas City defenceman was fined $50 by the United States Hockey League yesterday for striking Walter Bak, Omaha player, with a stick in a hockey game at Kansas City Feb. 8 and was given a match penalty.

Fred Duclos, chairman of the Montreal Athletic Commission, acting for Frank Hogan, chairman of the Canadian Boxing Federation, said last night that Hubert Gagnier, holder of the Canadian Featherweight title, has been ordered to defend his crown within 30 days.

Avery Brundage, United States Olympic chief, offered yesterday to feed the 400 athletes he will bring to England for the summer Olympics. He told British officials he would ship frozen food from the United States and any surplus after the games would be distributed to hospitals and children's homes.

Les Lear, former Winnipeg Blue Bombers and United States professional football star, last night was named coach of the Calgary Stampeders in the western inter-provincial football union for the 1948 season. He succeeds Dean Griffing.

Kansas City in Tie With Saints For Second

(By The Associated Press)

Minneapolis Millers Northern Division leaders in the United States Hockey League, took a drubbing last night from Omaha Knights, fourth-place club 10-1 at Omaha.

Kansas City went into a tie with St. Paul for second place in the division with a 5-2 victory on the St. Paul ice. The two teams trail the leading Millers by three points.

Max McNab, Omaha's lean centre, was the siege gun in the Knight's attack upon the Millers last night, driving in four goals and marking the fourth time this year he has scored three or more goals in a single game.

He completed his work for the evening with an assist in each of the first two periods.

Bert Olmstead and Jack Johnson put Kansas City in a two-goal lead in the game at St. Paul and the Pla-Mors never dropped behind.

Sports Roundup

New York Feb. 11 (AP)—Robert Hudson of Portland Ore., who sponsored the revival of the Ryder Cup matches last fall, is willing to underwrite the proposed junior team match between United States and British kid golfers which the Professional Golfers Association is considering as a "top" to its new youth program ... With the U.S.G.A. stepping into run a junior championship, this match could be a natural ... but this corner holds the belief that the P.G.A. has a bigger job to do ... that is to get its member pros busy organizing teams, leagues, anything to provide competition and arouse interest in high schools and playgrounds and persuading their clubs to let the kids use their courses.

Hornets Strengthen Margin at Top American Loop

(By The Canadian Press)

Pittsburgh Hornets strengthened their grip on the American Hockey League's western leadership last night by turning aside the tail end Washington Lions 8-3. The victory moved the high-flyings Wasps four points ahead of Buffalo.

Jackie Hamilton, with three goals and a pair of assists and Mel Hill, who racked up two goals and three assists, paced the leaders' attack. Other Hornet goal-getters were Stan Kemp, Scotty Mair and Bill Benson with one each. Bud Foley, Johnny Carr-Harris and Walt Babey accounted for the Washington goals.

In the only other game played last night, St. Louis Flyers snapped a four-game losing streak, downing Springfield Indians 4-3. Eddie Olson sparked the St. Louis attack with a brace of tallies while Bill McComb and Norm Tustin each hit the mark once. Paul Corteau, Allan Kuntz and Wimpy Jones scored for Indians.

Adventure in Love

By Kathryn Bemis Wilson

CHAPTER 13.

Trying not to show this enthusiasm, she led the way back to her modernistic office. She sat down at her black glass desk, and waved Velma to a red metal chair.

Slowly, she opened and read Clarence's letter. She appeared to hesitate.

She inquired finally, "Do you think you'd like working here? It's not easy—the hours are long on rush days."

"I'm sure I'd be happy," murmured Velma, fervantly praying she might be accepted for the position.

"Mr. Pell highly recommends dependable critic of girls, being the inexperienced type he is. But—I believe I'll take you on trial. The salary is seventy-five a week."

"Seventy-five!" ejaculated Velma. "That is—it's very generous—more than I'd expected, Miss Forland. Thank you—and I hope I'll fit in here."

Miss Forland wanted to say, that salary for a Carryville model is ridiculous." But Clarence had warned her that Velma was never to know the source of her income—that he was paying her salary. "Probably that little chump is in love with the girl," she surmised. "At any rate, it's lucky for me she's not impossible."

To Velma she said, "You might go to the dressing room, Miss Wilkins—I'll call you Velma, if you don't mind—get into that Copenhagen blue suit with the fox colar. You'll find it hanging on the rack—and a sheer linen blouse to wear with it. I'm expecting an important customer who's buying a suit to send to her daughter in boarding school."

"Yes, Miss Forland," came liltingly from Velma.

She went on winged feet across the velvet carpet. She had a job! She had a wonderful job in interesting surroundings. And the salary, compared to what the Clarks had been paying her, was a fortune. There might be an opportunity, also to purchase her clothes at cost—that is, if she ever needed to acquire more clothes; her wardrobe as yet was more than ample.

She often wondered these days about the outrageous extravagance of, the old Velma. Yet myriad people had been recompensed for furnishing her wardrobe, saddle horses, motor cars, and their appurtenances and upkeep. Had her father lived, by this time she might have been flying her own plane. Yes, she probably had supported whole families by her mad expenditures. Spending money no doubt did make the world go around. Anyway, it made her glad to think she had once been in the position to help so many people.

Velma found her new work intriguing and exacting enough to prevent her from thinking too often about much she wished to forget. Miss Forland was not quite so awe inspiring when she got to know her, and the two other girls who modeled and the three saleswomen were all pleasant associates.

A little rebelliously, now and then, Velma thought of Tom, cruising about these dreamy fall days with the flirtatious and clingingly femine Louise. The nights would be moonlight, the air just cool enough for cuddling companionship. And how Louise would cuddle! She—she hated Louise!

The shop seethed with commotion on a certain morning in early October. Tomorrow, they were holding a grand reception, a fashion show. The place would be jammed with prospective buyers, with those who longed to be, with the curious and the super-critical.

Velma was in the stock room, selecting gowns suitable for her modeling on this important occasion, when her eye caught a weather report on the front page of a newspaper lying on a chair.

"Let's hope it won't rain tomorrow," she said to Jane Henry, a striking brunette model with her arms full of crimson chiffon.

"We should worry," said Jane indifferently.

Velma snatched up the paper and began reading. "Fair and Warm—"

She paused, paled, as another item blazed before her stricken gaze. "Oh, no! she cried. "How—how could he?"

Velma could not reply. She was reading again the announcement of the engagement of Miss Louise Clark to Mr. Thomas Orville.

She swayed dizzily, would have fallen, had not Jane caught her around the waist.

Jane hurried her out of the small stuffy room. She called Miss Forland. They put Velma into a taxi and sent her to her room in the Young Women's Christian Association to rest until morning.

Velma, fully dressed, lay on her bed until seven o'clock that evening. If she could lose in sleep the miserable pain in her heart! But she could not sleep, she could not weep, she could do nothing but lie here and think—think—think in circles. Tom was forever lost to her. Louise Clark had won. What was life going to be without Tom? For so long she had been planning with Tom in the background of her thoughts. Always, there had been the conviction that in the end she and Tom would unravel all their difficulties.

Now she must stop being a little fool over a man who cared next to nothing about her. Louise Clark had recently inherited money—it must be she had inherited quite a substantial amount of money—and Tom probably had very little of anything but good health and a grand determination to make good in the Carryville Flour Mill. And he could make good! Oh, why couldn't he realize this, and not marry a girl for her money? He surely didn't love the selfish, disagreeable Louise.

She suddenly remembered that to-morrow would be the big day in the shop. Miss Forland was depending upon her to be the bride in the wedding they were to stage. She mustn't appear at the shop looking wan and ill.

She raised herself to a sitting position, decided she'd better eat something, although she wasn't hungry. She dragged herself into the bathroom and bathed. She got into a becoming wine colored knitted suit, pulled a smart black felt sailor over her shimmering curls. Her shoes, gloves and purse were of black suede. If she had acquired this outfit this season, it could not have looked more modish. Thank heaven, her clothes were enduring the strain of poverty rather well. The majority of her gowns and suits, fortunately, had depended upon simple elegance, which fashion couldn't too abruptly make old-fashioned. The matter of lengthening or shortening a skirt was about all that had had to be done with most of her things since she had left the Gold Coast.

This satisfactory state of her wardrobe could not continue forever. Styles were bound to switch into radical changes before long. It was lucky, she thought, that she had the position in the Forlands shop, where her clothes could be had at a big discount.

Leisurely, in a cheap restaurant, she ate a fruit salad and peanut butter sandwiches, and drank a cup of coffee. It made her feel a little more optimistic. However, she knew that way down deep inside she was still miserable. But the feeling musn't rise to the surface again. She'd go to a movie and watch other people make love.

She was picking up her change from the cashier's window in front of a movie theatre when a familiar voice beside her said, "Velma!"

A hot gladness surged through her as she whirled about to meet Tom Orvilles searching gaze Then abruptly, she had an uncontrollable desire to hurt him.

She said cooly, "Oh—hello, Tom. I thought you were—cruising."

She started toward the theatre entrance, but he clutched her arm, and walked with her. "I must talk to you, Velma. Let's get in my car and take a ride."

She paused, speechless with indecision.

He begged hurriedly, "Will you please, Velma?"

She drew away from him. "Well, really," she said. Louise might have something to say about that."

The brilliant electric lights showed in merciless detail the lines drawn in his pale haggard face. She felt nearly sorry for him. But he was no longer any concern of hers! Let him have his talks with Louise!

"What you and I have to say to each other doesn't concern any one else," he chopped out fiercely.

She blazed up at him. "I really didn't know that I had anything to say to you, Mr. Orville!"

"But, Velma," he pleaded, "your attitude isn't—reasonable."

"I suppose yours is!" she flared.

Jane Henry, coming along just then, glimpsed Velma. " Oh, my dear—how are you feeling? Miss Forland and I tried to call you but—"

"I'll go in with you, Jane," said Velma, wheeling from the crest-fallen Tom.

The instant she was in a seat, however, she regretted not having granted Tom's request. What had he wanted to talk about? What a jealous little goose she had been not to allow him to say what he wished to say. Perhaps, though, it was just as well. He would probably embarrass her further by being sorry he'd treated her so shabbily. She would have listened to a lot of idle chatter about how he'd always respect her; too bad he couldn't love a fine girl like herself. He wouldn't care if he hurt her pride or anything like that.

She swallowed the sob in her throat and tried to fix her mind on the screen story. It was a war picture, full of blood and thunder. The only love interest in it was woven around a Mexican girl, who kept bobbing in and out of scenes at impossible times to fling her arms widely about soldiers' necks. It wasn't the lovemaking a girl like herself would ever encounter or try to imitate. She had been foolish to come here and pretend she could snap away from her longing for Tom Orville. She couldn't, she couldn't!

"I have to go,' she said suddenly to Jane." See you at the shop in the morning."

She was out of her seat and up the aisle before the astonished Jane could stop her. "How strangely that girl acts! She must be in a terribly nervous state, "Velma's fellow worker thought.

LONDON CABBIES

service men are pleased to hear that American tourists now are regarded as the stingiest.

Morose Figure

Separated from his customer by a glass partition, the taxi-driver is apt to appear a morose figure, huddled in a voluminous overcoat. He usually accepts the most difficult address with a grunt and drives off, giving no indication of the intensive training that has fitted him for his job.

First of all he has to get a licence, which requires an exhaustive police examination and a six months' course at a cabmen's college, run by the British Legion. There he learns London's topography, including the position of 618 hospitals, 177 police stations and 843 residential courts.

Seasoned drivers can tell by a glance at the surrounding architecture what part of London they are in, even guessing it to within a few streets.

Grudge Intensified

Recently their grudge against the public has been intensified by determined characters who have hailed them into court for refusing fares. With gasoline so precious, cabbies don't like long runs into the suburbs which involve returning empty. The law says they mustn't turn anyone down—but all of them are choosy unless they're sure of generous "dropsy."

Cabbies have names for popular destinations — "American Workhouse" for the Park Lane Hotel, "The Cold Blow" for St. Pancras Railway Station, "The Rats' Hole" for the Charing Cross subway station and "The Ditch" for Fleet Street. And many more which cannot be repeated.

Roslin

Roslin.—On Friday, a social evening was held in the 8th Line Orange Hall, when Mr. and Mrs. John Alford, who were married recently were presented with a purse from the community.

The United Church Women's Association held the February meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Reg. Scott.

Mrs. E. McKee, of Toronto, is visiting her brother, Mr. W. Gillespie, and Mrs. Gillespie this week.

FINANCE MINISTER

Temiscouata) suggested Canada embark on a system of bartering with other countries of the world which had no U. S. dollars. This would show the U. S. that other countries could be independent of them. The U. S. dollar should be put aside.

Amid a chorus of approval he asked: "Why should we always be subservient with respect to the American people." Canada had enough wealth and natural resources to be independent of the U. S. Many other persons had made this suggestion, he said.

"Let us come back to real trade," he added. "Let us barter and become free of the American dollar."

Payments Made Speedily

In opening proceedings, Trade Minister Howe announced that legislation dealing with a proposed increase in the initial wheat payment will be brought forward "within the next few days" and he promised that payment to farmers will be made speedily.

Mr. Abbott reiterated that the government does not propose to subsidize sugar beet production in Canada during 1948.

Postmaster General Bertrand assured the House a bill will be introduced at this session to continue the policy of making supplementary payments to rural mail carriers.

While Mr. Abbott would not say how long the exchange conservation measures would remain in force, he did say that the restrictions were meant to be temporary. They were not meant to be protectionist and growers or others who wished to expand production to provide products now on the banned list would have to take the normal "business risks."

Cecil Merritt (PC-Vancouver-Burrard) felt it would be only fair to give Canadian producers some idea as to how long they could expect American competition to be cut off.

Mr. Abbott said many Canadians had asked that addition items be placed on the banned list, but the government had not yet seen fit to meet the requests.

J. M. Macdonnell (PC-Muskoka-Ontario) said it was a "profound misfortune" that Mr. Howe was given such arbitrary powers under the bill to control imports or capital goods. He charged the government could swing political support its way through the handling of permits for imports of goods.

He said there was not much complaint from the business community because business men were afraid of what might happen if they criticized the government.

William Demchuk Found Guilty Of Manslaughter

St. Catharines, Feb. 11 —(CP) —William Demchuk, found guilty of manslaughter in the death of George William Bradley, will be sentenced on Friday, Feb. 13.

Demchuk was convicted by a Supreme Court jury under Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow which deliberated for two hours before returning its verdict late yesterday. A strong recommendation for mercy was added.

Evidence was that Demchuk heard someone tampering with his motor car outside his home on Oct. 16. He chased two men and knocked them both down. Bradley died later in hospital from a fractured skull. The other man was Leonard Cooper, who later admitted that the pair had intended to steal the car.

In his charge to the jury, His Lordship said "We all have sympathy for Demchuk, but it would be a sad day for justice if we allowed our emotions to overcome our intelligence."

AUSTRALIAN FARMER TAKES TO THE AIR

Brisbane, Australia, Feb. 11 — (CP) — A flying stockman has taken the air over a 30,000-acre property in Queensland. He is B. Anning of Richmond sheep station, near Cloncurry, who has bought a new Auster-Autocrat, which he calls "Pegasus."

Mr. Anning said he had become tired of mustering and doing other station jobs on horseback. He plans to make regular inspections of boundary fences at low altitudes and as the Auster lands at 22 miles an hour he will be able to touch down in the paddocks alongside broken fences to do quick repairs and pick up any sick sheep for treatment at the homestead. The plane's baggage compartment is being modified to carry sheep.

Six Are Injured, Explosion Blows Roof Off Plant

Fire Accompanies Blast At Audio Films, Mimico

Toronto, Feb. 12. (CP)—An explosion in the plant of Audio films in suburban Mimico today blew the roof off the plant's assembly room and injured six employees. Extent of their injuries was not known immediately.

Fire which accompanied the blast destroyed movie film. A girl worker was overcome by fumes, but her condition was not regarded as serious.

Firemen from suburban fire departments worked through the noon hour to bring the blaze under control. Its cause was not immediately determined. So far, there is no estimate of the damage.

$500,000 LOSS WHEN WAREHOUSE OF B.A. OIL BURNS

Fourth Alarm Sounded and at One Time Threatened —Major Disaster

Toronto, Feb. 12 —(CP)— Muffled blasts and occasional puffs of flame still came early today from the storage area of the British American Oil Company, aftermath of a conflagration which fire department officials estimated caused loss of $500,000 and which for hours threatened to bring a major disaster through explosion of huge oil storage tanks.

For the first time in three years, a fourth alarm was sounded, bringing fire-fighters from nine district stations. The hundreds of firemen were bolstered by oil company fire squads.

Heavy police reinforcements worked in the area which was cordoned off shortly after the fire broke out at 5 p.m. yesterday after a short circuit set on fire a motor truck loading gasoline.

The first fire resulted in a warehouse blaze where hundreds of drums of oil and naptha were stored. As the warehouse went up in flames, burning oil flowed over the ground with new fires breaking out one after another.

Struggle in Mud, Water

Firemen, police, reporters and cameramen struggled in the mud and water between rivers of burning oil under a drizzle of snow and rain as the flames lit up the darkness for miles around, easily visible in the downtown area not far west of the blaze.

The struggle lasted nearly seven hours before fire chiefs said the main gasoline storage tanks fringing the area could be considered safe. Two large buildings and a number of small tanks, along with hundreds of drums of highly inflammable fuel, had been destroyed.

A Major Blow

The exact loss would not be determined until after a thorough check of supplies in the area. The loss of oil alone was a major blow to present critical supplies of fuel oil and gasoline.

Three firemen were injured. Captain William Watt of the Gerrard Street fire station fell into a pit, injuring his right hip and leg, but remained on the job. Fireman David Hicks suffered facial injuries from flying debris and fireman Ernest Head suffered a leg injury when he was knocked off a platform by one of the many blasts.

It was midnight before firemen announced the blaze was under control and that the big tanks had been saved. These larger tanks each have a capacity of more than 200,000 gallons, and some were filled with high octane aviation gasoline.

In the early stages firemen fought the warehouse blaze at close range, but by 10 p.m. the warehouse walls partially collapsed and the fire travelled to a second building 100 feet distant. It was at this stage that firemen feared the blaze was out of control. A much wider area was cleared by the police and with 20 lines of hose working the firemen finally got the upper hand.

Report Bulgarians Shoot Down Two Turk Planes

Sofia, Feb. 12 —(AP)— The Bulgarian telegraph agency said yesterday the Bulgarian coastal guards shot down two Turkish fighter planes Monday.

The agency said the action occurred near the Bulgarian Black Sea port of Sozopol. Apparently anti-aircraft guns brought the two Spitfires down.

The dispatch said Turkish Sgt. Kemal Mendetes, 25, was drowned. Lieut. Tallat Yulka was reported to have suffered minor injuries and was taken prisoner.

Delayed at Sea By Vicious Gales

Port Aux Basques, Nfld., Feb. 12 —(P)— The 135-foot coastal vessel Henry W. Stone with a crew of 11 arrived here last night after being delayed at sea three days by vicious gales on a crossing from North Sydney, N.S.

The coaster sheathed in ice and her crew suffering from frost bite and exposure after their unrelenting battle with the sea and waves, left North Sydney early Sunday with a general cargo.

The Newfoundland government railway vessel was the second small craft to survive hazardous Cabot Strait crossings this week.

Yesterday the fishing smack Sarah Morton turned up at the islands of St. Pierre-Miquelon, badly battered and leaking, after being driven off its course on a voyage to Glace Bay, N.S., from here.

CONSERVATIVES' VIEWS OUTLINED TO CHILLY HOUSE

Current Conditions In Maritimes Debated

Ottawa, Feb. 12 —(CP)— The Progressive Conservative party's views on Canada's defence were outlined in a chilly House of Commons yesterday during a debate mainly devoted to a discussion of current conditions in the Maritime Provinces.

With temperatures in the Chamber hovering near the 60 degree mark because of a failure in the central heating plant boilers, Wing Cmdr. Lawrence Skey, D.F.C. (PC-Toronto Trinity) said he wished to urge on behalf of his party that the government build the R.C.A.F. to the status of a first-line air force as Canada's "cheapest and most effective" line of defence in another war.

But his speech was the only one which did not touch matters affecting the Maritimes. The other speakers were Transport Minister Chevrier, Clarie Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South) and Gordon Isnor (L-Halifax). Their speeches touched on the use of Maritime ports, on unemployment and on general economic conditions there.

At the House opening, members suggested that the three-hour mid-week sitting be held despite the heating plant failure.

External Affairs Minister St. Laurant reported the Justice Department is examining the question on whether Canada's ban on the import of oleomargarine will have to be lifted to comply with the Geneva trade agreement.

Dozen Bricks Take Place Of Scotch Whisky

Kitchener, Feb. 12. (CP)—A dozen bricks, wrapped in newspapers, took the place of the Scotch whisky in one case of a shipment recently received from a Glasgow warehouse, Kitchener exporters were told last night by John Arnold, manager of the Montreal Shipping Company.

The shipment had been under customs inspection on both sides of the ocean, said Mr. Arnold, who added that "pilferage in liquor cargos is terrific." He urged proper crating and packing to eliminate thefts.

Hugh McDermott of Toronto, manager of the Canadian Export Manufacturers Association told the meeting his organization is requesting Dominion government to make special arrangements with the United States under the Marshall plan.

The Association asks that a considerable quantity of the aid to Europe be supplied through Canada and consist of manufactured goods.

Precise Planning and Execution Caused Early Fall of Sicily--Alexander

By STUART UNDERHILL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London Feb. 12 (CP) — Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, former Commander-in-Chief of the 15th Army group and now Canada's Governor-General, disclosed today that the spectacular invasion of Sicily was based on a plan which ignored the "fundamental principle" of capturing a large port as a supply base and which gambled on maintaining armies through small ports and over beaches.

How he pulled off the gamble—later repeated by Field Marshal Montgomery in Normandy—is described in a dispatch on the Sicilian operation of July and August, 1943, in which the 1st Canadian Division fought with the British Eighth Army.

Multiple Assault Plan

The original invasion plans, drafted while British and United States troops were still driving Axis troops out of North Africa envisioned a multiple assault involving the early capture of the ports of Palermo and Catania.

The planning officers disagreed vigorously on the details, however, and Viscount Alexander, who as Commander of the 15th Army group had over-all charge "decided to recast the whole plan."

He resolved to concentrate the American Seventh Army in a blow against the southeast coast which meant that they would have to be supplied over the beaches. An eighth Army assault could be expected to yield no ports better than Syracuse and Augusta in the early stages.

"The risk was therefore grave" Viscount Alexander noted, although there were two brightening factors — the likelihood of good weather and the introduction of the amphibious "duck" which "revolutionized the problem of beach maintenance."

Started July 10th

Landing operations began in the early hours of July 10 along a 100 mile stretch of coast. Occupation of the rugged 10,000-square-mile island was completed 38 days later.

The Canadians made their first appearance in the Mediterranean after a long convoy haul from the United Kingdom and Viscount Alexander described them as "trained to a hair ... eager and confident for battle."

With the "Desert Rats" they landed on the southeast coast between Syracuse and Pozzalo and supported by parachute troops. The operation was carried out on schedule despite a sudden wind that kicked up a choppy sea.

1st Canadian Division In Sicily Carried Out Most Important Role

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 12 —(CP)— The 1st Canadian Division in Sicily successfully carried out, in its first campaign, a far more important role than was originally intended.

By making a long left-hook through mountainous central Sicily and then, with the British 7th Division, banging down on the German anchor defences on the southwestern slopes of Mount Etna they broke the last main enemy line. The campaign then rapidly wound up.

Army reports which will probably be made public shortly, support this view.

Fighting with the 1st Division was the Three Rivers Tank Regiment of the 1st Armored Brigade. The other two regiments in the brigade — the Calgarys and the Ontarios — were with the British to the east.

In the original plan, the Canadians' role was to be fairly easy. They had not been in battle before and the Eighth Army fitted them into a spot between the main British force and the American Seventh Army.

If everything had gone according to plan, it would have been a smooth and comparatively painless introduction to war.

But a few days after the Eighth Army, including the Canadians, landed on the Pachino Peninsula on the southeastern tip of the island, the British forces, fighting their way up the eastern coast, were stopped completely on the fringe of the Catania Plains.

It had been intended that the British divisions would sweep across the plains, capture Catania and link up with the Americans coming in from the west.

When the holdup occurred south of Catania, the then General Sir Bernard Montgomery altered his tactics.

Ordered Eastward

He ordered the Canadian Division, commanded by then Maj.-Gen. Guy Simonds and at that time making a steady advance through the centre part of Sicily, to hit eastward hard for the Mount Etna line at Adano.

With this piston-stroke from the west, he hoped to relieve the pressure on the British divisions, in front of which was concentrated the main German force.

The manoeuvre worked. Once the defence bastion at Adano was shattered the whole front folded up. The Canadians' job was done and they immediately went into rest camps on the Catania Plains.

But the victory had been achieved at considerable cost, considering the original intention to ease the Canadians into battle.

Russia Declares Britain, France Prodded Hitler Against Soviet Union

By EDDIE GILMORE

Moscow, Feb. 12 —(AP)— Russia said last night that Great Britain and France before the war encouraged Adolf Hitler to turn the German army against the Soviet Union.

She charged that they let Germany take over Czechoslovakia and, in the pact of Munich and others, entered into non-aggression agreements with Germany's Fuehrer.

These accusations were made in a statement issued by the Soviet Information Bureau. In support of them, the bureau cited German Foreign Office documents for 1937 and 1938 which it said the Red Army had captured.

The statement was Russia's second in reply to publication of papers on Nazi-Soviet relations by the United States. This one said little about the United States.

(The United States State Department published captured documents Jan. 21 which said Hitler and Stalin plotted to split up Poland, dominate the Balkans and shut the Western Powers out of Europe altogether.

(In Washington last night, no comment was forthcoming from the department on the latest Soviet statement.

(The British Foreign Office and the French Foreign Ministry did not comment, either.).

The Soviet communiqué said British-French policy before the war was aimed "at isolating the U.S.S.R. and directing Hitlerite aggression towards the east against the Soviet Union, using Hitler as a tool for their own ends."

Hitler's annexation of Austria March 12, 1938, had met no resistance on the part of Britain and France and that in the face of Czechoslovakia's appeal for help against Germany under a mutual assistance pact, "the Anglo-French rulers remained implacable."

The Munich pact of Sept. 30, 1938 and subsequent agreements essentially "meant both Britain and France concluded with Hitler non-aggression pacts."

". . . In their desire to ward off the menace of Hitlerite aggression from their countries (they) believed that the Munich agreement and similar ones flung the gates wide open for Hitlerite aggression in the east — aggression against the Soviet Union."

The bureau quoted statements it said were made in:

1. A talk between Hitler and Viscount (now the Earl of) Halifax (at that time Lord President of the Council) in the presence of Baron Konstanton von Neurath (then German foreign minister) Nov. 19, 1937, in Obersalzberg, (on the edge of Berchtesgaden, Bavaria.)

Millions Witness Last Rites With Gandhi's Ashes

Allahabad, Feb. 12. (CP)—Thousands of frenzied persons waded up to their necks at the confluence of the Ganges and Jumna Rivers when some of the ashes of Mohandas K. Gandhi were immersed by his son Ramdas in the water holy to Hindus.

Two million others had lined the three-mile route to the river bank to pay their last respects to the man who ranks almost as a saint in this land as the copper urn carrying his ashes was carried past.

Four planes flew low overhead, dipped in salute and released a cascade of flowers—marigolds, rose petals and sweet-peas— on the flower-decked trailer.

As the urn was put aboard an amphibious "duck" the tension of the crowd reached a frenzy and when the vehicle with members of Gandhi's family and Prime Minister Nehru and Deputy Prime Minister Patel aboard, headed into mid-stream, thousands followed it into the water.

When the white vessel stopped a bugler sounded the "Last Post" and Ramdas Gandhi, after the customary rites, immersed his father's remains in the holy water.

Traffic Snarl One of Worst In Toronto's History

Toronto, Feb. 12 —(CP) — A gigantic traffic snarl, one of the worst in Toronto's history, gripped the downtown area early today. It resulted from diversion of traffic from waterfront traffic arteries because of a fire at the British-American Oil property.

Street cars on Queen Street, a main east-west street, ran 30 to 40 minutes behind schedule. From the Queen Street bridge over the Don River street cars and autos crawled at a snail's pace — stretched in a line as far as the eye could see. Some estimates were that it was two miles long.

Thousands were late for work but the jam did not reach its height until after the early morning rush-hour was over.

SOAP PRICES SLASHED

New York Feb. 12 —(AP)— Proctor & Gamble Co., Lever Brothers and Colgate-Palmolive-Peet today announced price cuts of five per cent at wholesale on all soap products, effective immediately.

The companies said the reduction reflected the recent downward trend in fat and oil prices.

HOLDUP SUSPECTS ARRESTED SOON AFTER ROBBERY

Woodstock, Feb. 12 —(CP)— Provincial Police today laid charges of armed robbery against Bradley K. Watts, 22, and Allan Williamson, 18, arrested at Kitchener in connection with the $4,100 holdup yesterday of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Tavistock, Ont. The men will appear in county court here Feb. 18.

Robert Turnbull, 52-year-old Stratford taxi-driver, who said the pair forced him to drive them to and from the scene of the robbery, was released after questioning.

Kitchener, Feb. 12 —(CP)— Just 25 minutes after the robbery Kitchener police arrested two suspects in yesterday's holdup at the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch at Tavistock, 20 miles southwest of here.

The men — identified as Bradley K. Watts, 22, of Stratford, and Allan Williamson, 18, of Galt — were removed to Oxford county jail at Woodstock not long after their arrest. They appear in court today on a bank robbery charge. Police said that the $4,100 in bank loot was recovered.

Tavistock police said two unmasked men entered the bank a few minutes before closing time yesterday and herded the staff of five as well as six customers into a vault. While a third man stood guard near the door, they gathered up the loot and fled just as police, summoned by a customer who managed to get out of the building, arrived.

Police said taxi driver Robert Turnbull, 52, of Stratford, ordered by the suspected bandits to follow side roads, drove them into the arms of two Kitchener police officers who waited in ambush at the entrance to Kitchener.

Police quoted Turnbull as saying two men hired the taxi in Stratford and asked to be driven to New Hamburg, near here. On the way, they ordered the driver to stop in Tavistock to enable them to cash a cheque.

Constable Edward Tschirhart of Kitchener, who made the arrests with Constable Wilfred Henrich, said a man he identified as Watts aimed a gun at him as the officer opened the rear door of the taxi.

He pulled the trigger but I heard the gun jam," he said.

"Then I fired twice but both shots went wild."

Constable Henrich covered two men in the front seat with his revolver just as Provincial Police arrived. Provincial Constable Vincent Scherer said he searched the man identified as Williamson and found $4,137 in his possession.

Say Arab D-Day Is Postponed

Damascus, Syria, Feb. 12. (AP) —Sources close to the Arab volunteer army command said today the "D-Day" for the Arab fight against Palestine Jews, reported set for Feb. 15, has been postponed.

"Political and diplomatic developments in Cairo and other world capitals" caused the postponement, the informants said. Political observers expressed the opinion that action in Palestine might be confined to guerrilla fighting until the British mandate is ended or until the Arab League meeting in Cairo drafts a policy.

Weatherman's Lot No Bed of Roses; Weather Most Unpredictable Thing

Ottawa, Feb. 12 — (CP)—The weather still is the most unpredictable thing in the world—even the weatherman admits that.

One of the weather forecasters from the meteorological service of the Department of Transport, W. Gilmour Clark of Toronto, explained the weatherman's troubles to the Science Association here last night. And if anyone has a right to grey halds it's the weatherman.

His troubles, said Mr. Clark, range from the problem of accuracy which forecasters have been trying to solve for years, down to public ignorance of the forecaster's job.

In the mail every morning come derisive letters telling the forecaster he doesn't know what he's talking about. Others seek forecasts weeks in advance — like the honeymoon couple that planned a motorcycle trip and wanted to know if it would rain within the next two weeks in a certain area.

A Clinton, Ont., man even went so far as to say that the weather and dreams were definitely related — though he didn't exactly explain how.

On the more serious side, Mr. Clark said accuracy in forecasting still was the weatherman's hardest scientific nut. But he was improving until now he was correct on an average of eight out of every 10 days.

But no one who demands perfection in life should take a weatherman's job, he added. The weather was still the most unreliable thing in the world.

Mrs. George Scea, Trenton, Severely Burned In Fire

Mother Rescues Small Baby But Bungalow Destroyed

Smothering the flames that enveloped her blanket-covered baby with her body, Mrs. George Scea, Trenton rushed through the blazing home shortly after nine o'clock this morning to safety, but in a badly burned condition. The baby was unhurt although its clothing was scorched.

Mrs. Scea was taken to Belleville General Hospital suffering with severe burns on the face, neck and back. Her hair was partially burned off her head. The house, a new bungalow, recently completed by Scea, was completely destroyed with its contents.

Her husband who is employed at No. 6 Repair Depot, Trenton Air Station, had gone to work, and Mrs. Scea had not yet risen. Awakening a few minutes after nine, she found her bedroom a mass of flames and smoke.

Grabbing a blanket she rushed into the next room where her infant child was sleeping. Wrapping the child in the covering she endeavored to fight her way through the now blazing home.

The blanket ignited and Mrs. Scea managed to smother the flames by rolling the baby against her body. She rushed through the blazing living room to the safety of the outside with her hair afire and her body badly burned.

The fire is believed to have started from an overheated stove in the kitchen.

Mrs. Scea was given treatment by Dr. G. S. Telfer who ordered her to hospital where she is under the care of Dr. G. S. Cronk.

Scea, it was stated, had just purchased clothing for his wife and child to the value of $100. This with the rest of the contents of the bungalow was completely destroyed.

Jerusalem Feb. 12 (Reuters)—Six armed Jews held up a diamond merchant in Tel Aviv today and stole diamonds valued at $100,000, Jewish sources in Tel Aviv reported.

"Witnesses state that the bus was attacked by a party of armed Jews, who, simultaneously with the explosion, opened small arms fire," the report added. Five other Arabs were injured. Safed is in northern Palestine.

A Jew and an Arab also were killed in incidents at Haifa.

The deaths raised to 1,133 the unofficial number slain since partitioned was announced Nov. 29.

PLOT IS NIPPED FOR OVERTHROW COSTA RICA GOVT.

Attempted Coup Begins With Violence Over Sunday's Elections

By REGINALD WOOD

San Jose, Costa Rica, Feb. 12—(AP) — Troops and police nipped today a plot to overthrow Costa Rica's government and install former President Rafael Calderon Guardia.

The attempted coup began with violence last night over Sunday's presidential elections. A policeman was killed and several persons were wounded in shooting which continued into the early morning.

Gangs raced through the streets. They wore the blue, yellow and red armbands of the Republicano Nacional and the red armbands of the Vanguardia Popular (Communist) party, both supporters of Calderon.

Calderon trails by 10,000 votes in Sunday's election and has conceded the victory of publisher Otilio Ulate Blanco, of the Union Nacional party. However, Calderon has charged fraud. Ulate said yesterday he learned the communists and some army men planned a coup, but outgoing president Teodoro Picado Michalski said he was confident such a move could be repelled.

A government source said the coup was plotted by the communists, and that the Republicano Nacional was not involved. He said the first step was a vain attempt to seize a barracks, but it had probably failed because the plotters struck too soon.

Shots rang out frequently in the capital this morning. Half-tracks loaded with soldiers raced thru the streets with sirens screaming. Mobile troops patrolled the business district. The presidential guard said machine-gun fire broke out within the Bella Vista police and army barracks and that then the firing became general throughout the business district. People ducked into doorways or dropped to the sidewalks.

A short time after the shooting started, the opposition party's radio station broadcast an appeal for help, saying Calderonistas were besieging the station. Later the threat apparently was removed.

Informed quarters said it was entirely possible another attempt at a coup will be made. President Picado said the government was prepared to repulse any new attempt.

FORD ANNOUNCES PLAN

Windsor, Feb. 12 (CP) —Ford of Canada announced a plan for financial assistance to employees who have lost more than 10 days pay as a result of the three-week-old gas shortage.

These employees may apply tomorrow for a sum equal to two per cent of their total 1947 earnings. The amount is chargeable against 1948 paid vacation allowances. It is equivalent of about one week's pay.

More than half of Ford's 10,800 hourly-rated employees are idle, most of them for the three weeks of the shortage.

Application forms will be available tomorrow at the Ford plant.

Canadian Prices Influenced By Many Imports

Ottawa, Feb. 12 — (CP)—The inquiry into the causes of the recent rises in Canadian prices by the Commons Price Committee went into its third sitting today conscious of a warning that 'all or even a major part" of the explanation of this problem would not be found inside Canada.

It was given yesterday by Kenneth Taylor, a deputy minister of finance and chairman of the Prices Board, who testified as the second witness of the 16-member committee.

Mr. Taylor said that Canadian prices were influenced sharply by soaring prices of commodities which Canada had to import. He also said that external prices largely determine the prices of the principal Canadian export commodities.

Another major point made by this government economist was that a continuation of wartime price controls would not likely have blocked the current rise in prices.

Mr. Taylor attributed a "considerable part" of the price increase over the past two years to the cessation of subsidy payments.

The witness stressed the world-wide nature of the jump in prices. "Prices have been rising steadily and rapidly all over the world for the last 18 or 20 months.

"It is not a local problem. It is not confined to any country, or to any group or class of countries. It is a world-wide phenomenon."

Mr. Taylor was critical of government buying and selling and said that there have been indications since the end of the war that on the selling side governments, like private industry, may press for the maximum the traffic will bear.

On the buying side they may not always be as careful as a man or a company whose personal fortunes depend on skilful purchasing.

Begin Rationing Of Natural Gas In S.W. Ontario

Toronto, Feb. 12 — (CP) — Southwestern Ontario today began compulsory rationing of natural gas for domestic use, while householders studied an appeal to cut back voluntarily their consumption by 25 per cent of the amount used last December.

Both the order and appeal were 11th hour steps announced by Mines Minister Leslie Frost yesterday to solve the three-week-old gas shortage that has closed scores of plants and made upwards of 25,000 idle.

Fuel Controller A. R. Crozier announced these restrictions:

Each domestic consumer is restricted to the amount of gas used last December.

Cooking ranges must not be used for heating purposes, and use of gas heaters for rooms is prohibited if other heating equipment is available.

Sale and installation of gas heaters or apparatus is banned without an order from the fuel controller.

The appeal to consumers to voluntarily slash consumption apart from the new restriction was made because if it is done "it will mean up to 25,500 workers who have been laid off will return to work in a couple of days," the Ontario mines minister said.

Home consumers affected are served by the Union Gas Company of Canada, City Gas Company of London, and Windsor Gas Company.

To be in effect to the end of winter, the order contains provisions for a penalty for non-observance, but neither Mr. Frost or Mr. Crozier would say what it is.

Meanwhile, it was reported at Windsor that several civic, industrial and labor representatives will visit Detroit tomorrow night to examine a new method of producing gas for industry.

Plunging Market Prices Take An Enforced Breather

Chicago, Feb. 12 — (AP) — Plunging market prices took an enforced "breather" today, after a week-long rampage, as United States commodity and security markets were closed in observance of Lincoln's birthday.

The first decisive break in the rising price level came on Feb. 4, since then prices have nose-dived on the commodity and security exchanges, and to a lesser extent in wholesale food and raw material markets.

Grains and cotton led the slide. It still was on yesterday, but appeared to be losing some of its violence.

Last Friday the consumer felt the first effects of the widening breaks. New retail food price cuts were on the fire last night.

The retail price of flour and lard fell. Bacon and some cuts of beef were cheaper in many stores. Bread prices were down.

Reaction spread yesterday to securities markets around the world. Stocks tumbled in Manila, Copenhagen, Sydney and Toronto. There was a slump on the London market, but prices there recovered before the British exchange closed for the day.

There were temporary rallies in the prices of grain during the week, but they were short-lived.

The worst day of the week-long melee was Tuesday, when prices fell like ten-pins. Stocks tumbled $1 to $5 a share Tuesday and sent the Associated Press average down to a new low since last June Never before were so many issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

"The back of inflation has been broken," said A. W. Zelomek of New York, economic counsellor and president of the International Statistical Bureau, a private organization. Many economists agreed.

Selomek predicted that commodity prices would fall 20 to 25 per cent within nine months.

A survey of A. F. L. and C.I.O. union leaders showed they generally regard current price declines as not enough to reduce their wage demands.

Message Always With People

After Nehru had immersed his feet he told those gathered on the bank that the great man who had served India selflessly, preaching his gospel of truth and non-violence would walk among them no more but his message would always be with them.

"Gandhi's journey is ended," Nehru said. "But the journey of the Indian people has just begun. Let us march forward under the radiant light of his teachings."

Relatively few could see the actual committal of the Mahatma's bones and ashes, among which precious stones had been placed. The ashes had been mixed with the milk of a sacred cow.

Ashes Disappear

Those aboard the craft waved white handkerchiefs, signifying the fulfillment of the rite by which, under Hindu tradition, Gandhi was permitted to enter heaven. The ashes disappeared —made one with the Holy Ganges and Jumna and the storied Saraswati.

The urn was rinsed with the waves of the rivers The greatest funeral in modern Indian history was over.

As far as the eye could see there were dense masses of people lined along the banks, chanting solemnly.

Others who watched included members of the central government, the governor of the United Provinces, and ministers of the local government.

The special train carrying Gandhi's ashes arrived at Allahabad station at 9 a.m. Nehru, who arrived in Allahabad by plane yesterday, was at the station to greet the train of third-class coaches bearing the funeral urn.

A guard of honor escorted the urn to Triveni Sangham, confluence of the Three Rivers, for the final ceremony.

The urn was placed on a trailer. The accompaniment of a booming salute of cannon shots—one for each year of Gandhi's 78—and the sounding of coach horns, the procession started.

A quarter of a mile from the station the procession passed the Anglican Cathedral of All-Saints, where the cortege paused briefly while the crowd before it sang Gandhi's favorite hymn "Lead, Kindly Light".

Total casualties were 2,434, of whom 38 officers and 437 other ranks were killed or died.

The start of the campaign was a near-bloodless affair. The division had sailed from Clyde in Scotland directly to the Mediterranean and joined the Eighth Army at sea, between Malta and Tripoli.

Landed in 1943

Then at dawn on July 10, 1943, the Canadians landed on the Pachino beaches. The chief hazard was the stormy sea which had whipped up suddenly 12 hours before and nearly led to the attack being postponed.

The 1st and 2nd Brigades assaulted the beaches and met only sporadic machine gun fire and some shelling. The 3rd Brigade was in reserve. The Canadians pushed rapidly inland, with the Italian coastal forces breaking up rapidly. There were some skirmishes but they were not important.

Four or five days later, driving hard inland towards Enna in the heart of Sicily, the division met the Germans for the first time and from then on the campaign became increasingly tough. The really rugged and costly fighting started south of Leonforte, where the Canadians switched to the east on the drive to Mount Etna, and from then on each day brought a fierce struggle in the scorching Agira Valley, through towns such as Nissoria, Regalbuto and Agira.

Convict Sues State For Injury While Playing Football

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12 —(AP) —A former convict at Attica State Prison sued New York State for $50,000 contending he was injured while playing football on the prison team.

Merritt McCrossen Scott of Rochester said he suffered a dislocated hip in a game Nov. 1, 1944, and was not given prompt or proper medical attention.

Scott was released on parole last November. He had received a five to 10-year sentence on a plea of guilty to a grand larceny.

Make Grandparents Support Them, Says M.D.

"Go ahead and have your babies, and if need be, make your parents support them."

Dr. John Rock, fertility expert of Harvard Medical School, said the best time for both men and women to beget children is in the late teens and early 20s.

"But," he told an obstetrical assembly, "people who marry at that age too often postpone parenthood because of economic reasons. I suggest we return to the practice of the older days, when parents of young couples gave them financial support."

Canada and the Olympics

Canada has been well represented at the Olympics with the victory of Barbara Ann Scott and the R.C.A.F. Flyers hockey tournamentt win. The double victory has made Olympic Winter game history for the Dominion. This country will have a happy homecoming for the Queen of the figure skating world and the Airmen.

The success of the Flyers in winning seven games, losing none and tying one was a welcome surprise to the people of Canada for the team had not been heralded as likely to carry off the hockey tournament. They had built up a fine team by thorough training.

Canadians are pleased at the showing of the Flyers who played their best to win and in doing so carried off the victory. Hockey is the national winter game of Canadians and therefore the triumph of the Airmen is the more to be cause for intense satisfaction.

Competitions and games such as Miss Scott and the Flyers engaged in at St. Moritz have given the Ottawa girl Barbara Ann and the members of the Olympic hockey team the opportunity to show their skill and artistry in competition with the world and the spirit with which they went into the contests which have reflected on them so much honor and fame.

Steering Weather?

It is not to be wondered at that the weather is always so much in the minds of the people. In reality interest in weather will save one possible trouble, say, from being caught in a snow blockade. Dissemination of news by press and radio concerning "Probs" is very much a factor in deciding people on journeys, especially in the winter season when treacherous conditions may develop. But there is another possibility, that the intensification of interest in weather will lead to discovery of new facts and laws of nature to make possible what even today may seem highly unlikely or mere dreams of a too fervid imagination.

The question has just been raised: Can the bad weather be steered to an area where it can do little harm? It is known or accepted that it is possible to break up thunderstorms and hurricanes in their beginnings or to cause snow to fall on the ocean or sea or mighty lake or over areas where population is very thin.

An interesting statement has just been reported by Dr. Irving Langmuir, General Electric's Nobel prize winner, who says, according to Christian Science Monitor that "the next three years should tell us whether or not it will ever be possible to divert destructive storms from large centres. Then learning how to do this might take another seven or ten years."

Horace R. Byers of the University of Chicago sent piloted planes into the teeth of thunderstorms to gather data on air currents, lightning and hail. They discovered that "instead of apparent chaos, thunderstorms have a regular pattern of circulation; they 'inhale' air from the surroundings at heights between 2,000 and 25,000 feet and 'exhale' at the bottom and the top.

"Weather warnings have been able to save many lives and millions of dollars worth of property. Weather steering may add still another department to the U. S. Weather Bureau — one that does something besides talk about the weather. But when that day comes it will take a Solomon to pass judgment on who gets the rain or who gets snow, who gets sunshine or which shipping lane rides out a hurricane."

Bow and Arrows

The use of bow and arrow has existed for centuries. In the early days of the growth of the Middle East and the eastern end of the Mediterranean the bow and arrow figured in war. So these weapons also used in ancient hunting as scenes on ancient monuments reveal, have been known throughout history. History books illustrate ancient scenes of the Medes and Persians, ancient Greeks and the Roman conquerors of the ancient world with their bows and arrows and other equipment and everyone is more or less familiar with them.

In modern days there is a remarkable growth of interest in the bow and arrow in sports and even in respect to hunting for some hunters have taken to the woods with the bow and arrow as a means of securing game.

Middle Ages history is full of the story and of pictures of battle scenes in which the bow and arrow figured in the rise of the new world. English history is full of references to this weapon of warfare, the long bow of yew or ash with the arrow by means of which the destiny of many a battle was decided. The long bow contributed materially to the successes of the English army for centuries. On the Continent the cross-bow was in more general use.

In the Arms and Armour Gallery of the Royal Ontario Museum of Archeology at Toronto is an example of a bow used by the prehistoric Egyptians five thousand years ago.

Today the bow and arrow are used not in the military sense but for sporting use. Archery is one of the finest modern sports and has a following of a large number of of people, young and old, who appreciate the skill and training required to make them proficient with the type of weapon the people of antiquity used.

Today is an era when people talk freely of the atomic future. Yet one of the weapons which brought the world forward through the centuries is the age-old bow with arrow. It wrote the destiny of nations and tribes before the dawn of history. Conquests which went on in those centuries and milleniums before the dawn of civilization directed the course of progress. Archaeologists labor to put together hints at the progress of man from scattered settlements to the growth of tribes, nations and civilizations. That the bow and arrow were one of the earliest major developments of the art of war in pre-historic days is well known. They marked a great advance on previous ages when man's only weapon was perhaps a sharp stone or stick.

Threat of Private Armies

When a political group organizes a private army it can have but one aim: The armed overthrow of the existing government.

The Weimar republic was too weak and too indifferent to do anything about Hitler's Brown Shirts when they came on the scene. By the time the German republicans became alarmed it was too late.

Mussolini took over from the poet, D'Annunzio, the idea of the Black Shirt brigades. They looked like opera bouffe until they took over Rome and the Italian government.

Other countries, in the mad '30s, imitated these private armies. It was hoped that the war, which they brought on, had eliminated them as a factor in the world politics.

This has not proved true. The Communists in Italy have raised a private army of between 60,000 and 70,000 men which parades wherever the party leadership most needs it, drills in the open fields and is becoming more and more bold. It is about to don a uniform.

Profiting by the ineptitude of post-World War I governments, Premier Alcide de Gasperi intends to short-circuit this threat before it grows any greater, says Cleveland Plain Dealer.

DRUIDIC LORE

Wassailing British farmers say they increase their apple output by urging the trees to bear "hatsful, capsful, three bushel bags full, and a little heap under the stairs." Maybe this old Druid rite won't break production bottlenecks, but there ought to be a lot of fun trying. — Windsor Star.

Balanced living begins not with nations and world movements, but in the individual. Never in all history was it more important that individual men and women should not lose their heads merely because they have failed hitherto to use them, says Vancouver Sun.

FISHING LESSON

The biggest fish I ever caught
Was always smaller than I thought,
And less upon the scales would weigh
Then any one that got away.
And so I wonder can it be
All fishermen, including me,
Belittle what they gain and choose
To magnify the prize they lose?

Perhaps 'tis human low to score
The thing we get and wish for more;
To value gain at lowest rate
And hold life's every loss is great;
To put God's blessings all aside,
Remembering only those denied;
To take for granted every bliss,
And reckon sweeter what we miss.

Yet men out fishing understand
That smaller seem the fish they land
Than those for which awhile they play,
Only to have them get away.
Hence, can it be with all desire?
Of joys we have we quickly tire,
But those we miss, as time goes by,
With bitterness we magnify.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Who were the original members of the Supreme Court?

The Constitution (Article II, Section 1) says, "The judicial Power of the United States, shall be vested in one supreme Court, and such inferior Courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish."

The judiciary act of September 24, 1789, provided that the Supreme Court should consist of a Chief Justice and five Associate Justices.

President Washington had some difficulty in finding qualified men willing to serve on the Supreme Court. He offered the Chief-Justiceship to Patrick Henry, but the great orator declined what later became the most important judicial office in the world.

Although Harrison is often included in the list of justices of the Supreme Court, he declined the appointment and never actually served. In his stead Washington named and the Senate confirmed James Iredell of North Carolina.

An act of Congress approved June 1, 1789, provided that Federal judges should take the following oath: "I do solemnly swear that I will administer justice without respect to persons, and do equal right to the poor and the rich; and that I will faithfully discharge all the duties incumbent on me as judge, according to the best of my abilities and understanding, agreeably to the Constitution and laws of the United States."

The first session of the Supreme Court was held February 1, 1790, in the Royal Exchange building at the foot of Broad Street in New York City. On February 3 the Court ordered that its seal "shall be the arms of the United States engraved on a piece of steel, the size of a dollar with the words in the margin, 'The Seal of the Supreme Court of the United States'."

Rutledge did not attend the first session. He resigned in 1791 to become chief justice of South Carolina. On May 24, 1791, President Washington wrote a remarkable joint letter to Charles Cotesworth Pinckney and his brother-in-law and law partner, Edward Rutledge, a brother of John Rutledge. In the letter Washington urged one of the two men to accept the appointment as Associate Justice to fill the vacancy. Both declined. Washington finally named and the Senate confirmed Thomas Johnson of Maryland. In 1793 Johnson resigned and William Paterson of New Jersey succeeded him.

Chief Justice Jay resigned in 1795 and Washington appointed former Associate Justice John Rutledge to take his place. Congress was not in session at the time and Rutledge served as Chief Justice from August to December 15, when the Senate voted against his confirmation. The next year Washington named and the Senate confirmed Oliver Ellsworth of Connecticut as Chief Justice. Blair, one of the original members of the Court, resigned in the same year and Washington appointed in his place Samuel Chase of Maryland.

WHERE ARE CARGOES?

Vancouver, Feb. 12 —(CP) — Shipping men here today wondered "what's happened to Canadian shipping? Where are our cargoes?"

With the port Montreal icelocked and Halifax practically idle, Vancouver, they said, should be doing a bang-up business. But it isn't.

Shipping officials claim the inactivity in deep-sea shipping here is due largely to the curtailment of grain shipments through this Pacific port.

CONSERVATIVES

Sat Few Minutes

The eSnate sat only a few minutes because of the heating situation. Before adjournment members gave third reading to a bill ratifying a Canadian-American agreement for controlling the slaughter of fur seals in the North Pacific and the Bering Sea. The Senators also approved appointment of members to sit on the Parliamentary Indian Committee.

Wing Cmdr. Skey said Canada's aircraft industry, particularly in the development of jet-propelled planes, should be brought to the point where the country would be independent of outside production in the event of war.

Wing Cmdr. Skey said he disagreed with the way Canada's available forces were being scattered. He felt the country should have a compact, flexible air force, provided with the latest equipment and backed with strong reserves.

He urged the government to revert to its pre-war policy of paying an annual subsidy to Canadian flying clubs to keep them in operation. The government should also pay greater attention to the aircraft industry, which was close to "disintegration."

Mr. Chevrier entered the debate to reply to charges of D. King Hazen (PC-St. John-Albert(that the Canadian National Railways and the government had violated the traditional policy of encouraging the shipment of Canadian goods through Canadianp orts.

Had Not Disputed Claim

He said neither the government nor the railways had departed from the traditional policy. The railways had taken action in November to equalize the export freight rates between the ports of Saint John, Halifax and Portland, Me. No port had been discriminated against and the action of an American shipping company in moving from Halifax to Portland mainly was due to the fact that the line had been kept waiting unduly long during 1946-47 for shipments held up as a result of weather conditions encountered by railways.

Mr. Chevrier rejected a suggestion that Canadian ports should revert to local control and he defended government actions on the project for bridging the Strait of Canso in Nova Scotia.

Mr. Gillis said that, while Trade Minister Howe claimed that Canada was in the midst of a boom, this did not apply to the Maritimes where there was unemployment. The port of Halifax last weekend has its "blackest" weekend in 20 years.

Mr. Isnor chided Mr. Gillis for his "usual dreary, dismal picture" of conditions in the Maritimes. While conditions in the Maritimes might not be what they should, they were not as black as painted by Mr. Gillis.

PROTECTED

Wintry blasts from England's Wolferton marshes cause Queen Elizabeth to protect her stinging ears with a warm shawl as she attends ceremonies marking the completion of a reclamation project. Some 600 acres of marshland have been put into cultivation there to augment England's meagre food supply.

SICKNESS, EH? IT'S REALLY A KIND OF WEAKNESS (MENTAL)

In a way it's lucky for you poor geeks (remind me to define the term geek some day when there's nothing important to fill this space) — lucky for your health and happiness, I mean — that when I feel the call to give you a little lesson in the ways of health I go about it, believe it or not, with due deliberation. For example, today's lesson is about what too many of you ignorant—(now, hold your horses, stupid, I'm referring only to your ignorance of physiology and hygiene) laymen regard as sickness, to wit, the monthly function, menses, as "sickness."

A mother taking a wrong attitude in reference to her young daughter who had just began to menstruate suggested today's lesson. Fortunately this mother had instructed her daughter as all mothers should, a few years before the age when the menses should be expected to begin. So the youngster took the first menstruation in a matter-of-fact way, casually mentioned it to mother and continued her activities without the slightest modification, as every girl should.

But mother made one error which might have proved serious — that is, it might have given daughter a wrong start and made a semi-invalid out of the girl for the best part of her life. When Monday morning came, mother asked daughter if she didn't want to remain at home and rest for a day or two—but daughter didn't know why and went to school as usual.

In the business world the absenteeism of young women who have been taught to regard menstruation as sickness or illness is disgracefully large. Most of this periodic disability is chargeable to the policy of nineteenth century physicians and therefore of womankind who lived and still live in the nineteenth century, in regard to female weakness—and that's no joke, for it is only yesterday that the quacks and nostrum mongers relinquished "female weakness" as a selling point for their wares.

Dr. Clelia Duel Mosher, medical adviser to women in Leland Stanford University in the early years of this century, established beyond cavil that menstruation is a function and not a weakness or an illness, and that its occurrence does not indicate or justify any interruption or abeyance in the everyday physical activities, and certainly not a day or two in bed each month. Dr. Mosher's observations, studies and experience with the education of women was later confirmed by medical and physical education authorities in many other schools and colleges and by the observation of medical advisers in numerous commercial or industrial organizations employing women.

With few exceptions, such as deformity or defect of development, any serious suffering or disability attending menstruation is iatrogenic—caused by the physicians, that is, the old timers who went along with the idea that this function is an illness or a "weakness".

Dr. Mosher devised a comparatively simple daily exercise for all girls to follow, to prevent or correct dysmenorrhea and other difficulties or irregularities of the function. Instruction for this exercise are incorporated in the pamphlet Hygiene for Girls and Health for Women, available on written request if you provide stamped envelope bearing your address—address your request to Dr. Wm. Brady and please do not use a clipping or fail to sign your request, else there will be no reply.

Now Dr. Mosher was a lady and a lady in her position could not completely ignore convention, not back in the gay nineties and the naughty 1900's, but I'm no lady and so I can call Dr. Mosher's corrective exercise what it is — belly (Anglo-Saxon word for bellows) breathing.

PRECISE PLANNING

"After dusk that night (July 9) I went down to Cape Delimara, southeastern point of Malta to watch the gliders fly past for a landing in support of the Eighth Army," he wrote.

"As tandem pairs of tow and glider came flying low, now in twos and threes, now in larger groups ... I took note that the first invasion of European soil was under way."

Large Opposing Force

The surprised opposition consisted of 315,000 Italians and 50,000 Germans, the latter total being later increased to 90,000 when reinforcements were rushed from the Italian mainland.

The Germans fought stubbornly and in some cases, operational plans had to be modified. The Eighth Army soon achieved its primary objectives, including the capture of Syracuse and the important Pachino airfield.

On July 20, the Canadian and Americans entered Enna, in the centre of the island and the junction of its main roads. On the same day the Canadians captured the southwest coastal town of Sciacca.

Viscount Alexander remarked that "the outstanding administrative feature" of the invasion "was the speed with which ports were opened to shipping immediately after their capture and the efficient manner in which stores were taken off ships, transported into depots and moved by rail and road to forward troops."

On the night of Aug. 16, United States troops entered Messina where they were joined the next day by Eighth Army Commandos.

"Just before dawn on the 17th according to German account, Gen. Hube, German commander, sailed from a beach north of Messina in the last boat to leave the island. Sicily had been conquered in 38 days."

Pianist Displayed Exceptional Talents Early in Boyhood

Sascha Gorodnitzki, pianist, who will appear here in concert on Friday, might have been a child prodigy at the piano his exceptional talent being evident when he was eight, but his parents insisted that he have a normal boyhood. The rest is musical history. Sascha Gorodnitzki has made extensive and successful tours throughout the United States, Canada and Cuba, appearing in recital and as guest artist with leading orchestras. Everywhere, he has met with almost unanimous critical acclaim.

Mrs. E. Campsall Latest Victim In Series of Fires

(By The Canadian Press)

A $500,000 warehouse fire in Toronto last night added new misery to an already bleak fire picture across Canada and Newfoundland and skyrocketed the property damaged since Sunday over the $3,000,000 mark.

A Canadian Press survey showed that the death toll in the same period now stands at 44. The latest victim was Mrs. Edley Campsall, 77, who perished last night in a fire which destroyed her home at Harrington, Ont.

The Toronto blaze, said to be one of the city's most spectacular, raced through a warehouse of the British American Oil Refinery on the waterfront, close to the downtown section of the city.

The fire was believed to have originated in a short circuit in a motor truck loading oil. From there it spread to the warehouse packed with drums of lubrication oil.

In Harrington, Mrs. Campsall, an invalid, was the victim of an upset coal oil lamp. Her daughter had left the house a few minutes before the fire started.

Yesterday morning, two early fires in Halifax and Ste. Rose, Que., claimed three lives.

At Ste. Rose, 25 miles north of Montreal, Audrey and June McGillivray, 14 and 16 respectively, perished in an upstairs bedroom of a blazing cottage after an oil-stove exploded.

Other fires reported yesterday included one at London, Ont., where loss was set at $50,000 after flames swept a General Steel Wares Limited storage building. At Ottawa, 14 persons were forced to flee a centre-town apartment house last night but firemen quelled the flames in 20 minutes. No injuries resulted in either fire.

A recount of casualties in North America's most disastrous fire reported in 1948—at St. John's Nfld.,—reduced the death toll to 33. Earlier reports said 35 perished in the blaze that destroyed an old people's home.

Credit May Be Tightened Due To Bank's Report

Ottawa, Feb. 12 (CP)—Indications that there will be a tightening of credit may be seen in the Bank of Canada's annual report which stresses the heavy borrowing of 1947 and advises against expenditures which can be postponed.

Whether or not the bank will increase its interest rate as one means of tightening the purse-strings, is not known, but it seems apparent that it is concerned about the huge provincial, municipal and corporate borrowings of last year.

Says the report, issued yesterday:

"It is clear that the present rate of capital development is straining Canada's manpower and material resources, and is pushing up prices. At the same time business, which in general entered the post-war period with unusually large liquid reserves, has been looking increasingly to banks for financing. . .

"The increase of $461,000,000 in chartered banks' Canadian loans during 1947 was the largest annual increase on record. . .More than half of the loan expansion was accounted for by loans to merchandizers and manufacturers."

The report recognizes the high activity of Canadian industry, but seems to feel that the country is pyramiding a tremendous and complex structure in an effort to meet all at once abnormal demands of home and abroad.

It refers to Canada's difficult trading position of selling abroad and buying in the United States and comments that there is clearly need to increase the present level of gold and foreign exchange holdings. This would involve increasing exports, or reducing imports, or both.

The report comments that prices during 1948 will depend to an important extent on world grain crop prospects and harvests.

There had been rumors that the bank might increase the rate of 1 1-2 per cent which it charges for money borrowed by chartered banks.

If the bank is considering such a step, it is possible it may defer it because the fall in United States markets is already a deflationary influence whose full effect has yet to be disclosed.

WILL RELEASE 1,500 FORMER MINOR NAZIS

Munich, Feb. 12 (Reuters) — About 1,500 former minor members of Nazi organizations adjudged criminal during the first Nuernberg trial will be released shortly from internment camps in Bavaria, the Bavarian Denazification Ministry announced today.

These are people interned for membership only in the Nazi party leadership corps, the S.S., the Reich's security service, and gestapo.

SPOILED SWEET CLOVER MAY PROVIDE DRUG AID FOR THROMBOSIS

Boston, Feb. 12 (AP) —A drug from spoiled sweet clover may mean a longer life span for victims of coronary thrombosis. Dr. Karl Paul Link, Wisconsin biochemist, said the new drug, dicumarol, would "reduce the clotting power of the blood and help prevent growth of the menacing thrombi, thus reducing the danger of a second, fatal attack of thrombosis.

House Decides To Carry On Despite Cold

Ottawa, Feb. 12 —(CP)— The Commons, blithely confident of its ability to generate its own steam, faced up bravely yesterday to an indoors cold wave which routed the Cabinet and the Senate and sent dozens of civil servants fleeing to their homes.

All told it was a draughty and discorded day. A breakdown in the central heating system which funnels warmth to the three parliament buildings and other clustered around them provoked the unorthodox all over Parliament Hill.

Some members sat in the Commons' Prices Committee in overcoats. Some reporters went them one better, adding fur hats.

The Cabinet called off a regular meeting. The Senate sat for a few minutes and adjourned. Telephone calls flooded into the works department. In the dusty, draughty east and west blocks, the temperature went down and down until it was below 50 degrees and civil servants were told to go home.

The heat rose and fell in the centre block during the day. At one time, in some parts, it was down around 40. Outside, it was two above at noon. House strategists, balancing one thing against another as three o'clock neared, decided the Commons Chamber should get priority for whatever heat could be mustered. The Senate was ignored.

The Speaker solemnly proclaimed it "my duty to intimate that some Hon. Members suggested to me this morning that under the prevailing conditions there should be no sitting of the House." He left it up to the House.

Faced with decision, the members — some reinforced with sweaters but none with coats— heard first from what is sometimes called the British Columbia Bloc. Howard Green (PC-Vancouver South) chided: "It would be well if we could have our sittings in Vancouver."

Arthur Ross (PC-Souris)cried: "Let's sit; it will be warm enough in summer."

The Speaker pressed for finality. "Carry on, carry on," shouted members in a body, and they did.

Hired Gunmen Being Used Says Globe and Mail

Toronto, Feb. 12 —(CP)— The Globe and Mail said today in a newspage story it had learned that "hired gun-men are being imported to Toronto to carry out difficult hold-ups on a retainer-and-split basis."

The newspaper added: "Several gangs of young desperadoes, mostly with penitentiary records and with hide-outs in Hamilton, indsor and other provincial points are used by Toronto master-criminals who never themselves appear on the scene of the crimes."

Among recent robberies attributed to this gang the newspaper mentioned the hold-up of a dice game at suburban Etobicoke when upwards of $6,000 was taken, and the theft of a safe containing $1,700 from the Coxwell Inn.

"Police investigation is said to have unearthed the rob-for-hire scheme and city detectives are attempting to track down the masterminds," the story said.

Two Are Killed, One Missing In Landing Exercises

Oceanside, Calif., Feb.12 (AP)—Two United States navy men were killed a third is missing and 31 were injured when churning surf Tuesday turned amphibious landing exercises into disaster.

For hours a two-mile stretch of the beach here looked something like a wartime beach head. Three landing craft capsized. Two others are missing and believed sunk. Marines with full equipment swam ashore and sprawled on the beach, exhausted.

Thirty-one sailors and marines, including 10 who participated in rescue work, were in hospital, all suffering from immersion and shock.

The mock landing originally was scheduled for 9 a.m. yesterday. Twice it was postponed briefly because of the heavy seas. Then it was cancelled for the day but by that time 17 LVTS (Landing Vehicle Track) had been launched from mother ships. A sudden increase of wind caused the cancellation and made the sea too rough for the transports to recover the landing craft.

"A" BOMB SURVIVOR

Kay Polchikoff is pictured on the phone as she called her fiance, ex-G.I. Paul Drago of Camden, N.J., upon her arrival in San Francisco, Calif., from Tokyo. The 26-year-old girl, a White Russian, is the first Caucasian survivor of Hiroshima atom bombing to arrive in the U. S. She will continue her journey to Camden to wed Paul, whom she met in Tokyo a year ago. Cheerful despite the terrible ordeal she will never forget, she explained smilingly that the only thing she knows to be wrong, with her, as a result of the bombing, is that her white blood cell count is low.

Rents Gold Mine For $25 a Year

Thames, New Zealand, —(CP)—For a rent of $25 a year a 78-year-old hermit in the forest of the Coromandel Peninsula in the North Island of New Zealand has sole control of a gold mine which was once thought to be worth millions, a fact which to this day has not been disproved conclusively.

William James McLean is an old prospector, and his mine is the Kapai Vermont on the Try Fluke reef which last century yielded huge dividends to investors. Tradition has it that a Maori discovered the Try Fluke reef when he picked up a few samples of quartz of amazing richness and on the strength of them he registered a claim which he sold immediately for $100,000.

But the Coromandel Peninsula has always been the problem child of New Zealand miners. Twisting uncertain bodes pursue courses through the steep, forest-clad mountains. The gold occurs in shoots and patches. Often it is of phenomenal richness. Then the reefs suddenly disappear.

After yielding rich rewards for some years the Kapai Vermont workings struck a poor patch. The reef was lost and the workings were closed early in the century. But prospectors are convinced that the reef still possesses rich pockets waiting to be unearthed by a chance blow from a pick.

Watch Your Step! Friday's the 13th

By The Canadian Press)

Fearsome Friday the 13th will be here again tomorrow, and every bold citizen who avoids black cats, leaning ladders and three on a match had better arm himself with a horseshoe or clover-leaf, knock on wood, or simply stay in bed all day.

Safety- conscious employers ponder the latter course (after all, Friday the 13th comes only twice this year—its next occurrence is in August).

This method of foiling fate is recommended by at least one eminent psychologist. Some people are so upset by their superstitious dread of Friday the 14th—explains this authority—that they concentrate deeply on one pet fear with the result their alertness to other dangers is diminished.

"If you are desperately fearful something is going to happen to you on Friday the 13th, it is well to stay in bed," he concludes.

As for the origin of the ill-omened day it's any goblin's guess. The number 13 was deemed unlucky by astronomers of ancient Babylon and Scandinavian mythologists blacklisted it because Balder, their sun-god, had to die when it cropped up in the circle of Valhalla.

Most widely accepted version of its origin, however, is the fact there were 13 guests at the Last Supper, including Judas Iscariot who next day—traditionally a Friday—betrayed Christ.

The old hoodoo hasn't put in an appearance since last June—the only Friday the 13th in 1947. No year is complete without at least one day when it behooves the superstitious to sleep, eat, walk and talk warily. Six times during the last five years Friday has been dated up with the 13th.

World's Most Expensive Dinners

(By M. H., In "Answers", London, England)

Who ate the world's most expensive dinner? Probably one of the great gourmands of ancient Rome. Lucullus had a dinner served for himself and two friends that cost nearly $50,000. Vitellus is said to have paid $12,000 for every dinner he ate, and he spent $30,000,000 on his table in four months. He would begin his meal with 10,000 oysters and follow them with 2,000 other dishes, including 7,000 different kinds of fattened birds.

Apicius spent over a million on food in a year, and when poverty reduced his income to a mere third of a million dollars he committed suicide rather than reduce his expenses. Another Roman epicure was served with a single dish costing more than $1,700. It was made of tiny singing birds, each worth $100.

Worst of all the imperial gourmands was Heliogabalus. He indulged in the most appalling extravagances, once being served with the heads of 6,000 ostriches so that he could eat the brains. He was murdered by his own soldiers when he was only 18.

A young Frenchman, Vicomte de Vieil Castel, won a wager that he could eat 500 francs worth of food and drink in two hours. In quantity his dinner was very moderate, but he quickly ran up the bill by ordering birds' nest soup, pheasant, and truffles, ortolans and asparagus, peas and strawberries, although it was the middle of December. By adding a selection of expensive wines he had soon exceeded his 500 franc limit and spent 548 francs.

In England, one of the most expensive feasts ever eaten was the dinner given at the Guildhall to King George III and Queen Charlotte. This cost £6,898 (nearly $30,000) and there were 414 dishes.

Another splendid feast was the banquet given to the Prince Consort at York in 1850 to celebrate the opening of the great exhibition.

There the Prince was served with a single dish which cost more than 100 guineas (about $420). It was made up of choice bits of meat from 24 capons, 18 turkeys, 18 juliets, 16 fowls, 10 grouse, 20 pheasants, 45 partridges, 6 plovers, 100 snipe, three dozen pigeons, six larks and ortolans. It was garnished with such dainties as truffles, fins of turtle, mushroom and asparagus. Of course, the rest of the meat of these bords was eaten by the other guests and as there were some hundred of them the dinner was not quite so extravagant as it seems.

7 Russ Composers Too Formalist, Says Red Party

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Feb. 12. (AP) — The Central Committee of the Communist Party today censured seven Russian composers, including Dmitri Shostakovich and Serge Prokofieff.

A party resolution spread across half of Pravda's front page this morning accused them of writing music which "follows the formalist trend—a trend against the people."

The resolution was sharply critical of "survivals of Bourgeois ideology nurtured by influence of the modern decadent music of Western Europe and America."

Other composers mentioned by name were Aram Khachaturian, Vissarion Shebalin, Gabriel Popov, Irakly (Vano) Muradeli and Nicolai Miaskovsky.

Shebakin is director of the Moscow Conservatory.

Shostakovich is the composer of the opera "Lady Macbeth of Mzensk" and several widely-played symphonies, of which probably the best known is his seventh. Prokofieff perhaps is most widely known for his "Peter and the Wolf".

Khachaturian has written widely-played violin and piano concertos and Miaskovsky is the composer of at least 17 symphonies, perhaps more than any man now living. The works of Popov and Sherbalin are not well known abroad.

The party's central committee instructed its propaganda and agitation department and its art committee to rectify the situation and to 'liquidate the defects pointed out".

Oh, this that and the other, I suppose, pop said, and I said, I bet you were thinking about bizzness, pop.

By gollies you must by sykick, pop said.

Meening I guessed rite, and I said, Are bizzness trubbles the werst kind, pop?

They're not the best, pop said. But dont worry, about it, you'll find out for yourself one of these days, he said, and I said, I know already, pop, I've got bizzness trubbles rite now.

The dooce you have, pop said, and I said, Sure I have pop. I got a bizzness letter in the mail today and I dont know what to do about it. Shall I read it to you, pop? I said

Which I did, being, "Benny Potts, Eskwire, your name has been brawt to our attention as likely to be intrusted in selling 2 duzzen bottles of our Prairie Bloom perfume, in retern for which we will send you a genuine puntching bag, easily set up in any open doorway, or your choice of numerous other attractive prizes. Excelsior Novelty Company, Loop Bilding, Chicago."

Where does the trubble come in? pop said, and I said, It comes in because the last 2 duzzen things I sold was Angel Breth soap, and some people are still complaining of the way it smelt. So if I try perfume they'll probably remember the soap and make it hard for me, on account of perfume being nuthing but smell, I said.

Then I advize you to politely decline by simply ignoring the letter, pop said.

Which maybe I will.

Labor Leaders Deny Statement By Senator Taft

Toronto, Feb. 12. (CP)—Murray Cotterill, president of the Toronto Labor Council described today as 'completely cockeyed" a statement by United States Senator Robert Taft that Communists have been driven out of the American Labor movement and now are "swamping" unions here.

"Senator Taft's information is as inaccurate as most of the information on countries outside their own possessed by leading United States politicians," Mr Cotterill said.

Cleve Kidd, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Federation of Labor (C.C.L.) said he did not know of any "border raids" by Communists. Senator Taft failed to realize that Canadian unions have the situation "completely under control."

Nightmare Trip Ends

Hull, England, Feb. 11. (CP) The 2,000-ton steamship Springfjord docked here today after a nightmare, three-week Atlantic crossing from Halifax in which two men lost their lives.

Chief Officer William Georgeson of South Shields, Durham, and Able Seaman Frank Smith of Swansea, Wales, were swept overboard by giant seas while the ship was hove to in a gale which carried away the ventilator cowlings and pushed stanchions through the steel dock.

$50,000 Damage In London Fire

London, Ont., Feb. 12—(CP)—Damage estimated at $50,000 was caused in a fire that destroyed the interior of a three-storey storage building at the midtown plant of General Steelwares Limited and in which two men were rescued.

Firemen said the blaze is thought to have been started by the spark of a welder's torch that ignited baled insulation.

William Hulbert one of two employees engaged in renovation work was trapped on the third floor and was taken from a window by firemen on ladders.

Wilfred Shaw was on an elevator at the time of the outbreak, made his way to the second floor and with the aid of firemen escaped across a bridge connecting an adjoining building.

The two men, who reportedly were the only ones working in the building at the time, suffered from smoke but otherwise were unharmed.

Firemen confined the blaze to the large brick structure. Adjoining buildings including that of Western News Company Limited were not endangered, but smoke billowed over an area of several blocks as firemen worked four hours to bring the blaze under control.

From Annual Meeting Addresses, 10 February, 1948

Probably our greatest immediate problem is that of inflation. Until this is solved, neither Canadian business nor Canadian citizens can know any real stability or security. Yet the solution is becoming increasingly clear, though there continues to be a certain failure (or perhaps a certain refusal) to face and accept it. It is production, and production alone, that in the end will provide inflation with its sufficient answer. Only when the amount of goods is brought more nearly up to the demand will prices find their proper and reasonable level.

There is no other way. And there can be only anxiety over the continuing popular tendency to look to some method or plan, some control or regulation, which may adjust prices without increased production and without the greater effort that increased production requires. The reimposition of regulations or controls, so far from providing an effective solution to inflation, would more likely only delay or discourage the higher productivity which is so urgently needed. If we are ever to get out of our inflationary troubles, we shall have to work our way out. We cannot sit our way out. Our ultimate deliverance will not come about by "doing without" so much as by "doing more".

Some economists in this country, as in other lands, have recommended that inflation be counteracted by high taxes. Some indeed, even go so far as to suggest that taxes should be increased until inflation is mastered. Surely this is a fundamentally mistaken approach. For high taxes, more perhaps than anything else, depress incentives; and production is to be stimulated, the extra effort must receive the extra reward. To expect people to work harder, and to be practically penalized for doing so, is not to deal in the realities of human nature in a free society.

What I have said illustrates the need to tax in the most intelligent way, with a view to giving personal effort and thrift and the accompanying productiveness, every reasonable encouragement. The only way to increase national wealth or to control inflation is by increasing the industry of the citizens. The only true prosperity is in production, and the best encouragement of production is the rewards won by the citizens in freedom.

ROBERT P. JELLETT, President.

The principal business of the Company, that of administering estates and trusts, again shows marked expansion, and the rate at which new Wills are being filed with us has been accelerated by the wider services which we are providing to assist people in analysing their estates and in planning their Wills prior to having them drawn by their lawyers or notaries.

The duties of an Executor and Trustee continue to grow more complex and onerous with high taxation, heavy succession duties, numerous governmental returns, and low rates of interest on investments, but our basic charges or the fees allowed by the Courts for administrative work and responsibility have not been adjusted for many years. The cost of our services to clients is, therefore, relatively less than ever before, and we believe an appreciation of this, by the public, is manifest in the growth of our business.

The slight firming of interest rates which has been noticeable in recent months is a welcome development, and one which is of direct benefit to our clients. This change is overdue, and, as a matter of justice to investors, we hope that the pressure on interest rates will be eased somewhat further.

In every business and profession the tendency towards specialization is steadily increasing, and it is our constant aim to train and develop sufficient officers and staff to enable us to render service to our clients that is, first of all, personal and understanding, and, secondly, expert in each of the various fields of trust company work. The Executive Officers of the Company, the Managers, Assistant Managers and Secretaries of our Branch offices, our Department Heads and their experienced assistants are always available for consultation and are ready and willing to help clients in every way possible.

The size of our organization and the extent of our business enables us to give the greatest value in services rendered for the remuneration received. Our experience and record are assurance that the affairs of those who put their trust in us will be handled with a high degree of efficiency, and of course in strictest confidence at all times.

Hydro Plans to Generate 58,000 H.P. Near Thessalon

By FRASER MacDOUGALL

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Thessalon, Ont., Feb. 12—(CP) — From the Mississauga tunnel, a scenic wonder of Ontario's northland, the Hydro-electric Power Commission of Ontario plans to generate 58,000 horsepower of electricity to meet growing industrial and domestic demand.

A construction crew of some 350 men now is engaged in preliminary work which will lead to construction by the end of another year of one of Ontario's highest dams, a 230-foot structure rising to the top of the rocky gorge through which the Mississauga River courses at breakneck speed toward its outlet at Lake Huron.

The $15,000,000 project has brought fresh stirrings of life to this town of some 1,500 persons 55 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., bringing back a touch of its more boisterous career as one of the busiest sawmill towns along the north shore of Lake Huron. Thessalon is the base of supplies for the construction job, 20 miles to the north, and also for fresh road construction it makes necessary.

Dam is 900-feet Long

The main dam of the project, first to be undertaken by the Hydro Commission in Algoma district — where other power is developed by a privately - owned company — will be 900 feet long, 190 feet wide at the base. Plans call for a 950-foot side dam on the west flank and on the east an 188-foot sluiceway to carry off surplus water.

William Reynolds, hydro engineer on the scene, who spent many years with a construction firm at Sault Ste. Marie, estimated that the dam will raise the water level of the Mississauga 190 feet. It will create a lake some 12 miles long and up to three miles in width, flooding 5,000 acres — mostly cut-over bushland, now being stripped of slash and other timber growth in preparation for its new role.

The construction job itself is being handled by a private firm, the only current hydro project to be carried out in this way.

The job began last summer and is still in the preliminary phase. Crews of men are stripping topsoil and loose rock from the walls of the giant gorge. A group of hardrock miners is driving a 30-foot high tunnel, 900 feet long, through the gorge and through this the river will be diverted during construction of the dam.

A start on the main dam is expected by July or August of this year and it is slated for completion early in 1949. The huge structure will require 180,000 yards of concrete and a total of 220,000 yards will be needed for the entire project, including the power house.

Fed Into System

The construction schedule calls for completion of the job by the end of 1949 when its 58,000 horsepower will be fed into hydro's Sudbury division.

Harnessing by hydro gives the Mississauga a new role in the economic life of the north. Once the route of fur traders from the old Hudsons' Bay port at Lacloche on Manitoulin Island, in more recent years it has been noted as one of the great logging rivers of the north. Its watershed stretches some 100 miles or so north from its outlet near Blind River, through the Mississauga forest preserve. It carries logs downstream in the annual spring drive with a minimum of effort for river drivers.

Around Thessalon and Blind River, some 40 miles east of here, they look on the tunnel project as merely a start on the task of tapping the Mississauga's power resources. They look for further developments in the next few years above and below the tunnel job and farther north at Aubrey Falls, one of Ontario's most beautiful and highest waterfalls.

Canned Vegetables in Variety

Vegetables purchased ready cooked in tin cans are a boon to the home-maker. It used to be considered careless to eat meals out of a can. Now the woman who buys tinned vegetables may be commended for her economy as well as for her delicious meals.

Canned vegetables save time in preparation and are usable to the last scrap. Even the liquid, in which they are packed, should be used.

Good buying demands the right product for the purpose. Canada's grading regulations allow the housewife to buy to good advantage and the grade mark is plainly printed on the label.

There are three grades. The provident home-maker will have some of each on her pantry shelves.

Fancy Quality is the highest grade and is as nearly perfect as possible. This grade of vegetables are for use when good color, uniformity of size and texture are essential. Vegetables of Fancy Quality make excellent salads and are a luxury for the special meal when heated and served as the vegetable course.

Choice Quality vegetables may vary in color and size but are tender and of good flavor. These are excellent for every day meals.

Standard Quality in the economy grade. Though of excellent food value the appearance is not so good. In scalloped dishes and soups, vegetables of this grade are excellent.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture recommend buying the three grades for special uses and also suggest that it is always wise to try recipes for fussing up the lower grades to make them attractive. It is quite safe to let canned vegetables stand in the can for a few days, after it is opened, provided they are kept cool and covered.

Now—She Doesn't Feel Tired The Way She Used To

...And WHAT a Difference In Her Figure and Pep!

The peplesa, exhausted feeling, common to many women, is often due to low blood count. Lack of sufficient red corpuscles, resulting from iron deficiency, may be robbing your body of vital oxygen. And you must have plenty of oxygen to help explode your energy and give you "going power".

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-noted for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with blood count up, most people regain that glorious feeling of health and energy that gets them out of the old rocking chair into the activities they need to help restore a youthful, fit appearance. Don't delay—ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills at once.

ST. PETER'S W.M.S.

The president opened the meeting with the use of the 74th Psalm and conducted the business. As a missionary would be available for the May meeting it was decided to accept her as guest speaker. Mrs. W. Miller had charge of the devotional period with Mrs. Heslip leading in prayer. The parable of the leaven was read and a meditation on this parable given. Mrs. Miller gave some thoughts on Mission work in the west. Miss Ora Reid then showed the expansion of this work under Rev. Mr. Black. The great work done by Dr. Robertson was outlined by articles from the "Glad Tidings" and given by Mrs. Spencer. Mrs. Bob Miller gave a paper on the founding of the three societies (missionary) and their amalgamation in 1914. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Miller for their valuable assistance in the program. The meeting was closed with a hymn and prayer by Mrs. Miller.

ROSLIN W.A.

Roslin.—The February meeting of the Roslin Anglican Church W.A. was held Tuesday evening, in the home of Rev. F. C. Beazer and Mrs. Beazer, with twelve ladies present.

Mrs. W. Slingerland, president, was in charge and opened the meeting, and the rector led in prayers. Miss H. Wilson read the Scripture from the 19th Psalm.

In the absence of the Secretary, Miss Wilson was appointed as Secretary protem. Mrs. F. C. Beazer read the Diocesan Board letter from Kingston. She announced that the W.A. annual will be held April 15 and 16th., in Brockville. Plans were made to purchase items for the bale. The treasurer reported all branches had been asked to increase money pledges this year. Mrs. Beazer read a letter of thanks from a bishop in England, for a food parcel recently received from the local W.A.

Mrs. M. Kerr, leader for the evening, was in charge of the program. Miss Norma Bates contributed a solo, "Bless This House", and Mrs. P. Clare read a poem, "I Would Be True". Mrs. Kerr read an article on "The Harm That Suspicion Can Do". A tribute to the late Canon Turner printed in the 'Living Message" was read by Mrs. Clare, and "Thoughts by the Way" by Mrs. W. Gillespie.

Rev. F. C. Beazer closed the meeting with a benediction and refreshments were served by the hostess.

WEST HUNTINGDON W.M.S.

The W.M.S. of West Huntingdon held the February meeting at the home of Mrs. P. Carr, with a good attendance. The president gave the call to worship and conducted the opening exercises.

Mrs. Frank Hammond read the Scripture lesson, and prayers were offered by Mrs. Barragar and Mrs. J. S. Wilson.

"It is Faith That Matters" was a reading by Mrs. Dan Cooke. Mrs. M. Reid, Mrs. G. Cooke, Mrs. Barragar and Mrs. Hammond responded to the Watch Tower.

A pleasing highlight of the afternoon was the presentation of a Life Membership Certificate to Mrs. M. Reid, by Mrs. Moorcroft, for which Mrs. Reid graciously expressed her gratitude to the members.

Preparations were made for the World Day of Prayer, to be held in West Huntingdon United Church at two-thirty p.m. on the first Friday of Lent. The next regular meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Mack Sarles and Mrs. D. Cook and Mrs. E. Poste will prepare the program.

BACK SAFELY

Barrie Jill Horwitz, 3½, grins happily now that she is safely back in the arms of her father, Howard Horwitz, an R.K.O. executive. The father was awakened by sheriff's deputies who found the child in a neighbor's yard two blocks from the Horwitz home in Los Angeles Calif. The deputies hunted for a presumed burglar who abducted the child from her crib and later abandoned her.

The Mixing Bowl

Hello Career Girls! It is true that men go for good cooking! And since it is Leap Year you will have to prove you can make a delectable cake. Delicious, feather-light cake along with a cup of really good coffee may be a wonderful memento of Valentine's Day, 1948. Here are reliable recipes and precautions to help you.

TWO-TONED CAKE

1-3 cup butter or shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, well-beaten, 1-2 tsp. vanilla, 1 3-4 cups sifted cake flour, 2 tsps. baking powder, 1-2 tsp. salt, 1-2 cup milk, 1 tsp. raspberry extract.

Cream the shortenting until light and plastic, gradually add sugar, creaming until fluffy. Mix eggs and vanilla into batter. Sift dry ingredients 3 or more times to insure even distribution and lightness, then add to the creamed mixture alternately with milk. Beat until smooth. Put 1-3 of the mixture in another bowl and add red extract to it. Using spoons place light and red mixture alternately in a greased tube pan. Bake 1 hour in an electric oven at 350 degrees.

FOOL-PROOF CHOCOLATE CAKE

1 1-2 cups flour, 1 tsp. soda, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-4 tsp. salt, 4 tbsps. melted shortening, 1-4 cup soda, 3-4 cup sour milk, 1 egg, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1-2 cup corn syrup.

Sift and mix dry ingredients. Add milk, corn syrup, shortening, eggs and vanilla. Beat thoroughly 3 minutes. Bake in 2 greased layer-cake tins for 35 minutes in electric oven at 375 degrees.

BANANA CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour, 1 tsp. baking soda, 1-4 tsp. salt, 1-2 cup shortening, 1 1-2 cups sugar, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 tsp. lemon extract, 2 eggs, beaten, 1 cup mashed bananas, 1-2 cup sour milk or buttermilk.

Mix and sift flour, soda and salt. Cream shortening until soft and smooth. Gradually add sugar, creaming until fluffy. Beat in flavoring and beaten eggs; add bananas. Add flour alternately with sour milk beating until smooth after each addition. Pour into greased square pan. Bake about 35 mins. in electric oven at 350 degrees.

CRUSTY ICING

3 tbsps. melted butter, 5 tbsps. brown sugar, 2 tbsps. cream, 1-2 cup cornflakes.

Mix ingredients together and when cake is baked spread this mixture over top while cake is still hot, and then put it back in hot electric oven at 400 degrees to brown.

PINK SKY FROSTING

2 egg whites, red coloring, 3-4 cup corn syrup, 2 drops peppermint extract.

Heat corn syrup to boiling and keep boiling 2 minutes. Beat egg whites until frothy—add syrup without cooling in a thin stream, beating constantly until all syrup is added. Stir in coloring and exact amount of extract. Beat until it peaks.

FIRST AID FOR CAKE FAILURES

1. If cake has tunnels? Next time go easier on the beating when adding flour and liquid.
2. If the centre is soggy but the edges well done? Lower temperature and longer baking time are indicated.
3. If the bottom of the cake is burned but top is golden? Check pan you are using. Baking glass aluminum or ovenex are best.
4. If cake has cracks on top? Use a little less flour or a little more liquid. Batter may be too thick, or oven too hot.
5. If cake falls during baking period? Check on freshness of baking powder. Do not peek in the oven during baking.
6. If cake sticks to pan? Grease plain cake tin with shortening or oil free from salt. Do not grease sponge or angel cake tins —dust with flour.
7. If cake is not cooked through? Never remove cake from oven until it has slightly shrunk from sides of pan and until a toothpick comes out clean after insertion in centre of cake. Cool cake on a cake rack.

THE QUESTION BOX

Miss G. C. asks for suggestions to garnish sandwich trays at this time of year.

Answer: 1. Use 2 packages of white cream cheese and mash it with red coloring to make it pink. Shape into a ball and put in centre of sandwich board. Take a half-coring knife or peeling knife and make petals to represent a rose.

2. Slice carrots very thin longitudinally and roll and pin with toothpicks.

3. Slice carrots across and use point of knife to cut into coil shapes.

4. Put a mound of peanut butter in centre of plate and fasten tiny rounds of bread against it with colored toothpicks. Spread a little colored cheese around toothpicks. This centrepiece can look like a petite nosegay.

5. Cut tiny hearts or cupids from red cardboard and insert toothpicks (pin fashion) through them to stick into sections of grapefruit.

6. Cut hard-cooked eggs with serrated edge (that is, V-shaped), separate, mash yolks with relish sandwich spread and put back into egg whites. Sprinkle with paprika.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

For Elva Tyme I truly bleed. Her game is such a mess. She never knows which way to lead when trying a finesse.

A finesse is an attempt to win a trick with a card of a suit in which an opponent has a higher card. The idea is to promote the lower card into a trick taker despite the adverse higher card.

Handled correctly, a finesse has a 50-50 chance to succeed. To have such an even chance the lead must not be from the wrong direction. Take first one of the four examples in these south and north hands:

SOUTH
♠6 4 3 2
♥Q 6
♣Q J 4 3

♥A 7 3
♦J 7 6 4
♣A 7 6

Spade queen is in north. West or east must have the king. There is a 50-50 chance of winning a trick with queenie. But only if the finesse is attempted in the correct direction.

Correct direction is to lead a small spade from south toward the north hand. If west has the king and does not play it, put on the queen. It will win this trick by virture of the finesse.

The queen will lose, of course, if east has the king. This is to be expected because, after all, a finesse has only half a chance. But it is better than no chance at all.

Leading from the hand that holds the queen is not a finesse. It has absolutely no chance to succeed if you lead the queen from there. No matter which opponent holds the king.

Suppose a small spade is led from north. Opponents will win with the jack or ten or nine. The king is still a threat and the only hope of winning a trick with the queen is a lead toward it.

The combination of ace and queen in the same hand is an easy example of how a finesse should be tried. There is no chance if you lead from it. Leading toward it gives you half a chance.

Before you study other examples, be impressed by this rule: To finesse, lead toward the card you hope to promote.

Indianapolis, Feb. 12 (AP) — A man's smile cost Mrs. Sarline Combs $25. Mrs. Combs told police shes turned around in a department store just in time to see a man take a billfold from her shoulder bag.

Doc Cramer Ready For 20th Season In Big-Time Ball

By FRANK KENESSON

Detroit, Feb. 12 — (AP)—Roger M. (Doc) Cramer, the Detroit Tigers' fancy Dan of centre field who the record books show to be 42 years old (give or take a few), isnt ready to hang up his glove and pack his slingshot throwing arm in moth balls — not yet.

Cramer, the Manahawkin, N.J., wonder who annually is the best-conditioned player, man and boy, to report to the Tigers' spring training camp at Lakeland, Fla., wants just one more season of running and throwing before the Detroit bosses turn him in from Briggs Stadium's centre field pasture.

One more year would make Doc a 20-year man in the big leagues and in Cramer's calculation that's a record he doesn't want to miss.

When Manager Steve O'Neil approached him this winter regarding assignment as coach to replace Frank Shellenback, now manager of Minneapolis in the American Association, Doc considered it something of an honor, but . . .

"Cramer told me he's had his eye on coaching," O'Neil said, —"and he'd like the job, but he wanted to get in that one more season in the outfield before retiring to the coaching lines.

"So we decided we could fix it so everybody would be satisfied and he'l be listed as 'player - coach' on the Tigers' 1948 roster.

Seven Years at Detroit

That means Cramer will be available for playing duty for his seventh year with Detroit, his fourth American League club since he broke in with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1929.

Younger blood held down the regular Tiger outfield posts last season, but Doe was in there for 35 games, handling 85 chances with only three errors. His batting average was .268.

Cramer has agreed to retire to his coaching job if the Tigers need the room on the active roster for additional talent.

There's not much chance that new talent will show up either. The 39-man roster includes only three names that weren't on the Tiger training list a year ago. Twenty already are signed.

They are first baseman Paulie Campbell, 30 years old, up from Louisville of the American Association after a previous trial with the Boston Red Sox; shortstop Hal Daugherty, a raw recruit from Ohio State University, and outfielder John Creel, 22-year-old rookie from Dallas of the Texas League.

All the others from a list of 13 pitchers, four catchers, 12 infielders and 10 outfielders are Detroit holdovers or players who were assigned out to the minors in 1947.

Power Rationing Seen Possible In Pembroke

Pembroke, Ont., Feb. 12 (CP) —Pembroke, undergong a serious power shortage because of recent cold weather, learned last night it may have to undergo power rationing unless the situation improves, with the prospects that each factory might have to shut down for one regular working day a week.

Officials of the Pembroke Electric Company Ltd., said that if the power situation does not improve in the immediate future, it may be necessary to institute power rationing to factories.

The situation has been brought about by shortage of water because of low rainfall last summer and fall.

Marmora Swamps Tweed Under 12-3 Score

Tweed — (Special) — Marmora maintained their game-winning ways here last night defeating the Tweed hockey club in a one-sided game by the score of 12-3, and further strengthening its position at the top of the Trent Valley League.

Marmora held a 3-1 lead at the end of the first period and after that ran wild to chalk up another nine goals against two, in the next two frames.

Courneyea, Tweed goalie, received a severe facial injury in the second period when he stopped a flying puck with his nose. He was taken from the ice and given treatment but was unable to return. His place in the Tweed nets was taken by Stan Courneyea.

Bancroft Upsets Coe Hill Team By 8-2 Score

Bancroft (Special) — Bancroft Trappers upset Coe Hill—In a hard-fought battle on Apsley ice the league-leading Bancroft Trappers upset the third-place Coe Hill squad this week by an 8-2 score. This was the final fame before play-offs for both teams. The Trappers went through the entire schedule without a loss while Coe Hill's position will not be affirmed until after Wednesday's Rover-Apsley game.

The Trappers sank six goals in the first period without a comeback. Coe Hill did not tally until the second session when Rev. F. Whiteley and McCoy notched goals. Bancroft counted two goals in this same frame while the third period went scoreless. N. Brough scored four goals while Kavanagh with two and E. Brough and Maxwell were the other Trapper marksmen. E. Brough also garnered three assists.

The Trappers high-flying first line of N. and E. Brough and Kavanagh were without equal in scoring column during league play. N. Three Coaches Tumble Down Mountain Gorge

Alamosa, Colo., Feb. 12—(AP) —A massive snowslide thundered down on a tiny narrow-gauge railroad train last night, tumbling three coaches down a mountain gorge, but those aboard miraculously escaped death.

The cars were hurled hundreds of feet.

Two train crew members were in hospital today with injuries, and a dispatcher for the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad reported that all the 11 passengers were shaken up.

The injured men were identified by the dispatcher as brakeman George Ottoway and express messenger Victor Ingle.

The dispatcher said one woman passenger whose identity was not immediately available was reported to have frozen her feet.

Ottoway suffered chest injuries. Ingle's injuries have not yet been determined.

Railroad officials said the snowslide was 100 feet wide and ten feet deep.

The only route to the wreck scene, high in the Cumbres Mountains, was over the winding, breath-taking railway line.

The five-car train was being pulled over its tortuous route by two engines when the snow avalanche slammed into it. Two passenger cars — half the size of standard railway equipment — were hurled at least 300 feet down the canyon. The observation car tumbled about 75 feet. The engines, baggage and mail cars remained upright.

Apathetic Veterans Team Gambles With Playoff Spot By Losing to Peterborough 10-5

An inspired Peterborough Hockey Club team, sparked by their sharp-shooting ace line of Tompkins, Kingdon and Fred Mortimer raced to an easy victory over the Belleville Veterans in a Senior "B" game last night. The score was 10-5.

The game, an important one as far as the Veterans were concerned, places them in a precarious position. They must beat the Peterborough Legion here on Friday, and the Petes Hockey Club must take the Kingston Saints in Omemee on the same night if the Belleville team is to draw up on even terms with the Saints. A win here Friday, and a Saint defeat in Omemee means a playoff for third slot.

There was little difficulty in picking the winner here last night. The Petes, playing a close hard-checking game, had almost everything their own way. The lackadaisical efforts of the Veterans vaunted high-scoring front line of Gerow, Williams and Vern Goyer were impotent against the fast-clicking plays of the Tompkins-Kingdon-Mortimer trio, and the hard-checking Petes defence.

It was a wide open clean game and in fairness to the Veterans Harding in the Petes nets played little short of sensational at times.

Monarchs of the Lanes

"Honey" Tompkins, Bun Kingdon and Fred Mortimer were Monarchs of all they surveyed: Opportunists that they are, they took advantage of every break that came their way and plus a smoothly clicking offensive, accounted for 15 scoring points. Bun Kingdon was the sharpshooter with four goals and an assist; Tompkins, was the ace playmaker with two goals and five helpers, while Mortimer got himself one goal and two.

Stealing the thunder from the Veterans ace snipers was the line of Don Barrett, Keith MacDonald and Johnny Semark. Thisc trio of youngsters were the only forwards that flashed any kind of Belleville hockey and they accounted for four of the Veterans goals. Barrett, one of the best players on the ice(got two goals and one assist while MacDonald accounted for one goal and two helpers. On a third period splurge Vern Goyer rammed home the fifth Belleville goal from Walk Gerow's pass. Murphy was the steadiest player on the Red defence.

The Petes fired home two goals in the first period, and even then from the Veterans style of play it looked like curtains. Going into the second heat, the Petes took advantage of the Veterans ganging attacks, and poked home five goals in eight minutes. Meanwhile a desperate Veterans team swarmed around Harding, and his efforts were more or less sensational in thwarting the Red drives for goals.

Come Back With Two

Don Barrett and Keith MacDonald finally clicked for two goals in this period and it ended 8-2. The same players made it 8-3 at one imnute in the third but the Petes came back with two more.

Tempers began to fray a bit and J. Mortimer got a major penalty when he slashed Walt Gerow over the head drawing the gore. Both were sent off Gerow for charging and Mortimer for gore-getting. The Petes drew the ire of Referee Red Wood and in succession Burton, Kingdon and Blewett went off for minor offences. But Creighton and Kingdon, racing away on breakaways fired home two goals while they were shorthanded.

The Veterans in a desperate last-minute drive rammed home two goals from the sticks of Barrett and V. Goyer, but they didn't have a chance against the hard-checking Petes defence.

Harding in the Petes nets, played seisationally. He turned back the Belleville front lines time after time in a display that was little short of uncanny.

Belleville — Goal, Hayes; defence, McNaught, Williamson; centre, Barrett; wings, MacDonald, J. Semark; subs, Yorke, Murphy, Day, V. Goyer, Gerow, Williams.

Peterborough — Goal, Harding defence, R. Creighton, Horton; centre, Kingdon; wings, F. Mortimer, Tompkins; subs, Blewett, Garvey, J. Creighton, Burton, Reid, J. Mortimer, F. Parsons.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR

New York, Feb. 12 (AP) —It is rather startling to hear Branch Rickey, usually a pretty cagey gent, emit statements like: "I's an unhealthy situation in American sports when a boy can't take a better offer." ... Rickey was referring to his $110,000 bid for Charley Comerly, who, he says, is "committed" to the Giants ... No one has yet explained just what that commitment is and Comerly once disclaimed knowledge of the Rickey offer ...Nevertheless, Rickey for many years has been in the baseball business where a kid can take the best offer available when he's just breaking into the low-class minor leagues but isn't even allowed to listen to offers once he has signed a contract.

Just Puttering Around

Wilson Shirley, 19-year-old Tulane University student, probably never will make the college golf team, but he's at least one up on the stars when it comes to saving on clubs and caddy fees ... Shirley plays the regulation 18-hole course with only one club — a putter — what's more he often breaks 90, drives up to 190 yards and says his best shot is a blast out of a trap.

Now that they've acquired Eddie Miller, the Phillies have at least five shortstops on their list —Miller, Ralph Lapointe, Jackie ($40,000) Albright, Gran Hamner (up from Utica) and Grady Wilson (rescued via draft from the Cardinal chain.) Fans are beginning to dream about trades that would make the Phils a first-division club — one applicant for the Virginia Tech football coaching job, which Jimmy Kitts quit, is Jimmy Price, and Alumnus, who wrote: "Of course, I know absolutely nothing about coaching football, but that seems of little importance anyhow, and I should be even better qualified to please the vets and alumni."

Hamilton Tigers Hold Nine-Point Lead Over Marlies

(By The Canadian Press)

It was strictly a home-town affair with neither club changing its league standing but George Redding's Hamilton Tigers earned their hardest victory so far this season.

The league-leading Bengals eked out a 5-4 win in overtime against Doug Runions' sixth-place Hamilton Patricias in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A fixture at Hamilton last night. Bengals now hold a nine point lead over the second-place Toronto Marlboros.

In the Junior loop Windsor Spitfires broke their first-place tie with Oshawa again by smiting the fifth-place Galt Rockets 11-3 at Windsor for their 27th win in 32 tries.

Stratford Kroehlers retained their third-place tie with Barrie by an easy 8-5 victory over the cellar-dwelling Toronto Young Rangers at Stratford to round out "Dave Pinkey Appreciation Night".

Two out of the playoffs clubs met in the opener of a Junior twin-bill at Toronto with the ninth place St. Michaels' Majors defeating the eight-place Guelph Biltmores 4-1. In the nightcap Barrie Flyers won a 4-3 overtime victory over the seventh-place Toronto Marlboros. Barrie and Stratford both have 42 points and playoff hopes for Marlies are dimmer.

Johnny Conick's goal at the 1.05 mark in overtime gave Tigers their win. He tallied another counter in third period to lead Tiger marksmen with other goals scored by Swat Mason, Frank Liscombe and Tommy Smelle. Pats' Snipers were Murray Comfort with two goals, Nick Phillips and Bill Jacklin.

Marksmanship Counts

Marksmanship counted in the Junior tilt at Windsor with Galt outshooting Spitfires 39-34. Gord Haidy, Windsor wing, notched his third hat trick in three games. Referee Doug Young handed out 21 penalties, 10 minors and three majors drawn by Windsor.

Other Windsor goals were tallied by Larry Wilson, Jack Taylor and Johnny Wilson with two goals each; Marcel Pronovost and Eddy Busch with one each. Galt marksmen were Howie Hopper, Ken McNally and Ron Bell.

Bill Sherry's Guelph Biltmores took a 1-0 lead in the first frame against St. Michael's but were held scoreless from then on when last season's Memorial Cup champions again showed flashes of their old form.

St. Mike's scorers were Pete Whelan, Joe DeCourcy, Gord Hannigan and Tim Horton. Guelph's counter was scored by Yacker Flynn.

Gil St. Pierre tallied the winning overtime marker in the Toronto nightcap to give Barrie victory. Other Barrie Snipers were Chick Guarda, Jerry Reid and Bruno Favero. Toronto goal-getters were Red Barber, Bob Hassard and Bill Ford.

LAST NIGHT'S STARS

Emile (The Cat) Francis — Chicago goalie who turned in his initial shutout of the season and first of his N.H.L. career as Hawks blanked Boston 3-0.

Gus Bodnar of Chicago centre who scored once and set up another goal.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

BY GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

If the Reds can't do any better than that exhibition last night they had better, like the Arabs of old, fold up their tents and silently fade away. For before the largest crowd of the season they practically stood by and let an inspired Petes Hockey Club team ride them all over the ice corral.

• • •

You can't food around too much with such players as Honey Tompkins, Bud Kingdon and Freddie Mortimer, or the rest of the Petes gang. They sensed something was wrong with the Veterans squad and they took full advantage of the situation. In fact at one time Tompkins and Kingdon with two of their mates in the hoosegow swept through the full strength homester squad and flashed the red light twice. At times it was pitiful.

• • •

The Red defence was open wider than a politicians mouth at election time, and when a home-town crowd cheers the local goalie for making an easy stop — well, you guessed the answer. On the other hand, Harding in the Petes nets was a regular Lumley. He was invincible for two periods and kicked out plenty of rubber.

• • •

Up front Don. Barrett, Keith MacDonald and Johnny Semark with Day helping carried the mail for the Reds. Barrett and MacDonald were fairly flying all night, and their efforts stood out like a lighthouse. Gerow, Williams, Vern Goyer, and the rest of the crew couldn't get going. Their plays did not click and the most of the time their passes weht astray.

• • •

Now the team is on the spot. A defeat by the Legion tomorrow night here means curtains, while a Kingston win in Omemee over the Petes Hockey squad will spell flowers for them regardless of what happens here.

• • •

The speedy Trenton Intermediate "A" squad which has first loop on the group ladder all to itself after winning eight games in a row, isn't getting much encouragement from the home town fans. We dropped in the rink up there the other evening when the Cobourg Pavilions were absorbing a neat shellacking from the homesters, and was definitely surprised at the lack of customers in the paying pews.

• • •

Just in case a lot of Trenton fans are not aware of the fact, they have right in their own village a fast-skating clever team, one which should hold its own with the best Intermediate "A's" in this district. It has taken the measure of the best in its group, and should win the title with something to spare. But the least the good townsfolk of Trenton can do, is get out there and give the boys at least a little moral and financial support.

• • •

It's not much fun for hockey teams to play in morgue - like rinks especially in their home town. And more especially when the team is of outstanding calibre and with the proper support could go places. We could understand the slim crowds in attendance if the team was of mediocre quality and had won but a few games. Every community that we've been in, and especially Belleville likes a winning team. But Trenton, if the other night is any criterion, and in conversation with a couple of fans at the rink, we found out that it is, is the exception to the rule.

• • •

We do not know the reason for the apathetic attitude of the Trenton fans towards hockey, especially the Intermediate brand, but the teams could scarcely be blamed if it took its playoff games elsewhere where it could be assured of at least sufficient spectators to start a bridge game bleween periods.

• • •

And if the Trenton squad wins its group, and goes on to the "A" playdowns, there is a small item like travelling expenses to be taken into consideration. Finances is the bugbear of any sports organization, and if the home town lets it down, there isn't much left to do about it, unless two or three of the civic - minded populace foot the bill. This, however is usually left to the team management, and its members are the Joes who have to dig deep into the personal jeans.

• • •

We've always had a warm spot in our sports heart for the thriving town to the west of us, but its hockey fandom deserves no orchids nor pats on the back for the way it has supported the team up to the present. As a matter of fact, with the corporal's guard attendance that has featured the majority of the games up there, it's a wonder to us the team hasn't folded before this.

• • •

Someone up there is doing a grand job against financial and other odds and whoever it is deserves a lot of credit. Let's hope the hitherto red-blooded hockey fans of Trenton see fit to get out there and give its fighting team the financial and moral support it deserves.

• • •

A jubilant, confident Rockets junior hockey team will take off for Kingston on Monday night next, in quest of their second victory over the Vics of that village. The lads hung a 5-4 defeat on the fancied Kingston squad last Monday and they are hopeful of repeating the dose come Monday.

• • •

The Rockets will travel by bus this time, and there will be room for a number of spectators in the equipage. At least fifteen extra seats will be available for the fans at an approximate cost of two bucks per seat. The bus will leave Memorial Arena at 6.30 sharp, Monday, so those planning to go should be there on time. Tickets for the bus can be secured at Cook's Front Street Cigar Emporium up to Saturday night, late that is.

Toronto Pair Place in Three Skating Contests

Davos, Switzerland, Feb. 12 — Known in Canada as "Suzie and Wally," the Toronto figure-skating pair of Suzanne Morrow and Wally Distelmeyer have accomplished in one year what no other Canadian figure skating team has been able to do in 40 —they placed in three world championships.

Both slim and blonde, the young couple decided to pool their agility on ice before the 1947 North American championships and promptly won the event. This year they placed third in the Olympics and duplicated that feat yesterday in the world competition.

Their performance at St. Moritz, where the Olympics were held recently, and here have been applauded by experts from many countries who predict a big future for them.

Suzie, 17, is a pupil at Lawrence Park Collegiate, Toronto, while Wally, 22, was a petty officer writer in the Royal Canadian Navy during the war. Now he "just skates." When they were awarded a silver plate and medals at the prize-giving ceremony last night, photographers had Wally put his arm around Suzie who blushed prettily.

There is gossip in Davos that the young pair should have received a better standing from the judges but they won't discuss this. At any rate, judging by the applause after their routine yesterday, they are much favored by the public.

The pairs skating was run off in a driving snow storm, as at St. Moritz, but it didn't worry them.

"We've skated in snow lots of times— it doesn't make too much difference to us," said Wally. Suzie said she felt that they had skated much better than in Olympics.

After the championships close this weekend, they will leave for Toronto by air around Feb. 22 and will be busy at skating carnivals in Edmonton, Vancouver Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa and St. Catharines, Ont., for a month or more.

Bobby Newton of Montreal, playing with Saint John Beavers, was believed to have established a record last week when he scored two goals within two seconds in a Maritime Senior Hockey League game against Truro Bearcats.

The scores came at 18:58 and 19:00 in the second period. St. John won the game 9-8.

454 Rinks Play In Wpg. Spiel

Winnipeg, Feb. 12 —(CP) — Manitoba's Diamond Jubilee Bonspiel is not only the biggest event of its kind in the world, it's also developing into a 'spiel of giant killers.

The affair will last the better part of two weeks— with a record entry of 454 rinks — but already, with only two days of play completed, four Dominion champion rinks have been handed their initial defeats.

Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg, who won top honors in the Dominion last year, was defeated in his initial game Tuesday and was eliminated from the Birks competition, one of the two major events leading towards the Provincial curling title.

Howard Wood, another Winnipegger who won the Dominion title in 1930 and again in 1940, also has dropped one game. So has Ab Gowanlock of Dauphin, Man., Canadian champion in 1938. Ken Watson of Winnipeg, titalist in 1936 and 1942, was tumbled from the Birks competition by Crawford Hicks, also from Winnipeg.

Cliff McDonald, president of Nipawin Club, one of several curlers from the northeastern Saskatchewan town competing here lost his second game yesterday, dropping a 9-8 decision to Pyper of Killarney, Man.

Colin Campbell of Toronto, President of the Dominion Curling Association, who said yesterday that appeal of the Nipawin 'spiel would fade within a few years, fared no better than McDonald he lost his second game yesterday, going down 11-9 to Slater of Morris, Man., in the Eaton competition.

Vancouver, Feb. 12 (CP)— There's a chance British Columbia horse racing fans will break a fetlock or at least nurse a split hoof.

Ken (Vancouver Province) McConnell, reporting on the B. C. Turf Club's 18-page situational covering the last two years, says Lansdowne track has lost $11,000. The Provincial and Dominion governments, however, during the same period, tapped the club $870,000 through taxation.

Ken says: "The breeder sours because his stock (for which he paid many rubles) goes down in price; the fans sour because they are entertained by inferior horseflesh.".

The Last Post

Turfdom here digressed from its whirling dervish the other day when Wallace Kelk, internationally-famous racing authority, answered the last post. Kelk, renowned for his theories on the supremacy of British bloodstock, wrote "The Brass Ring", for Vancouver News Herald.

Tribute from Alf (Vancouver Sun) Cottrell: "Kelk was the horseman's confidant and counsellor, the breeders' rock on which they built their organization."

Page Ripley

Sure, we've got sunshine, green grass and sport jackets all year-round. But the Pacific Coast has gone ice-crazy.

Don (Sun) Carlson prints the Vancouver forum's report for 1947: Hockey produced $15,858; lacrosse, $19,175; ice skating, $40,554, of which $30,000 came from general skating and nearly $9,000 from skating clubs.

That would be "figure" skating, what?

He's Still "Uncle"

Samis, with his old-time zip and renewed interest, flashed enough of his title form to retain the British Columbia men's singles crown, disposing of Darryl Thompson 15-8, 15-8.

Said Samis, game over: "For 10 minutes in that second tilt I felt my game coming back."

American Loop Starts Training In South Mar. 1

(By The Canadian Press)

The American League will start baseball training March 1 with a total of 302 players, including 135 rookies of whom the profuse-peddling St. Louis Browns will test the most.

The League's new Red Book, released yesterday, credits the world champion New York Yankees with the biggest 1948 roster —42 players.

The Browns, who picked up quick money by sending shortstop Vern Stephens and Pitchers Ellis Kinder and Jack Kramer to the Red Sox and outfielder Walt Judnich and infielder Johnny Berardino to the Cleveland Indians —have a crop of 23 rookies. The other seven clubs average about 16 newcomers a team.

Frank Selke, general manager of Montreal Canadiens, said last night he would have a talk today with Gerry Planondon, high-scoring left winger with the Quebec Senior Hockey League's Royals, to discuss the possibility of Plamondon playing three games with the slumping Habitants under the lend lease agreement between amateur and pro clubs.

J. G. Hayes' rink of Summerside, P.E.I., last night captured the Prince Edward Island Curling championship and the right to represent the province in Dominion title play at Calgary later this month, when they defeated a Charlottetown foursome skipped by J. C. McLaughlan 9-7.

Calumet Farm's Winter book favorite for the Kentucky Derby, Citation, won his 10th race in 11 starts yesterday when he took the $10,000 Seminole handicap at Hialleah. Armed, his stablemate and second leading money winner, ran third.

A Russian announcement yesterday said that eight Russian women will participate Feb. 14-15 at Abo, Finland in what was described as the world's speed-skating championship.

Sixty-nine dogs advanced yesterday to the second round of the Madison Square Garden Westminster Kennel Club show with 33 other breeds remaining to be judged today before the winners can be sent through their paces in the six variety groups to select the finalists for the best-in-show award. Among successful winners yesterday was Ch. Kilmet of Cairndania, a Cairn terrier shown by Mrs. G. W. Hyslop of Brockville, Ont., a breed ribbon winner for four straight years.

Chicago Wallops Boston Bruins By 3 to 0 Score

By HARRY ECCLES
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Probably a few of the more astute experts had already suspected it, but the general hockey public is hereby advised to wait for a few more weeks before figuring on the National Hockey League's post-season play-off lineup for the Stanley Cup.

There's no doubt about the league-leading Detroit Red Wings, naturally. And there's no doubt about the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs, naturally. But for the two other places in the four-team play-off picture, it's still not quite safe to eliminate the tail-end Blackhawks, nor of course the teams occupying the spots in between.

Chicago shut out the Bruins 3-0 right at Boston Garden last night, and the unrecognizable Hawks allowed the Bruins exactly eight shots on goal in the full 60 minutes.

That leaves the league standing today with Detroit at 59 points, Toronto 56, New York, 44, Boston 39, Montreal 37, Chicago 33. It's in those last four figures that all the effort and triumph and heart-break will lie in the closing drive to the play-offs. And there's only five and a half weeks of league play left.

Goalie Emile Francis, the youngest from Regina marked up his first shut-out of the season for Chicago. Defenceman Bill Gadsby got the first goal early in the opening period. Bill Moslenko scored the next after a five-man rush in the third period, and Gus Bodnar tallied the third with less than two minutes to go. But while three goals were scored, Bruins goalie Frankie Brimsek kicked out no less than 37 other goal-shots fired by the ramping Hawks.

Robert McFarlane of the University of Western Ontario, Canada's quarter-mile champion, has entered the Amateur Athletic Union Indoor Track championships Feb. 21 at New York's Madison Square Gardens. He will compete in the 600-yard run. . . . Dean Griffing coach of the Calgary Stampeders Football Club since 1945 and former Regina Roughriders grid mentor, said yesterday that he had hunt up his gear "for keeps".

Fort William, City Council Finance Committee yesterday took under advisement a recommendation that the city present gifts to hockey's flying forts—Bud Poile, Gus Bodnar and Gaye Stewart—as recognition for the attention they have brought the city through their play in the National Hockey League with Chicago Black Hawks.

Rockets Downed Six to Four Count By Pittsburgh

(By The Canadian Press)

Pittsburgh Hornets continued their drive towards clinching first place in the American Hockey League's western division last night, downing Philadelphia Rockets 6-4.

The triumph maintained the high-flying Wasps four point edge over the second-place Buffalo Bisons who edged Hershey 2-1.

Bob Dawes led the Hornet attack with a brace of goals while one each went to Bill Benson, Fleming Mackell and Armand Lemieux. Phil Hergesheimer, however, stole the spotlight, as the veteran Rocket wingman rapped in two goals to enter the coveted "200 club." Other Philadelphia marksmen were Steve Wochy and Johnny Mahaffy.

At Buffalo, Tod Campeau, making his debut with Bisons after his transfer from Montreal Canadiens, and Murdo McKay put the light on against Hershey while Armand Gaudreault netted the Bears lone tally.

Bill Gooden and Paul Courteau came through with last period goals to earn Indians a draw with Barons. Johnny Holota and Paul Solinger had given Cleveland a 2-0 lead.

Kansas City Pla-Mors Move Into Second Place

(By The Associated Press)

St. Paul Saints will be gunning to complete the revolt in the Northern Division of the United States Hockey League tonight when they take the ice against Minneapolis Millers.

Kansas City humbled the first place Minneapolis club with a 2-0 victory last night. Omaha started the revolt against the league-leaders the night before, beating them 10-1.

Kansas City's victory last night at Minneapolis pushed the Pla-Mors into undisputed possession of second place, two points ahead of the St. Paul club and only 4 points back of Minneapolis.

At Dallas in a Southern Division game last night, Tulsa Oilers picked up a 3-1 decision over the Texans.

The teams traded goals in the first period and Marcel Dheere and Clint Smith punched in the Tulsa counters in the second period to wind up the scoring. Nick Knott scored the first Tulsa goal.

Adventure in Love

By Kathryn Bemis Wilson

CHAPTER 14.

Velma staggered from the inky blackness of the theatre's auditorium into the glarighly lighted inner lobby, suddenly crazed by the impulse to find Tom. She must see him to-night! She must let him explain—it might be something important he wanted to tell her. She must throw away that silly pride of hers and let Tom talk.

She sailed into the outer lobby. She paused, petrified with amazement. There, his mouth over the drinking fountain, was Tom, quenching his thirst. Was he waiting for 'her?

She gave one quick wild glance around, and before he lifted his head, she had run like a hunted thing through a side exit to the street.

Oh, she couldn't see Tom now! She couldn't let him see her in this agitated state of mind!

Velma scolded herself many times after this for being a vacillating creature,who deserved all the bad breaks love handed her. The following day in the gown shop began with hectic preparations for the afternoon's fashion show, and she had very little opportunity to ponder over what love was, or the wherfores of its bypaths.

In the first number of the show, Velma walked-across the flower-banked stage with fifteen other girls, all of them showing stunning fall suits with exclusive accessories. Velma was wearing a bark colored velour with tan felt hat, tan kid shoes, gloves, and handbag. Her eyes were circled as though she had drawn eyebrow pencil around them; the pupils were nearly coal-black. She looked audaciously charming and peculiarly beautiful to-day, carrying her slim figure at the head of the line of the prettiest girls in Carryville.

From the large audience in the darkened showroom came gasps of admiration. The elegance of the new fall modes in formals, semi-formals, sports costumes, and costumes for any and all occasions in the fashionable world, unfolded before them after this in orderly succession.

An orchestra poured seductive melody from behind a screen of palms at the rear of the stage. Many women were making mathematical calculations on the elasticity of their fall shopping allowance, hoping it would stand the strain of their desires. The shop would reap a profit far in excess of what this lavish display was costing.

. For some inexplicable reason, when Velma put on the delicate white lace wedding gown, she began to feel jittery. Mae Forland was particular about this costume, about the set of the imitation orange blossom fastened to the cap of the bridal veil, which swept from the bride's golden head in yards and yards of filmy beauty.

At last, the lovely creations worn by the bride, and Jane Henry, her maid of honor, and the six bridesmaids, all suited Miss Forland, She smiled. And when Mae Forland allowed herself to smile before employees, she was filled with undeniable satisfaction.

The orchestra drifted into the strains of Lohengrin, and the bridal procession began moving slowly across the stage, now transformed into a church aisle, white satin bows on low posts simulating pew ends.

Twice across the stage went the wedding party, then slowly swung around and minced down a red-carpeted ramp into the showroom proper. Many gold-shaded lamps suddenly glowed faintly, casting an eerie gleam on the subtle grace and beauty of this pageant. The huge room suddenly became poignant with cloistered cathedral atmosphere. One could almost see priceless stained-glass windows, the gold altar cloth, catch the spicy fumes of incense.

Velma, scarcely aware of the tremendous sensation she was creating, balanced nicely with the hesitant bridal step it had taken her hours to master. She was thankful that this wedding scenc was going so well.

She had come to the rear of the room when, abruptly, a hand from the audience reached out and touched her sleeve. She paused in surprise, and met the impudent smirk of Louise Clark.

"That's a nice gown, Velma," she drawled cuttingly. "I'm looking for a wedding gown. Did you know I am looking for a wedding gown?"

It would be incredibly bad taste to carry on a conversation now with some one in the audience. Velma, making no reply, fixed her eyes straight ahead, and moved away. She struggled to compose her features as she went back through the aisle, up the ramp, slowly drifted across the stage. The dressing room was blessed haven.

Mae Forland came rushing in, her gray eyes glassy. "Velma," she said tartly, "what do you mean by being rude to one of my best customers?"

Velma's eyebrows lifted. She began unhooking the bridal gown. "If that girl is one of your customers, Miss Forland, it's—it's just too bad," she reported fiercely.

"Well! I must say!" ejaculated Mae Forland, wondering what to do with such an independent model. "No—keep the dress on. I want you to go back out there and mingle with the crowd for a few minutes. Several of the young ladies are interested in wedding gowns. And, Velma—I'd like you to be agreeable."

For a brief instant, Velma's hands clenched. It would almost be preferable to resign her position than go out to face Louise again. But she drew up stoutly, and replied, "I'll—try, Miss Forland."'

Soon she was parading among the admiring women again. They raved over the long tight lace sleeves and bodice, the high neckline, the billowing fullness about line, the billowing fulness about her white satin slippers. Her golden hair, nearly platinum under the soft lights, lay in intriguing soft waves above her tortured brown eyes; her piquant nose and quivering lips were adorable. It seemed almost a pity to waste the allure of her upon mere women.

"Could one of your other models wear the bridal gown, Miss Forland?' asked Louise Clark, loud enough for every one in the room to hear. "Some one who really looks—like a bride—has the figure, you know."

Surprised protest came from other women present.

""Why! She's beautiful! Perfect!" piped up one, courageously.

Miss Forland beckoned to Velma. She whispered savagely, "That's what comes of being impolite to the Clark girl! Go take off that gown and tell Jane to get into it at once!"

Velma, her disposition curdling, nearly ran in her haste to reach the dressing room. Now, she thoroughly understood why men knocked one another down upon occasion. What didn't she feel like doing to Louise!

Velma's part in the afternoon's show having abruptly ended, she was free to leave as soon as she could put on black and white striped wool suit. It's short little coat made her look childishly naive. The wooly white hat over he blonde curls made her look even more so.

It was growing dark as her laggard feet carried her through the downtown section. Her head felt heavy, dizzily uncertain. If she were obliged to parade clothes before Louise Clark, hear her discuss her trouseau at length, she discuss her trouseau at length, she couldn't endure it. The—the despicable little hussy!

She was passing a dark alley when she heard a pecular noise.

She hesitated. It came again, louder.

The shadows in that alley looked terrifying. Yet—if some one ed terrifying. Yet—if some one were in trouble—in peril—

A man came running out of the alley. She whirled and caught his sleeve as he darted past her she gasped out, "Tom! Tom!"

Stomach Out Of Order Felt Fatigued; Wornout

Nerves on Edge; Was Unable to Sleep; Got Indigestion, Headaches and Dizzy Spells; "Whole Condition Changed Since Taking Syntona," he Says.

"Any medicine that will help a person the way Syntona helped me deserves the highest praise possible," said Mr. Arnold W. Woolvett, 217 Wood St., Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent report.

"For a long time my entire system was rundown. My nerves were so on edge I spent many sleepless nights. I would get throbbing headaches and dizzy spells. Food I ate gave me indigestion. I felt sick and bilious, tired and worn out. Many days I had rheumatic aches and pains all through my limbs, joints and muscles.

"After everything I tried failed to help me, the whole condition has changed since I've been taking Syntona. This medicine certainly lost no time in getting my stomach settled and I began to enjoy my meals again. My nerves settled down and now I get sound, restful sleep and my entire system feels built up and improved. I am free of headaches and dizziness, the aches and pains are relieved and it is years since I've felt so well."

Many people suffering as Mr. Woolvett did have reported equally good results by taking a short treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound. Why not give this grand medicine a chance to help you too. It is pleasant to take and the results are quickly felt.

Here's What the Australian is Like

By SIDNEY J. BAKER
(In the Melbourne Herald)

Anthropometrists have been measuring and tabulating our physical features for a long time.

They have successfully scotched the myth, which originated last century, when Australians were called "Cornstalks", that we are a race of lean giants.

According to their figures, the chest measurement of the average Australian male is 34 in. and his weight 10 st. 2 lb. By contrast the average American male weighs 11 st. 4 lb.

Bust measurement of the average Australian female hips 33 in. and her weight is 8 st. 3 lb. (The average U.S. female weights 9 st. 6 lb.)

Surgeon Commander W. E. Roberts, RAN, who studied the physical measurements of nearly 6,000 naval recruits during the war, offers this comment:

"Contrary to popular belief, the Australian male is not a superman. Magnificent specimens seen on the beaches (life-savers) and football fields are not representative.

'Considering the abundance and variety of food, the unrivalled opportunities for sport of all kinds and the almost perfect weather conditions prevailing in Australia, one would expect the average to be of a higher standard."

Surgeon Commander Roberts adds that the average Australians teeth are "very bad".

"I have been struck by the lack of care of the mouth," he says. "This applies especially to the males, some of whose mouths are shockingly neglected."

• • •

The average Australian male marries when he is 29: his wife will then be age 25. They are likely to have two children, a boy and a girl. The boy is more likely to bear the name John than any other name; the girl will probably be called Ann or Margaret.

Earnings of the average male are a little over £6 a week. Of this £1 is spent on rent, slightly more than £3 for food for himself and family, and the remainder on clothes, sundries, and "a bit aside for a rainy day".

Each week he smokes about 2 oz. tobacco, drinks a quart of beer and goes to the pictures once. He also buys a new blue or dark grey suit every year and reads one newspaper a day.

When he went through school, the State in which he lived spent about £17 a year on his education. (This compares with £24 a year in England and £23-33 in America.) He did not go to high school and his general attitude to education is that it is solely a suitable pastime for children.

He doesn't read many books, but is an enthusiastic follower of sport—specially from the sidelines. In person, he goes to a cricket or football match about once a fortnight. He also likes "a little gamble".

He belongs to a trade union, which is perhaps only natural since there are more trade unionists in Australia compared with the total population than in any country in the world, including Russia.

• • •

His average Australian home has two bedrooms, a living room and a dining room. He buys most of his furniture on time payment.

He has a radio, which often enough is left on all day, and he would like to have a car and a telephone.

The average Australian woman has had her hair permed at least once, makes many of her own clothes and has her heart set on a refrigerator.

The whole family speak in a way that is recognizably different from the speech of the average Briton or American.

They also show signs of developing other national characteristics.

Sip Raphael Cilento, noted health authority, says: "Already the Australian has gained a definite feature type, and different parts of Australia are producing local strains. There is, indeed beginning to be a very definite type of North Queenslander or tropical-born Australian. He is tall and rangy, with somewhat sharp features and long arms and legs.

"The hair coloring is darkening. There is pallor of the skin, which produces its most perfect feature type in dark-haired women, although it is unkind to the fair-haired and gives them a freckled and faded appearance."

In a study of the racial composition of the Australian people, J. Lyng says that the darkening tendency is likely to extend to all States except Tasmania and part of Victoria.

He adds that in tropical Australia, "owing to the high temperatures and the steady inflow of southern Europeans, the whites are getting slightly darker from year to year."

• • •

The average Australian's children show added signs of developing national characteristics. According to Professor P. R. Cole, "measurements of pupils show that Australian school children are both taller and heavier than the school children of European countries. They also grow taller and heavier than their parents."

He adds these details to our theoretically average picture:

"The typical Australian is alert, resourceful, adaptable, patient, practical and genial. His humor has a special quality of its own—that of inversion.

"The Australian humorist regularly says the opposite of what he means. Owing to the possession of this quality, since he often speaks drily and without a smile, he is only too liable to be misunderstood in a foreign country."

Professor Cole also says that the average Australian is "somewhat heedless of formality," has a tendency to negligence and carelessness, and shows a great willingness to "take a chance".

According to official figures, the average Australian lives to the age of 65.

RUSSIA DECLARES

2. A talk between Hitler and the late Sir Nevile Meyrick Henderson, British ambassador to Germany, March 3, 1938, in the presence of the late Foreign Minister Jochim von Ribbentrop.

3. A report to Berlin from Herbert von Dirksen, German ambassador to London, July 10, 1938.

(No comment was forthcoming last night from any of the surviving principals mentioned.)

"Halifax declared," the statement said, "that he . . . and other members of the British government were fully aware the Fuehrer, . . . having destroyed Communism in his country, . . . had barred the road of the latter to Western Europe and that Germany, therefore, was entitled to be regarded as a bulwark of the west against Bolshevism."

The bureau said Halifax told Hitler that "the four great Western Powers must jointly set up a foundation for lasting peace in Europe."

"In other words," the Russian statement said, "Halifax . . . proposed to Hitler on behalf of the British government that Britain as well as France should join the Rome-Berlin axis."

The statement quoted Henderson as telling Hitler he "often expressed himself in favor of the Anschluss.

"Immediately after that deal . . . Hitler seized Austria . . ."

Of Czechoslovakia, "Dirksen reported to Berlin that the British government was ready to make a great sacrifice to 'meet other just demands of Germany.'

"Thus between the British government and Hitler there was indeed established a far-reaching accord on foreign-policy plans."

London morning newspapers paid scant attention to the Moscow charges. Several ignored it. Others devoted from two to nine paragraphs to the story without editorial comment.

Double Inquiry Is Pointed At Bakery Industry

Probe is Launched In Three Western Provinces

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 13. (CP)—A two-pronged government investigation was pointed today at Canada's bakery industry.

While the Commons Price Committee marked that trade for early attention, the Justice Department launched an independent probe into an alleged combine of bread-baking firms in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Meanwhile, the committee had from Kenneth Taylor, Prices Board chairman, a disclosure that the Board is considering profiteering prosecutions under the "reasonable and just" price clause of the Board's regulations.

Mr. Taylor told the committee yesterday these prosecutions—which would be the first under the clause in two years— were under advisement. However, he declined to give details, or even to say what commodities were involved.

Complaints from West

In announcing the Western inquiry under the Combines Investigation Act, Justice Minister Ilsley said last night it resulted from complaints that bakers in the three provinces had "entered into agreements fixing and enhancing prices of bread and otherwise suppressing competition in violation of the Act."

Mr. Ilsley said the bakery probe would be carried out by H. Carl Goldenberg, Montreal barrister, acting as special commissioner. He will leave for the West shortly and hold inquiries in several cities.

Inquiry into the bakery combine allegation is one of six that the Combines Investigation Commission has had in hand for some time. One of these concerns is the dental supply industry. Nature of the others has not been disclosed.

Prices Committee Inquiry

It was indicated that the Commons Price Committee is likely to carry on its bread-price investigation while the combines inquiry goes on.

However Health Minister Martin, Committee chairman, said that it is up to the steering committee to determine this.

Until now the committee has concentrated on butter.

But it appears that it is largely finished with this subject until it gets the information it wants about the names of holders of butter in warehouses and cold storage plants and the amounts that have been held during the last five months.

It was decided to make this inquiry in the face of persistent evidence from Mr. Taylor that the Board had no evidence of recent butter hoardings that would rump the price.

SHARP REDUCTION IN CONSUMPTION OF MEAT SEEN

Meat-Hungry Britons May See Greater Stocks From Dominion

Ottawa, Feb. 13 — (CP) — A sharp reduction in Canadian consumption of beef and pork has led to a re-opening of the Dominion's meat contracts with the United Kingdom and meat-hungry Britons may soon see greater stocks coming from this country if financial arrangements can be worked out.

January figures placed in the hands of Agricultural Minister Gardiner this week showed Canadian housewives had cut their purchases of beef and pork sharply. Officials were not prepared to say what part of the reduction was due to consumer reaction to higher prices and what part might be due to stock - piling by far-seeing persons.

Nevertheless, the reduced buying, coupled with an unexpected increase in the marketing of both hogs and cattle across Canada, has resulted in a surplus.

The present bacon - beef contracts with Britain envisage Canada sending Britain 45,000,000 lbs. of bacon and 8,000,000 pounds of beef in the first quarter of this year. But at the present rate packers are turning over meat to the board which handles the shipments, these figures could be greatly exceeded.

Because of this, negotiations now are under way with the British Food Ministry to see what can be done about it. Britain wants the extra meat but the problem is how to pay for it.

World Monetary System Must Be Restored--James

Toronto, Feb.13—(CP)— If the nations of the world hope to create a world economy in which there is opportunity for human freedom and a decent standard of living, countries must realize the importance of restoring a World Monetary System, Dr. F. Cyril James, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of McGill University, told the Empire Club of Toronto yesterday.

Referring to the action of several countries in devaluing their currencies and Britain's decision to suspend the convertibility of the pound sterling, Dr. James said that "to sabotage the International Monetary System for the temporary purpose of advantaging a national economy is perilously close to that blind and futile selfishness that led men steadily towards catastrophe during the 1930s.

In spite of all the difficulties we face in the economic field, we must keep the ideal of a sound world monetary system continually before our eyes and not fall into the temptation of sabotaging the program when it seems to be our immediate advantage to do so."

DUCKS HARD HIT BY WINTER

Windsor, Ont., Feb 12. (CP) Hard-hit by one of the coldest Winters in this district in years, ducks along the Detroit River are receiving a daily handout from the Windsor Sportmen's Association.

Thousands of ducks spending Winter along Canadian shores of the river are getting grain once a day.

ABBOTT DECLINES TO LIMIT IMPORT RESTRICTIONS

Intimates Americans Might Retaliate

Ottawa, Feb. 13. (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott, ruffled by opposition attacks on the government's exchange conservation program, bluntly told the Commons yesterday that he could not accept requests that import restrictions be aimed directly at the United States rather than at the world as a whole.

Amid heated charges that the government was following a policy of "economic lunacy", Mr. Abbott intimated that the Americans might retaliate against an import restriction program aimed directly at them.

While he had received "no assurances" from the United States that retaliatory steps would be taken, he knew the American people would "greatly resent" discriminatory action aimed at them.

The short-tempered argument came while the House continued clause-by-clause study of the Bill giving statutory effect to the import restrictions announced Nov. 17 as a means of conserving US. dollar supplies.

Under the Bill, entitled the Emergency Exchange Conservation Act, certain imports re banned from all countries. Other goods are admitted on quotas based on imports during the year ended June 30. The Bill provides there should be no discrimination against imports from any country.

Mr. Abbott contended the restrictions do not discriminate against exporters of soft currency—sterling—countries.

Amendment Moved

Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. members did not agree and F. E. Jaenicke (CCF-Kindersley) moved an amendment that would make the restrictions applicable only against countries which remanded U.S. dollars or gold in payment for goods.

Holdup Man Shot, Killed

New York, Feb. 13 —(CP) —A hold-up man identified as the same one who robbed the Trans-Canada Air Lines office here of $150 last Dec. 5, was shot and killed by detectives last night in an attempted hold-up of the same office.

The man, tentatively identified as Thomas Kavanaugh, 33, was slain by two detectives, stationed in the back room apparently on advance information, came out firing. One of the detectives, William Murdy, 288, was accidentally shot by his companion, Detective Terence Rogers, 40, in the struggle. He is expected to recover.

Police said the hold-up man "positively" was the same one who had held up air-lines offices in the midtown section at least four times in the last few months.

Valentine Trend Varies According To Where You Hang Your Hat

(By The Canadian Press)

It seems that the Canadian Valentine trend at this romantic time of the year varies according to where you hang your hat.

Manufacturers have produced three district types of cards. A Canadian Press survey shows each centre favors one or two of these types.

The first displays an extravagance of sincerity oozing with "You," "Coo" and "Blue." Next is the humorous card, sticking closely to pun rules. The last, motivated by personality quirks, can be "downright insulting."

New Brunswick Valentine-senders seem to prefer the sentimental type done up with shiny satin, while Halifax is going out for humorous cards with mail men anticipating as big a rush as the hopeful recipients.

The sale isn't limited to youth. One 80-year-old Halifax man recently purchased $2.40 worth of five centres.

Tastes in Ontario seem to run from the sugary to the risque. The sentimental cards are of modest nature — more hopeful than happy. Post office officials in Windsor predict more than double the regular mail volume this week.

In Vancouver women seem to favor the flowery valentine. But large sales have been reported for the type which reads: "Think of you? Of course I do. Especially when I pass a Zoo."

Barbara Ann Scott Takes Early Lead In World Skating Contest

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Davos Platz, Switzerland, Feb. 13 (CP) — Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa opened today an early lead over 19 rivals including Suzanne Morrow and Marilyn Ruth Take of Toronto, as she launched a defence of her world-skating championship.

Odds lengthened still further on the Canadian star completing a clean sweep of all major skating tournaments on this side of the Atlantic this year as her performance in the first three of the six compulsory figures to be skated gave her a clear-cut margin over the field.

Three figures were skated today. The remaining three will be skated tomorrow and the free-skating competition will be held Sunday.

The newly-crowned Olympic champion, who also holds the European and North American crowns, skated easily and confidently. She wore a grey-blue costume with a white cap and gloves and belt with a monogram.

Points Awarded

The points awarded Miss Scott for the first figure, which had a "factor" or point value of four, Were 5 3; 5.4; 5 2; 5 6; 6 3; 5.3; 5.7; 5 6; 5.4. Her closest competitor in the first figure (the rocker) was Jeanette Altwegg of Britain, whose unofficial scores were 5.4; 5 2; 5.2; 5.3; 5.4; 5 2; 5.6; 5.3; 5 2.

Miss Scott skated 16th and Miss Altwegg last. Miss Morrow, drawn seventh, skated first among the Canadian entries.

Miss Morrow wore a green skirt and a white sweater with multi-colored designs running across the top, and a green cap and gloves. She wore a lucky charm of five Olympic rings with two skates suspended from them.

The blonde Toronto girl who had two pieces of padding placed inside her shoes after complaining that her ankles were "a bit sore."

Miss Morrow's points for the first figure were 4 6 5 0; 4.9; 4 6; 5 0; 4 6; 4 7; 4 5; 5 0.

Miss Take was two skaters behind Miss Scott in a yellow sweater with a green skirt and white pullover. Her unofficial scores were 4 9; 5 1; 4 8; 4.8; 5 0; 4 7; 5.1; 5 0; 4 5.

Eileen Seigh of Brooklyn, N. Y., withdrew from the event just as the contest began. Earlier another American entry, glamorous Gretchen Merrill of Boston, announced she would not skate in the world championships because she was "fatigued." Miss Merrill trailed Miss Scott in five tournaments.

The remaining four school figures will be skated tomorrow. The ladies' title will be settled Sunday, final day of the world championships, with the free-style figures.

Button, 19, came from behind to outclass a field of 13 skaters from eight countries and thus add the world title to the Olympic championship he won last week.

John Lettingarver of the United States was fourth with 1909.8, James Grogian of the United States fifth with 1907.2 and H. Graham Sharp of England sixth with 1808.9.

Canada's entry, Wally Distelmeyer of Toronto, was ninth. The Toronto skater's total points were not available immediately but he had 996.6 after the compulsory yesterday. The 12th place then, he said he wasn't disappointed. Distelmeyer was third in the mixed pairs Wednesday with Suzanne Morrow of Toronto.

Button's form was so flawless that three of the nine judges gave him 5.9. The highest score is six.

The free skating is Button's specialty. The Swiss star bettered him in the compulsory school figures yesterday, 1,149.3 to 1,145.4.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Feb. 13 (CP) —Synopsis: The weather is clear and mild over most of Ontario. Skies have become overcast over southwestern Ontario announcing the advance of a precipitation area associated with an intensifying storm over the Central United States. This disturbance appeared to be moving eastward when in the vicinity of the Gulf of Mexico and was not expected to affect Ontario. With a change to a more northerly course an extensive area of snow, rain, and freezing rain has spread northward to the Lake Erie region. Another cold wave is moving into the Prairies today and is expected to overrun all of Ontario. by Saturday night.

PLAY SHOW IN STREET CLOTHES

St. Joseph, Mo., Feb. 13 —(AP) —The cast of "Joan of Lorraine" played their show in street clothes last night after arrival of the costumes was delayed by a truck accident. The costume truck en route from Wichita, Kas., struck a tree, killing the driver, Francis Louis Abad, 25, and his assistant, Alexander Polarevic. The two also were understudies in the cast.

Eastern Zone Germans Instructed to Set Up Economic Commission

Berlin, Feb. 13 — (AP)—Germans in the Soviet - occupied eastern zone today were instructed by the Russian commander to set up an economic commission for their part of the country.

Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky issued the order. Another Soviet spokesman said it does not mean establishment of an east German government.

The Marshal had objected to a German economic administration for the United States and British zones in the west, now being formed, and demanded that the plan be dropped.

In ordering an economic set-up for his own zone, he turned down once more a standing invitation to tie in the zone's economy with that of Western Germany.

Sokolovsky granted the commission power "to issue orders and instructions binding on all German organizations in the Soviet zone of Germany in harmony with orders of the Soviet military administration."

The Commission was empowered also to "examine questions of the re-establishment and development of peacetime industry in the Soviet zone of Germany as well as co-ordination of the activity of the central German administrative organs for individual branches of the economy."

The Commission was ordered "to carry through according to plan reparations deliveries and to satisfy the needs of Soviet occupation forces in Germany."

The Commission was told to set up an "executive committee" similar to that established for the economic council of the British and American zones.

Pravda, Moscow Communist party newspaper, said in a Munich dispatch today the Americans are taking over the Ruhr and other British-administered areas of Germany.

The Union Jack is being hauled down all over the British zone and the Stars and Stripes raised in its place, the dispatch reported.

Pravda said the United States is buying into Ruhr mines and German factories to get permanent footholds in the German economy.

The Americans are giving former Nazis back their industrial firms, the paper said, and their program of reparations from capital equipment aims at removing all competitors to American firms while leaving untouched the total German war potential."

FREEZING RAIN, SLEET CREATE ROAD HAZARDS

Cold Wave Expected In Ontario Saturday

Toronto, Feb. 13 (CP) — The Ontario Department of Highways today issued a general warning to motorists not to drive in southern Ontario because freezing rain and sleet have created "bad" driving conditions.

A coating of icy sleet covers all highways between Windsor and Oakville and freezing rain is moving steadily eastward. Conditions were reported getting worse in the Chatham and London areas as all available sanders moved into action.

At Chatham, inter-city buses were ordered off the roads.

A "bad day" is expected by the Highways Department as the Dominion weather forecast offers no signs of relief. A weather disturbance in the Central United States has changed course to a more northerly direction and an extensive area of snow, rain and freezing rain is spreading over the Lake Erie region and moving east. Another cold wave is moving into the prairies today and is expected to overrun all of Ontario by Saturday night.

Cancer Control Clinic Will Be Set up in Mich.

Hillsdale, Mich., Feb. 13—(AP) — A new step in cancer control, a country-wide program to catch some cancer cases early, is under way in Hillsdale county, Mich.

Cancer now is second only to heart disease as a cause of death in the United States, and is the leading cause of death among women of middle age. The best chance of curing the cancers, by surgery or radiation, are when they are detected early.

Every woman in the county 40 years of age or older will be asked to have an examination made for cancer of the skin, breast, uterus or rectum.

These are the four most prevalent sites or types of cancer.

Complete records will be kept by Mrs. Louise Aldrich, a staff member of the County Health Department, and executive secretary of the Michigan Cancer Society. Every six months she will notify the woman to have the examinations repeated. For cancer can develop quickly.

Younger women, and men also, may take the examinations. But the statistics on women over 40 may help show what can be done by early discovery of cancer in bringing down the death toll.

ADMITS ARSON CHARGE

Philadelphia, Feb. 13 —(AP)— Richard Light, a landlord, admitted today that he deliberately started a fire in his West Philadelphia building to smoke out two second-floor tenants he was trying to evict. Light, 55, was slated on arson charges after signing a statement, police reported. The fire was extinguished by firemen.

Dwelling Collapses Before Victims Could Get Out

14 Scantily-Clad Persons Able to Leave Building

Utica, N.Y., Feb. 13 (AP) — Eleven members of one family perished today in a flash fire that swept a two-storey frame dwelling in Utica's west side.

Six bodies were recovered by firemen from the smoking ruins. Four were children. One was a woman, clasping an infant.

Victims included Mrs. Ruth Hoage and nine children ranging in age from five months to 19 years. Mrs. Hoage was the second wife of Richard Hoage, 48.

Fourteen scantily-clad persons fled from the building, fire chief Leo Barry said. Dana Paye, Sr., his wife and 19-year-old daughter were sent to hospital with burns after jumping from a second floor window.

The walls of the long, ramshackle building, near the New York Central Railroad tracks, collapsed before most of the second floor occupants who had been asleep could get out.

The ruins blazed fiercely for only a short time, but the intense heat delayed the firemen's search for bodies.

The list of dead included Mrs. Ruth Hoage, 24, and Mrs. Shirley Hoage, 29, and these children:

Virginia, 19; Dana, 3; Mark, eight months; Catherine, two; Geraldine, 10; Audrey, five. Charity, seven; Michael, 11 months, and Lee, five months. Mrs. Shirley Hoage was the wife of an older son of Richard Hoage.

Jumped From Window

Mary Hoage, 13, who jumped from a second storey porch into a snow bank, said other members of her family were huddled in one room waiting for rescue when the building collapsed. Her father, Richard, was at work in a garage.

The eleven persons who reached safety without apparent injury stood weeping at the ruins while firemen searched.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

Mary Hoage gave this account:

"I was sleeping with my sister-in-law, Mrs. Shirley Hoage. There were 10 or 11 persons upstairs at the time.

"Shirley woke up and started coughing. The room was filled with smoke. She grabbed the baby Michale Allen, and ran to the front room to wake up my mother, Mrs. Ruth Hoage.

"My mother woke up my sister, Virginia, and she got her baby, Lee.

"They all stayed in the front room and yelled for help.

"I went on the porch and tried to get my sisters but could not find them. I jumped off the porch into a snowbank in my night clothes.

"I told the others I would catch the babies if they would drop them to me, but they said the firemen would help them and they waited. That was the last I saw of them."

Portuguese Wine Reaches Nfld. To Mature and Absorb Sea-Tang

By C. E. A. JEFERY
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

St. John's, Nfld., Feb. 13—(CP) — Arriving here today in a spare-hulled Portuguese freighter, loaded to the gunwales with smooth after-dinner wine, to be rendered even more smooth by the tangy air of Newfoundland.

The arrival is a regular feature of life in this port to which for 100 years wine merchants of Oporto, Portugal, have sent their brew to mellow in the peculiarly-adapted old colony air.

The freighter is loaded with "pipes" cases, broad in the bilge and narrowing sharply toward the ends, each containing 125 gallons of port, subsequently to be re-shipped to England.

The pipes will be stored in the dark and gloomy interior of a prison - like warehouse for seven to 10 years to mature and absorb the Newfoundland sea-tang. In the spooky recesses of the building and its cellars at present stand row on row of pipes of the famous Portuguese vintage, extracting from the air, in some mysterious fashion, an added flavor.

Whether the maturing process finds stimulus in the dark air of a cave could not be ascertained here, but it was noted that the building in which the wine now is stored was concrete - clad and of an extremely dour interior.

The books of Baine Johnston and Company Limited, handlers of the wine, showed that neither of the great wars stopped shipments. Cargoes were received from Oporto throughout both periods of hostilities.

GOVERNMENT MAY HAVE TO USE FORCE TO CONTROL WAGES

Sir Stafford Cripps Urges Britons Again to Accept Voluntary Controls

London, Feb. 13 — (AP)—Britain's top economic planner said last night the Labor government may have to use force to keep down wages and profits.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer and Minister of Economic Affairs, speaking in the Commons, urged Britons again to accept voluntary controls.

The French government also moved against price boosts. It sent the National Assembly in Paris a bill to outlay all price increases since Jan. 15 not justified by production costs. A law-breaker could be jailed for a year and put out of business.

British union members, some 5,000,000 strong have been insisting upon higher pay despite Prime Minister Attlee's hold-the-line plea in last week's government white paper.

Sir Stafford reiterated the appeal for voluntary measures to stem wage and profit rises. Then he asked the House:

"Can we take them in a democratic way by free choice, or are we to demand the imposition of them by force?

Anxious to Avoid Freezes

"Unless we exercise restraint, the sheer facts of the case will demand compulsion, which this government is anxious to avoid."

Sir Stafford asked that wage negotiations either be postponed or "conducted in the light of the principles laid down in the white paper" — that is, no boosts.

He said the government plans to freeze manufacturers' prices and distributors' profits at the December-January level, perhaps in a month or so. This apparently was in response to labor opposition to the wage freeze without compensating profit and price clamps.

Meanwhile, the manufacturers and distributors are to hand in plans for voluntary price -and - profit roll-backs on both controlled and non-controlled goods. The freeze will be to hold things steady while they made their plans.

A government source said price controls already cover 80 per cent of everything sold. And the Federation of British Industries is being asked for a voluntary price freeze on the rest.

Meanwhile Winston Churchill said the government and the labor party have turned down invitations to a conference of the "United Europe" movement at The Hague May 7 to 10.

Fire Destroys Home, Contents Of Harold Long

Tweed — (Special) — Fire completely destroyed the home of Harold Long of this village shortly after five o'clock on Thursday. Spreading quickly the flames rapidly enveloped the structure before firefighters got to the scene. Contents are a complete loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Long had been residing with the former's parents for the winter, closing their own residence. Early yesterday Long went to his house and lighted stove to get the place warm, intending to return in the evening to do some carpenter work.

About five o'clock neighbors saw smoke issuing from the structure and turned in an alarm. Flames however had made such headway that it was impossible to save the building and contents. It is understood the loss is partially covered by insurance. Long is a veteran of the Second World War.

Mental Health Subject of Talk By Les Reid

Mr. Les Reid of the teaching staff of the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School was guest speaker at the regular dinner meeting of the Y's Men's Club last evening when he spoke on "Mental Health." The speaker stressed the importance of this field and stated that according to estimates, out of every hundred students graduating from high school today, that in ten years time, five probably would be in mental institutions, about five would be suffering from mental disorders, one would have committed a major crime and about thirty would be troubled by minor mental sickness such as unjustified fears, jealousy, etc. Some 50 to 60 per cent of all Canadians who are under doctors care suffer from emotional rather than organic diseases.

Mental disorders are Canada's number one health problem, and this fact must be faced. Good mental health means a complete satisfactory life, and may be attained by the development of personality, the analysis of one's personal needs, weaknesses and strength, our responsibility to home, church, community, and to then plan logically. The cure for poor mental health is the Intelligent Facing of Reality. The speaker was introduced by Alec Gordon and thanked by Wil. Richardson.

During the evening District Governor Bud Trill on behalf of the club presented Don Wood with an initialed pocket book with good wishes of the club. Don who is assistant manager at Zellers leaves on Monday for Ottawa where he has been transferred.

Australia Studies Compensation Plan

Sydney, Australia, —(CP)—The Australian government is studying a plan to demand compensation from the Japanese for ill-treatment of Australian prisoners of war, it has been revealed in a letter from Army Minister Chambers to a member of the Ex-Prisoners of War and Relatives Association.

Mr. Chambers wrote that no decision was expected until after the general Japanese reparations question was decided. Other countries who had fought against the Japanese would have to be consulted before any demands could be made. The British government was in sympathy with the plan and would like it to be part of the reparations claim, he said.

"My department has full information on illness and treatment suffered by all Australian soldiers who were prisoners of the Japanese and if it is decided that compensation will be paid, they may be assured that the necessary action will be taken," added the minister.

Annual Banquet Of C. of C. to Be Held in March

The annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Hotel Quinte on Friday March 5th, directors decided at their weekly luncheon held in the Chez Henri yesterday.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Professor Watson Kirkconnell of Hamilton, who was recently appointed head of Acadia College, Kentville, Nova Scotia. Also coming as a special guest is Mr. Trevor Hammill, field secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Toronto.

Vitally interested in the building future of the city and in view of the present rapid expansion, the directors will have as their guest in the near future Mr. Clare Hurlburt who will outline to them the advantage of a building code and a building inspector.

Referring to a recent suggestion on the part of Fire Chief William Lynch, that the city should have a full-time fire marshal, it was suggested that the two positions, building inspector and fire marshal, could be merged and held by the same official.

Temporary quarters of the chamber, at present in the city hall were discussed and it was recommended that certain alterations be made, telephone installed, etc. Radio programs sponsored by the chamber over CJBQ were endorsed by directors.

U.S. Marine Died Of Wounds Says Red Chinese Radio

San Francisco, Feb. 13 —(AP) —The Chinese Communist radio today announced one of five United States marines captured by the Reds in North China died of wounds, and it also charged the United States with active participation in China's civil war.

The broadcast confirmed rumors that one of the marines, Pte. Charles J. Brayton, was wounded fatally.

The broadcast said the five marines had "advanced against a position" of the Communists near a village north of Tsingtao Christmas Day. The United States navy had been asked to "apologize."

On previous occasions, American military personnel taken into custody in Communist territory were released unharmed after a few days. This time, said the broadcast, the four surviving marines would be treated with "clemency" on condition the United States guarantees "no recurrence."

HELICOPTER BRINGS FOOD TO LIGHTHOUSE

Buffeted by a howling gale, a frail-looking helicopter dropped food supplies to the three keepers shown on the light balcony of the Wolf Rock lighthouse eight miles off Lands End, Eng. The men had been marooned for 26 days by storms. The high winds were churning the waters over the rocks below as this picture was made.

Resident in Arctic Circle For 40 Years Tells of Country

After forty years in the Arctic as operator of a Hudson Bay outpost between Alaska and Herschel Island, James E. Nagle is spending a winter in the comparatively "balmy" south. He is visiting a relative in Deseronto, Mrs. C. Knight.

Mr. Nagle came to Deseronto last autumn after a 2,000-mile plane flight to Edmonton. He planned an early return but the first illness he has ever known has delayed his departure and he now does not plan to return until spring. It is 17 years since he made his last trip out of his Arctic home.

Temperature has moderated in the Arctic during the past 40 years, according to the Hudson Bay trader. "When I first went to the Arctic the thermometer used to hit 60 below," he said. "Now the average is about 45 below."

Eskimoes are now more civilized than when Mr. Nagle went to the Arctic. They have adopted many of the white man's ways and many of them speak English. However they still travel the frozen wastes and build their snow igloos in the manner used half a century ago.

An annual income of $10,000 is not unusual for an Eskimo trapper, Mr. Nagle says. When they get it they spend it recklessly. Their trips to the Hudson Bay store — about three a year — are really buying sprees. Usually when entering a store they buy a blanket and spread it on the floor. Then they fill it with goods, never questioning the price.

Mr. Nagle settled in the area while in his way to the Klondyke in search of gold. He met an uncle whom he had believed dead for 18 years who persuaded him to cancel his search for gold and remain as a raw fur trader.

Temperatures in the short Arctic summer sometimes reach 82 degrees, flowers bloom quickly and spring and summer comes and goes rapidly. In winter there is about three hours of sunlight each day.

Mr. Nagle is anxious to get back to the land he has grown to love, the frigid spot on the rim of the world where flowers have little scent and where summer is but of brief duration. But it has come to mean home for this 75-year-old fur trader.

Representative Biscuit Company Receives Picture

A magnificient picture of the wedding cake of Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, made from ingredients from all parts of the Empire, has been received by Mr. Dick Kuntze, Bridge Street East grocer from the Peek Frean Company, famous British biscuit manufacturing concern.

The cake which stands five feet nine inches high and weighs 600 pounds is a masterpiece of culinary and artistic art. Its six tiers depict in beautifully sculptured icing many outstanding buildings and objects, and is surmounted by a large sculpture of St. George and the Dragon.

In artistic lattice-work design the lower tier of the cake pictures famous Glamis Castle, storied in Shakespeare's "MacBeth." Britain's famous battleship "H.M.S. Vanguard" and Table Mountain, South Africa, is portrayed in the second tier, with the magnificent coat-of-arms of Princess Elizabeth shown in the third layer.

The fourth tier shows St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle and the Windsor coat-of-arms with the fifth picturing the Dartmouth Naval College and the Naval Crown. A motor-torpedo-boat and the Sea Rangers Badge forms the sixth and last layer.

The whole is inclined against a beautiful background of St Margaret's Church and Westminster Abbey.

The picture is now on display in the window of Mr. Kuntze's East Bridge Street shop. He is the Belleville representative of Peak-Frean Company.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Feb. 13 —(CP)— Firmer price trends maintained in quiet trading on the stock exchange today as leading industrials and golds added modest gains, although base metals were mildly easier. Trading was featureless and the price range narrow.

Volume for the first three hours was 301,000 shares, about 32,000 less than yesterday's similar period.

Industrials moved slowly on fractional gains scattered through the lists. WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, Feb. 13 (CP) —Oats and barley prices declined in initial trades today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on fair selling attributed to American accounts. Shipper and commission house buying came into both grains around 10 a.m. and the market recovered part of the losses in nervous and irregular dealings with flurries of dullness.

Rye futures prices declined on commission house selling. There was evidence of some buying, believed to be from export accounts in the nearby month, while October rye continued to show resistance to the downward trend.

No Need of Worry Seen Over Use Alaska Highway

By JOHN LEBLANC
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 13 (CP) —Anytime the United States runs into an emergency, she needn't worry about having full neighborly use of the strategic Alaska Highway thrusting through Canada.

That's the way informed quarters here view the route's military future in the light of a resolution introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives, calling for assurance the U.S. will have military use of the road.

While there was no comment from External Affairs Minister St. Laurent, considerable surprise was in evidence at the Congress move by representative Charles Kersten, Wisconsin Republican.

Several angles contribute to this eyebrow-lifting.

The No. 1 consideration is that Canada is at peace. And while she has a policy of defence co-ordination with the U.S., it is not felt here that this should go to the extent of giving U. S. armed forces running rights over Canadian territory.

It is pointed out that, while the U.S. built the Canadian section of the 1,500 mile highway, it reverted by agreement to Canadian control when its wartime use was over.

Canada feels, too, that, with one war just fought and won, she should not be entering into individual agreements that suggest future war.

A further consideration — a political one, perhaps— is that any such agreement as proposed by Mr. Kernsten would have a rough ride in parliament.

The Commons created a furore last year over a relatively innocuous measure to give legal jurisdiction to U.S military courts over a handful of Americans — mostly military observers — in Canadian Arctic. However, U. S. need have no fear of not having full access to the vital highway if she got into a spot where she really needed it And without delay.

POLICE DRAG RIVER

Strathroy, Ont., Feb. 13 —(CP) —Firemen and police began dragging the Sydenham River today after finding some clothing believed to have been worn by Miss Margaret Statham, 32, on the Victoria St. Bridge.

The young woman, member of a well known district family, has been missing since yesterday afternoon. She was last seen at the post office.

No Holding Back Of Woollens Seen, Committee Told

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 13 — (CP)—The increased prices of woollen suits and other woollen clothing since last April was "very largely" a reflection of the increased cost of imported cloth, the Commons Price Committee was told today by Kenneth Taylor, chairman of the Prices Board.

"I don't think there has been any holding back of cloth supplies," continued Mr. Taylor.

"The rise was principally a reflection of the rise in the cost of cloth imports."

Mr. Taylor, witness before the committee inquiring into inflated prices, said Canada imports close to 60 per cent of its wool, principally from the United Kingdom, and that there has been a substantial increase in British selling prices.

However, he added that as things now stand "I see no reason to anticipate any further substantial increase in wool prices over the next six months."

Mr. Taylor said the jump in woollen clothing prices since the controls were lifted last April — shown in the wholesale price index for wool cloth as from 130.0 points in April to 158.8 points last month — was also caused by an increase in Canadian cost of production.

The cost of production increased because subsidies were also removed on woollen yarn and tops.

Suspect Brought Down by Shots

Montreal, Feb. 13 —(CP)— William Campbell, 27, was held under guard in hospital today after he was brought down by shots fired by police who suspected him of attempting to steal a car.

Police said they noticed two men "acting suspiciously" near a parked car on a downtown street last night. As they approached the car the two men fled with the police firing warning shots.

Constable Wildenis LaFond said when they failed to heed the warning he brought Campbell down with two shots. Campbell's companion was caught later and arrested but his identity was withheld.

District Placed Out of Bounds To British Troops

Jerusalem, Feb. 13 — (AP) — The Jewish quarter of Rehavia and the business sector of Zion Square in Jerusalem were placed out of bounds to British troops today. There was mounting tension over police reports of the deaths last night of four Jews.

Police said they found the Jews' bodies near Stephens Gate in the old city shortly after the four were reported picked up by British troops at a presumed Jewish gun post. British authorities said they released the Jews after brief questioning.

The circumstances of their deaths have not been disclosed.

Police said five Arabs were killed and 12 wounded last night when Hagana, the Jewish militia, made a heavy bomb attack on the Arab village of Aby Kebir. Hagana said its men made a similar sortie against the Arab village of Yazur.

Three Hagana men were reported killed and 20 wounded when the parties ran into strong Arab opposition.

Seven heavy explosions were heard in Jerusalem between midnight and dawn today. Arabs and Jews alike were blowing up stone houses in two virtually deserted districts of Southern Jerusalem, but no casualties were reported.

A Jewish agency spokesman said the agency had suggested the out-of-bounds order for British troops to avoid possible trouble.

The agency said that in taking the Jews into an Arab area, then turning them loose, the British were "accessories before the fact to murder.

Prices Irregular In Commodity, Security Markets

New York, Feb. 13 —(AP)— Prices were irregular in the commodity and security markets today after a one-day "breather" in observance of Lincoln's birthday.

A violent downswing hit the butter market where wholesale butter slammed down 3 to 6¼ cents a pound on the New York mercantile exchange.

Grains showed widely divergent tendencies. Corn swung down as much as the full limit at the start, but wheat and oat deliveries were steady to slightly higher. Corn prices subsequently came back from the lows.

Cotton fell almost $4 a bale at New York. Shortly after the opening, however, mills began buying and there was a rebound that brought the price about $2 above the lows at the start. At New Orleans, cotton was $1.25 to $2.60 a bale lower.

Stocks were irregular and activity was moderate. Price changes were small.

At Chicago, sellers were holding hogs at about yesterday's prices of $23.75 to $24.25 a hundred pounds. The best bid shortly after the opening was $23.50.

The question in economic and political circles was whether the problem was inflation or deflation.

WINTER

Branch and twig are decked in ermine,
Summer paths are buried deep,
Winter clouds loom dark and sullen,
Nature takes her Winter sleep;
But though Winter wild is waging
War against the earth below
Safe from harm the flowers are sleeping
Underneath the Winter snow.

So, in life, when storm clouds gather,
And the hand of sorrow laid
On the heart all crushed and broken
In life's winter, sore afraid—
Joy will come, the clouds are rifting
Dreams and hopes, though buried
low,
Gleam again like Sunshine sifting
When the Spring removes the snow.

—Helen B. Anderson.

AN OLD-FASHIONED VALENTINE

I found it among the keepsakes
Of many years ago—
A fragrant, faded missive
With words of love aglow;
A mystic air enshrined it,
It seemed to speak to me
Of youth, and love and laughter
As unchanging as the sea.

Its leaves with age were yellow
But it was a dainty thing
Of lace and faintest perfume—
A message it did bring
Of old-time loves and lover
Far in the days long past
Breathing the old-time token
Of a love that e'er shall last

So through the changing ages
Though Winter winds blow chill,
Though snow-drifts deep are lying
On forest, glade and hill,
In spite of Winter tempest
The fires of love will shone
Deep in the hearts of lovers
When comes St. Valentine.

Season of Discipline

The Christian world has entered upon the most solemn and impressive season of the Christian year, Lent, with its admonition to all to meditate upon the great truths of life and the hereafter. It is period of meditation and penance and preparation for the coming festival of Easter.

It is a time of discipline to which people submit willingly so that they may gain the true perspective of the values of the present life and prepare for the life to come.

Lent is the time most fitting in the year for study of self in relation to the facts of faith and religion. It has its message in every age and in this age of change and unrest the importance of Lent should especially be felt. In the wisdom of the leaders of the church down the ages of the Christian era Lent has been set in that impressionable time of the year just before the breakup of winter and the coming of spring which in itself suggests a new life in nature and in the human heart.

For the next six weeks men and women, boys and girls will have the opportunity of absorbing the influence of a season which is calculated to bring enduring benefit to the soul.

Nature's Laws and Driving

"We call them accidents but in actual fact very few of them are caused by mechanical failure. They aren't accidents at all, they're just plain carelessness." So said Traffic Inspector Callaghan of Ottawa, as reported by the Ottawa Journal, which comments, "personal injuries, heavy property damage, all caused because too many drivers persist in thinking and acting as if the heavy motor car under their control were a child's sled."

There is a law in the physical world which governs what a car will require in distance to come to a halt under winter conditions. By that law the driver cannot exactly tell what space will be required to halt and therefore the wise driver allows ample space to avoid a collision with another car or a pedestrian or any object. Caution is the supreme necessity. To race up to a crossing and apply the brakes sharply enough to turn the car into a skid is the deed of folly, not the part of a wise driver. There must be ample margin of safety planned so as to avoid injuring oneself or others or damaging property.

Taking a chance is unfair to oneself or others, for that way lie injury and possible tragedy.

And no one must look upon many so-called accidents as inevitable, for they are not inevitable. According to those who know the human element is the deciding factor whether there will be accidents or not.

British Policy

Sir Stafford Cripps has called upon Britons for a sustained effort to remedy the external position of Britain economically. He notes abnormal world conditions which render the task particularly difficult but there is no other way, he says, "we must either export and earn enough to pay for our food and raw materials or do without."

The net drain on United Kingdom gold and dollar reserves last year, he stated, was 1,023 million pounds made up by a decrease in gold and dollar holdings, drawings on U. S. credits, and drawings on the Canadian credit from the International Monetary Fund. The gap between exports and imports must be closed "by our own efforts, supported, we hope, by Marshall aid."

The strain on United Kingdom resources was even greater than the figures he suggested since Britain as banker to the Sterling Area financed its dollar requirements. He said, "the sterling countries are working together to reduce their dollar requirements to a minimum and increase their own production, in that way making a contribution of great importance to the removal of the world's excessive dependence upon the Western Hemisphere."

The Chancellor said that no improvement in investment could be expected in 1948, although shipping should do better with the increasing availability of new tonnage. The United Kingdom would still be some distance from striking a balance on her invisible account.

Sir Stafford concluded: "A supreme effort must be made this year to remedy our external position. Abnormal world conditions render the task particularly difficult, but there is no alternative; we must either export and earn enough to pay for our food and raw materials or do without."

"New Look" Treaty

The treaty of friendship, trade and navigation signed between the United States and Italy has the "new look."

This comes in a clause, the first of its kind ever to be inserted in a treaty to which the United States is a party, to allow "freedom of information" between the signatories and to permit both Americans and Italians to write, report and send news about the other without censorship.

In the old days this sort of thing was understood. No special clauses were needed. But in the aftermath of the victory for a free world it must be explicitly stated because country after country, following the inspiration of the totalitarians, has made censorship and a suppression of the facts an instrument of policy.

The treaty of 27 articles, the broadest ever concluded by the United States, does not, in the words of James Dunn, American ambassador to Rome, give any special or exclusive privileges to either signatory.

Such an assertion was needed as part of the answer to Russia which recently protested the presence of American warships in Italian ports. Italy reminded Moscow that it was a sovereign power and could invite the warships of any nation it liked and it would be well for the Russians to mind their own business. Simultaneously with announcement of the treaty signing, the United States categorically rejected Russia's protest on the warships.

The mending of relations between the United States and Italy has been one of the most hopeful postwar developments.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Maple Spreads Westward

Though school children from the Atlantic to the Pacific sing about the maple leaf, many of them have never seen the genuine thing. But that lack may soon be remedied, thanks to researchers at the Dominion Experimental Station at Morden in Southern Manitoba.

Normally the Western boundary of the Canadian Sugar Maple in Canada has been around Thunder Bay, along the North shore of Lake Superior. Beyond that only much softer maples, and with a different cut of leaf, have survived. Recently, however, extra hardy sugar maple seed from Minnesota has produced sturdy trees at Morden. Now seed from these trees is to be distributed throughout the Prairies.

Through science we may make our country some day a real "land of the maple."—Financial Post.

Cleanliness

Those serving food are reminded by public health officers of healthful practices in handling edibles. Fingers should never touch the rim or inside of a clean glass; ice or lump of sugar should be handled only with a spoon or tongs; butter should never be picked up in the fingers — a fork or other utensil should be used; cutlery should be picked up only by the handles. Canadians are reminded that disease can be transmitted easily in handling food.

NINE YEARS OLD

Now with eyes that fairly shine
He is boasting: "I am nine!"
With the eighth year done and gone,
I should call that "getting on!"
Nine! That's when a fellow knows
Who is in the picture shows;
Who Joe Louis is and who Caught the passes Chappuis threw.

Nine! That's when the legs are stout,
Fit to romp and race about;
When, no matter how you fall,
You get up not hurt at all;
When until your book you've read
You don't want to go to bed.
Nine! at dinner when you try
For a second piece of pie.

Nine years old! The glorious time
When an apple tree you'll climb,
Unafraid to eat them green,
Wormy, bitter and unclean.
Nine, when earthquakes couldn't shake
Hard enough a boy to wake;
When the worst that life can spoil
Is a dose of castor oil.

• • •

Oh, what memories are mine!
Once I boasted: "I am nine!"

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

How did Texas get its name?

An Indian told the Spanish governor at El Paso del Norte of a people and country to the east known by a name that the Spanish wrote "Texas." From this vague and exaggerated report the gold-hungry Spanish in Mexico got the notion that far to the northward lay a populous country of rich and civilized people ruled by a great king.

In 1683 the viceroy of Mexico sent Domingo de Mendoa with a party to locate "el Gran Reyno de los Texas," the great kingdom of Texas. The explorers penetrated as far as the Colorado River but never reached the realm that existed only in their imaginations and official instructions.

Six years later Alonso de Leon, accompanied by Father Massanet, lead an expedition into what is now East Texas. The Spaniards met Indians who saluted them with a word or phrase that sounded like "TECK-as." The Spaniards misinterpreted the salutation as the name of the tribe or confederacy and assumed that they had entered the great kingdom of Texas of which the Indian had told the governor at El Paso del Norte.

Father Massanet founded the Mission San Francisco de los Tejas near the Neches River. The next year Francisco de Jesus Maria, a missionary among the Hasinai and allied tribes in the vicinity of the Upper Neches and Angelina rivers, reported that the grand kingdom of Texas or Jejas was a myth and that the word the Spanish rendered "Texas" or "Jejas" meant "allies" or "friends" and was not the name of any tribe or group of tribes. He learned that some 50 comparatively small tribes of Caddoan stock had a loose confederation against the Apaches and other warlike tribes to the westward. The Caddoan term for "allies" or "friends" sounded like "TECK-as," and these Indians used it as a greeting or salutation, equivalent to "Hail, friend!" Although the Caddoan tribes did not apply the term to themselves as a tribe or confederacy, it is quite probable that other Indians referred to them by that name.

But the Spanish in Mexico went on referring to these Indians and their country as "Texas," which was spelled in a dozen or more different ways before it became fixed in the same form in which it had been used at El Paso del Norte years before.

This Spanish name for a comparatively small part of southeastern Texas was in the course of time extended to cover the territory as far west as El Paso.

"Friendship", was adopted as the motto of Texas on the assumption that the name of the States signifies "friends."

Sir Olive Franks U.K. Ambassador To United States

London, Feb. 13 (AP)— Sir Oliver Franks has been appointed British ambassador to the United States. He succeeds Baron Inverchapel, who has retired from the foreign service, the Foreign Office announced last night.

Sir Oliver, 42-year-old provost of Queens College, Oxford is regarded as an annual example of a professional intellectual transformed into a successful civil servant and now into the incumbent of Britain's leading diplomatic post.

He became professor of moral philosophy at the University of Glasgow in 1937, when only 32. When war broke out he joined the supply ministry and by 1945 had reached the post of permanent secretary of the ministries of supply and aircraft production.

After devoting his last months in the civil service to the amalgamation of these two ministries he was elected provost of Queen's College, Oxford, in 1946.

In July, 1947, Sir Oliver accepted the position of chief British delegate to the Paris Conference on the Marshall Plan and became chairman of the co-operation committee of the European Economic Conference.

His chairmanship was held to be largely responsible for the speed and unanimity with which the 16 power plan for Europe's recovery was drawn up.

Later he led the British delegation to the European Recovery talks in Washington. There he worked closely with members of the Harriman Committee on foreign aid.

$5,000,000 Bill Passed Without Call for Tenders

(By The Canadian Press)

A $5,000,000 bridge construction bill has been passed by the Quebec legislature over the objections of opposition members who maintained the government should have to call for tenders.

An opposition amendment which would have forced the government to ask for bids before spending the money was ruled out of order on grounds that a money bill cannot be amended in its financial provisions. As it stands, the bill provides for spending the money over a three-year period on building and repairing bridges.

Opposition speakers charged that the government was afraid to call for tenders and predicted that the money would be used for election purposes.

Other bills passed yesterday by the Quebec legislature, one of three provincial legislatures now in session, included one which provides that the years served in the armed forces by civil servants will be counted for pension purposes. The Quebec Labor Relations Act was amended to require arbitration boards to render a decision in labor disputes within three months after they hear submissions.

In the Manitoba legislature, Premier Stuart Garson reported a $4,291,602 surplus of provincial revenue over expenditures for the 11-month period ended last March 31. Total revenues were $24,018,948, expenditures $19,737,346.

The surplus fell $194,136 short of the estimate Mr. Garson gave last March in his last budget speech as provincial treasurer. He said the difference arose from extra accrued school grants, some of which had not previously been taken into account.

Veterans' problems came under discussion in the Saskatchewan legislature where Delmar S. Valleau (armed services) said in the resumed Throne Speech debate that veterans settled under the Veterans' Land Act were "not particularly contented" with their lot. He said inflation since the end of the war had borne more heavily against them than against other classes.

THE WORLD NEEDS MORE MEDICAL WOMEN

In a recent article on the subject of menstruation — which is a function and not an illness nor a weakness, except in the mind of the misguided young woman who so regards it—I mentioned the great contribution to the health of women made by Dr. Clelia Duel Mosher, who was for many years medical or health adviser to women in Leland Stanford University.

In the days when Dr. Mosher was publishing her studies in California State Jour. of Med., Woman's Med. Jour., Jour. A. M. A., American Physical Education Review, etc. etc. the editors of popular magazines probably shuddered at the very thought of mentioning menstruation in print. At any rate they missed what might have been the greatest boon that their publications could bring to feminine readers.

From one of Dr. Mosher's most instructive papers published in the Jour. A. M. A. Apr. 25, 1914, under the title: A Physiologic Treatment of Congestive Dysmenorrhea and Kindred Disorders Associated with the Menstrual Function, I quote a few remarks which this physician with almost unparalleled experience made 34 years ago:

"The economic loss to the individual woman who has to earn her living and is yet periodically incapacitated more or less is very great; and even to the married woman the loss in time and working capacity is considerable."

Not only the individual woman but in many instances her employer or her business partners or associates suffer economic loss.

"The first of these remedies is the removal of the factors which are producing the disability — constrictive clothing and the inactivity of the muscles of the abdomen and the diaphragm. But more important than this is an alteration of the morbid attitude of women themselves toward this function and also equally essential is a fundamental change in our habit of mind as physicians . . . . if every young girl was taught the menstruation is not normally a 'bad time' and that pain or incapacity at that period is as discreditable and unnecessary as bad breath due to decaying teeth, we might look for almost a revolution in the physical life of women."

Dr. Mosher, as already indicated, probably had more experience in this field than any other physician of her time — keep that fact in mind, Toots, and don't let any bumptious little "specialist" of this era of machine medicine shrug off or laugh off what Dr. Mosher tried to teach the gullible sex.

In the pamphlet Hygiene for Girls and Health for Women (ask for it ni writing—do not use a clipping—and inclose a stamped envelope bearing your address) are the directions for the breathing exercise which Dr. Mosher prescribed with uniform success for thousands of college women —young women who entered college with that morbid attitude toward menstruation and the menstrual difficulty that goes with it.

Is there any way for a girl 18 years old, 5 1-2 feet tall to gain weight if she is underweight. How much should she weigh:? (H.L.)

Answer—She should weigh about 128 or 130 pounds. Send stamped envelope bearing your address and ask in writing for the pamphlet How to Gain Weight.

Maceration

Feet sweat so much the skin gets all white and thickened and sore. (H.K.R.)

Answer—Wear soft wool socks or stockings with soft wool feet or soles, never cotton or nylons. Future Depends On Young Farmers Says Premier Drew Toronto, Feb. 13 — (CP) — Ontario Premier Drew said yesterday that the future of agriculture in Ontario rests on the confidence and ability that can be instilled in young farmers.

"Many farmers with the best of intentions are not producing the best they can or preserving the soil for years ahead," he told the closing session of the Ontario Agricultural Council meeting. Young farmers, on the other hand often did better than their fathers in these regards and should be encouraged.

Premier Drew said powers of the Ontario Research Commission will be expanded to make the Commission's work more effective in the field of agriculture. He asked agricultural organizations to continue the practice of informing the Department of Education of the results of independent experiments.

The council passed resolutions asking Agriculture Minister Kennedy to provide adequate facilities for recruiting and housing students in farm service camps; asking the Agriculture Department to bear part of the cost of shipping livestock to the Royal Winter Fair here; seeking an increase in calf vaccinations against Bang's Disease; urging a campaign to rebuild depleted farm lands by plowing under humus; calling for a cleared definition of a "woodlot" in the Conservation Act; asking the Highways Department to bear 80 per cent of the cost of removing rocks from township and county roads.

The council asked the Lands Department to have part of Hastings county south of No. 7 highway closed to deer hunting.

ABBOTT DECLINES

No action was taken on the amendment before adjournment and it will stand over until study of the Bill is resumed next week.

In opening proceedings, Trade Minister Howe announced that the Canadian Wheat Board has been authorized to make a fixed and final profit participation payment of 50 cents a bushel to producers who have or will deliver commercial flaxseed during the 1947-48 crop year.

He also disclosed that the government has dropped the idea of obtaining butter from Australia and New Zealand this year to bolster Canada's supplies during the low production season. Last year 5,000,000 pounds were obtained in New Zealand.

Mr. Abbott said he had no intention of seeking an extension of commercial rent controls beyond March 31.

May Have Whaling Fleet

In the Senate, Senator Neil McLean (L-New Brunswick) explaining an international convention for the regulation of whaling, said he hoped Canada would have her first whaling fleet in the near future.

Senator Ian Mackenzie (L-British Columbia), former Minister of Veterans Affairs, made his maiden speech in the Upper House and criticized the way business was conducted. Older members of the Senate promptly told him the reason why procedure differed from the Commons.

Mr. Abbott said the policy of non-discrimination in the import restrictions conformed with the Geneva Trade Agreement.

Mr. Jaenicke, in moving his amendment, suggested that Canada found herself in exchange difficulties because "Uncle Sam does not measure to John Bull as a world banker". A world banker also had to be a world trader.

Suggests Trade Mark

Howard Green PC-Vancouver South), charged the non-discriminatory feature of the Bill was incorporated to "satisfy" the United States. He suggested that the Bill should bear the trade mark "made in U.S.A.".

As he made the statement, Liberals hurled back at Progressive Conservative benches "no truck or trade with the Yankees". The expression was the slogan of the Conservative Party in 1911 when it defeated the Liberals on the question of reciprocity trade agreements with the United States.

Mr. Green said the Americans had always been friends of Canada and they would understand if restrictions were imposed against them temporarily. Canada had a shortage of American dollars and it was only by discrimination against the U.S. that the situation could be corrected.

Mr. Abbott said the United States had been very good neighbors. Export permits had never been enforced against Canada although they had been against other countries. It was important to Canada that such conditions prevail.

Claims Canada Harming Them

Donald Fleming, (PC-Toronto Eglinton), who charged the government was following a policy of "economic lunacy", said while the U.S. was preparing to aid the war-devastated countries of Europe, Canada was harming them by refusing to accept their goods and thus help them to rebuild shattered economies.

Mr. Abbott told the Commons that the improvement in exchange reserves had not been brought about by any "windfalls" of gold or special shipments of gold from outside the North American continent or elsewhere.

The only special transaction in gold involved the sale of some foreign holdings here for U.S. dollars. The gold was almost immediately re-sold to the U.S. Federal bank for U.S. dollars.

At Nov. 13, a week before the import restrictions were enforced, reserves were $506,700,000, including $347,600,000 in gold and $159,000,000 in American dollars.

At Jan. 29 the reserves were $513,900,000, including $296,000,000 in gold and $217,900,000 in U.S. dollars.

The minister said more than 5,000 permits have been issued to allow the importation of goods which are prohibited under the restrictions.

Probe Holdups Of Butter For Past Five Months

By ROSS MUNRO

Ottawa, Feb. 13 — (CP)—The Commons Prices Committee decided today to ferret out any speculators and hoarders of butter during the last five months.

"If there has been any speculation or hoarding it is for this committee to determine what effect it has had on butter prices," said Health Minister Martin, committee chairman, pointing out that butter prices jumped ahead last November and December before the ceiling price was reimposed.

The committee will seek to obtain all information available on holders of butter in Canadian Warehouses.

It will demand through a questionnaire to the warehouses and cold storage plants the names of the holders and the amounts held

Attempted Holdup Frustrated By Owner of Home

Toronto, Feb. 13 (CP) —Philip Feder, brother of Manny Feder the late "King of Toronto Bookies,"— said last night that two unmasked men forced their way into his suburban Forest Hill Village home in an attempted holdup and that he routed them with the help of his three young children.

He said he chased the men into the street and one of them shot at him from a "flat .32-calibre" pistol. They disappeared in a laneway.

Feder, his wife and the three children were just sitting down to dinner when the doorbell rang Feder answered it, to be confronted by two men, one of whom said:

"This is a holdup, get upstairs."

The children, hearing the commotion in the hallway, came to the aid of their father. Their blows and screams, as Feder scuffled with the intruders, frightened the men. One of the men struck Feder a glancing blow in the scalp with the butt of the pistol and then sprinted for the street.

V.O.N. NEWS

With thoughts of Spring in mind, do you know that this otherwise delightful season is apt to be haunted by the "whoops" of those unfortunates who have "caught" whooping cough? It is also a favorite season for the arrival of an epidemic of measles or mumps. It is hoped there will be no epidemics in Belleville this Spring.

But,—active steps should be taken to guard against babies and other children contacting, not only whooping cough, but diphtheria as well, Mothers, go to your family doctor and ask him about immunization, and if you are unable to have this done by him, you are wlecome at the toxoid clinic held monthly at the Kiwanis Centre, when the M.O.H. gives the combined toxoid and whooping cough vaccine, to babies of six months and over.

At any rate save your baby from diphtheria, and a severe attack of whooping cough, — both diseases are killers during the first two years of life.

Let all artistically inclined people, who are entering the Poster Contest, remember that they may get in touch with Miss McGeary, if they desire information about the V.O.N. However, it is wise to telephone 1000 before coming to the centre, to make sure that someone is there to let you in. This is true, also, when you wish to bring posters. It is necessary that they be handed directly to one of the nurses, so that no harm will come to them before the judges see them.

If you listen to CJBQ Tuesday at 9.00 p.m. you will go with the V.O.N. to see the nurse demonstrate a baby bath.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Oil Manicure is Answer for Brittle Nails

The nails must have special treatment

Many a pre-war pair of lily white hands never knew nail troubles. It is different now. Those lovely hands are doing all manner of rough work around the house, and loud are the lamentations about the grubby state of the one-time pink nails. Beauticians report that manicuring is no longer a quick, easy job; more time is required and the nails must have special treatment if they are to be restored to their pristine beauty.

Your reporter sat in at a session, took mental notes. The left hand is soaked in hot mineral oil while the operator shapes the nails of the right hand. She prefers an oval outline for the eaves, rather than the pointed one, because that pattern makes finger and nail seem like one, thereby adding to the length of the finger. The extremely long nail is not in favor. It is bound to break if one does housework or typing.

The next step is the use of the beveling file to give smoothness to the edges of the eaves. The left hand is removed from the oil, given a three-minute massage, while the right hand is soaking in oil. The massage treatment begins at the outer edge of the hand, continued over the knuckles. The operator's thumb does circles on each finger, working from the base to the tip.

Special attention is given to the cuticle surrounding the nail. If it can be kept soft and detached, no hangnails will appear to fret one. The oil is removed only from the finger tips—soapy water and a brush are used—so that the lubricant will soften the flesh on the hands. The orangewood stick is used to lift the cuticle, also to form a clean-cut line under the eaves.

Beauticians say that split nails are a common trouble. They have means of mending them, using a preparation designed for the purpose. The delicate adhesive is cut into a triangular piece, one point being tucked under the edge of the nail to protect it from further damage. A coat of fixative is applied over the entire nail to seal the patch.

The final touch is the application of polish. Two light applications will endure longer than a single heavy one, and that's something for all of us to remember. Let the brush drain in the neck of the bottle. Apply polish from nail base to tip. If the liquid seeps into the flesh at the sides of the nails, soak it up with a tiny pledget of cotton. That should not happen. If it does, you can know that you are using the lacquer too freely.

A light friction with cuticle cream every night will contribute toward the health and beauty of the fingernails.

Fashion Flashes

A Revival well received is that of the resort coat in smooth pastel colored woolen with fluffy fox collar dyed to tone Seen down south, in such shades as citron yellow and pale rose pink.

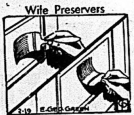
Ideal under furs now, on its own later, is a two-piecer of gray green or brown tie silk with a diagonal line of white., Jacket has high closing and very flared pepulum over a slim skirt.

Look Out for capes, come Spring There'll be capes over suits and dresses, capes to make up a three-piece suit ensemble. A charming suit is of navy and medium pink woolen. The brief mess jacket is in pink, with huge scrolled frog closing in navy beneath the deep, pointed collar. Soft, rippling, eight-gore skirt with high-circling waistband. Over suit a 29-inch cape of navy lined with pink crepe to tone with the wool jacket. Cape is rounded in front to a rippling full back.

Handsome Coats for everyday wear into the shops for Spring. Donegal tweed in a delightful pink, mauve and light violet mixture makes a handsome full-length coat with six rows of closely placed double-breasted buttons, High standing collar and pointed wide-notched revers and buttons are of deep mauve gabardine.

As Easy to stow away in a suitcase as it is to wear is a one sided full beret of snowy white rabbit's hair sprinkled all over with discs composed of tiny pearl beads.

Wife Preservers



To apply varnish on wide surfaces, door panels, table tops, etc., brush three ways: First, longway of the grain with a full brush. Next, without loading more varnish, brush crosswise to cover all skips. Last, with brush scraped fairly dry, stroke lengthwise again to pick up any excess varnish.

Congregational Meetings

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church

Trenton (Special)—The year 1947 was one of spiritual and material progress for the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Trenton, reports presented at the annual meeting revealed.

All obligations were met, including a substantial payment on modern heating equipment, and the treasurer closed his books with a healthy balance on the right side of the ledger. During the year several new members joined the church by profession of faith, and by certificate.

Opening devotional exercises were conducted by the minister, Rev. R. C. MacLean, who is commencing his eighth year in St. Andrew's pulpit. In a brief address, he thanked the congregation for their support of the church during the year, during which, he said, he had appreciated the confidence placed in him, and the improvements made to the church property. He expressed his thanks to all officers and organizations in the church for their fine work during the past year. There are now 203 communicants on the roll.

Mr. H. Gray was the chairman and presided over the gathering in a very able manner.

Total receipts for the year were $5,574.05, and $234.80 was given to the budget fund. In addition, these amounts were raised by various organizations: St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid, $1,412.38, Women's Missionary Society, $125.03, St. Andrew's Evening Auxiliary, $374.33, St. Andrew's Mission Band, $7.63, St. Andrew's Sunday School $243.70, St. Andrew's Choi $85.55, St. Andrew's Men, $218.05, St. Andrew's C.G.I.T. $9.70

The Ladies' Aid made a gift of $750.00 to the managers, and $25 00 to teh choir The W.M.S. sent $100.00 to the Presbyterial treasunrer. A comparatively new organization, St. Andrew's Evening Auxiliary, had an outstanding year. Of the total amount raised, $135.00 was turned over to the Board of Managers, and $10.00 given to the C.G.I.T. camp.

St. Andrew's Men, in its first year of operation, has over 50 members. It sponsored Burns Night, the Syl Apps dinner and made a contribution of $47.60 for church repairs.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the minister, the choir, of which Mrs. C. V. Wilkins is leader, the church treasurer, W. H. Colterjohn, the Ladies' Aid and all other organizations for their valuable service during the year.

Four retiring members of the Board of Managers were re-elected.

At the close of the meeting the ladies served refreshments.

DEAR RUTH

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Concerning "Old Maids"

Several letters which have reached my desk lately express a fear that the writers will be left "old maids". These girls are in their early twenties and their complaints are, for the most part, of two kinds. Some complain that there is a dearth of "nice" young men; that, as one of them put it, there are no modern boys who "could even come near my idea of a fiance".

Others merely state the bleak fact that there seems to be a scarcity of any young men at all, and want to know how they can meet some.

Now of course it is a fact that, following any major war, the number of eligible young males is sharply reduced in any given place. Some of them never came back from the war; many of them married earlier than they normally would have and so were automatically removed from the marriage market. Others, after a taste of life outside the town where they were born, never cared to go back and were "lost in the wide, wide world".

The girls writing me from small towns seem to feel that if they could only get away to a large city their problem of finding a husband would have a better chance of being solved. They will doubtless be surprised to hear that one of the most desperate letters I have received on this subject came from a girl living in New York City. She declares she is "seriously concerned with the problem of winding up an old maid", and says that she and her friends "have come to the conclusion that New York and vicinity are far from an ideal stamping ground, as far as men are concerned." This correspondent feels that advice often given to girls to "go where men are" is not practical, since, she says, "most girl are not able to pull up stakes, give up their jobs and traipse around the country."

Now while this may be true in certain cases, I do believe that most girls in their twenties could "pull up stakes", if they wanted to and had sufficient initiative to do so. But what I think even more, is that, particularly in the case of the girl living in or close to a large city, there are more opportunities to make social contacts with men than she is taking advantage of. For example, my correspondent from New York tells me firmly that "church socials and YWCAs are not the answer" to her problem, as she has tried them. Well, I wonder how intelligently she has tried them? For I know of many churches in the New York area which have very active clubs of young men and women, and there are also YWCAs which make a point of bringing young people together. I suspect this girl gave up before she had looked very far.

My advice to all the girls who feel themselves unable either to find any men friends at all, or any who are congenial, is to make a careful survey of social opportunities in their communities and see if they have perhaps overlooked some bets.

If, after they have done this, the case still seems hopeless, then I advise them to set about developing some interests and hobbies which they can happily pursue, even though in a manless environment. If one must "wind up on old maid," it is far better to do it gracefully and enjoyably than to sit around moaning about it. Oddly enough, too, it often mysteriously happens that the girl who has made herself so busy and happy, even without men friends, that she has become an interesting and stimulating person to be with, suddenly finds doors of opportunity open to her that she thought were closed.

Queen Alexandra H. and S. Association Discusses, Health

"Community Health Interests" was the theme of the February meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association. The splendid program was planned and capably presented by Mrs. Gordon Barclay, who paid official tribute to the untiring efforts of the school nurse, Mrs. Watt, in the interests of the health of Belleville children.

By the means of slides, Dr. G. G. Brearley gave an interesting study of the detection and treatment of tuberculosis, and also gave his audience some idea of the activities of the Belleville Chest Clinic.

Mrs. J. A. Buchanan described the activities of Belleville's newest health service, the Red Cross Homemaker's Service, giving an account of the qualifications and duties of the homemakers, and emphasizing that this service is now available for all homes where the mother is ill.

Miss McGeary, head of the Belleville V.O.N. gave a practical demonstration of the care required in the home treatment of a communicable disease, emphasizing the need for immunization of all children in preventing such diseases. Miss McGeary stated that Belleville was fortunate in having so many health services, and referred to the Mental Health Clinic at the Belleville Hospital, and the Dental Advisory Service for pre-school-age children, and the Toxoid Clinic, both held at the Kiwanis Centre.

Founder's Day was observed by the visit of Mrs. William Finkle, the first president of the Queen Alexandra Association. Mrs. Finkle brifly described the organization and history of the association and presented the members with a challenge for the future with the statement the problems of the present day world can best be met by carrying out the aims and ideals of the Home and School movement. Mrs. Finkle presented Mrs. G. Barclay with a Past President's pin.

During the evening the school band, under the direction of Mr. Cooper, delighted the audience with several splendid selections. Visitors from other associations in the city were special guests at the meeting and at the coffee hour which followed.

Marmora Assoc. Guests at First Birthday Party

On Monday, February 9, a very special meeting of the Cannifton-Corbyville Home & School Association took place at the school.

As this was the first birthday of both associations, the members of Marmora Home & School were honored guests at this first birthday party.

Before the meeting opened the members were given half-Valentines, and where they found the matching half, those were partners for the night.

Following the opening of the meeting, a rousing sing-song, led by Mrs. Plumpton, President of the Cannifton-Corbyville Home & School Association, was much enjoyed. Mrs. Plumpton then introduced to the meeting Mrs. Rennie, President of Marmora Home School, and she in turn introduced her executive and expressed their pleasure at being invited to attend this meeting.

Following a short business period, correspondence from the Ontario Federation of Home School Associations requesting aid for the children of devastated countries was read by Mrs. Fox, secretary. A collection was taken and the sum of $8.72 realized for this very worthy cause.

A television story of the founding of Home and School by Mrs. A. C. Courtice was dramatized with Mrs. Plumpton as commentator. Those taking part were:

Helen: Audrey Archibald.

Helen's Mother: Mrs. W. Archibald, Cannifton.

Mrs. Courtice—Mrs. Jordan Latchford, Cannifton.

Mrs. Johnson: Mrs. Don Milton, Cannifton.

Mrs. Thompson: Mrs. G. Poste, Cannifton.

Mrs Jones: Mrs. Cottrell, Marmora.

Mr. Simpson: Mr. Simpson, Marmora.

Outlines Troubles

Following this the President outlined the troubles of a one-year existence and called on two members from Cannifton-Corbyville and two from Marmora to express their opinion as to the worth of the Home School Association's work.

Mrs. Fred Furmidge and Mr. Alden Boyd told what benefits they personally had derived as members, while Mr. E. Prentice, principal of the Marmora School and Mr. Gordon Locklin, principal of Cannifton-Corbyville School, gave their opinions as to the worth of Home and School from teachers' point of view.

Mrs. Plumpton spoke on the very fine spirit of co-operation from the Board of Trustees and the teaching staff, as without this co-operation there could be no association.

Following this the two presidents lighted candles on the large birthday cake and all united in repeating the Home and School pledge.

Group Games Held

A committee of Mrs. Denyes, Mrs. F. Furmidge and Mrs. B. Forsythe led in group games while refreshments were prepared, and two members of the Trustee Board; Mr. Fred Furmidge, Chairman, and Mr. Borden Forsythe, conducted a tour of the classrooms.

The tea table, with the lighted birthday cake for a centrepiece was very attractive with lace cloth, and Mrs. G. Locklin and Mrs. E. Printice, wives of the two principals, poured tea. A delicious lunch under the refreshment convener, Mrs. Jordan Latchford, and her committee was served.

Mr. Sabine of Marmora expressed the thanks and appreciation of the Marmora Home and School Association, with the hope of more joint meetings, as it was generally felt that it had been very worthwhile.

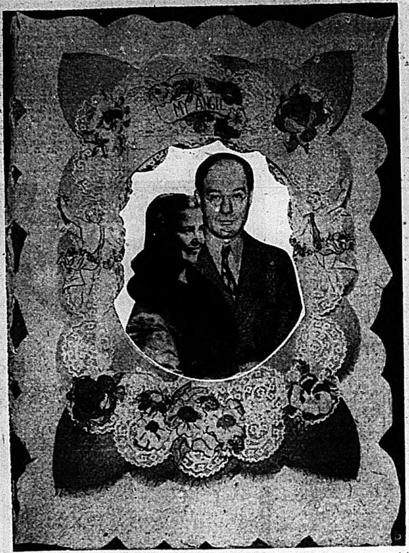
A COUPLE OF VALENTINE SWEETHEARTS?



Look who's here! It's Barbara Ann and Avery Brundage, as Valentine sweethearts. Mr. Brundage, you will remember, is the U. S. Olympic official whose letter to the international Olympic committee caused Barbara Ann Scott to give up her car, presented by the citizens of Ottawa. It took the efforts of a false photography expert to get Barbara Ann and Mr. Brundage together in this Valentine card, but nothing that the expert could do could make him look anything but stiff and formal in spite of Barbara Ann's smile.

Ministerial Association

The February meeting of the Centre Hastings Ministerial Association was held at the Ivanhoe parsonage on Monday afternoon. Rev. E. M. Cadigan, minister of Marmora United Church, speaker for the day, gave a very thoughtful and comprehensive address on 'Organization in the local church.' The speaker contended that a carefully organized church system, composed of judiciously selected workers, who would take their appointments seriously, and perform their duties faithfully, would invariably result in an increased attendance at the service of divine worship; in more interested listeners and in a steady increase of financial support to both the work of Home and Overseas Missions, as well as to the current expenses of the congregation. "The way in which the laity accept and discharge their responsibilities is the sequel to both temporal and spiritual progress in any congregation," Mr. Cadigan believed. Rev. Paul H. Christensen, of Springbrook, conducted the devotions, Rev. W. H. V. Walker, of Stirling pronounced the benediction. Rev. J. F. Everson presided over the meeting.

Four Children Found Alone, Hungry in Trailer

Ottawa, Feb. 13—(CP)— City police disclosed today they had discovered four children, ranging in age from five months to five years, left alone and hungry in an unheated trailer at Hurdman's bridge on the southeastern edge of the city.

Police said they believed the children, now in charge of the Childrens' Aid Society, were left unattended from last Saturday morning until Early Monday.

The four, James, five months old; Gerald, four; Dorothy, five, and Jean, two, are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Emery. C.A.S. officials said charges may be laid against the parents.

Sunup meant no letup for weary firemen, who battled the outbreak for 14 hours without relief. Clothed in smoke stands one wall of what used to be a warehouse. Not antiquated hose cart (right foreground) brought along "in case."

SNOW ISN'T Always FUN!

To millions of children it only means more misery

It's no fun when your toes are out of your boots — or you have no boots at all. Yet that is how children in ruined lands around the world must trudge through winter weather.

They are the future — and their plight is desperate. Shivering and starving, their uneducated minds grow as sick as their withered bodies.

If they are not fed, clothed, educated, given new faith and courage, a terrible legacy will be left for the world of OUR children.

To meet their desperate and immediate needs is the aim of the Canadian Appeal for Children.

YOUR HELP IS NEEDED NOW. Your donation can be made at any BANK. Since you may not be canvassed don't let failure to act be on your conscience — turn your sympathy and good wishes into a tangible contribution — go to your bank and GIVE.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Palookas have their bridge troubles. If they think they have a hot bridge rule, somebody throws cold water over it. Like a rule they think they know about a finesse.

A finesse is an attempt to win a trick with a card of a suit in which an opponent has a higher card. To promote the lower card card. To promote the lower card into a trick taker, you must lead toward the card you hope to promote.

See the cards in these south and north hands:

SOUTH
♠6 4 3 2
♥Q 6
♦A K 3
♣Q J 4 3

NORTH
♠A Q 7
♥A 7 3
♦J 7 6 4
♣A 7 6

South led a spade toward the north A Q. West had the king and did not play it. North was thus able to win a trick with the queen. The queen was thus promoted into a trick by a finesse.

This delightful experience may cause a beginner to get a wrong impression. It may lead him to believe the finesse worked because he led toward the ace. Not so. It was the lead to the queen.

Look at the hearts. South has the queen and north has the ace. To finesse the queen you should not lead it toward the ace. If you do you will take only one trick with queen and ace.

See why. If west has the king and plays it on the queen, ace will win. But now the opponents will take the rest of the hearts with their jack and ten.

When south leads the heart queen, what if east has the king? The queen will lose to the east king and the only heart trick you take will be with the north ace.

There is but one hope of taking two heart tricks with such a combination. Lead a small heart from the north hand toward the south queen. If east has the king, you take two tricks.

A finesse is a 50-50 chance. But leading queen to the ace is no chance at all. So, let me remind you of the rule: To finesse, lead toward the card you hope to promote.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 13 — (AP) — You might call Pat O'Brien the busy Irishman. Here's an account of his current activities:

1. He is set for "The Harder They Fall," the film version of the Bud Schulberg novel. Starting date is undecided, as RKO fears there are too many fight pictures on the present market.

2. He is performing diverse chores in "The Boy With the Green Hair," in which he plays a middle-aged waiter. He'll sing three Irish songs, dance, juggle and do magic tricks.

3. He is working on three radio shows — a transcribed series of Damon Runyon stories, a weekly stint as a small-town druggist and a possible series with a circus background.

Wasp Waisted

Wanda Hendrix will star with John Lund in "The Tatlock Millions," and Ilka Chase, Monty Wooley and Barry Fitzgerald are being sought for other roles. Incidentally, Wanda, who will be a full-fledged star after "Abigail, Dear Heart," is claimed to possess Hollywood's smallest waist—a mere 18 inches . . .

Joan Leslie will be the last Brodell girl at home after her sister Betty marries Joseph Franzalia in June. Joan tells me she is still married to her career and can't think of marriage. Which may or may not be a wise viewpoint.

Low Moral Tone

"Arch of Triumph" got a rap and a "morally objectionable in part" rating from the Legion of Decency. The objection: "Low moral tone" . . . The Academy circus will be held on Saturday night this year despite press objections (it's too late for most editions). The Academy claims more celebs will show up because they won't have to work the next day and can sleep off the celebration . . .

10-Second Interview

"Three Daring Daughters" is another trip into the never-never land of MGM musicals. No better or no worse than the usual run, it offers color, music and a sticky plot about a mother of three daughters who marries Jose Iturbi. Jeanette MacDonald, Jane Powell, Iturbi and others smile and frown their way through the proceedings.

TWO MEN ESCAPE

Toronto, Feb. 12 (CP) — Two men escaped without serious injury today when the cable broke in a freight elevator at the Pilkington Glass Company on Mercer Street in the downtown area. Joseph Duda, 41, and Arthur Seymour, 19, were in the elevator when it plunged two floors to the basement.

Both were taken to hospital where they are being held for further examination. Duda suffered head injuries. Seymour received abrasions.

Bubonic Plague Ravaged Europe 600 Years Ago

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

Washington, —(AP)— Six hundred years ago in 1348—the Black Death swept Europe. It was one of the greatest calamities of all time.

Millions died, and historians estimate that by the end of the century the disease had killed up to one-fourth of Europe's population, or possibly 25,000,000 persons died in an outbreak at about the same time.

To this day the seeds of the Black Death—bubonic plague—are scattered through the world. Since 1898 it is estimated more than 12,000,000,000 have died in India.

But medical scientists believe they now have the means of substantially reducing the chance plague ever will spread again over the globe.

As medical scientists piece together the puzzle, it may well have been there were two super-important passengers aboard the 12th century war transports that tied up at an Adriatic sea port.

One of these was Richard Coeur de Lion, King of England. The other was a black, beady-eyed rat, a hitch-hiker. Nobody paid any attention to the rat, but he far outranked the lion-hearted king in influence on the destinies of men and nations.

The rat carried Pasteurella Pestis, Asiatic seed of the Black Death. As years passed, P. Pestis gradually expanded out of the Adriatic area until finally he burst over the entire continent of Europe.

Developed Immunity

When it returned in 1361 it is estimated only half of the population became ill. One authority, the late Hans Zinsser, says each successive wave became less destructive of life because more people were immune.

All through the centuries man vaguely connected plague with rats. Dead rats were observed when the disease raged. But generally it was believed the disease was Divine punishment.

It wasn't until around 1900 that it was definitely established that the rat or other rodent harbors the disease; the rat is bitten by a flea; the flea then bites a man and transmits the plague to him. The disease in one form may be communicated from man to man.

Plague doesn't kill the rat flea, but it causes congestion in his digestive organs. If he bites a victim he can't consume the blood. His "sucking" organs suddenly collapse and thus give the victims a "shot" of contaminated blood.

The U.S. Public Health Service says plague among rodents exists in many places in the world today. Plague has been found in the U.S. as far inland as central Kansas, health officials say, but they have no great fear there will be an outbreak of the Black Death.

Medical scientists recently have discovered sulfa drugs are valuable in treatment and believe the new drug streptomycin, may prove so also. New and more powerful flea and rat killers, including DDT and the poison R-1080, are proving extremely effective.

"PLANT" FINGERLINGS

Moncton, N.B. — (CP) — The Moncton branch of the New Brunswick Fish and Game Association, reporting a total membership of 1,544, said recently the group had set out 475,000 fingerling trout in the streams of Westmorland and Kent counties.

Lottery Tickets Seized by Police In Montreal

Montreal, Feb. 13 —(CP)— Municipal and provincial police uncovered what appeared here today to be an international link between Palmiro Togliatti's Italian Communist party and the Labor Progressive party in Canada following seizure of several hundred smuggled lottery tickets in favor of the Italian Communist party.

The seizures were made late last night when police anti-subversive squads raided the homes of 10 alleged members of the L.P.P.

Printed in Rome, the subscription tickets were marked "For the construction, for the consolidation of the republic" and also bore the crest of the Communist party. The hammer and sickle red flag with the letters P.C.I. (Partito Communiste Italiano) appeared on the tickets with the green, white and red Italian flag.

The smuggled lottery tickets which offered a 30-day expense paid trip to Moscow as first prize were seized along with correspondence between local members of the L.P.P. and the Communist party with headquarters in Italy. Police said they were also in possession of important documents dating back to the Spanish Civil War.

The tickets bore the issue date "May Day 1947" and were signed by Paolo Togliatti, general secretary of the Italian Communist party.

Police said the tickets were smuggled into Canada last month.

A sum of money also seized by police indicated that a number of tickets already had been sold. The tickets sold for 100 and 500 lire or at local rates of 25 cents and $1.

Police said no arrests were made followinig the raids but court summonses "may be served on some people later."

Boxer Collapses After Being Hit By His Opponent

(By The Canadian Press)

Ed Franklin, Philadelphia heavyweight, was reported in serious condition in hospital today after he was floored by Bill (Chicken) Thompson in the eighth round of their bout at Philadelphia last night.

Franklin was knocked down twice for a count of nine in the eighth and final round. He came up just before the final count only to encounter a flurry of lefts and rights that sent him back to the canvas, unconscious as the bell rang.

Franklin's seconds revived him and took him back to his corner where he again collapsed and slid to the floor. Physicians said today it might be necessary to perform an emergency operation.

They play to organize elimination tournaments in the four Western provinces with the final winners meeting at Vancouver late in April. New York Feb. 13 (AP) —You have to feel a lot of sympathy for Dodds getting mumps in the middle of the indoor track season, especially since he's the kind of guy who don't try to slip the hospital bills into an expense account ... but you must admit that it's a break for the other milers ... Dan Ferris reports that the A.A.U. has received 18 entries for the indoor mile championship Feb. 23 and at least 10 are likely to start in a free-for-all race... on top of Bob Feller's invitation to a cocktail party "at which an important announcement will be made," comes a bid from the Dodgers to attend "the rookie hunt luncheon" — with Branch Rickey presiding in a pink coat, we presume.

Ex-Olympic Star Sees Big Season For Great Britain

Lake Success, Feb. 13 (AP)—Philip Noel-Baker, British diplomat and former Olympic star, sees a big season ahead for Britain in the Olympics at London this summer.

Between diplomatic bouts here at the United Nations Security Council, Noel-Baker reminisced of his days as a middle distance man and talked about Britain's prospects.

He is a member of the British Olympic Council and holder of a special assignment from Prime Minister Attlee to give governmental help to the Olympic organization committee. These duties are in addition to his regular government post of Secretary of Commonwealth Relations.

Arrangements for the big show which starts July 29 and runs to Aug. 14 at Wembley stadium are going exceptionally well, he said.

"From the way tickets are going we will have a sell-out of the 80,000 seats at Wembley stadium and we believe we will have from 30,000 to 40,000 foreign visitors. We've arranged for housing for the competitors at two air force stations and a former army hospital in Richmond Park, which we hope will make everyone feel comfortable."

Did Noel-Baker think the Russians will attend their first Olympic games in many years?

"We are assuming they will and we think they will give a good account of themselves. They have a very fine sprinter who took a first at Oslo last summer."

Now, what did Noel-Baker think about British prospects?

"We wiww not be too backward," he said.

"We will not be too backbeaten 4:20 in the mile than ever before," Noel-Baker said, "and we have seven men who have done better than 49 seconds for the quarter mile. That may not seem like much by American standards but we are very proud of it because, despite rationing and all our other troubles, our young men seem to be running better than ever."

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

BY GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

Tonight will tell the story of whether our Redshirts will hang up their gear, or have another whack at the playoff kitty, in the Senior "B" group. If they lose the game against the Peterborough Legionnaires, a right husky, speedy gang of varmints, they can call it a hockey day. If they knock off the saucy Petes, and the Peterboro Hockey Club lambasts the Kingston Saints at Omemee, then they get another lease of life. And that will be a playoff game between the Reds and the Saints.

* * *

And in this more or less screwy "B" set-up anything can happen. The Reds playing superlative hockey a few days ago, shellacked the Petes Hockey Club here 7-3 in one of the best games of the season. Wednesday night they couldn't do anything right and turned in one of their worst performances of the year. Tonight, we hope, the Veterans will snap out of the Wednesday night lethargy and with the aid of a few breaks, send the Legionnaires back to home and mother on the wrong end of the score.

* * *

Meanwhile up in Omemee where men draw from the hip and the gals help 'em drink it, the Petes Hockey Club, if tradition holds good, should send the Saints back to Roddenville with a defeat tacked on their scalps, and the "All Done" sign hung out for the season. The Petes have yet to take a licking on the miniature Maple Leaf Gardens up Omemee way, and they should keep their record intact tonight.

* * *

Arrangements are under way whereby period scores will be received from the Omemee battlefield, and relayed to the fans here via the P. A. system, if it is sufficiently recovered from its recent severe attack of laryngitis.

* * *

The morning mail brought with it visions of balmy summer evenings, the crack of bat on ball, the excited yells of the fans, and a quiet after - game bucket of suds in the favorite bistro. For with no other sign than the date on the calendar that Spring is in the offing, softball moguls are beginning to feel that old urge. From Secretary Frank Feaver, of the OASA, Hamilton, comes the first official edict of 1948 from his organization.

* * *

Among other things M'sieu Feaver reminds softball interests that affiliations are accepted only from leagues or associations and not from single teams. He draws attention to the fact that official OASA certificates must be signed by all players before participating in any games in any league.

* * *

Classification rules for this year are Senior A in cities of over 100,000 population; Senior B 30,000 to 100,000; Intermediate A and AA, 10,000 to 30,000; Intermediate B, 3,500 to 10,000; Intermediate C, rural districts under 3,500. Junior A and Juvenile A over 10,000; Junior B and Juvenile B under 10,000. The midget, under 16 years, and bantam under 14 years, series are open.

* * *

The OASA will rendezvous at Kingston for its annual convention this year on Good Friday, March 26th. It is expected that one of the largest turnouts in the history of the organization will be present. The Kingston Softball Association is making elaborate plans for the reception and entertainment of the visiting softball firemen. Delegates should send requests for hotel accommodation to Secretary Frank Feaver, 526 Maple Avenue, Hamilton.

* * *

And just in case you have forgotten, the tickets for the bus taking the Belleville Rockets to Kingston Monday night, which are available to fans, are now on sale at Bill Cook's Cigar Store, Front Street. Betterpeel off that two-spot now and grab a pasteboard if you intend going with the Rocks that night. Bus leaves the Arena at 6.30.

Jack Stewart, rugged Detroit defenceman, a good-looking hombre at that, has had more facial markings than a Zanzibar war chief. In fact, it looks as if it lost a ten - round battle with a sewing machine. To date his total facial blemishes amount to 49 scars and 203 stitches. All is not painful, however, about these cuts. Stewart has carried a special insurance policy which pays him five bucks a stitch. The policy cost $100, so he has been making a profit on the deal regularly.

* * *

C. B. Wright, director of an independent basketball tournament in the U. S. A. apparently was seeking teams which are not easily discouraged. Wright's announcement of the tournament read: "To be perfectly fair we must warn you that our gym is small, our basketballs are lopsided, the floor is generally dirty, the lights are poor, illiterates only are used as scorers and timers, the officials will be blind and the local teams will be favored." ....

Minneapolis Millers Blast St. Paul 9-2

(By The Canadian Press)

The revolution that threatened the leadership of the Minneapolis Millers in the Northern Division of the United States Hockey League simmered down today to a dog-fight between the second, third and fourth teams for playoff spots.

The Millers blasted St. Paul Saints 9-2 last night after Omaha and Kansas City had tumbled the Millers on successive nights. At the same time Omaha won 4-3 at Fort Worth.

The Omaha victory gave the Knights 49 points in the standings and leaves them only three points behind second-place Kansas City. St. Paul holds third place with 50 points.

Tulsa, holding down last place in the southern division, pounded out a 5-2 victory over Dallas in the loop's only other game.

The league is idle tonight with Saturday night's schedule sending Omaha to Dallas, Houston to Tulsa and Fort Worth to Minneapolis.

Tail-End Hawks Hottest Squad Seeking Berth

Doormats of the National Hockey League for the last two seasons, the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks have finally come to life. In fact, unless the Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens sit up and take notice, March 21st may find the Windy City lads resting in the fourth and final playoff position.

While many eyes were focused on Boston and Montreal, the rejuvenated Hawks slipped a few notches up the N.H.L. ladder and today are only six points out of the coveted fourth spot, now occupied by Bruins.

Since Charlie Conacher took over the coaching reins, the Hawks have steadily improved and now are considered the hottest of the fourth place contenders.

Montreal Canadiens, were aware of the Chicago threat, have announced that Gerry Plamondon, high-scoring forward with the amateur Montreal Royals, will join the club in time for their all important tilt with Toronto in the Queen City Saturday night.

Plamondon, leading goal-getter in the Quebec Senior Hockey League this season, will make the jump under the three-game lend-lease agreement between amateur and professional clubs.

Meanwhile, Boston announced that they are going to stand pat on their team for the remainder of the season, being strengthened last week with the addition of Grant Warwick, who came from New York in exchange for Billy Taylor and another player to be announced next year.

Besides the Toronto-Montreal tussle, New York Rangers are at Boston in a second Saturday night game.

Ottawa, Feb. 13. (CP)—Sports fans in general and sports columnists in particular are not especially distinguished as a group whose members care to admit they were wrong—even if their home team wins contrary to predictions.

While nobody is really unhappy that Canada's Olympic Hockey team showed its heels to the rest of the world at St. Moritz, columnists from coast to coast are still regarding the feat as "an exceptional upset" or concluding from the results that Europe's teams were given too much of an advance build-up, and weren't solid competition.

Among those who don't have to back-pedal now are local railbirds who saw just enough of the final team before it left the capital to get an inkling of its potentialities.

"The present team is in no way comparable to the squad that looked so bad against McGill and Army headquarters, writes Tommy (Ottawa Citizen) Shields. "Any idea that the showing made against McGill in an exhibition game here is a true valuation of the present team's ability should be thrown away."

What many forget is that after that McGill game, Ottawa's leading team in the Senior City League—New Edinburgh's—donated five players: Reg Schroeter, Ab. Renaud, Pete Leichnitz, Ted Hibbard and Frank Dunster, all regulars in the winning Olympic team. Dowey, Halder and Mara, who starred overseas, cost their Toronto League team a number of certain wins.

"We do not hold the opinion," says Shields, "that any one part of Canada can lay claim to any special distinction for the Flyers Olympic triumph. While three outstanding players were added from Toronto, that was just a circumstance. A like number of equally-effective players might have been added from some other city. . ."

The point eluding many who are ready to call it a Cinderella team now, is that nobody saw the final selections in atcion——they got to know each other on overseas ice. But experts here weren't so surprised to find the Flyers doing so well across the pond. To some, the word "underrated" is a decided misnomer when applied to the Olympic Champs.

These few, who saw the finally-constituted Flyers (except for "Shutout" Dowey) realized the rebuilt team, while short on training in the fortnight they were whipped together, had a long potential. They weren't surprised that it paid off.

"When it came time to leave," says Tommy "There were few who conceded them any chance, others who would have prohibited the trip. . . We'll wager that it will be a different story when they come home. . . Flyers are certain to come home to a noisy and sincere welcome.

Guelph Biltmores Show Latent Power In Downing Irish

(By The Canadian Press)

Greatest surprise "fluke" in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A 1947-48 season, Guelph Biltmores, last night showed glimpses of the squad that might have captured top laurels when they defeated the ninth-place Toronto St. Michael's Majors 5-1 at Galt.

It has taken three coaches to bring out Guelph's latent power but the third, Bill Sherry, arrived a little too late to help the eighth-place Biltmores. They along with St. Mike's last season Memorial Cup champions, finished out of the playoffs and will hang up their gear next week.

It was Guelph's first win in four starts against the Irish. Glen Sonmor, Biltmore's fast-stepping right-winger banged in four goals and collected an assist on Guelph's other goal while Joe Primeau Jr. was Toronto's marksman.

Even with the addition of ex-pros to their ranks the fifth place Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen of the Senior A loop lacked the finesse required to stop the National Hockey League first-place team, Detroit Red Wings. In an exhibition game at Waterloo last night, Detroit swamped the Dutchmen 12-2.

There were three senior games on the slate tonight with Hamilton Patricias at Toronto Marlboros, Stratford at Hamilton Tigers, and Brantford at Kitchener-Waterloo. In the junior loop Oshawa visit Toronto Junior Marlboros, Toronto Young Rangers go to Barrie and Windsor visits St. Catharines.

Lineups:

C.N.R.; Goal, Sanford; defence, Duval, E. Pope; Wings, Caulkin, De Genova; Shorts, Foster, Bush, Brethour, Hogan, Gazley.

Frank Tindall Appointed Coach Of Queen's Squad

Kingston, Feb. 13 (CP)—Frank Tindall, coach of Queen's University entry in the Intercollegiate Rugby Football Union in 1939, will guide the Gaels indefinitely from here in, it was announced today.

The former University of Syracuse star who succeeds Bob Elliott, signed a long-term contract here yesterday following brief negotiations, Elliott, forced to resign due to pressure of business, will act as Tindall's first lieutenant.

Rated an expert in the art of forward passing, Tindall made his first appearance in Canadian football as a member of the 1932 Toronto Argonauts and as line coach of the University of Toronto seniors. He was one of the finest defensive middle wings in the history of the Interprovincial Union and a strong cog in some of the best Argo teams ever developed by Lew Hayman, now coach of Montreal Alouettes.

In his only season as coach of the Gaels his proteges broke even in a six-game schedule. Most of the players from last season's last-place Queen's squad will be available to the new coach.

Midgets Swamp Inter-Service Club Squad 15-1

The Belleville Merchants Midgets "B's" proved too much for the Inter-Service Club squad in Memorial Arena last night, winning handily by a 15-1 score to take the first game of their goals-to-count series in the first round of the O.M.H.A. playdowns. The second game was played this afternoon starting at 4:15.

The plucky Inter-Service kids outplayed and outclassed, put up a great fight against their heavier better-coached rivals. They never gave up fighting and battled to the last whistle. They showed a marked weakness in shooting and lack of finish around the nets but with more practice the kids should round out into a neat hockey unit.

The Merchants in an outstanding display went on a scoring rampage after sniping home three goals in the first period. They added six in the second and a like amount in the third period. It was not until the fourteen - minute mark in the third heat that Arnott, with assists from Muirhead and Scrymgeour potted the Inter - Service Club's lone tally.

Stars in the Making

The Merchants put on a nice display collectively and gave promise of being a fine cog in the Belleville hockey machine of the future. They have five or six stars in the making and if the kids are coached and trained properly should have no trouble making higher brackets.

Strahan paced the Merchants' attack firing home four goals and being credited with three assists. Gilmour also scored a quartet of markers and getting one helper. Carey, got himself three tallies and an assist while Milligan helped himself to a pair of goals and one helper. Brown and Barrett got the remaining two goals for the winners.

The above-mentioned players were the pick of the Merchants with diminutive Davey Jones turning in a neat effort.

Ravette, K. Allen and L. Allen and Lighthall went well for the losers with Bland turning in a nice effort in the nets despite the fact that 15 pucks whistled past him.

The game was clean with only three penalties being handed out by Referee Don Lee, two going to Brown and the other to Carey of the Merchants.

The teams:—

Inter - Service Club — goal— Bland; defence, Ravette, Whalen; centre, K. Allen; wings, Lupinette, Lally, Arnott; subs, Muirhead, Scrymgeour, Hull, F. Allen, Lighthall, Dolan.

Trenton Juveniles Win Round 10-8 From Local Team

The Belleville Inter - Service Club juvenile "B's" almost pulled the goals-to-count O. M. H. A. first round series out of the fire last night but fell short by two goals. Losing the first game in Trenton on Wednesday night by an 8-2 score the Belleville juves flashed back to a 6-2 victory in Memorial Arena here losing the round 10-8. They were only one goal short of the tie in a hard-fought third period but Jones of Trenton broke away from a ganging attack and scored the clincher for the visitors with thirty seconds to go.

The game was a close hard - checking affair, although the Belleville team in an effort to cut down the commanding lead of the round had the better of territorial play in the second and third periods.

And to Goalie Art Wright of the Belleville squad goes the credit of being the star of the game. The youngster played a heady, bang-up game and was practically unbeaten throughout.

12 Penalties Handed Out

There was a little shoving and pushing in the second and third periods, but nothing of a major nature occurred although twelve penalties were handed out by referee W. Bowen of Trenton. Creeggan and Scott started a couple of jostling matches in the third period and both got the gate on each occasion.

Jones of Trenton drew first blood of the game early in the first period taking Turland's pass close in to beat Wright. McBride, Jones and Graham sparked the Belleville attack in this session with McBride and Graham scoring to give Belleville a 2-1 period lead.

Whole Team Gangs

Jones got the only goal of the second period for Belleville, and the same player started the third period drive for victory with a goal at the ten - minute mark. McBride and Buchanan also scored in this session with the whole team ganging the Trenton goal with the series victory in sight. Jones of Trenton however broke away with seconds to go and scored to clinch the series.

Jones, McBride, Graham and Wright starred for the Belleville team with Black, Jones, and Scott going well for the losers.

Eden Charges Labor Government Is Vacillating

London, Feb. 13 — (CP)—Anthony Eden, deputy leader of the opposition, yesterday charged the Labor government with vacillating in its economic policy.

Eden was opening a debate on the government's hold-the-line policy on wages and profits, outlined by Prime Minister Attlee in a white paper a week ago.

Eden asserted that a profound shock to certain sections of the population had been caused by the disclosure of Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Stafford Cripps, that the gap in Britain's balance of overseas payments last year amounted to £675,000,000 ($2,700,000,000) and Attlee's statement on wage policy.

The wartime foreign secretary, while not blaming Sir Stafford who he said had always stated the facts, charged that there had been an "alternating succession of warnings and optimistic forecasts from the government front bench."

'Contradictory' Says Eden

"I don't understand how it is possible for members of the same cabinet to make such completely contradictory statements," he added.

He admitted wages increases was a contributing factor to inflation but the government's own contribution had been no less serious.

"If the government calls upon all sections of the people to exercise self-restraint and accept sacrifices they must at the same time show their own determination to take all the steps that lie in their own power to check inflation."

He hoped the government would take no action to discourage the ploughing back of profits into industry. "This was, indispensable to Britain's long-term survival as an industrial nation."

Declaring that salaries had not risen as fast as profits or wages, Eden asked what the government intended to do about incomes in the civil service and the nationalized industries.

Prices of unessential goods might rise and the effect of this would be to attract more labor into unessential industries.

In the last resort, the only way to get out of the present position was by increased output. It was therefore essential that the government's "very proper desire to combat inflation does not result in their taking any action which might kill initiative."

Eden then moved the opposition amendment expressing "grave concern at the present state of the nation" and welcoming any "well chosen measures designed to check inflation and restore the country's economic prosperity."

Eden's statement came while the Attlee administration faced a rebellion in the ranks of labor.

Twenty-one Labor Members of Parliament have signed a motion demanding that the white paper be withdrawn. They want it replaced with what they term a "constructive" policy leading to increased industrial production, preservation of collective bargaining, limitation of profits and acting as a bar to inflation.

Millions of organized workers in Britain already have spurned Attlee's plea for voluntary wage freezes.

Adventure in Love

By Kathryn Bemis Wilson

CHAPTER 15.

"Whatda you want?" he asked roughly.

She stared at him in amazement. She never had seen Tom so disheveled before. Under the street lamp, his soiled suit showed its lack of contact with a pressing-iron. All his air of meticulous grooming had disappeared. She could scarcely believe he eyes.

"Tom," she implored, "what—what is it? What's the—"

He began to move away, but she kept close to his side. They were walking now hurriedly along the sidewalk. He said, out of the corner of his mouth, "Don't look back—there's a cop behind us. Act natural, and come 'long like nothing was up. There's a dead man back in that alley."

"A—dead man!Tom—how—"

He grasped her arm. "Shut up, you little fool!" he rasped out. Then hurried her across the street to a mud-splashed sedan.

"Wher do you live?" he asked bluntly.

She lifted questioning eyes to his. But of course—Tom had no way of knowing where she was staying since she left the Clarks.

"At the Y. W. C. A.," she said unsteadily.

"Okay. I know the place. Iknew a girl there once."

This was a new Tom, a coarse fellow strange to her. Had he been drinking?

"Tom—tell me—I must know—about—about that dead man. Was it an accident—did you—"

"Can it, sister," he said, jumping the car into gear. "On second thought, I'll turn you loose. Too bad for a pretty little thing like you to get mixed up in a—"

He left the sentence unfinished as he drove the car wildly around the corner and stopped by the curb.

"Scram!" he ordered. "Happy landing!"

She jumped out, now thoroughly heels as it fell to the pavement behind her. The car leaped away, while she stood rooted to the spot wondering what ailed Tom. Had he gone completely out of his mind?

She stooped down and picked up the object which had dropped from the car. It was a leather wallet. She stepped nearer the street light to examine its contents. This might furnish a clew to Tom's insane actions.

In the wallet were bills. Many bills. They looked like hundred-dollar bills. There was a card, too. She read, "Mr. John Scollar, Jewelry Agent."

John Scollar? She'd never heard of him. How had his wallet happened to be in Tom's car? And who was—John Scollar?

• • •

By morning it was simple great deal about John Scollar. The whole city was teeming with the excitement and horror of the man's murder in the alley between the postoffice and the Bargain Variety Store. The newspapers printed long columns describing him, his frequent visits in Carryville as a jewelry salesman, pictured his body and a liagram of the alley. No money having been found on him, it was apparent that robbery had been the motive for the killing. The police were hot on the trail of the murderer.

Velma grew hot and cold by turns as she read detailed accounts of the grusome tragedy. Perhaps she held the clew to the rapid solution of the case. She was certainly brimful of guility knowledge. Must she give Tom over to the police? Should she take the wallet to the police and tell her story?

She pondered over this while drinking hot coffee. She was trying to eat breakfast in the Y. W. C. A. 's dining romm, but food choked her. She discarded wild plans of getting rid of the wallet and the ten thousand dollars it contained. She might drop it into the Carryville river, but it seemed unsafe. Some one might see her and connect her with the crime.

She had the wallet in her handbag. She dared not leave this incriminating evidence in her room. She wanted to avoid drawing Tom into the police net. But why? How could she love a—a murderer? Because Tom had come running out of the alley at the time of the murder was no sign he was guilty.

He had said there was a dead man there, hadn't he? That was no proof of his guilt. But the police might think it was ample proof. She must shield Tom. She must shield him—no matter what happened. She loved him. She would always love him—in spite of everything, she loved him.

Perhaps if she waited, did nothing, the real murderer would be apprehended, and Tom never would be involved in the case. But to carry around in her consciousness the uncertainty as to Tom's guilt or innocence was unbearable!

If she only dared to conride in some one. That would be too dangerous. A secret once told is no longer a secret.

In a state of nerves bordering upon hysteria, she went to the Forland shop. Miss Forland handed her weekly pay check as she entered, which was customery on Saturday mornings.

"Those skating ensembles have been unpacked," said Miss Forland. "There's a lovely gray brushed wool with white jacket and cap to match. Please put it on as soon as you can. Mrs. Jenkins is coming in this morning to get clothes for her daughter at Smith. I think she's about your size."

"Yes, Miss Forland," said Velma unsteadily. She was glad that Miss Forland had not mentioned of the bridal gown, involving Louise. She couldn't have endured that this morning.

She hurried back to the dressing room, stealthily tucking the wallet beneath her girdle before befor putting on the skating suit.

Jane Henry rushed in, carelessly knocking Velma's handbag from a table to the floor. Its contents rolled in all directions.

Use of infra-red lamps in a machine invented and constructed by employees of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests will permit the extraction of seeds from evergreen cones in four hours, as compared with the old time of 550 hours. The machine also reduces the possibility of seed injury and provides for a more complete extraction of the seeds. This is important because the department distributes as many as 20 million seedlings a year. On the left, Mary Russell passes a basket of pine cones to Ruth Braffette for dumping into the funnel of the machine. Right shows the cones being conveyed under a battery of lamps, the heat of which opens the cones and permits release of seeds.

SHARP REDUCTION

However, Mr. Gardiner said today he did not think the situation would cau·e any unsurmountable difficulty. [illegible] would perhaps require an additional $5,000,000 to [illegible] d shipments.

The United Kingdom could po- [illegible] that or Canada could allow her to increase her deductions from the Canadian loan by that amount.

Finance Minister Abbott announced recently that Britain had undertaken to pay in United States dollars for all her adverse trade balance in the first three months of this year in excess of the $45,000,000 which she could draw from the Canadian loan. This covered the entire range of purchases, including wheat, base metals and lumber, in addition to foods.

It is understood that Britain planned to spend $30,000,000 in Canada in the quarter for meats, eggs and cheese, using a small portion from her credits and paying for the remainder in goods exported to Canada and in United States dollars. This amount would be increased if Britain takes all the bacon and beef Canada can ship.

It is possible that shipments of eggs in powder form, which may be easily stored, may be held back, and the extra meat shipped instead.

ECONOMY MEASURE

Hamilton, Ont. —(CP)— Controller Leslie Parker proposed that firemen be reduced from four to three shirts apiece a year thus saving the city $1,000. "Give them four shirts and cut the tails off," suggested another controller, opposing the idea.

No estimate can be made at this time of the probable cost of the building. The annual meeting will be held in the Town Hall on Monday evening, March 8th., at 7:30 o'clock.

Another $122,100 Registered Bonds Found by Police

Toronto, Feb. 13 —(CP)— Two Toronto detectives—Arthur Keay and Alex Deans—today are nearer their months-long treasure-trove search for $500,000 stolen last fall from the West-Central Chestnut and Dundas Streets branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Last night, while foot-slodging through snowdrifts, the veteran police team found $122,100 in registered victory bonds in a month-old, fast-frozen bank on the Queen Elizabeth Way, near the city's western suburban limits.

Their discovery brought to $400,000 the amount of loot recovered since the sleuth team began its search.

Keay and Deans found the bonds — including several of $5,000 denomination — wrapped in newspapers and stuffed into a snowdrift on a farm.

They uncovered the loot a half-mile nearer Toronto than the location where the same detectives, armed with a Second World War mine detector, recently located $150,000 in bonds and gems in metal boxes buried several feet underground.

Two days after that discovery, the detectives located another $881,750 in stocks and jewelry in a West-Toronto house and identified them as loot from the same bank raid.

Police headquarters officials last night lauded the team's work but added that the bank robbery of last fall was not the work of "imported gangs."

NOT FUN, SAYS JUDGE

Montreal — (CP) — Recorder Leonce Plante dropped 25 nickles into a seized slot machine and didn't get a free game during trial of a man charged with possession of a gambling machine. Hagana Claims Ample Strength To Face Arabs

Commander Outlines Situation to A.P.

By JAMES LONG

Jerusalem, Feb. 14 —(AP)— Hagana's military commander said today the Jewish organization is strong enough now to hold its own against Arab attack.

Although Hagana wants United Nations help, he said, it is prepared to win against the Arabs without such aid if necessary.

The commander's views were given in written replies to questions submitted to him by The Associated Press. Because Hagana's formal status as a Jewish militia is still on the borderline of recognition, his identity is a secret even to most Jews.

The answers brought out these main points:

1. Hagana needs arms more than manpower.

2. At most an international force of only a few thousand is needed to supplement an armed Hagana.

3. The prerequisite to any effective military action against the Arabs is withdrawal of the British forces.

4. Hagan's present policy of "aggressive defence" probably will be changed to "attack" sometime after May 15. This would include Hagana offensives against Arab concentrations in Arab territory if the war continues.

"We will believe the United Nations will not let itself be killed as an authoritative force in international affairs by some relatively weaker Arab states," the commander's answers said.

"We believe that political efforts of the Jewish agency's representatives in the United States will bring about creation of an international force which will assist us in establishment of a Jewish state, which has been decreed by the United Nations".

'If this proposal does not come off for reasons of international, political or technical difficulties, we believe the time will come when we will be able to bring in large and serious consignments of equipment for Hagana or the Jewish militia. . . .

"We are confident we can even now successfully repel all attacks, naturally not without losses and even defeats, for that is war. But we can hold our own in Palestine now and inflict serious military and economic damage upon the Arab attackers."

The commander said Hagan's strength is increasing daily. He added that with the present power and reinforcements expected to be brought in from May onwards, Hagana will establish and maintain the Jewish state.

Britain plans to give up her mandate about May 15 and complete withdrawal of her troops by August first.

PREMIER DREW CLAIMS LIQUOR LAWS ENFORCED

Goderich, Feb. 14 (CP)—More than 19,000 Huron constituency voters are eligible to cast ballots Monday in the first Ontario by-election since the Drew Progressive Conservative government was elected in 1945.

The campaign in this western Ontario riding ended last night with Farquhar Oliver, Liberal leader, concluding an intensive campaign and Premier Drew entering the two-party battle for the first time.

Electors will choose between Thomas Pryde, Progressive Conservative, and Benson Tuckey, Liberal, both of Exeter, for a successor to Dr. Hobbs Taylor, a Progressive Conservative, who died last December.

Although Huron is one of the four Ontario dry areas, coming under the provisions of the Canada Temperance Act, the government's liquor policy has been discussed during the campaign and Mr. Drew last night defended it, claiming the liquor laws were strictly enforced and were developing more temperate habits among the people.

Replies to Editorial

The Premier replied to an editorial in the Toronto Daily Star of Feb. 12 which, he said, "conveyed a challenge to me to deny that I and the party I lead are financed by the liquor interests."

He continued: "Let me say with the utmost emphasis that anyone who alleges that I, or those associated with me, are controlled, financed by the liquor interests is a contemptible and unprincipled liar. I apply that description particularly to Mr. Oliver's main supporter, that evil old man Joseph Atkinson, whose dishonesty is only equalled by his hypocrisy."

Swell Prevents Attempt to Relieve Lighthousemen

Falmouth, Cornwall, England, Feb. 14 — (Reuters) — A heavy swell prevented a further attempt to relieve the lighthousemen on Wolf Rock who have been marooned for 32 days.

Eight miles south of Lands End, Britain's most southwesterly point, Wolf Rock has been lashed by continuous gales for the last five weeks. After repeated failure to relieve the keepers by sea, a helicopter dropped packages containing 14 days' rations to the marooned men Feb. 7.

Thursday the relief steamer Triton put off a boat which succeeded in passing two cannisters of fresh meat up to the lighthouse by means of a rocket line. But with the food went a message that continuing bad weather might mean the two weeks' rations dropped by the helicopter would have to last three weeks.

Damage House Owned By Exiled Mufti

Jerusalem, Feb. 14 (Reuters)—Covered by automatic rifle fire of Jewish forces, Jewish battle squads early today planted two bombs beside a house owned by Haj Amin El Husseini, exiled Mufti of Jerusalem. The blast demolished one room and damaged the doorway.

The nephew of the Mufti was in the house at the time of the explosion but was uninjured.

TO FILM STORY

Hollywood, Feb. 14 — (AP) — Warner Brothers are going to film the story of the Wright Brothers the studio announced yesterday. It disclosed the purchase 12 years ago from Orville Wright of the right to film the lives of him and his brother Wilbur, inventors of the airplane, with the provision that the picture not be made until after Orville's death. He died last Jan. 30.

Plenty of Lumber Will be Available But Price Higher

Vancouver, Feb. 14 —(CP) — Plenty of lumber will be available for building that "dream home" this year, but the price will be another thing.

For the first time in five years there is a surplus of lumber, but dealers say there is not the slightest chance of price reductions.

Export markets are still sufficiently active to hold domestic prices at a high level, with most of the demand coming from the United States.

In contrast to the war years, lumber is stacked high in the yards here.

Builders find a continuation of interest in home building, but cash deals are fewer, down payments smaller, and mortgages on the high side.

Labor and building costs are far ahead of a year ago, and the $7,000 house of 1947 will cost $7,800 this year.

Dimension lumber, No. 1, has advanced $18.50 a thousand board feet from $46.50 to $65; finishing lumber $29.50 from $96.50 to $126; nails up from $6.50 a keg to $8.50; shingles No. 1, up from $8.50 to $10. Plumbing and heating installations also show advances ranging from 20 to 30 per cent.

Remember, however, these are coast prices, where purchases can be made from the mills, free of freight rates.

Contractors have one advantage this year — the labor supply is good and better-type workmen available.

PRIVATE MEMBERS WANT GOVT. ACTION IN MANY FIELDS

C.C.F. Member And Labor Minister Clash

Ottawa, Feb. 14 (CP) — Demands by private members for government action in various fields multipled quickly in the Commons yesterday as representatives from all parts of the country continued the debate on the Throne Speech.

The usual quiet Friday atmosphere was enlivened by one heated incident as members demanded a return to price controls appointment of a minister in charge of the tourist trade, a distinctive Canadian flag, development of western oil fields, higher allowances for veterans and a lengthy list of other changes.

The demands in the debate, which allows members sufficient latitude to express their own views and grievances, came from Gordon Isnor (L-Halifax); Lewis Menary (PC-Wellington North) Liguori Lacombe (Ind-Laval Two Mountains); E. B. McKay (CCF-Weyburn); Douglas Harkness, (PC-Calgary East); J. W. Murphy (PC-Lamoton West); H. G. Archibald (CCF-Skeena); and Rene Jutras (L-Provencher).

The interruption in the continuous run of speech making came when Labor Minister Mitchell charged that the speech made by Mr. Archibald was a "speech made in Moscow." Mr. Archibald retorted that the Minister's speeches were "made in Berlin" —and the fight was on.

Downhill Pace Of Market Prices Shows Slackening

New York, Feb. 14 (AP) —Jittery American commodity markets coasted into the final session of the week today with the pace of their rollicking ride downhill greatly slackened.

But whatever the price break lost in fervor yesterday it gained in bewildering antics.

The gains bounced around so violently that quotation clerks had a hard time keeping up with the changes.

Cotton prices stayed on the slide with most of the gains. Stocks improved generally at New York and they were somewhat higher at London, Singapore and Tokyo.

Another item on the shopper's list bore a lowered price tag today—this time soap.

The housewife has been collecting on the price breaks in the commodity markets for a week. First it was flour and lard. Next it was bacon and shortening. Yesterday butter and beef.

The lower butter prices at the grocery store were an immediate reflection of a violent drop in wholesale prices at both New York and Chicago.

The price of butter fell as much as 6½ cents a pound on the wholesale markets. It fell 6 to 8 cents a pound in some New York chain stores. The latest drop brought it as much as 12c a pound below prices prevailing early this week.

Reductions in the price of soap and soap flakes at the grocery store resulted from a wholesale drop of five per cent.

Dealers continued reports of cautious buying in anticipation of further reductions. Many independent storekeepers complained they were forced to cut prices beyond wholesale reductions simply to meet chain store competition.

Red Star Warns Russian Soldiers To be on Watch

Moscow, Feb. 14 —(AP)— Red Star, Soviet army newspaper, warned Russian soldiers today to be on the watch for American spies.

"The Bolshevik party warns the Soviet people it has enemies striving to deprive it of freedom and independence," Col. V. Miskovski wrote in the army publication.

The article warned against Russians "infected with a feeling of slave-like imitation of bourgeois culture." Miskovski said United States and British agents make use of such citizens.

The article urged a more intensive political education for Russian soldiers.

Transportation System Tied Up and Power Disrupted by Sleet

Toronto, Feb. 14 — (CP)—With one motorist dead, transportation systems tied up and power facilities in some places disrupted Ontario today faced prospects of still worse weather as cold winds moved in from the north.

Already the province's highways had been iced-over, and its power lines sheathed with ice by last night's cold rain — a prelude of snow predicted for today.

All inter-city bus schedules were disrupted as a result of the rain-glazed roads. At Peterboro, 200 passengers were stranded overnight. In Toronto weekend bus travellers were sent home after a major bus company (Gray Coach Lines) announced half its service had been cancelled for the night.

Some 1,200 dancers at a night spot just west of here faced the prospect of sleeping on the dance floor until a nearby resident, awakened by noisy automobile horns, sanded a roadway so that they could get the cars onto the highway.

Ice snapped hydro lines at Lindsay and plunged the community in an hour of darkness. Several persons at Brantford escaped serious injury when their car skidded over a 14-foot embankment and in a three-car accident in the same city John Thompson, his wife and daughter suffered minor injuries. Four persons were injured at Barrie and $2,000 damage was caused to a bus in a highway accident.

The Highways department broadcast a warning against nonessential travel. Airline flights out of Windsor and Toronto were cancelled.

Chicago, Feb. 14. (AP) — Angry elements, lashing out across wide sections of the United States brought death and injury to scores, caused heavy property damage and left thousands homeless today.

Five died in two tornadoes which twisted through East Central Mississippi yesterday. More than a score were injured and 32 homes destroyed.

Thousands fled their homes in the south, in parts of Ohio and West Virginia as turbulent waters from rain and snow-swollen rivers and streams flooded lowlands.

The Red Cross in the south prepared for any emergency in view of the flood peril. National guards in some States were on the alert. Many communities in the flood belt were virtually isolated.

Rain, sleet, freezing rain and snow fell from the Rockies to the North Atlantic seaboard. A fresh mass of cold air moved into the northern plains and temperatures dropped rapidly—to below zero in some regions.

The cold mass was expected to move southeastward and extend into the north eastern part of the country over the weekend.

Highway travel from the Plains States to the east coast was hazardous. Air traffic was halted in many cities. In New York alone, 150 flights were cancelled ta La Guardia Field because of the low ceiling.

Dayton, O., was virtually isolated as heavy rains deluged the industrial city of 300,000. Some 1,000 families were forced to leave their homes. Four to seven feet of water flooded a housing project near Wright Field and trucks and boats worked into the night evacuating 700 to 800 families.

Flash floods threatened harassed residents in Tennessee, North Carolina, Kentucky, West Virginia and Mississippi. Temperatures dipped to below freezing in some parts of the south and rain changed to snow.

Speedy Examination in Europe And Availability of Shipping Will Increase Immigration

Ottawa, Feb. 14. (CP)—The speeding up of examination in Europe and increasing availability of shipping space to the Dominion is finding Canada with a rapidly-increasing immigrant population.

With more than half of its 73,000 total made of people of the British Isles, the 1947 influx swelled into a "new citizens" bumper crop, seeded by most of the European countries as well as the United States.

Excelling its 1947 predecessor will be the 1948 figure, predicts the deputy minister of Mines and Resources, Keenleyside. With emphasis now on the British Isles, two new immigration offices will shortly be opened at Glasgow and Belfast to bring more Scottish and Irish immigrants to Canada and to take the strain from the London and Liverpool offices now functioning.

In addition, Canada plans an air immigration scheme to fly displaced persons here at the rate of about 160 a day. This is expected to start in a short time.

By May, Canada hopes to have 22,000 displaced persons in the country. About 8,000 of these already have arrived.

Figures released by the Department of Mines and Resources today show that the British Isles accounted for more than half of the number entering the Dominion last year.

While Britain provided Canada with 38,747 immigrants, oddly enough, United States came in second place with 9,440. Total immigration from Northern Europe numbered 5,482, including 3,192 Dutch. Other races contributed 10,458 new Canadians, the largest individual group being 2,610 Poles.

Kindest province to the new Canadians was Ontario. The industrial province absorbed 35,543 immigrants. All other provinces lagged badly behind. The West Coast took 8,599; Quebec, 8,272; Alberta, 3,261; Nova Scotia, 2,294; Manitoba, 2,747; Saskatchewan, 1,901; New Brunswick, 1,248 and Prince Edward Island, 322.

Even the far north claimed its share of the 1947 immigrant flow. The Yukon territory took 30 and the Northwest Territories took nine.

Kitty Hawk's Final Home Soon Decided

Dayton, O., Feb. 14 (AP)—It may be a month before a final home is chosen for the famed Kitty Hawk airplane.

Harold S. Miller of Dayton, one of the executors of Orville Wright's estate, said last night no decision would be made pending examination of Orville Wright's papers.

"It may take a month or more to go through Mr. Wright's papers to see what he wanted done with the airplane," Miller said.

It was learned in Washington yesterday that the Science Museum in London, where the plane now is on exhibition, was prepared to return it to the United States.

BODY CREMATED

Moscow, Feb. 14 — (AP)—The body of Sergei M. Eisenstein, 50, world famous Soviet movie director, has been cremated. His funeral was late yesterday. Tribute was paid him by many fellow workers and officials, including cinema minister I. G. Bolshakov. Eisenstein died Wednesday

Drop Leaflets, Hope to Secure Release of Four

Shanghai, Feb. 14 (AP) — United States Marine planes dropped leaflets today in Chinese Communist areas near Tsingtao in an effort to open negotiations for release of four Marines held by the Reds.

A spokesman for the United States embassy said the navy was incontact with the Communists and "is doing everything possible to arrange their release."

The Chinese Communist radio, in a broadcast picked up by The Associated Press in San Francisco, confirmed yesterday that five Marines were captured Christmas Day and one of them had died of wounds. The Reds charged the Marines were aiding government troops in an engagement north of Tsingtao, in North China.

United States naval authorities have answered similar charges with emphatic denials.

GERMANS DEMAND LARGER SHARE IN TRADE MATTERS

Proposals Largely Taken Care Of--Clay

Frankfurt, Feb. 14 (AP) — The British and American military governors today heard demands from top German officials for more power in running occupied western Germany.

Leaving a two-hour conference, General Lucius D. Clay, the American governor, told reporters the demands "had mostly already been taken care of by the progress of events."

He explained that the German proposals, contained in a memorandum written two months ago, were superseded by the reorganization of the combined Anglo-American zones. This expanded the powers of the German administration.

Both he and Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, his British counterpart, appealed to the Germans for greater co-operation.

This apparently referred to the growing open criticism of occupation policies by the German leaders.

Export-Import Procedure.

Clay said the conference centred primarily on "ways and means for simplifying import-export procedure to get imports into Germany."

German and Anglo-American officials will continue joint discussions on coal production and transport next week.

Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Russian commander, yesterday ordered an economic commission set up for his zone in eastern Germany.

The German note to the west Allies says Germans should be given a bigger part in making decisions on German production and foreign trade.

Besides that, it makes several proposals for speeding up western Germany's economic recovery. These include:

1. More shipbuilding.
2. Revised coal-mining programs.
3. Aluminum manufacture, — banned long ago by agreement among the United States, Britain, France and Russia.
4. Changes in western Germany's import-export program.

After Clay and Robertson go over these proposals with the Germans, they are expected to discuss them with their own department heads in Frankfurt.

Allied sources predict they will work out a better import-export program for western Germany, and cut down somewhat military-government restrictions the Germans say are hampering recovery.

May Probe Baking Industry in East, Central Canada

By ROSS MUNRO

Ottawa, Feb. 14 (CP) — The bread-baking industry of Eastern and Central Canada likely will be investigated by the Commons Price Probe Committee when it launches its inquiry into causes of increased bread prices, it was learned today.

It probably will be held at the same time as another inquiry under the Combines Investigation Act is being carried out into the bread-baking industry of Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

In this way, information on the whole industry will be gathered, with the committee itself likely looking into the situation in Manitoba later.

Health Minister Martin, committee chairman, said in an interview last night that the western inquiry in no way tied the hands of the committee here. It can go ahead with its probe simultaneously with the combine commissioner's inquiry.

The committee also is considering extending its inquiry into holdings of butter in warehouses and cold storage plants during the last year.

Mr. Martin again has reiterated his contention that the committee probe is no witch unit.

"We are not out to get anyone—we are out to get the facts," he said.

If the committee finds there is no profiteering or no hoarding which have boosted prices, then that will be fine in his opinion.

The committee does not sit today but meets Monday morning at 11 a.m. E.S.T., with Fred McGregor, commissioner under the Combines Investigation Act, scheduled to be the first witness.

It is likely that Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, Labor Minister Mitchell and possibly Agriculture Minister Gardiner also will be called.

Softening Ice Forces Postponement Of Skating Contests

Barbara Ann Scott Well Ahead in Figures Phase

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Davos Platz, Switzerland, Feb. 14 (CP) — Softening ice today forced postponement of the world's figure-skating championships after Barbara Ann Scott took a decisive lead in the compulsory-figures phase of the event.

The thaw came at the lunch interval after the fourth of the six compulsory figures had been skated. At that point Barbara Ann led the British champion, Jeannette Altwegg, with 632.3 points to 622.3 for Miss Altwegg.

The remaining compulsory figures will be skated tomorrow, along with the free-style events.

In third place was Eva Pawlik of Austria, with an unofficial 612.6.

Toronto's Suzanne Morrow, who came third with Wally Distelmeyer of Toronto, in the world pairs event earlier in the week, held eighth place with an unofficial 579.3. But Marilyn Ruth Take of Toronto, dropped to 10th. place with 565.5. Earlier she had been ninth.

Miss Pawlik shone on the third figure—the bracket-change-bracket—to pass Jirina Nekolova and move into the third spot. Miss Nekolova was fourth with an unofficial 592.8, Shirley Adams of London, fifth with 590.3 and Yvonne Sherman of New York, sixth with 588.4.

Barbara Ann was defending the world championship she won in Stockholm last Winter. She wore the same costume as yesterday—a grey-blue outfit with a white cap and gloves.

Miss Morrow wore a green skirt and white sweater with a green cap and gloves. She carried a lucky charm of five Olympic rings with two skates suspended from them. Miss Take had a yellow sweater with a green skirt and white pullover.

Federal Minister For Tourist Industry Needed

Ottawa, Feb. 14 (CP) — J. W. Murphy (PC-Lambton West) said last night in the Commons he felt there should be a Federal Minister in charge of the tourist industry.

Speaking during the Throne Speech debate, Mr. Murphy said he did not think it was sufficient to have a Dominion Travel Bureau. There was a need for a Federal cabinet who could cooperate with the provinces and possibly co-ordinate all Canadian tourist industry activities.

Mr. Murphy said there was no reason why Canada could not develop the tourist industry to a point where the income from this source went over the $1,000,000,000 mark. The government should embark on an intensive publicity program. Steps could be taken to improve conditions at Canadian border points because they did not compare favorably with United States services.

He called for the appointment of a royal commission to inquire into the factors underlying the building of homes for veterans and reviewed developments last year when a Commons committee investigated the controls.

Houses built in the Sarnia Ont., area were found to have cost the government more than $10,000 and many still were in complete.

FLOWN TO BOMBAY

Bombay, Feb. 14 (AP) — Mohandas K. Gandhi's assassin has been flown to Bombay from New Delhi, it was learned today.

The special plane carrying the assassin, Naturam Vinayak Godse, arrived in Bombay before dawn Thursday. Elaborate precautions had been taken against attempts at suicide.

CARGO OF WHEAT LOST

Nagasaki, Japan, Feb. 14—(AP) — Kyodo News agency reported today the coastal steamer Daifuku Maru, carrying 264 tons of wheat, sank after striking a shoal off the west coast of Kyushu Island Thursday. There was no indication of casualties.

CANADA MAY BAN COMMUNISTS FROM UNITED STATES

Early Cabinet Action Hinges Whether Move Can be Authorized

Ottawa, Feb. 14 (CP)— Possibility of a ban on the entry of Communists from the United States is under study by the Canadian government.

Authoritative quarters said today early cabinet action on such a prohibition hinges on whether administrative experts can find authorization for the move in existing legislation.

One well-informed source said an announcement on the Dominion's position might be expected shortly.—

The prospective Dominion action came in the wake of reports from the United States that the anti-Red Taft-Hartley Labor legislation of that country was forcing Communists in unions to transfer their activities to Canada in large numbers.

Concern of federal officials over Communist domination of several big Canadian unions was reported as sharpened by the new influx — or the threat of one—into labor groups in the Dominion.

Another spur to Federal anti-Red action was an apparent decision by the United States immigration authorities to bar suspected Canadian Communists from crossing the border into that country.

While the U.S. has made no announcement of such a policy, it has been known in labor quarters for some time that reputed Reds trying to get from this country to the U.S. — even for such brief excursions as labor conventions —are being turned back at border points.

LITIGANTS PAY FINES FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT

Fisticuffs at the conclusion of a court case at the county buildings here this week brought charges of contempt of court with the two principals being assessed fines after they had time to "cool" off for two or three hours in the county jail.

The action being heard before Judge J. C. Anderson was a civil matter between two local men. As the case concluded the two men got into an argument with result that the one struck the other on the jaw with his fist.

The two men were given two or three hours to cool off after which they were brought back up to the court room where they paid fines for contempt of court.

SERVICE STATION TO BE CLOSED

The Walker Grills service station on Moira Street west will be closed on Monday owing to the death of his father which occurred this Saturday morning.

UNDERGROUND CABLE FAILURE

Due to underground cable failure approximately 160 telephones of the Bell Telephone system in the city are out of order today, it was reported by the local manager Mr. Grant Procter.

Phones out of order are those in the north Pinnacle Street, Upper Front Street, Moira Street West and Hillside Street district. Repairs are being made as rapidly as possible with several gangs of repairmen working to rectify the trouble.

Streets, Walks In an Extremely Sloppy Condition

City streets and sidewalks were in an extremely sloppy condition this morning as the result of last night's rain which turned frozen snow into slush and left huge puddles of water lying in the streets.

Workmen of the public works department received hurried calls to open catch basins along the curbs to let water get away and in doing so got well splashed by passing motorists. However, snowplowed streets were reported in fair condition although streets on which there is a depth of snow are almost impassable for vehicular traffic.

The same was reported by farmers attending the weekly market who stated sideroads were in an extremely slippery and slushy condition.

In the city numerous accidents of a minor nature were reported as result of slippery streets. From early yesterday afternoon until this morning police investigated no less than a dozen accidents with damages in each instance ranging from slightly dented fenders to upwards of $200. No persons were reported injured as result of any of the accidents. Traffic was tied up on Bridge Street hill for a short period around six o'clock.

No accidents were reported by provincial police.

Equipment Failure Causes Disruption Of Hydro Power

Mechanical equipment failure at the Sidney transformer station supplying power to Belleville caused a power failure in the city shortly before six o'clock last evening. As result power was almost completely off for approximately ten minutes while service was not restored to normal for about 20 minutes.

Provincial hydro officials explained that power for Belleville district was supplied from two sources — from the Trent River system and by power transmission lines from the Ottawa district. When the equipment at the Sidney transformer station failed the load was thrown on the Trent system which was inadequate to supply the demand. As result the load for the district had to be reduced until the equipment failure was rectified.

Hearing for Second Vote On Tweed Beverage Room Question Again Adjourned

Charges that the "dry" interests in Tweed during the local option vote last November had sought to obtain votes by doing favors for voters were heard in court here Friday at the resumed hearing of an application by Ed. J. Courneyea, Tweed hotel proprietor, for a second vote on the beverage room question.

As result of the liquor vote the questions of a liquor warehouse and beer warehouse were carried by the voters while the beverage room question failed by only six votes to obtain the necessary majority. In the application for a second vote the "wets" are charging irregularities in balloting.

First hearing on the matter was heard two weeks ago before Judge J. C. Anderson with proceedings being adjourned until yesterday to give counsel for the "wets" opportunity to call additional witnesses. Evidence was completed yesterday with Judge J. C. Anderson further adjourning the proceedings until next Friday for argument and judgment.

Claim Only Two Ballots Given

At the first hearing witnesses for the "wets" told of ballots being folded wrongly by the deputy returning officer for one of the three polls in Tweed and of the answer part of some of the ballots being torn off while the counter foils of other ballots were found in the ballot box still attached to the ballots. Two witnesses stated they had received only two ballots from the D.R.O. when they were entitled to vote on three questions.

Yesterday Adolph Kunz, former employee at Tweed who was brought from Windsor to testify for the "wets" told of being refused his ballot at the polling booth although his name was on the voters' list. He had gone to the polling booth without his Canadian citizenship papers and when he returned with them he was refused his ballot on the grounds that he had been twice at the polling booth. There had been no question raised as to the length of his residence in Tweed.

Stated He Heard Rumors

Questioned by the "wets" counsel if he had heard rumors to the effect that Gordon Steel Works at Tweed would close if the vote went "wet" the witness replied that he had heard the rumor.

"From whom did you hear the rumor?" asked Judge Anderson. "From Percy Green," was the answer. The witness stated he had not been interested in the rumor as he worked at another plant.

Clovis J. Courneyea told of hearing a street conversation between Miss Rita Lindsay and the late S. B. Rollins of Tweed, on the day of the liquor vote. The witness stated Mr. Rollins had told Miss Lindsay if she voted "dry" her hospital bill would be paid.

This was corroborated by Mrs. Jean Brooks who stated she had heard the last part of the conversation between Mr. Rollins and Miss Lindsay. "She had heard Mr. Rollins say "and I'll pay the bill," she said.

Offered House to Rent

"Just as Mr. Rollins concluded his conversation with Miss Lindsay he turned to me and asked if I had a house yet," the witness continued. "If you vote dry I'll rent you one." Mrs. Brooks stated she had previously talked with Mr. Rollins about renting one of his houses in Tweed.

"Did Mr. Rollins rent you a house," asked Judge Anderson. "No, I didn't vote his way," was the reply.

"And did you tell Mr. Rollins that?" asked the judge. "Yes I did," replied Mrs. Brooks.

"You didn't take him seriously when he said he would get you a house?" asked B. R. Collins, counsel for the "drys".

"I said, are you kidding," replied Mrs. Brooks. "He said no."

Returning Officer Heard

Garrett Morton, returning officer for the liquor vote, as first witness for the "drys" told of the D.R.O.'s receiving instructions especially with reference to persons entering the polling booth on more than one occasion.

Under cross examination he stated there had been 250 names added to the revised voters' list. In addition to this some voters had been permitted to vote when vouched for at the polls although their names were not on the voters' list. Mr. Robb, counsel for the "wets" referred to the statement of a previous witness that Mrs. Jennie Graham, normally a resident of Yarker had been permitted to vote when vouched for by a scrutineer.

Mrs. Mary James, scrutineer for the "drys" at No. 3 poll, told of "spoiled" ballots noted when counting votes at her poll. Some of the ballots had been torn "because of their being folded the wrong way." She had seen Mr. T. C. Graham in the polling booth on several occasions but stated because of the cold weather the scrutineers had agreed to let some voters stand inside.

Worked in Yarker

Called to the stand as witness for the "drys" Mrs. Jennie Graham stated that although she had worked in Yarker for the past three years her home was in Tweed where she had rooms. She had driven to Tweed last Nov. 12th to vote and on entering the polling booth had met Mr. Herb Sayers who vouched for her.

Under cross examination Mrs. Graham denied that she had told Mr. Meraw at the time she took her oath at the polling booth that she was residing at Yarker.

Herb Sayers, scrutineer at No. 3 poll, recalled on the day of the vote that as he had left the polling booth for lunch he had met Mrs. Graham. However, he had taken no oath when vouching for Mrs. Graham and had vouched for two others in the same manner.

Fred Mitchell, D.R.O. for No. 3 poll told how he had folded the ballots lengthwise as he gave them to the voters. When the ballots were returned he was sure that the counter foils had been torn off properly. Contrary to statements given by two previous witnesses he was certain that he had given each voter 3 ballots.

Questioned by Mr. Robb as to what right Mr. Graham, "drys" manager, had to be in the poll on several occasions, the witness replied that he thought Mr. Graham had this right as manager.

"If he was not supposed to be there then the constable should have put him out," he said.

Mr. Mitchell stated he had relied on the scrutineers in deciding who had the right to vote. He admitted that vouchers for persons not on voters list had not been sworn and stated "if the scrutineers wanted anybody sworn they are supposed to say so."

On re-examination by Mr. Collins the witness admitted he could not distinguish between declined, rejected or cancelled ballots and on the election sheet had termed such ballots as being "spoiled." He was positive, however, that no counterfoils had been found on ballots taken from the ballot box.

T. C. Graham stated that as campaign manager he had felt that he had the privilege in entering the polls. He admitted that he had assisted an elderly crippled lady, Mrs. Ida Craig, into the polling booth but claimed he had not seen her mark her ballots.

Miss Lindsay's hospital account had been discussed by Tweed council of which Mr. Graham is a member. "We felt that this should not be an indigent account but since we have been advised that it is we will have to pay it," Mr. Graham stated.

Cross examination by Mr. Robb the witness stated he knew Mr. S. B. Rollins but stated he had not been actively engaged in the liquor vote campaign because of ill health. Neither had he been part of the organization.

Beauty, Color and Artistry Will Feature Quinte Skating Club Show

There will be color, pageantry, pantomimic beauty and ice wizardry when the Quinte Skating Club stages its 8th Annual Winter Show in Memorial Arena here next Friday and Saturday.

Stemmed from the experience of seven previous highly successful ice extravaganzas, the current edition of the Winter Show climaxes in all its variable phases anything presented to the public before.

Upwards of 160 members of the club form the cast, from tiny tots to veteran performers. From the artistry of individual performers to the colorful sequences of collective presentations, the beauty of pageant and pantomime from the land of "Make Believe" enhanced by the wizardry of Toronto Skating Club stars, the show welds itself into a highly attractive and entertaining whole that should make history for this up-and-coming skating organization.

The famous fairy story of Hansel and Gretel in all its original beauty is brought out in a colorful ice presentation. A delightful Oriental flavor is injected into the show with the pageant "In a Chinese Garden". Latin America is pictured with its gay caballero motif in "South American Sway". And Ould Ireland is not forgotten in this delightful variety with colleens and Broths o' bhoys" in "A Bit of Ireland."

Scotland, too, is represented in "Scotch on Ice" while the mysterious land of India, with its color, intrigue, dark-eyed maidens, snake-dancers, imperious Sultans and all the beauty and native charm that is synonymous with this exotic land, concludes a highly entertaining show.

The Winter Show makes its debut Friday night next with a Saturday afternoon matinee and evening performance on the same date.

Father on the Farm

He Never Complained About The Crops

By KENNETH C. CRAGG

Father was the most surprised man alive when he had two crop failures in a row.

And hurt, too! For, while every year he seemed gloomy about prospects—it was either too hot or too cold, or too dry or too wet, and anyway prices were no good—father never really believed he would have to start a winter with his granary near-empty.

After the second year of failure father's testimony on Communion Sunday became a little thin, especially since the farmers in most parts of Ontario had good crops and were paying off their mortgages with the way prices went up during the First Great War. He always made a creditable showing, nevertheless, about being thankful for good health, and if he couldn't, in honesty, mention his crops, yet he never complained about them.

He Didn't Complain

Father was not a complainer, to the Lord or anybody else, and he could have found a use for money about that time to pay for his operation and the straw shed extension to the barn.

The first crop failure was caused by too much rain and the second by too much heat and drought. They were equally discouraging, but there was one thing about the drought. It wasn't hard to take the grain off and a boy didn't have to go around in mud up to the hip pocket on his overalls.

Even mother was depressed the wet year. The hens drooped around and roosted on the machinery in the implement shed instead of hustling and laying eggs. Throughout the whole summer there was hardly even enough dust for a hen to wallow over in the big burdock patch by the barn dump or under the edge of the spruce windbreak. It was kind of pitiful to see a hen walk up to the dusting holes and find them full of water.

The grain went in fairly well the wet year because there were enough dry spells to crack in a few acres of seed, particularly if a man had a combination cultivator and broadcast seeder to use when his drill sprouts clogged with mud.

Trouble With the Hay

Some roots and corn never got in at all and haying nearly broke both the back and the spirit. Mother's brother, Uncle Jabez, who conducted a constant sniping war aganist farmers, on the ground they were never satisfied, one day asked father what they were complaining about now. Father said the hay was hard to handle. Uncle Jabez said, sure farmers were never satisfied, now they had too much hay. Father invited him out to help with the haying, but Uncle Jabez didn't come. He was away too smart.

The hay was so sappy it was hard to get it dry enough, even on the odd bright day, to haul into the barn. Some of the new clover was so heavy the hay-loader picked it from the swath and it was all a man could handle on a wagon. Most of it went in on the tough side and the centres of the mows heated until they steamed like smoke.

That was the first year people began to pay attention to spontaneous combustion and mother was fit to be tied. Father wasn't any too happy either, but mother looked at the barn the last thing at night, always expecting to see a flicker of flame through the ventilating doors. First thing every morning there was another look, and so convinced was she that the barn would burn that she seemed almost disappointed to see it still standing.

Father was just fearful enough that he didn't stable the horses and he let the pigs run. But gradually all the hay that could be got in went under cover, and in time the mows cooled off. Some of the hay taken out the next winter was charred black and went directly to the manure pile.

Some Harvest Troubles

Haying was almost a picnic compared to the harvest. For the most part the grain grew rank, with soft, weak, straw full of stem rust, and the rains pounded it flat to the ground. The blacksmiths worked day and night for a while, and hardly knocked off for meals, they were so busy making "lifters", long, pointed pieces of metal, each with an arm that curved on an upsweep above the level of the binder table canvas. These were bolted at intervals onto the knife guards and reached out in front close to the ground. The points lifted most of the grain and the tangled mess went back onto the knife and table to be elevated and tied in sheaves.

And what sheaves! The heads could not be distinguished from the butts, and they would tangle so the binder couldn't throw them out. Father would have to stop and run around and pull them out by hand. As if that weren't sufficient to plague a man, there was an incredible amount of camomile, acres of it, tons of it, thick and sappy with the rain. Its yellow and white flower and its rank, water-filled stems and leaves poked up all over the place as if the camomile seed had been broadcast by a big and sweeping hand.

The binder had to be set to cut low or it would have run over the flattened grain, and when the cut bar was close to the ground it caught all the camomile, and the wretched, stinking weed jammed in the elevating canvases.

Between stopping to pull out camomile and stopping to pull out tangled sheaves, father was often an hour going the round in a ten-acre field. Father got to hate camomile. As he said, sow thistle at least would elevate, and perennial sow thistle was no friend of father's.

But that was not the worst. The fields got so soft that the big binder wheel from which the power is taken to drive the machinery, would mud up and skid along the ground. So, when father was not pulling camomile out of the elevating canvases and pulling sheaves out of the knotter, he was scraping mud out from between the cleats of the drive wheel with the leaf from a old buggy spring. Sometimes he could go all of fifty yards before the drive wheel muddled up again.

Disheartening Conditions

Some farmers bought small gasoline engines and mounted them on platforms on the binders to run the machinery and let the drive wheel run free. Father didn't have enough crop to warrant the expense of an engine, so he cut the rest of the grain with the mower and raked it with a dump rake.

The hauling in was somewhat of a problem. Often the pitcher-on wore long rubber boots to the field. Even empty, the wagon wheels sank deep in the ground and father never went out for a load of grain, it was always for a rackful, because a rackful was all the horses could handle. He ran two wagons and the two put together wouldn't carry a load.

His aim each time was to get enough on the wagon for two slingfuls and sometimes there was barely enough for the slings to tighten on for the lift from the wagon into the mow.

The grain grew in the stooks and scarcely any of it went into the barn that wasn't on the tough side. At threshing time the steam engine and the separator both bogged down in the barnyard because the engine man knew better than father where there was firm ground. They broke up and splintered most of father's elm planks that he was saving for the culvert over the creek below the barn, before they got the separator pulled out and up the dump into the barn.

And Threshing Troubles

Some of the planks and fence rails that had been put under the separator and drive wheels had to be pulled out later with the team and logging chain.

Father was so mad at the thresher for getting stuck, he told him to take his blamed machine off the farm. But before they got it out of the mud onto firmish ground, both had cooled considerably and father remembered it was the only machine in the district. He couldn't see himself flailing grain all winter and winnowing it by shoving chaff through the fanning mill.

He also realized the engine and separator men had their troubles, outside of getting their equipment bogged in mud. Some of the grain, not only at father's, but everyone's threshing, was so tough that, time and again it clogged the blower. The separator woul grunt and slow down as damp straw and camomile hit the cylinder.

Often it would throw the drive belt and even if the belt stayed on its pulleys while the engine labored and huffed until the cylinder was whining at full speed again, there was an even chance the stuff would never come out the end of the blower.

Men would yell and the power would go off. The separator man would run to the back of the machine, open a porthole and clear the blower, a handful at a time.

Just General Hard Luck

All this cost father extra money and was of little benefit to the thresher either. Shortly after they pulled out, the little grain there was started to heat in the bins. So the barn floor had to be swept clean and some of the grain carried out to dry, while the grain in other bins had to be shovelled and turned every day until it stopped heating.

As father said: "It was a disappointing year to the farmers around these parts."

He bought a lot of feed that year and the prices were high. The ground was sad and worked hard in 1916 from the soaking of the year before. Father bought seed shipped in from the luckier parts of Ontario and the grain gave excellent promise around the end of June. Then a dry spell with heat set in and the barley and oats headed out and ripened before their time.

He had to buy a lot of feed that year also, and the prices were still high.

In the final analysis, father used to say, when the crops are good a body has to work harder, he uses up more binder twine, it costs more to thresh and prices are low. When the crops are poor there isn't much to sell and everything you have to buy costs dear.

He was once asked why he farmed. "Blamed if I know," said father.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

WATERPROOF

We need not be too much worried about our bird friends in rainy weather, because they all wear waterproof coats with hoods. Several factors combine to keep their skin from getting wet. After a dead Cormorant had been kept immersed for two days its skin was still dry. Why?

There are various types of feathers in a bird's plumage. The down-feathers, comparable to the under-fur of some animals, such as seals, are of a loose, soft, fluffy structure. These grow close to the body, and are generally completely hidden by those of a different kind, known as contour-feathers. Each down-feather possesses rows of tiny hooks, which catch on to similar hooks of the neighbouring feathers, thus forming a regular felt covering. This might be called a bird's underwear, as it comes between the skin and the outer coat.

Entangled by the feathers is trapped air that helps to keep the bird dry as well as warm. A Duck swims high in the water because it rests on an inch-thick raft of feathers and air.

A Gannet wears a firmly-made suit. The plumage of Loons and other diving birds is particularly hard and compact so as to shed water. Also Fulmars, Shearwaters, and Petrels have this kind of plumage, with the added protection of an unusual amount of fat: so much, in fact, that their bodies have been used for illumination. A Grebe never gets wet because its plumage is dense, smooth, and rather hair-like.

All these water birds require absolutely moisture-proof coats, and therefore besides the close texture of the material the plumage must be exceptionally oily. But there is oil on the feathers of all birds, put there by themselves.

Perhaps you have noticed a bird preening its feathers. The neck stretches frequently, so that the bill may reach a spot near the tail. There is a reason for this. Situated here is a flat plate forming a support for the steering feathers and for a special, oil-producing gland, called the uropygial, which lies at the base of the tail. The secretion from this large gland is distributed over all the feathers by the bill.

When we see a bird preening itself, we must remember that it is not only arranging its feathers so that it will look trim, but is also putting on a waterproof coat.

Troops Trained In Handling Of Huskies

Churchill Man., Feb. 13 (CP)—A selected class of Canadian and American troops has been taking lessons at this northern military post in the handling of husky dogs. But the soldiers prefer jeeps ... they don't bite.

The training designed to familiarize the men with the dog-sled type of Arctic transportation, is but one of many types of instruction given to troops stationed at this base 600 miles north of Winnipeg.

The class on the care and use of dogs was conducted by two veteran trappers from the Churchill district, Henry Johnson and Henry Fortin, who described opening sessions as representing "mild pandemonium."

Jeeps, snowmobiles and weasels provided background for the dog classes, with most of the troops preferring to handle the growling tracked vehicles instead of the growling huskies.

"A snowmobile may bounce you around a bit," said one soldier, "but at least it doesn't snap back at you."

However, at the end of a week's tuition the soldiers decided huskies had their points too. Perhaps they did snap back, but bouncing.

Scout-Guide Week

The world needs self-reliant young people who have a sincere regard for others, irrespective of racial origin or religious belief, said a prominent world figure recently in discussing Boy Scout and Girl Guide Movements. In Canada on Sunday some 165,000 boys and girls will begin an annual observance known as Boy Scout-Girl Guide Week. They are proud members of two movements which are training young people in self-reliance with a respect for others regardless of racial or religious beliefs.

That the teachings of Scouting and Guiding are playing a vital role in the moulding of the citizens of the future is reflected in the further comment of the world leader quoted above; "If we can impress upon our youth principles of friendliness and mutual respect, we shall go a long way towards establishing a better understanding among the nations of the world."

It is apparent that as more and more children become Scouts and Guides, they will be inspired to do their best to do their duty to God and their country, to obey the Scout or Guide law, and to help other people. It is well said that Canadian Scouts and Guides are "training to serve Canada." Let us work together to make these programs available to more and more Canadian boys and girls.

Those, interested in promoting the unity of Canada — and wanting their boys and girls to develop characteristics of unselfish service by learning to help others, by learning to give as well as take, and by learning to live, will do well to take a personal interest in Boy Scout - Girl Guide Week Feb. 15-22. Here is an opportunity to observe at first hand the Scouts and Guides of Canada as they go about their business of "training to serve Canada."

The three major factors in the life of any young person are the church, the home and the school. The Boy Scouts and Girl Guides Associations contribute a unifying action, bringing these into a progressive and integrated program of spiritual, moral, mental and physical development.

Fire Hazards

Fires of the most disastrous nature have been frequent during the present winter. The newspapers carry stories of fires which have not only destroyed valuable property but also taken the lives of young and old. Severity of the weather will be accepted as one cause with heating equipment working hard to maintain temperatures to which people are accustomed.

Extreme care has to be exercised with fire which is one of the blessings that civilized man enjoys but it becomes one of the deadliest enemies of humanity when it takes human lives.

The present winter has exacted a heavy toll, it has caused rapid consumption of coal in storage, it has interfered with the distribution of coal by tying up traffic at a time when it is necessary to have more coal than is usually required.

Most people will be pleased when this season's end comes as it will lift from them certain responsibilities, those of providing the fuel to keep the fires burning sufficiently to heat the homes, and those many cares which are associaetd with the control of fires because any forgetfulness might bring a train of disaster. Those who look after the heating of homes have felt the grave responsibility this year what with higher prices for coal because the subsidies have been removed, the necessity of greater consumption of fuel with more coal to handle and more ashes to remove and pass out to the collectors. They will surely feel a sense of relief when spring puts in its real appearance. Theirs has been a heavy responsibility.

Fortunately dealers have with their foresightedness and knowledge of needs been able to satisfy the greater demands upon coal and in this way they have helped greatly the consumer in the problem of heating.

The number of fires still imposes a deep sense of obligation of responsibility upon persons in charge to exercise every precaution and measure of safety to prevent fires getting beyond control as to endanger property and life.

Kicking Horses

Reports of persons being hurt by the kick of a horse merely emphasize how rare it is for a horse to cause serious injuries in this way.

There are kicking horses, but they are an exception to the rule. It is probably more unusual to find a mean-tempered horse than it is to find a man with similar characteristics. It is sound policy to get rid of an equine with such tendencies, because they are not easily managed.

Most horses, unless badly frightened, will try to avoid injuring a human. The writer well remembers, when a kid, falling in a laneway in front of several galloping horses. Every last one jumped clear over, so as not to hurt the boy.

There is one good rule to follow when handling a horse given to kicking. Get as close to him or her, as quickly as possible. A horse is not apt to do much damage if one is pressed against its flank. Beware standing back so as to catch the full force of the kick.

Also, always speak to the animal before approaching it. The horse's hoof is its principal defence. If startled, it may use it.—Windsor Star.

Native Woods

An Owen Sound furniture maker, in commenting on the future supply, and price trend, says that such native woods as birch, maple and elm do not satisfy the demand. Rather, he says, he must manufacture from imported oak, mahogany and walnut. The situation is an example of how human nature helps to keep the cost of living at high levels. The demand, with few exceptions, is for the difficult to attain, for that which has to be brought in great distances, and, as a result, for that which is more expensive.

Why not a greater demand for furniture of our native woods? Maple, for instance, is beautifully grained, can be finished in very rich tones, and makes ideal furniture for a great variety of requirements. Either finished blond, deep, rich red, or in between shades, it has a hard finish and good weight. Birch is also very beautiful of grain and takes a very fine finish, often being "passed" as maple. Even elm, of which there is plenty, has a beautiful grain, and takes a fine, soft finish, particularly in light tones, although the wood itself is not as hard a surface. There are other native woods with much beauty such as butternut, quite similar to walnut though not as hard, ash, cherry and others.—Owen Sound Sun-Times.

Declaring War on War

Moscow's official radio in decrying the Marshall Plan for European Recovery has described it as "in essence," "war." It is obviously the intention to shock the world, for there is no more terrible word in any language. But, oddly enough, for once the Kremlin's facile instrument of Communist propaganda is not wholly wrong in its statements or in its assumptions.

For the European Recovery Program, if adequately financed and intelligently administered in partnership is indeed a war program. It declares war on poverty and insecurity; it will fight unemployment and homelessness; it will defeat despair in the heart and conquer dismay and discouragement.

And above all, it will wage war on war, for it will create the conditions in which alone peace can exist. For more than mere war, the Marshall Plan is a crusade.—Montreal Gazette.

Weather warnings have already saved many lives and millions of dollars worth of property. Weather steering may add still another department to the United States Weather Bureau — one which does something besides talk about the weather.

But when that day comes it will take a Solomon to pass judgment on who gets the rain or who gets snow, who gets sunshine or which shipping lane rides out a hurricane, says Christian Science Monitor.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

What is meant by "striking out the enacting clause?"

The words of a bill or act that formally express the legislative sanction are known as the "enacting clause."

The enacting formula of acts of the British Parliament has not been changed substantially since the time of Henry VII, father of Henry VIII. It runs as follows:

"Be it enacted by the King's (or Queen's) most excellent Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in the present parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same as follows:"

The correspondiing enacting formula in the U. S. Congress is simply: "Be it enacted by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled."

The Rules of the House of Representatives state: "A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection."

The practice of rejecting a bill by striking out the enacting clause dates from about 1812.

A motion to strike out the enacting clause may not be made until the first section of the bill has been read, but it is not in order after the stage of amendment has been passed.

Leon Stafford Acquitted Of Murder Charge

Kingston, Feb. 14 (CP) —Leon Stafford, 24, of Waycross, Ga., was acquitted late yesterday of a murder charge arising from the fatal stabbing of 22-year-old Gerald Harrison of Toronto, in a scuffle over raising the odds in a dice game here last August.

The trial was the second for Stafford, a Negro who served in the United States navy during the war. A jury disagreed at the first trial last October.

"I consider you are a very lucky man," Mr. Justice G. F. McFarland of the Ontario Supreme Court told Stafford after spectators in the crowded courtroom cheered announcement of the verdict. "I hope you have learned your lesson."

With tears streaming down her cheeks, Stafford's mother, brought here by a group of Kingston citizens who contributed money for her railway fare, thanked the jurors for their verdict and shook hands with several of them. Then she pushed her way through the courtroom crowd to embrace her smiling son.

Admitted as evidence during the four-day trial was a statement police said Stafford gave them after the death of Harrison, a Canadian naval veteran. It quoted him as saying in part:

"I honestly didn't do it .. I have never carried a knife and never owned one except when I was in the navy. All I did was put up my hands and then I saw the guy was cut. There should have been some honest people around who saw what happened. I'm right-handed and I saw blood on my left hand."

Principal police witness was Detective Vincent McQuaide who investigated the slaying.

"Stafford told me he hadn't stabbed anyone and that he didn't have a knife," he said. "Later, on the way to the police station, Stafford said he had been in a crap game and the other fellow wanted to shoot for $5. Stafford said he wanted to quit and then the fight started."

PRIVATE MEMBERS

Mr. Archibald initiated the fireworks by saying that the Canadian government was governing for a segment of the population and was destroying the faith of the people in Domocracy. When charged with making a Communistic speech, he said that during the 1945 election campaign, Mr. Mitchell had Tim Buck, Labor-Progressive party leader, "around your neck."

"Just because you have carried out the spy probe and sent a few fellow travellers away on a one way ticket and chased Sam Carr (former national organizer of the Labor-Progressive Party) to Mexico is no reason why you should try to damn the movement of the Canadian people," said Mr. Archibald.

Mr. Mitchell tried to close the incident by agreeing to change his charge that Mr. Archibald's speech was similar to speeches made in Moscow, but Joseph Harris (PC-Toronto Danforth) decided to prolong it.

Mr Harris said he hoped Mr. Archibald would "mature and take a broader view than one which set one class of people against another. It was time young men in the house had something to say from their own experience and not something based on "some essay" handed to them by some agency outside the house.

Before members resumed the debate, Prime Minister Mackenzie King disclosed that the government is examining the question of Communists entering Canada from the United States.

Mr. King also said that a draft international Bill of Rights will be submitted to the joint parliamentary committee on human rights and fundamental freedoms.

Mr. Lacombe asked for adoption of a distinctive national flag after saying that the Red ensign, with the Union Jack in the canton still is flying atop parliament buildings.

Urges Loosening of Link

"That flag still spreads the impression that we are under the tutelage of another nation, that we are subservient," he said. "Let us conquer colonialism, let us not listen to those who would prevent Canada's growth, and let us adopt a truly Canadian flag."

He also urged a loosening of Canada's links with the United Kingdom and charged that Canada would not be faced with exchange problems today if the government paid attention to domestic needs rather than to the needs of the British.

The request for a federal minister in charge of the tourist industry came from an Ontario speaker — Mr. Murphy. He said he did not think it was sufficient to have a Dominion travel bureau. There was a need for a federal cabinet minister who could co-operate with the provinces and possibly co-ordinate all Canadian tourist industry activities.

The second speaker, Mr. Menary, urged that the government adopt a simpler income tax form for farmers as they found it difficult to assess their incomes.

The demand for development of Western Canada oil fields came from Mr. Harkness, who urged that the industry be given special tax reductions. Development of synthetic gasoline plants also should be undertaken on a national basis.

Wants Tax Reduction

Mr. Harkness also asked for reduction of the eight per cent sales tax on essential items and protested that the tax was being applied unfairly in newsprint. While daily newspapers had to pay the tax, it did not apply to American magazines entering Canada, to comic books and pulp fiction or to weekend newspapers without news sections.

Mr. McKay demanded the 25 per cent increase in veterans allowances and pensions and said that unless the rise in the cost of living soon stopped, further adjustment would be necessary. He also demanded a return to price controls and subsidies on essential products.

Mr. Jutras urged that the government increase the domestic price of wheat from $1.55 a bushel to at least $2 a bushel. Most of his speech criticized the Searle Grain Company of Winnipeg for what he termed "propaganda" against the long-term wheat contract with the United Kingdom.

Mr. Isnor accused Clarie Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South) of persistently painting a "cold, dreary dismal picture" of conditions in the Maritime Provinces and quoted figures to support his contention that there was still a "great field of opportunity" in the Maritimes for the products of its own coal mines.

HOMEOPATHS ARE TOO TOUCHY

I know a good physician when I hear him or her talk shop or when I read something he or she has written about a professional question, and I don't give a blanked blank whether the physician was graduated from a regular medical school, a school listed or classified as homeopathetic or one classified as osteopathic. If we the people were not so fond of petty graft and chenanigan we'd have a single standard of education and fitness with which every one seeking a license to practice medicine—that is, diagnosis, prevention and treatment of human disease, deformity of physical condition, by any method—would have to comply. We'd have a single examining board or commission to prepare the examinations that all candidates would be required to pass, and none of the petty politics and cheap graft, legitimate and otherwise, that makes medical licensure in Yankeeland a reproach to our national integrity. After all isn't it absurd to license a physician, surgeon or specialist as qualified to practice anywhere in this state and arrest him for practicing without a license if he attends any patients across the state line without first trotting to the politicians who control the licensing racket and slipping them a century note or two for their "endorsement" of his license, that is, if the board doesn't force the doctor to spend a week taking their examination.

It seems I made a mistake when I said here recently that there are no homeopathic medical schools left—according to the official publication of the California State Homeopathic Medical Society there are still two colleges classified as homeopathic even though homeopathic is now optional in them—they are Hahnemann Medical College, of Philadelphia, and the New York Medical College, of New York, both being recognized as first class institutions. I'm sorry I gave a wrong impression, but in the same article (I can't find it now) I said, I'm sure, that there is no such thing as an "allopathic" medical school either — and nobody can dispute that fact.

An editorial in the Homeopathic Bulletin says: "Dr. Brady condemned homeopathy as a worthless method of the past, and even pronounced judgment against osteopaths, in his article What School." If the Homeopathic Bulletin or its editor or any one else can show men in print that I condemned homeopathy as a "worthless method" I'll contribute $100 to any edutational or charitable institution my informant names.

As for osteopathy and osteopathetic readers to judge the fairness of my attitude. Incidentally, only a few months ago I called an osteopathic physician to treat a member of my own family and his diagnosis and treatment, as well as his professional ethics confirmed the belief I have long held—that osteopathic physicians as well as homeopathic and regular physicians should be members of the county, state and national medical society — and they probably would be, were it not for the wretched, narrow, reactionary attitude of the rank and file of the regular medical profession.

Come, come, lads, don't be so childish. If a physician is a good physician, who cares whether he or she uses homeopatric, osteopathic or other method. If you have any confidence in your physician at all, or for that matter if you are not a moron you will select your physician without regard for the "school" or "system" he or she practices, if any.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Everybody Itches

Six children, husband, wife — we all have scabies except the baby, five months old.

(Mrs. T. G.)

Answer—Scabies (pronounced skay-bi-ez—three syllables, accent on the first) is highly communible, being due to the itch mite which burrows in the skin and is barely visible to the naked eye. There is a chapter on the management of the trouble in the booklet Save Your Skin—for copy send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope. It is essential to boil, bake or dry-clean all bed linen, night dress, gloves, underclothing, personal toilet articles, etc; as part of the treatment, lest the itch mite renew operations promptly thereafter. Standard Sulfur Ointment, U. S. P., applied with thorough tubbing, following a prolonged hot soap and water scrubbing to the limit of endurance, a whole half pound of the ointment, more or less, and wallow in it over night. Next morning a warm bath and then a complete change to fresh linen, etc. Repeat the whole thing after an interval of a few days, if the itch has not been cured.

Hernia

Two years ago husband had operation for hernia on right side. That seems to be O.K. but within the last two months a hernia has developed on the left side. He does not want to go through another hospital operation if he can avoid and so he is much interested in your recommendation of injection treatment.

(Mrs. M. J. M.)

Answer—It is the method I'd prefer if I had hernia. Send stamped self addressed envelope and ask in writing for pamphlet on Hernia.

Wrong Combination?

Please tell me if eating meat and potatoes together is all right for you?

(Mrs. F. L.)

Answer—If you mean you contemplate inviting me to dinner; Ma'am, it will be all right, provided the potatoes are not mashed. I like 'em shoestring, Julienne or French fried, roasted, baked in jackets, even boiled if I'm very hungry indeed, but please don't even mention mashed.

George and Martha Black Won't be Coming Back For the Next Parliament

By DOUGLAS HOW
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 14—(CP) — The sad word is getting around Parliament Hill that George and Martha Black won't be coming back for the next parliament. Man and wife, they have fought their last general election.

The 74-year-old Progressive Conservative member for Yukon confirmed the report with the somewhat wistful observation: "we've been wandering back and forth across this country long enough, more than a quarter of a century in fact; it's time we settled down."

But the real, climactic reason is the action of the commons last session in shifting the boundaries of his constituency to take in a vast tract of the MacKenzie District of the Northwest Territories. George Black fought the proposal, and lost. He still wonders how any man is going to represent an area larger than Ontario, But that is not his worry.

This parliament, now in its third session, will be his last. In 1921, topped by his elevation to the speakership during the Bennett Regime and interrupted when he fell ill in 1940 and his wife Martha fought and won and held his seat until he came back in 1945.

For years, they have come down to Ottawa with a perennial youth and sparkle that goes right back to the frontier days when their child was born in a Yukon camp. Today, the man who first left his native New Brunswick to follow the Gold Trial of '98 and "did all right" is bald and slow, but he still bears himself with a straightforward quiet dignity.

His wife, white-haired and smiling has long been one of the brighter and more fascinating facets of the Ottawa scene. When Barbara Ann Scott came home last winter with her world skating title, one of the first people she went to see was Martha Black.

When they settle down for good, they will divide their time between their homes and law practices in Dawson city and Whitehorse, working among the miners, trappers and others they know so well.

Then Ottawa will only have its memories.

$200,000 FIRE LOSS

Chatham, Feb. 14— (CP)—Fire of undetermined origin swept through the corn drier and warehouse of the Warwick Seed Corn Company Friday and destroyed building and contents with an estimated loss of $200,000.

E. C. Warwick, president of the firm, said the fire started in the east end of the building where the drier was located but it had not been in operation for six weeks. A second drier was salvaged but nearly 500 tons of unshelled corn and equipment were a total loss.

Office buildings and nearby lumber piles were not damaged.

Dread of snow-blocked roads which as result of heavy snowfall in recent years has caused considerable worry to residents of Sidney township was lessened this week when the township took delivery of a new five-ton International truck equipped with the most modern Frink snowplow obtainable.

All controls of the snowplow, including the side wings are hydraulically operated and can be set to any desired position without the operator leaving the cab of the truck. The powerful International power plant provides sufficient power for the machine to buck any but the highest drifts.

The mobile equipment will speed snowplowing operations on the side roads.

The new equipment replaces the small caterpillar and snowplow formerly operated by the township and as well as snowplowing will serve the dual purpose of summer use. The equipment was sold by Truck and Farm Supply of Belleville.

St. Catharines, Feb. 14—(CP)—Gordon Turnbull, 16, who pleaded guilty last Tuesday to a charge of rape, was sentenced Friday to six months definite and six months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory. The offence was committed last Oct. 16 at Merritton.

In pronouncing sentence, Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow said he preferred not to send the youth to penitentiary and voiced regret Canada had nothing comparable to British institutions that offered an opportunity of reform and training to young offenders.

Vice-Consul Told To Go to Darien Isn't Told How

Shanghai, Feb. 14 — (AP) — The United States State Department made Culver Lleysteen a vice-consul and told him to proceed to Dairen.

The department didn't say how.

The Russians (and this is no state secret) occupy Dairen, big port in Southern Manchuria.

If Gleysteen wants to go to Dairen it must be by ship — a Russian ship. This means a trip to Vladivostok, requiring a Russian visa, which he may never get.

The last state department appointee to Dairen sat around for months, never got a Vladivostok visa, and finally was sent somewhere else.

"Guess I'll have to disguise myself if I ever get in," said Glyesteen.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was on my stummick on the living room floor looking at the comics in the papeer, and pop came home from the office, saying, Well, my little sun and air, it seems like ages since I last saw you, but I remember the occasion very well. It was this very morning at breakfist, and you were eating your 3rd stack of pancakes with undimished vigger and gusto. I regret that I wasn't able to share the rest of your joys and sorrows this lovely Satturday, but I was under the harsh necessity of having to earn a living to keep home and taxes together. However, I'll be very pleased to hear from your own lips a full recital of the day's activities, he said.

Well, nuthing special happened this morning till it got to be Shorty Judge's luntchtime, and then me and Puds Simkins went to his house and had luntch with him, but it wasn't a very big of a luntch, just scramble eggs and milk and cinnamon buns and stuff I said, and pop said, Did you ask your mother's permission ferst?

No sir, G, that would of spoilt the whole idea, I said, and pop said, Oh, I didn't realize there was a whole idea.

Yes sir, Shorty eats his luntch exter erly, so the idea was for him and Puds to come here and eat luntch with me afterwards, and then for us all to go and eat luntch at Puds's house, because Puds has his luntch exter late, I said. And that's what we did, and we were lucky, so we had plenty of variety. We had canned sammon and stuff here, and then we went to Puds's, and he had the biggest luntch of all, I said, and pop said, Never mind Puds's menu, I feel rather full as it is. And speeking of feeling, how do you feel? he said.

Swell, I said. Why, pop? I said, and pop said, Oh, no particuler reason. If you've finished with the paper I'll take it and change the whole subject he said.

Which he did.

Women's Activities

ALBERT COLLEGE WOMEN'S GUILD

The Albert College Women's Guild met Thursday afternoon in the parlor of Bridge St. United Church, with Mrs. W. Northcote, president, in charge, and conducting opening exercises.

Mrs. A. H. Fisher read a Scripture lesson from St. Paul's letter to the Corinthian Church, and based her remarks on the thought of "Giving Thanks." After a short business period with Mrs. Northcote presiding, a delightful musical program was presented.

Mrs. Templer contributed a group of three vocal numbers, "Laddie," "Grandena" and "Grandpa", captivating her listeners. Mrs. M. P. Duff was her accompanist. Mr. Wm. Connor played Lzist's "Paganini," the ladies thrilling to this materpiece.

Miss Jessie Tuite, who spent the last Christmas vacation in Florida, humorously told incidents of her trip, and described the scenic wonders of mid-winter in the South.

After adjournment, a social hour was enjoyed by all present.

TRINITY LADIES' CLUB

The ladies' club of Trinity United Church held the monthly meeting in the church parlors on Tuesday evening. The president, Miss Olive Ashe, took charge of the opening exercises and conducted the business period. It being "men's" night, she welcomed the visitors. With Chas. Johnson as convener, the entire program was arranged and conducted by the men. Rev. A. Poulter had charge of the devotional period and gave a brief outline of the Constitution of the United Church and the duties of each organization, also the plan of the arrangement of the United Church seal.

The social part of the program took the form of a radio broadcast with Chas. Johnson as announcer. The local news and orchestral productions were a fitting introduction to the various type of entertainment which followed. Unusual talent, heretofore hidden was revealed in forms of vocal and instrumental music, dialogue, impromptu speeches, baby sitting, folk dancing and etc., and the modern type of surgery and nursing was ably demonstrated. A quiz program for the ladies only, called for quick thinking but they were well repaid by the wonderful prizes which were given. The program was no disappointment for those who were privileged to hear the entertainment. The evening closed with the entire cast appearing and singing "Good-night Ladies".

Not leaving their work incomplete the gentlemen provided and served refreshments of ice cream, cake, cookies and tea.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. White and heartily applauded by the ladies for a job well done and an evening of wholesome entertainment.

Dr. Jack Marshall Guest Speaker At H. & S. Assoc.

The February meeting of Queen Mary Home and School Association was well attended many new members being in evidence.

During the business part of the meeting Mrs. Taylor Franklin, president, told all present of the plans for the forthcoming Hobby Fair which is being held on the 16th of April. All parents and pupils are requested to get their hobby entry's in early.

It was decided to donate $100.00 for the re-establishment of educational centres in the war devastated countries.

The junior attendance banner was won by Miss Hillis' afternoon class while Miss Chapman's class got the honors for the senior group.

Mrs. Campbell was in charge of the program. A very appropriate Health skit was very capably presented by the pupils in Mr. Frink's class. Arthur Duby, accompanied on the Spanish guitar, by Carl Brant, sang "Old Man River" followed as an encore by "Kate." Both these numbers were very well done. Also very much enjoyed by the audience was the piano duet played by Geraldine Wright and Marilyn Canning.

Mr. Harold Mott introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Jack Marshall. Dr. Marshall outlined the formation of teeth through the prenatal period to adolescents. He stressed the fact that in early life measles and scarlet fever are a serious handicap to the child's permanent teeth. "Every opportunity," he said "should be taken to protect the health of the child by seeing that he has proper nourishment, sleep, cleanliness and above all a sense of security and affection." He pointed out that a child actually needed more dental care than an adult. The first visit to the dentist should be made between the ages of 2 and 3 years so that the child will get used to the dentist's chair early so as to allay the natural fear of the dentist's office. In closing the speaker said that it is better to build strong boys and girls than to repair old men and women.

In commemoration of Founders Day. Mrs. Croll gave a survey of the accomplishments of the Home and School Associations since its inception thirty-one years ago.

Mrs. Clare thanked all taking part in the program, after which delightful refreshments were served by Mrs. Pringle and her committee.

Sascha Gorodnitzki, Pianist, Gives Delighful Recital at B.C.I.

Climaxing the season's concerts presented by the Community Concert Association the presentation of Sascha Gorodnitzki on Friday evening at the Collegiate Auditorium maintained the high musical standard which these concerts have achieved and gave the audience a rare glimpse of superlative pianist ability. The hall was comfortably filled, unlike most occasions when it is crowded, but the icy condition of roads and sidewalks was not propitious for out-of-town members, so that the audience was mostly composed of city attendants.

Speaking of the plans for next season's concerts the President of the Association, Mr. R. E. Hachborn, stated that the membership drive would commence about March first, when the executive would meet with a representative of the New York Association and make plans for next season's artists. Present members will be given preference, but as there is a waiting list of a hundred names, it was hoped those concerned would make application early. The executive which is composed of twenty-five members, and the members held their annual meeting last week and the condition of the Association was said to be good. It is expected there will be a budget of four thousand dollars. The aim of the Community concerts is to have a Carnegie Hall for every centre, and Mr. Hachborn expressed the hope that the Collegiate Auditorium would be the local Carnegie Hall.

Delight to Watch

Mr. Gorodnitzki is an artist whose extreme grace and facility on the keyboard is a delight to watch. Music seems to flow from his fingertips, and his expressive hands interpreted the music with the utmost sensitiveness. His hands were poetry.

Opening the group with a short number "Sonata in B Minor" by Domenico Scarlatti, which was charming in its clarity, he proceeded to a work of Johannes Brahms, based on a melody by Paganini. The variations form a difficult and exacting piano arrangement and the final effect is a creation by Brahms, not an arrangement.

In his pianistic approach to Chopin, Mr. Gorodnitzki, was outstanding. These consisted of six compositions, Impromptu in A flat major, which as the name suggests was improvisional in nature and is sometimes called his "day-pieces" as opposed to his nocturnes or "night pieces"; Nocturne in E Minor, an intense piece with true depth of feeling which was published after Chopin's death; Valse in E Minor, also published after his death although it was written when he was nineteen, a composition with a wistful melody which reaches a brilliant climax; Mazurka in A minor which is a popular Polish dance in three-quarter time; Etude in G flat major which is known as "Butterfly," an appropriate name for the light, graceful theme; and the familiar "Polonaise" in A flat minor, with its stirring martial measures and splendid harmonies, broken by vague fearful little passages, and ending in a sweep of great splendor.

A Minor Theme

Following intermission, Mr. Gorodnitzki, resumed his recital with Beethoven's "Chorus of the Whirling Dervishes". This has a minor theme and depicts the frenzied dancing of a religious group who whirl until they fall exhausted. Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G major" was followed by Schumann-Tausig's "Contrabandist" which was brilliantly performed

Probably the most picturesque numbers of the evening was Debussy's "Fireworks" which had a unique piano technique and color. This was a vivid picture of flashing lights and bursting sky rockets, and very softly at the end was just the suggestion of the "Marseillaise" as though played in the distance.

Two compositions by Franz Liszt completed the program. The first was a set of little pieces called "Consolations" which had a meditative and dreamy quality; and the second was "Les Companellos" or "The Bells" which Mr. Gorodnitzki played in preference to the Etude listed on the program.

The encores which the audience demanded were all familiar melodies "Flight of the Bumble Bee" by Rimsky Korsakoff; "Minute Waltz" by Chopin and the 8th Hungarian Rhapsody by Liszt.

Mr. Gorodnitzki is an inheritor of the great Russian school of pianism, and he is gaining increased prestige as one of today's great pianists. His debut with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra roused critics to great accolades, and since then he has continued to have musical triumphs as a recital favorite. He has also appeared as soloist with leading orchestras throughout the United States.

On the evening of January 31, thirty-two Wolf Cubs of the 2nd. Belleville Pack met at Christ Church parish hall for a sleigh party, and despite the below zero temperature everyone enjoyed the ride. After returning to the hall the boys were served a piping hot suppr, which had been prepared and was served by their mothers. Mr. and Mrs. M. Button were special guests, and Mr. Button gave the boys an inspiring pep talk, bringing to a close a very successful evening.

A contest and the serving of refreshments by the hostess, Mrs Shorten, brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

HUGE STORE DESTROYED

Paris, Feb. 14 — (Reuters) — Six brigades fought for several hours yesterday before mastering a fire which destroyed a huge store in Aubervilliers, northern suburb of Paris, containing furniture destined for people who had lost theirs in the war. Damage was estimated unofficially at 50,000,000 francs (nearly $240,000).

Mrs. Graham Speaks To Capacity Audience At World Day of Prayer

"The Lord's Prayer" was the basis for the program used yesterday for the interdenominational World Day of Prayer service held in the Salvation Army Citadel. Almost every church body in the city was represented in the capacity audience composed of women who believe in the efficacy of prayer; vacant chairs in the choir loft were filled, and extra seats were carried into the auditorium to augment the usual seating accommodation.

Mrs. B. W. Brown, of the Army, opened the service, introducing the theme and leading in The Lord's Prayer. After the first hymn, the program was divided into sections, each dealing with a different phrase of the prayer. Mrs. Kilbank, of Holloway Street United Church, led in the opening petition, followed by Mrs. G. G. Wright, of Christ Church, Mrs. J. S. A. Spearman of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, Mrs. Gleason of Emmanuel Reformed Espicopal Church, Mrs. F. E. Houston of Bridge Street United, and Mrs. E. R. Nelson of Tabernacle United in the final phases of thanksgiving and praise.

Extemporaneous intercessory prayers were offered by Mrs. E. A. Wicks, Mrs. H. Harry, Miss A. Plane, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Jackson.

Scripture was read by Mrs. H. O. Eastman of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, as found in the 17th Chapter of St. John's Gospel.

Mrs. Graham, wife of Major Graham of the Salvation Army, was the speaker of the afternoon, using "Prayer" as theme of her address. She opened her remarks with the chorus of a gospel song:

"Whisper a prayer in the morning,
Whisper a prayer at noon,
Whisper a prayer in the evening,
And keep your hearts in tune."

Continuing, Mrs. Graham said "This audience indicates that God is recognized by women as the great need of the world. Through the medium of prayer we are able to meet with the One higher, greater, nobler, wiser than we. God has many promises concerning prayer. He has said, 'And it shall come to pass that before they call, I will answer', also, 'Pray without ceasing and in everything give thanks'.

"If", continued the speaker, "the world were as interested in prayer today as it is in material things, something very real and wonderful would happen. A day of prayer is more than a lifting of our voices skyward, for barriers are removed and we are brought nearer to the Divine Father, when we pray.

"Prayer is the greatest force in the universe. Time spent alone with God is never wasted. Trains, no matter what their schedules, take time to refuel during long runs. So Christians need to take time to stop, in the schedules of busy days, for contact with God. Prayer can add to your joy, and make your sorrows seem less important.

"In the warfare against sin in this world, prayer keeps the Christian's weapons modern, though they are as old as Christianity. When we, you and I, cease to pray, Satan scores a great victory. In praying we must remember to be thankful for blessings received, and we must be humble in our petitions. Solomon realized his personal weaknesses, and prayed for an understanding heart."

In closing Mrs. Graham said, "Prayer changes things, our environment and circumstances, but more than that, prayer changes us, if we use it."

A musical arrangement by Albert A. Malotte of The Lord's Prayer was feelingly contributed in a solo by Mrs. R. Bell, of Holloway Street United Church, with Mrs. M. P. Duff as accompanist.

The well known hymn, "The day Thou gavest, Lord, is ended," was followed with a benediction read by Mrs. Arthur Smith of St. Thomas' Anglican Church ,as a fitting close for a very inspiring service.

The offering for the day amounted to $51.85, whirh will be used with other free will gifts, for the extension of religious education in many countries through the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada.

Educational Notes

Contributed by Teachers' Council Belleville

For Teachers to Ponder

You can't edify unless you can interest.

(Bishop Quale)

Only positive incentives bring out the best in any child. What are some of the motives that stimulate children in our charge?

(Educational Courier)

He who does not advance falls back.

(Amiel)

It is much easier to be critical than to be correct.

(Benjamin Disraeli)

For Parents and Teachers

Children are more apt to follow our example than our precepts. If we had paid no more attention to our plants than we have to our children, we would now be living in a jungle of weeds.

(Luther Burbank)

We believe that the nation that has the best schools has the future, but what do we mean by "best"?

Education is a debt due from present to future generations. We are descendants of the past and parents of the future. It is wise to preserve the best of the past and incorporate it into our plans for the future.

Education that gives one physical courage to stand up in front of a cannon and fails to give him moral courage to stand up in defence of right and justice is a failure.

(Booker T. Washington)

For Parents

Every child should be happy at home, and know that he is loved. His home background influences his behaviour.

Here are a few simple suggestions for the parents who may wonder how to help prepare their children for the great venture into school, and for those whose children have just begun those important years.

It is difficult for us grown-ups to accurately recall the great emotional and social adjustments we experienced during our early years at school.

Our young children are now undergoing that same adjustment. They are stepping from the intimate family circle and immediate neighbourhood into a broad unpersonal environment of hundreds of unfamiliar children; from the flexible routine of home to an organized class-room timetable, from a life of free play to prescribed skills and teachings; and from the sole consideration of self to the standards and requirements of a society. Truly it is a heavy program for the little fellow.

School is not an isolated portion of the child's life. Rather, it combines with all his other activities to form the background from which he will approach each new phase growth. Home, at this age, supplies most of his background.

If he has travelled even a short distance, he has acquired a fund of information for class-room discussion, and becomes aware of other communities, different from his own.

If he has had a birthday party or attended them, he has experienced the restrained atmosphere of a large group playing under supervision, which he will meet at school.

If he has gone alone to the corner store, he has known responsibility as well as made real contact with numbers and money.

If he has colored, traced, scribbled, painted or cut and pasted pictures, he has shown interest in creative activity and confidence in his own ability, both of which will be encouraged in school. In addition, tiny muscles have been exercised to eventually give a steady hand in notebook work.

If he has learned good habits of personal cleanliness and has had to help keep his toys and room tidy; if he has learned to dress, tie his own shoes and put galoshes on the right feet he will find school standards and routines easier to accept.

And by doing this, helping his teachers in their attempt to make him a better citizen of his community.

A Message to Every Canadian Family about LIFE INSURANCE

DIRECTLY OR INDIRECTLY, Life Insurance benefits Canadians from coast to coast . . . old and young . . . in every walk of life. This report tells how more than 50 Life Insurance companies in Canada made 1947 another year of service, expansion and preparation for the future.

1 Protects more people than ever! Every year more Canadians realize that through life insurance they can co-operate with others to share their risks. Now there are over 4½ million policyholders, and their insurance in force totals nearly $12 billion — an average of about $3,500 per family.

2 Helps families meet emergencies! In 1947, over $70 million was paid to beneficiaries for death claims! This money helped widows to maintain their homes, educate their children, and meet current expenses.

3 Thousands of happy endings! More than half of all life insurance payments go to living policyholders! Last year, thousands of Canadians received the welcome funds that brought comfortable retirements, pleasant trips, homes, college educations for boys and girls.

4 These dollars really work! Last year the life insurance companies invested many millions of dollars in harbours, railways, power plants and other industries, public works and government bonds . . . as well as in farms and homes. These investments create new jobs; help raise living standards for all.

5 Toward a healthier Canada! Again, in 1947, the life insurance companies gave financial support to important medical research projects. More help for the vital task of lessening the menace of cancer, tuberculosis and polio. More help for building a healthier nation!

6 Meeting higher living costs! As the cost of living rises, more life insurance protection is needed. So to help provide for today's greatly increased demands on family budgets, many people purchased additional life insurance during the past year.

It is good citizenship to own LIFE INSURANCE

Rental Ceilings On Residences Not Likely to Increase

Ottawa, Feb. 14 —(CP)— High government officials said last night they saw no immediate prospect of an increase being granted in the ceilings on residential rents, although they conceded that this control has come up periodically for review along with other goods and services still being restricted.

However, rentals have not recently been discussed, they added.

The comment was made in connection with reports which circulated yesterday that an increase of around 10 per cent is "likely" in the rental ceilings effective from May 1. Another report said the cases of landlords who heat apartments and duplexes were under consideration.

It was learned, however, that there has been no discussion on rentals in the cabinet, which might conceivably make the first move towards a jump in the rentals ceiling if that was felt necessary.

One source suggested the reports of a possible increase were in the nature of "seasonal" speculation arising with the approach to the spring moving season.

This official said he thought it unlikely that the government would increase ceilings at a time when there was public clamor against the rising cost of living and a special parliamentary committee was probing the causes of that increase.

Telegram Story

Toronto, Feb. 14 (CP) The Evening Telegram said yesterday in a newspage story that a survey it conducted showed "scores—perhaps hundreds — of Toronto's smaller merchants will be forced either to pay exorbitant rentals or go completely out of business early in April."

It adds that a "crisis" is arising by reason of the federal government's removal of rent controls on commercial properties, effective March 1.

"More than a dozen storekeepers have informed the Telegram personally that their rent as of April, is to be increased by more than 100 per cent and some by as much as 300 and 400 per cent," the paper says.

PREMIER DREW

(Mr. Atkinson is published of the Star).

The Premier said he "used the word 'hypocrisy' with good reason."

He added: "That man, who leaves the impression that he regards all money paid by liquor interests as tainted money, was decietfully filling his pockets with tens of thousands of dollars, paid for advertising in the great publications he controls, by those very interests he pretends to condemn. It would be a matter of very real public interest if he would honestly tell just how much he did put in his coffers in this way before he was smoked out by the disclosures in another newspaper in May, 1946."

Oliver Critical

Mr. Oliver criticized comparisons made by opposition campaign speakers between the amount of road work and Hydro extensions done in 1943 and in 1947. Such comparisons between war years and peace years was "pure and unadulterated audacity and grossly unfair to the electors of Huron."

Norman Hipel, former Ontario Lands Minister, speaking at Exeter with Mr. Oliver, challenged Mr. Drew to prove that either he or Mr. Oliver ever made untrue statements in the legislature.

Party standing in the 90-member legislature on the eve of the by-election was: Progressive Conservative 65; Liberal 11; C. C. F. eight; Labor-Progressive two; Independent Labor one; Liberal-Labor two; vacant one.

Adjudicator Praises Work Carleton College

Kingston, Feb. 14 (CP) — The "enormous enthusiasm" of Canada's Little Theatre groups is what Robert Stuart has noticed most of all in the course of his tour throughout the Dominion as adjudicator of the Regional Drama Festivals.

"One thing that strikes me in all these festivals is the enormous enthusiasm and large courage of the participants," he said last night at the conclusion of the second day of the Eastern Ontario Regional Drama Festival. "I admire the spirit behind the movement, and the tremendous amount of work the actors put into their efforts."

The British actor and producer has been stressing to the groups in this area to choose their plays more carefully, but last night in adjudicating "Ladies in Retirement," produced by Ottawa's Carleton College Drama Class, he brought up the question of stage management.

This was an important part in the production of any play, he said, and one which amateur groups needed to pay more attention.

Then again not enough time was being given to rehearsals, nor were there enough public performances.

"One public performance is worth ten rehearsals," he remarked. Mr. Stuart termed the three-act melodrama, which the Ottawa group performed last night, "a success," but at the same time regretted that the actors never quite managed to get the audience "on the edge of their seats with their hearts in their throats."

Although the group "had slipped this side of catching the boat," nevertheless it had given a brilliant performance, Mr. Stuart said.

Three one-act plays were performed earlier yesterday by Queen's Faculty players of Kingston, and the workshop of the Ottawa Drama League.

"Superb," was Mr. Stuart's word for the acting of the Ottawa group in "Eros at Breakfast," a lively fantasy written by Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner.

In "Possession," the second Workshop entry, the adjudicator found the interpretation "excellent" and the team work "good." He described this piece of writing by Laurence Housman as "not an easy play to produce."

Production of "Wurzel-Flummery," by the Kingston group was "on the whole, very wooden." Mr. Stuart described the A. A. Milne work as "an idiotic play, that isn't even funny." He regretted that with so many good plays being published every year, Little Theatre groups should waste their time on poor material.

Marmora

Marmora W. I.

Marmora — The monthly meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Sweet. Mrs. W. D. Lavender presided and conducted the usual opening exercises. The roll call was answered with "A Valentine Verse" and this met with a good response. A number of "Thank you" letters were read.

Rev. E. M. Cadigan, guest speaker of the evening, dealt with Social Service. He drew illustrations from the Old and New Testaments and touched upon the inclusion of social service in church activities besides instancing the lives of great social leaders of the last and present centuries.

A committee was appointed to investigate the circumstances of a needy family in the district. The next meeting is to be featured with an exhibition of Members' handicraft. A reading on the housing problem was given by Mrs. W. G. Chrysler. The members were then divided into three groups for the rendition of familiar old songs. An advertisement contest was won by Mrs. H. A. Burwash.

The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. G. Chrysler.

Miss Maurice Maloney, Reg. N., of Kingston, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. M. J. Maloney.

Born — On Tuesday, February 3rd, 1948, to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ellis, of Vansickle, a son, Roy Stanley.

Patient Improves Though Body Was 'Turning to Stone'

Oakland, Calif., Feb. 14—(AP) — Doctors reported today improvement in a patient whose ailment in effect was turning his body "to stone."

He is Temple Allen, 24, of Fredericksburg, Va., who has been suffering from multiple rheumatoid arthritis for 9 years, with gradual stiffening and ossification of the joints. His doctors said this eventually might have made his body similar to stone.

But a recent operation by orthopedic specialists has restored at least partial use of one leg which had been almost completely ossified, the doctors said.

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 14 — (AP)— A counterfeiting plant with $6,000 in bogus $10 United States military currency and 63,500,000 yen ($1,270,000) was seized in Seoul today. Twelve Koreans were arrested.

CANADA MAY BAN

Within the cabinet, there were reported to be two schools of thought on the question of excluding Communists, and it was understood that a definite decision had not yet been reached on the issue.

Some members were known to feel not only that Reds should be excluded from Canada altogether, but that the government had enough authority to keep them out under legislation now on the statutes.

Another view — and that of Resources Minister Glen, in charge of immigration — is that there is some doubt as to whether current legislation provides for the barring of Communists. Legal experts now are exploring this point.

Though possible Federal anti-Communist action has been rumored for several weeks, it came into the open only yesterday when Solon Low, Social Credit leader, asked Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the Commons what action the Government planned in the light of U. E. reports that the Taft-Hartley measure was driving Communists into Canada.

Mr. King said at first that the matter "will receive attention." Under further questioning by Mr. Low, he went beyond that and said the question of Communists entering Canada "has been under consideration by the department of immigration and also, to a limited extent by the government."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

You have heard the expression, I guess, that a peek saves a doubtful finesse. Some do it viciously, some surreptitiously, some with a look of distress.

A finesse is an attempt to win a trick with a card of a suit in which an opponent has a higher card. It has a 50-50 chance to succeed. But only if you lead toward the card you hope to promote.

Look at these south and north hands:

SOUTH
♠6 4 3 2
♥Q 6
♦A K 3
♣Q J 4 3

NORTH
♠A Q 7
♥A 7 3
♦J 7 6 4
♣A 7 6

In spades, lead small from south toward the north A Q. If the king does not go on from the west hand, play north queen for a finesse. If east does not have the king, north queen will win.

In hearts, lead north small toward the south queen. If king does not go in east, play south queen for a finesse. If west does not have the king, south queen will win.

In attempting either finesse, notice the direction of the lead. Always toward the queen. Not because the ace was there. It is because the queen (lower-than-opponent-card) is there.

This important distinction must be remembered. If the lead for a finesse is toward an ace, it is not because the ace is there. It is because the card you are trying to promote is there.

Therefore, if the ace is not with the card you desire to promote, do not lead toward the ace. The lead should always be toward the lower card. Not the higher card.

In diamonds, first lead ace and king. Then lead small from south toward the jack in north. If west has the queen, the north jack will take another trick. Notice the lead is toward the lower card.

Leading jack from north toward the south A K has no chance to develop a third trick. No matter which opponent has the queen.

A futile play will never pay.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 14—(AP)—The movie industry is looking for friends. Never has it faced so many hostile forces. The United States is suing it on monopoly charges; Legislators are trying to limit its take. No wonder the town is worried.

Industry bigwigs in all fields have been meeting in recent weeks to consider what can be done to improve public relations. A gargantuam task faces them.

No other industry is subject to such close criticism. There's no great ruckus if an automobile company issues a defective fender or a prizefighter gets caught reading poetry. But if a censorable film comes out, or a movie notable tosses a fist in front of a night spot—wow!

—Poor Publicity—

What are the sources of Hollywood's poor publicity? Number one: The antics of some of them are bound to cut some capers that will look bad in print.

The industry has always suffered because of its short-range view- point. It has always been concerning with selling today's stars and today's pictures and letting tomorrow take care of itself. When big problems arose they were "solved" by hiring such high-powered held as Will Hays, Eric Johnson, James Byrnes, Paul McNutt, Donald Nelson, etc.

Hollywood might fare better with longer vision. Instead of tossing out news of the latest color of Lana Turner's hair, tell about the great job Hollywood did in the war. Instead of throwing a big premier, put the money in a program for children's movies.

Hollywood, Feb. 12 (AP)—The hippy frills and ankle lengths of "the new look" are due for a downfall in Hollywood films. This comes from Paramount designer Edith Head, who states the reason: The men.

"Much as we women hate to admit it," she admitted, "men have an influence in setting female fashions. And they just won't go for 'the new look.'"

Edith illustrated with some clothes she is designing for Barbara Stanwyck. The actress told her to lay off "new look" extremes. Barbara said Robert Taylor wouldn't take her out if she wore them.

The Marx Brothers will get a new lease on their professional lives in "Diamonds in the Sidewalk," which Lester Cowan is planning for them. They will indulge in none of their acts. Groucho will narrate, Harp will play a straight role and Chico will be a mind-reader who interprets Harpo's thoughts. Three other serious performers will be starred...

Back to Comedy

Robert Montgomery is happy about going back to comedy in his next "Come Be My Love" which he will also direct. Like many of us, he feels the screen should return to comedies. "I am responsible for getting myself out of them," he told me. "After seven years of nothing but comedies, I decided I had better turn to drama or the public might get tired of me."...

Frederic March reports that his plans to play Columbus are ripening. From his account, it appears that J. Arthur Rank hasn't given up expensive films entirely. The film will be shot in color, on a 14-week schedule (long, by Hollywood standards) and with expensive locations.

Alfred Hitchcock is concerned with what Australians will think of "Under Capricorn," which he'll make in England with Ingrid Bergman.

In Manhattan

By PAT USSHER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Feb. 14(CP)— Following in the footsteps of the Dublin Gate Theatre Company, Michael Redgrave and Flora Robson will appear next month in four canadian cities in a production of "Macbeth."

'The Shakespeare tragedy, produced by Morris Houghton, will have its premiere in London, Ont., playing there March 11 and the two following days. It will be in Toronto for the week of March 15. Ottawa will see "Macbeth" for one night, March 22, and it will be presented for the balance of that week in Montreal.

Subsequently the production, sponsored by theatre incorporated in association with Brian Doherty of Toronto, will be brought to New York for a limited engagement.

—"John Bull's Other Island"—

Fresh from its Canadian tour, the Gate theatre company of Dublin opened at the Mansfield Theatre this week in Shaw's comedy, "John Bull's other Island." Hilton Edwards was extraordinarily vivid as Tom Broadbent, the pompous Englishmen who determines to save Ireland by the introduction of English "efficiency." Micheal MacLiammoir is just as convincing as the cynical Irishman who is fully aware of the oddities of the Irish Temperament and they are supported by an excellent cast. It isn't Shaw at his best but there are enough Shavian witticisms to make it an interesting performance and the diction of the company is a treat.

— Chekhov's Lighter Side—

The New York city theatre company currently is giving a fast-paced production of four Chekhov comedies which show that the Russians can be as gay and lighthearted as anyone when they feel like it.

Easily the best of these one-actors is "The Bear' in which a forthright landowner bluntly woos a widow. Jose Ferrer is admirable as the abrupt, irritable farmer who comes to collect a debt and ends by proposing marriage. Frances Reid makes an extremely comely widow and Francis Lefton is amusingly cast as a doddering old retainer.

—A SARTRE SATIRE—

Down in Greenwich village, New Stages, Inc., Represented this week Jean-Paul Satre's savage on racial discrimination in the Southern States, "The Respectful Prostitute." Meg Mundy gives a lively performance as a prostitute unwittingly involved in the case of the shooting of a negro by a white man.

QUIRK IN BREEDING

GRASS IN WINTER

Carlyle, Sask. — (CP)— While the rest of the Prairies are in the grip of winter, Charles Naxbie, an Indian on the White Bear reserve in southern Saskatchewan, has green grass right beneath his feet. When he built a cabin last year he couldn't get enough lumber for a floor and the heat of the cabin started grass growing.

Deer and the Solunar Tables

Now and then, in former news stories, we have reminded you that deer respond to the Solunar Periods just about as completely as do fish, birds, insects, and the smaller animals. When deer are going about their affairs, undisturbed and unalarmed, they can be depended upon to be active and feeding during Solunar Periods. While the intervening rest periods are in progress, these animals retire to the heavy cover where they take things easy until the next activity period comes around.

With the advent of the legal hunting season, their normal schedule is quite likely to be upset. Armies of hunters invade their territory and the woods are filled with clamor and turmoil. Self-preservation—the will to live—is the first law of Nature, and in this confusion all else is forgotten. Thus, your Solunar Tables may or may not be of benefit to you during the deer-hunting season. It all depends upon where you decide to hunt. If the territory is crowded with hunters, you can forget about Solunar Tables. But if there are no other hunters about and the area is quiet, then it is a pretty good idea to keep track of the Solunar Periods.

Our deer herd here in Pennsylvania had increased in numbers during recent years to the point where there were too many deer for the available cover. It has been estimated that approximately 20 per cent of the big game killed in the United States falls to the gun within the boundaries of Pennsylvania, and we live right smack in the centre of the good deer country. Thus, we get plenty of opportunity to become well acquainted with deer. They feed along edges of the clearings and the wood lots while we are fishing. We dodge them in our automobile while driving home evenings. We come to know them quite well.

The season of 1947 opened with the usual acclaim and confusion. Hunters by the tens of thousands were afield. The usual number of hunters were shot, some of them killed and others only wounded. The wardens made the usual number of arrests for violation of the game laws. All went about as we had expected it to go. People won't learn, evidently, except the hard way. Of course, a lot of bucks were killed, but a lot more escaped. With all of this commotion, the Solunar Tables were of little us to anybody. That, also, was to be expected.

• • •

Our son Dick, now turned twenty-four suddenly broke out in a new place. During previous seasons, he had shown not the slightest interest in deer hunting, confining his activities to upland shooting and duck hunting. Basing his sudden tangent on the premise that a man should try everything at least once, he decided that it was time he went out and shot himself a buck. No hunting-club drives and posted property for him—he wanted to kill his buck in the true American manner, stalking it by himself in the open forest, a la Daniel Boone.

After the first day or two, the deer were scattered from hell to breakfast and no longer in their usual haunts. Finding a buck became a large order. That was when Dick decided to go out and get his first deer.

During the woodcock season, he had found the tracks of a large deer in the mud bordering a spring run that came down a steep mountainside. On the afternoon of the third day of the season, Dick drove out to that general area, parked his car, and climbed the mountain. There had been a light fall of snow and he had no trouble locating the runways that the deer of that area used. Sure enough, there in the snow were the tracks of his buck, easily distinguishable because of their size and also a sagging left rear hock which left a distinctive imprint. To his surprise, he found no footprints of hunters. The area is somewhat isolated, very rough and steep, and the rank and file evidently had chosen less rugged terrain.

• • •

Dick knows his Solunar Tables and how tol use them. He looked up the schedule and found that a major Solunar Period was due to come in just before dawn the next day. He arose early, but not early enough. When he arrived at the runway, he found that his buck already had passed that way and had gone on over the mountain. He tried trailing him for a mile or so, but the buck was wary and soon left him far behind. The next day, the story was the same—he was too late. That night he set his alarm for five a.m. In the dark, he drove out and parked his car. The Solunar Period for that morning was scheduled for seven a.m. and he felt sure that he would be early enough to intercept the buck on the way to the feeding grounds.

Arriving at the runway, he debated about choosing his location. There were two runways, one above the other, but the buck had used the lower one on the two previous mornings. Accordingly Dick walked to a spot about midway between the two and settled himself against a tree to wait. He had not been there an hour before he heard a slight noise on the upper runway. Slowly he turned his head. There, not forty yards from him, stood his buck.

• • •

As I say, we are not a deer-hunting family and we own no deer rifle. Shotguns aplenty, but no rifle, So Dick had borrowed one. He targeted the gun, made sure that it did what it was supposed to do, and this was the gun he had with him. Slowly he raised it to his shoulder. The buck stood there without moving. Taking a deep breath, Dick lined the sights for a heart shot, exhaled quietly and squeezed the trigger. The hammer came down with a sharp snap and that was all. Quickly the buck whirled and bounded up the side of the mountain. Subsequent inspection showed that the last shot on the target range had broken the firing pin.

Dick didn't get his deer this year. On the last day of the season, bucks were made unlawful and antlerless deer were the order of the day. Now, there are, or were, about ten doe in our woods for every buck. The country was overrun with them. Everyone would could beg, borrow or steal a gun did so and went meat hunting. Where there had been one man in the woods on "opening day," on "doe day" there were ten or maybe twenty. It was a case of every man for himself and sportsmanship went by the boards. It wasn't hunting, in the sporting sense. It was a mob lottery and wholesale slaughter. Again the Solunar Tables were merely of academic interest. Dick killed his doe all right—centered her heart and knocked her endways. But she had enough left to stumble sixty yards or so down the mountain where she was greeted by a fusilade of twenty-one shots from the guns of six coal miners from the anthracite area around Wilkes-Barre. Dick argued in vain. One of their shots had hit the doe in the head knocking her down. He offered to fight any of them his weight but he couldn't whip all six, so he came home without his deer.

Christmas morning found a shiny, new deer rifle in his stocking, so to speak. Next year, things will be different. There will be no open season on doe and a man will be able to have a bit of country to himself. In any event, that new rifle won't miss fire. Then perhaps, we'll have some peace and quiet in our house during deer season. And, maybe, a vension steak or two.

Wally Stanowski Will Get Chance With Maple Leafs

(By The Canadian Press)

The Detroit Red Wings, leading the National Hockey League by three points over Toronto Maple Leafs, have only one game this weekend—against the Boston Bruins at Boston tomorrow night. The Leafs have two games on tap, one tonight against Montreal Canadiens and another Sunday at New York Rangers.

So that if Leafs win both encounters and Wings lose theirs, there will be a new leader Monday.

Toronto will use Wally Stanowski on defence against the Canadiens tonight. Wally, one of the most popular members of the Leaf outfit, a dipsy-doodle artist and Winnipeg native who has been held in reserve lately, will be shoved out there as the Leaf drive to tie or pass the Wings.

Stanowski will start on defence with Bill Barilko, and the Leaf rearguard strength should be effective despite the loss of Garth Boesch, the moustached Winnipeg blocker who is out of action with a recurring knee injury.

Up front Leafs will probably use big Syl Apps again. The veteran Toronto centre who has been out for some time with a leg injury was on skates yesterday and was cavorting like his old self. If Syl is on the starting lineup he'll be at his usual spot between big Harry Watson and stocky Bill Ezinicki.

Gerry Plamandon, high-scoring right winger of the amateur Montreal Royals, arrived with Canadiens in Toronto. Fighting for a play-off place, the fifth-place Canadiens decided to use Plamandon tonight and again tomorrow night at Chicago. Gerry was on the Royals' Allan Cup team last season.

While Leafs and Canadiens battle at Toronto tonight, New York Rangers will be at Boston. Sunday all teams are in action—Toronto at Rangers, Canadiens at Chicago and Detroit at Boston.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

BY GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

We don't like to adopt an I-told-you-so attitude but we cannot help but recall the remark made in this pillar yesterday that anything can happen in this more or less screwy Senior 'B' set-up. It did. It happened last night up in Omemee when the Saints, horribly crippled thru the loss of B. Goodfellow, held the Petes Hockey Club to a three-all tie, thus putting the well - known skids under our Redshirts.

• • •

Yep, we've had it. The Veterans can do all their Senior B'-ing from the sidelines for the remainder of the season for the tie in Omemee gives the Saints the third playoff position by one point.

• • •

So that's that. And now on the heels of the gusts of hot air that have emanated from Kingston during the past three or four days from the sports writers down that way will likely come a final triumphant blast about poetic justice. And as the Petes' scribe mentioned a few days ago the Rodden shirt can now go back to its proper place. The honor of the "International Hall of Fame" city is vindicated, egad. No longer can those heartless Belleville scribes and referees put the bea on the downtrodden Saints. Another aspirin Murgatroyd.

• • •

Hockey stars in the making were on parade at Memorial Arena on Thursday night when the midget "B" teams of the city clashed in their OMHA playdown series. The Merchants team coached by Cy. Barriage and under the managerial eye of Bobby Strahan turned in a splendid performance taking into consideration the fact that it is their first season as an organized team.

• • •

The Inter-Service Club kids if they lacked the scoring ability of the Merchants were their equals in fighting spirit. With the score steadily mounting against them the future Apps and Conachers never quit trying. They were battling as hard when they were down fifteen goals as in the first minutes of the game.

• • •

In Carey, Brown, Gilmour, Strahan, Barrett and Doran, the Merchants have fine prospects for the future. Pete Green and Milligan are a clever defence duo while Barclay and Gary Schreider, the goal keepers are on a par with their mates in their positions. Pint-size Davy Jones, who can almost hide behind his hockey stick has a fine burst of speed, carries himself like a hockey player, and when he puts on some more weight and size will compare with the best of 'em.

• • •

The Inter-Service kidlets showed a lack of practice and a weakness in front of the nets. Their shooting could have been a lot better and they missed what lookd like sure goals on several occasions when they were in on the opposing goalie's doorstep. Ravette looked to be the pick of the crew with K. Allen and L. Allen turning in neat efforts. It is too early to judge the kids but they have potentialities and should supply some much needed reinforcements for the upper brackets teams of the future.

• • •

It is gratifying at least, to see that some start has been made to give the younger fellows a chance to play organized hockey. For many years Belleville has been in the doldrums as far as this angle of the game is concerned — and the wiseacres wonder why the town could never get a senior or junior squad of championship calibre in the past fifteen or twenty years.

• • •

To the Inter - Service Club Council and the Merchants management under the chairmanship of Newt Wilbur, and his committee goes a strong pat on the back. They have started a movement that should be encouraged and increased next year. There are plenty of kids in this village who live and breathe hockey, and are deprived of the opportunity to play under organized leadership because of lack of interest on the part of their big brothers.

• • •

If these youngsters are given the chance to play and are properly trained and coached, there need be no qualms or at least fewer, on the part of the senior and junior teams' management regarding reinforcements. Out of the welter of kid players some stars will emerge, who will be as good if not better than some of the highly - rated imports being brought in at the present time.

• • •

Bill (Deacon Bros.) Moore tells us that up around Kitchener way there is an 88-year-old dyed-in-the-wool hockey fan who has never seen a hockey match as yet. She is Mrs. Pollen, a bed-ridden lady who has taken unto her hockey bosom Hap Day's Toronto Maple Leafs. She has listened faithfully to the Saturday night broadcasts from Toronto, and upon the outcome of the night's game depends Mrs. Pollen's frame of mind the next day.

• • •

Last winter when the Leafs were in the throes of the Stanley Cup playoffs with the Canadiens, Mrs. Pollen was seriously ill. When Foster Hewitt announced that the Leafs were within four minutes of the world's championship Mrs. Pollen raised up in bed and listened to the rest of the game. When the Leafs won she relaxed, a smile came over her face and she settled back in bed, happy.

• • •

Bill, a friend af Hap Day's informed the Leafs coach of the incident. Day had a Maple Leaf Gardens program autographed by the members of the team, and forwarded to Mrs. Pollen through Moore's daughter. Now her cup of happiness is complete. The Leafs can rest assured that if the rest of the hockey world gives them the cold shoulder, they will have at least one staunch supporter in this grand old lady of Kitchener.

Gavilan, Cuban Fighter, Moves Into Front Row

New York, Feb. 14 (AP)—Kid Gavilan, the prancing bolo puncher from Havana, has moved into the front row of welterweight contenders. But instead of Ray Robinson he'll probably get lightweight King Ike Williams, Feb. 27.

Rated the best boxer to come out of Cuba since the days of Kid Chocolate, the new "Kid" rapidly is developing into a top-flight drawing card. Although his 10-round decisive win over Vinnie Rossano of Brooklyn was only the semi final last night, it overshadowed the Madison Square Garden main bout between Bernard Docusen and Gene Burton.

Docusen and Burton, rated second and third behind Sugar Ray Robinson, the 147-pound champ, failed to impress the 15,047 customers who paid $59,422. Docusen stabbed shut the left eye of Burton, a New York Negro battler, but he was a little too fancy for the fans.

After watching the flashy Gavilan hit Rossano almost at will the paying guests couldn't warm up to Docusen, the New Orleans dandy. Docusen showed lightning speed with his hands but did not appear to pack any wallop. Once he closed Burton's eye in the seventh he put on a dazzling boxing display. But when he jumped a foot off the floor to throw polished lefts, the fans booed. They don't like them too fancy.

Next on the program for Gavilan may be a non-title scrap with Ike Williams, the lightweight champ. Matchmaker Chickie Bogad of the 20th Century Sporting Club will talk it over with Williams today. There are reports that Ike doesn't want to fight anybody for a time so a Gavilan - Docusen pairing may result.

Take Long Look At Mars For Signs of Life

Chicago, Feb. 14 — (AP)—Scientists at the University of Chicago, with a newly-developed electronic device, are getting ready to take a long range look at Mars and see if there's only life on the neighboring planet. The device which can analyze matter millions of miles out into space will be hooked up to McDonald Observatory's 82-inch reflecting telescope at Fort Davis, Tex., next week when Mars comes within 65,000,000 miles of earth — the closest until 1950.

ARRESTED AT GUNPOINT

Grimsby, Feb. 14 — (CP) — Surprised in the act of robbing a Main Street drug store, Robert F. Johnson, 25, of Fort Erie, was arrested at gunpoint inside the store by Constable George Seymour, of Grimsby, Friday morning.

Johnson was remanded one week when he appeared in court at St. Catharines.

Constable Seymour arrived on the scene after being tipped off by a telephone operator that two men were jimmying the store door. He captured Johnson after a struggle but the other man jumped through the store window and escaped.

Marlboros Pull Surprise By Beating Oshawa

(By The Canadian Press)

It's amazing what two hockey teams can do in a scramble for the final playoff spot in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

The sixth-place St. Catharines Teepees walloped the league-leading Windsor Spitfires 6-1 at St. Catharines last night for Windsor's worst defeat this season, and held their four point edge over the seventh-place Toronto Marlboros.

The Marlboros in turn pulled a surprise 4-2 victory over Oshawa Generals—in second spot—at Toronto.

Teepees and Junior Dukes still have two games on the regular schedule—but Marlies will have to duplicate St. Kitt's efforts today when they meet Windsor and have to meet Galt next week. Guelph and Toronto Young Rangers remain on Teepees' roster.

In one other Junior tilt last night Barrie Flyers broke their third-place tie with Stratford by swamping Toronto young Rangers 15-0 at Barrie for their 22nd win in 35 starts.

In the Senior race Hamilton Tigers took a tighter hold on first place by defeating the third-place Stratford Indians 4-1 at Hamilton for their 27th win in 35 tries.

Dutch Hiller with four goals paced the fifth-place Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen as they took a 10-6 victory over the cellar-dwelling Brantford Redmen at Waterloo and moved to within one point of Owen Sound.

Strength Second Place

At Toronto the Marlboros swamped the sixth-place Hamilton Patricias 10-2 to strengthen their second-place hold and notch their 22nd victory in 35 starts.

It was St. Catharines first win in four starts against Windsor at St. Catharines last night. Teepees held the lead all the way 1-0 in the first frame, 3-1 in the second and a final three-goal splurge.

Teepees marksmen were Fred Hildebrand with two goals, Red Sullivan, Topper Toppazzini, Wayne Service and Jack McIntyre. Windsor's one goal was tallied by Doug McKay.

Toronto Junior Marlboros also held the lead all the way against Oshawa. They led 1-0 in the first period and 2-1 in the second.

Toronto scorers were Frank Barber, Bill Ford, Howie Lee and Bob Hassard. Oshawa Snipers were Dusty Blair and Heggie.

Ties For Lead

Jimmie Strachan in Barrie's nets handed Flyers their first shutout this season. Gil St. Pierre tallied three goals and four assists to tie Stratford's George Armstrong for top spot in the league's individual scoring race.

Other Barrie goal-getters were Paul Meger with four, Don Ashbee with two, Jerry Reid, Bob Bingley, Bill Barrett, Stan Long, Sid McNabney and Bruno Favero.

At Hamilton in the Senior loop Clare Shillington added four points in his fight for individual scoring honors. Tigers' goals were scored by Ab Conick, Tommy Smellie, Bob Laurent and Shillington. Stratford's tally came from Messmer.

Brantford put up a stubborn battle at Waterloo and were only behind 5-3 at the end of the second period but four goals by the Dutchmen in the first five menutes of the third frame clinched the issue.

Other Scorers

Other Dutchmen Snipers were Johnny Blute and Don Bauer with two goals each, Doug Verity and Brantford transfer, George Zuk. Brantford scorers were Roly Beauchamp, Ken Pidgeon and Bill Denneny.

Joe Primeau's Marlboros were led by Leo Curik with three goals in their win at Toronto. Other Toronto marksmen were Ray Hannigan with two goals, Al Buchanan, Harry Psutka, Johnny McLellan, Johnny McCormack and Ike Hildebrand. Hamilton goals were tallied by Murray Comfort and Franky Long.

Hamilton Patricias visit Stratford and Hamilton Tigers are at Owen Sound in tonight's slated Senior tilts. Scheduled Junior games are Windsor at Toronto Marlboros, Barrie at Toronto Young Rangers, Stratford at Oshawa, Guelph at St. Catharines and Toronto St. Michael's at Galt.

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Feb. 14—(CP)— All the way from St. Moritz to Ottawa the Boucher boys are riding high in hockey these days but that isn't anything new. The family from Ottawa's New Edinburgh district has been in the ice game these many years and usually at the top.

Mike (Kingston Whig-Standard) Rodden points out and follews up with some interesting background on the clan with the French name and the Irish-French background.

"Basking in the sunlight and worthy of the same, the Boucher triumvirate of Ottawa may be the reigning masterminds of hockey. . . Never before has anything like this family compact dominance been so pronounced and perhaps we will never see its like again. . . ."

"Franch Boucher Jr., has already attained his objective of guiding the R. C. A. F. Flyers to the Olympic games championship, a feat that most alleged hockey experts had imagined impossible . . ."

"His father, George Boucher, who was at the R. C. A. F. coaching helm until shortly before the team went overseas, has his Senators (Ottawa) travelling at such a fast clip that they are installed as favorites to capture the Allan Cup . . ."

"The third of the 'Boucher Band' is Frank of New York Rangers fame and a very doughty leader without doubt. Ere the National Hockey League race began Frank caused a mild sensation when he predicted that the Montreal Canadiens would not be among those present in the playoff time. . . ."

"The Bouchers it would appear are on the march as well as being on the threshold of lasting fame. Frank Jr. has nailed down a title. George will likely follow suit and while Frank Sr. may not grasp that Stanley Cup who is there to prove that he will fail?"

"The late Tom Boucher, father of George and Frank Sr., was one of the great football players of the nineties and early 1900's. George, following in his father's footsteps, was one of the mighty backfielders of the Big Four (Football) before he became a professional hockey player at the tender age of 17. Frank Boucher Sr. followed the hockey trail only and so has Frank Boucher Jr."

Added tribute to the Boucher clan came from Clayton (St. Catharines Standard) Browne who said, "In the higher reaches of the N. H. L. ranks what stymies this desk is the surprising fact that every single and doggone new rule, or painted line, in proposal, comes from coach Frank Boucher of New York Rangers."

Jake Lamotta Suspended And Fined $1,000

(By The Canadian Press)

The New York State Athletic Commission yesterday suspended Boxer Jake Lamotta until June 21 and fined him $1000 for having concealed facts of his physical condition before he was stopped by Billy Fox of Philadelphia Nov. 14 at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Lamotta has been under "temporary suspension" since Nov. 21, when he admitted to the commission that he went into the Fox fight with an injured side and against the advice of his doctor.

The bout was halted in the fourth round after Lamotta had taken a fierce beating from the Philadelphia Negro.

Toronto-born Ted Atkinson came through with a photo triumph astride the 2-5 favorite marine band, in the sixth race at Hialeah yesterday and thus passed the $5,000,000 mark in all-time earnings of his mounts.

Smiling Jimmy Demaret shot a seven-under-par 64 on the 6,045 yard Harlingen, Tex., course yesterday to take a long lead in the lower Rio Grande Valley open golf tournament.

The United States Olympic Hockey team, which didn't compete in the recent games at St. Moritz, defeated the Swiss Olympic team 8-6 at Basle, Switzerland, last night.

The Intercollegiate Ski Union championship team of Middlebury College swept into the lead in the 38th annual Dartmouth Winter Carnival competition yesterday with Montreal's McGill University holding third place.

University of Western Ontario Mustang beat Montreal's McGill Redmen 50-39 in a Senior Intercollegiate Basketball game at London last night.

Coach Frank Carlin of Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior Hockey League said he will submit a formal protest to league president, George Slater, on grounds that Shawinigan Falls Cataracts ended a league game at Shawinigan Falls, Wednesday, with a minute of playing time remaining. Cataracts defeated the Montreal squad 4-3.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR

New York Feb. 14 — (AP) — In what promises to be one of the outstanding social events of the season for "the mob" the Police Gazette will award a "world heavyweight championship belt" to Jersey Joe Walcott in a public presentation ceremony at Camden, N.J., Feb. 26 . . . the catch is that publisher H. H. Roswell can't come up with one of the old belts that the publication used to award to champions. . . they invariably found their way into some hock shop that's where Roswell has been searching for one to give Jersey Joe . . . another New Jersey resident, Jrsey Jones, recently wrote a piece for the ring magazine marking the anniversary of the famous St. Patrick's day fight in Dublin between Battling Siki and Mike McTigue . . . Mike had no trouble winning, you remember . . . imagine Jones' consternation when he saw the cover of the magazine with a banner line "an Irish Anniversary". . and directly under it a picture of Walcott and Joe Louis.

Today's Guest Star

Laurence Leonard, Richmond, Va., News Leader: "Zach Taylor, now in his first year as manager of the St. Louis Browns, believes young pitchers nowadays won't spend sufficient time trying to correct their deficiencies. When he looks over the Browns, no doubt Taylor will find 24 hours every day isn't enough time to correct the Brown's hurling woes."

Shorts and Shells

Lou Little, who is considering a shift from Columbia to Yale as football coach and athletic director, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who will be installed as Columbia's president in June, are old coaching rivals. Back in 1924, Eisenhower coached the third army corps team that was beaten by Little's Georgetown outfit . . . at least four national league clubs are interested in "taking a chance" on Ray Sanders, the Braves spare first baseman but Billy Southworth wants to see Ray in spring training before he okays any deals. . . .

Check Signals

Penn State's Bob Higgins (known as "wrong way Higgins" since he went to Clairton, Pa., for a banquet instead of Clarion) sent his regrets to a Pittsburgh affair recently when he was snowbound only to find out the dinner wasn't scheduled until two weeks later . . . Bob merely moaned: "Not only are my ulcers kicking up; now my minds wandering."

Dangerous Threats to Success Democratic Standard-Bearer

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Feb. 13—(CP)—President Truman, who hasn't said "yes" and who hasn't said "no" on the Democratic party candidacy, is almost hemmed in by more or less dangerous threats to the success of the Democratic party standard - bearer in the fall campaign.

On the left, there is Henry Wallace's third party, which is almost certain to gain the votes of many who ordinarily would vote for the Democratic ticket.

On the right, there are the big business interests, harried by high taxation and restrictions, and the isolationists, growing more militant against administration demands for universal military training and increased service appropriations.

Now there is a fresh threat from the rear — the new outburst of resentment from the solid south Democrats and threats to put their own candidate in a protest against the president's attitude on civil rights.

President Truman, or any other Democratic party nominee, will need the "solid south" electoral college vote to win. But his recent request for legislation against lynching, the poll tax and against racial discrimination of all kinds brought the southerners out fighting.

In 1944, Texas led a revolt against renewal of the Roosevelt new deal administration and the movement constituted a peril to orderly election of President Roosevelt right up to election day.

But it all blew over and latest reports from the southerners is that the present movement may die down.

Most serious is the left flank threat from the Wallace party. Not that Wallace is looked upon as a possible winner of the presidency, but he may so divide democratic forces in such populous states as New York, Illinois, Michigan and California as to ensure a Republican victory.

Some observers believe that it was to offset the Wallace appeal among northern Liberals that the president launched his civil rights program at this time although knowing it would incense some of the southern Democrats.

There seems no doubt in anyone's mind that President Truman will be the party candidate at the Philadelphia Convention next July.

Meanwhile, he answers all questions on the subject with the bland non-political replies that were a feature of so many Roosevelt press conferences during the pre-convention days of his regime.

CHOICE CUT IN STEAK AND PRICE

A happy customer, Mrs. Ellen Boles watches the butcher of a New York chain store make a change in the price of steak from 79 cents to 66 cents a pound. Other foods also were cut in price following the drop in livestock prices and the crack in the grain market. New crash in grain prices in Canada will likely result in new retail price cuts. However, no drastic drop in food prices are expected by Canadian businessmen.

Naive Islanders Gawk And Blush at Civilization

Capetown, South Africa, (CP)—Strangest visitors South Africa has seen for many years are six big, shy men from Tristan da Cunha who are leading an "Alice-through-the -looking-glass" kind of existence in Capetown.

They are making a short stay here on their way to Marion Island where they are to help the South African expedition settle the Union's new territories.

Dressed in their rough clothes, with long, thick stockings drawn up to their knees under their trousers, the six islanders have stared incredulously amusedly at the fantastic things they have seen—like motor cars, the big, gleaming buses, a loud-speaker traffic van berating jay-walkers in a voice of thunder, the girls in summer shorts swinging their hips.

Back in their fog-girt island the Tristan women do not take off their clothes when they walk in public. The men from Tristan blushed for Capetown, turned away.

First Auto Ride

Their first ride in a "motor-cart" from the docks to the Mission for Seamen was a terrifying experience. They clung to each other. They didn't hear the questions put to them. Shop windows, pedestrians, streets, unrecognizable things flashed past at an unbelievable speed.

But when the car stopped they climbed out laughing with excitement and relief, walked round the "cart", slapped each other delightedly.

One of them is a grandson of Mrs. Repetto. He is Arthur Repetto, broad, brown silent, a "prince" in homespun, speaking with a slow Devon burr which Sir Francis Drake would have understood.

The rich colors of the flowers banked on the pavement outside the general post office halted the islanders. They were like children, touching the blooms tenderly with huge hands.

In a tour through a clothing factory thew watched the electric sewing machines purring through miles of cloth like miniature tractors, the steaming presses, the cutters slicing into bolts of cloth. They said it was "powerful grand,"

Shipyard Helper Joins Symphony As Base Fiddler

By MARILYN LAMBORN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, —(CP)— The struggle of a young musician to keep the wolf from the door and still continue her music is a story familiar to most artists.

But curly-headed Ruth Ross, 23-year-old Vancouver bass violinist, looks back on her battle to become a professional as a great adventure which culminated in the thrill of landing a spot in the back row of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra.

"There were moments and days of anguish when I didn't know what I was going to do for existence" she said. "But at the last minute something always came through to save the day."

For two years during the war she played with the Vancouver Symphony and to make ends meet took on the duties of an electrician's helper in a shipyard. In the little spare time she had, she organized musical entertainment for the workers and was so successful she gained employer and union approval to make entertainment her full-time job.

One summer she was determined to take an economics course in Toronto so she hitch-hiked across the continent with another girl.

"The family was getting used to me making quick decisions and acting on them, so they didn't worry too much about me."

Tries For Scholarship

The shipyard had closed down, and Ruth wrote an examination for a scholarship at Toronto's Royal Conservatory of Music, pinning her future—whether to continue her music or switch to something else—on the result.

While awaiting the Conservatory's decision, she toured with an eight-piece girls' dance band, but it broke up in Winnipeg. She waited for several days and watched her money dwindle. She had just about given up hope when she heard she had won the scholarship.

She packed up her bass fiddle and soon was in Toronto—where she discovered she'd have too type as she studied, to keep up with living costs.

Following the scholarship period she decided she would return to play in the Vancouver Symphony after failing to gain a position with the Toronto Symphony.

She was almost on the train when she received a phone call telling her the orchestra needed an extra bass fiddler.

Happy, healthy but not wealthy, says Ruth: "Everything's rosy now, but when the season is over I hope I won't have to sell my fiddle and live in the case."

Pioneer Invents "Mushless" Card For Valentine's

By JACK MCNEIL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A manufacturer of St. Valentine's Day cards has finally given the lie direct to the gloomy Guses, calamity howlers and sundry other odius characters who claim that progress is an illusion. In fact, this anonymous gentleman deserves to be ranked with the great benefactors of mankind, from Buddha to Einstein.

"His contribution to progress?" you may ask. Why, one of the boldest innovations in history—a "mushless" Valentine's Day card, suitable for exchange between mere acquaintances, or casual friends.

The stature of this pioneer will be obvious at once to folks who can hark back to the syrupy banalities that infected Valentines in the late Victorian era. But just how far civilization has advanced in this respect can better be gleaned from reference to Chambers' famous "Book of Days," published in 1863, in which that eminent authority on anniversaries characterized St. Valentine's Day as "a much degenerated festival, the only observance of any note consisting merely of the sending of jocular, anonymous letters to parties whom one wishes to quiz, and thus is confined very much to the humbler classes."

Chambers' disgust for the once-hallowed festival was inspired by doggerel such as this, which circulated among the proletariat of his day:

"You freckled pug-nosed ugly beast,
On whom I wish the flies would feast,
Stay away from me or you will mourn
The luckless day that you were born."

Origin of Day

St Valentine's Day commemorates the martyrdom of two early Christians. Origin of this observance of the day is obscure; some authorities claim there were five saints called Valentine, a name common in antiquity; but it's generally agreed that two Valentines were martyred, one of whom—according to legend—was beheaded during the reign of Claudius 11 near Rome's Porto Valentini (The Flaminian Gate).

But the modern connotation of February 14 as a day on which birds are supposed to pair and lovers exchange billets-doux appears to stem from the ancient feast of Lupercalia, observed February 15, which secured the fruitfulness of the earth, prevented sterility in women, and gave young Roman gallants the chance to pick lots from a helmet for their sweethearts of the coming year.

Originally, the valentine was the other partner of the lovers' vow. Now it's the card sweethearts exchange—cloyed with sentiment, sprinkled with "diamond dust," and bedecked with satin, rayon, lace and impaled hearts.

But this year there are plenty of the mushy variety, too, makers say, all marked "Made in Canada" because the Ottawa ban on many U.S. imports include, of all things —Valentines!

British Cruiser, Nigeria, Takes Part In Disputed Claims

Both Argentina and Chile Claim Land in Antarctic

Johannesburg, Feb. 16 (Reuters) — The 8,000-ton British cruiser Nigeria has sailed for the Falkland Islands in connection with the Argentine-Chile disputed claims in the Antarctic, it was reliably learned here today.

The Nigeria is a cruiser from the South Atlantic station. An admiralty statement in London yesterday said she was being withdrawn from the station temporarily.

Falklands territory in the Antarctic has been the subject of rival political claims of Britain, Chile and the Argentine.

The departure last week of President Gabriel Vileda to Chile by cruiser to establish physical possession of that segment of Antarctic territory claimed by his country was immediately followed by publication of diplomatic exchanges between London and Santiago on the subject of the Chilean claim.

Reuters' diplomatic correspondent wrote yesterday that latest reports were that the Chilean president's cruiser was delayed, so that in terms of priority the possible arrival of a British cruiser in the disputed area might forestall that of the Chilean presidential expedition.

Against this, it was recalled that the British naval ship, Snipe, with Sir Miles Clifford, governor of the Falkland Islands aboard, has recently been making a tour of the islands and their dependencies, during which it encountered Argentinian vessels and claimants to Antarctic territory.

Simultaneous publication in Buenos Aires and London of diplomatic exchanges between Britain and the Argentine coincided with these meetings.

QUEEN OF BLADES TO SKATE WAY ACROSS DOMINION

Barbara Ann Scott Will Give Exhibitions in Ontario, Alberta, Manitoba

Ottawa, Feb. 16 — (CP) — Triumphant queen of the blades, Barbara Ann Scott, will figure-skate her way across the Dominion in a two-months barnstorming tour to bring the unbeatable champion into the personal sight of thousands of Canadians.

Although the tour is exhaustive in scope, covering centres in Alberta, Manitoba and Ontario, there will be many places the World, Olympic and European women's figure-skating titleholder, will be forced to miss.

"Much as Barbara would like to accept all invitations, it is an impossibility," said Charles Cummings, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Figure-skating Association.

From the moment she steps off a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane in Ottawa about March 11 until she returns late in April, the winsome 19-year-old blonde won't have more than a few days rest.

Civic and government authorities here are preparing lavish welcomes. Prime Minister Mackenzie King cabled her: "Canadians await your return to accord you a truly national welcome." Said Mayor Stanley Lewis: "We'll shoot the works on a gigantic reception" and in a message cautioned Barbara Ann to "rest for your homecoming."

Prompt Action By Operator Saves Building

Meaford, Feb. 16 — (CP) — Prompt action of an alert telephone operator, Mrs. Margaret Ford, early today was credited with saving the business section of this Grey county town of some 2,600 people, when a $15,000 fire broke out in a cleaning plant.

Mrs. Ford summoned Constable William White to investigate when no response came to signals from the switchboard to the cleaning plant.

Andrew Gawley was awakened at the rear of the cleaning plant by crackling flames.

"I tried to get a light on but the power had burned the line," said Gawley. William Boswell, asleep in the same building, assisted Gawley to safety.

Exploding drums of cleaning fluid blasted out windows and doors in the plant.

Fire threatened surrounding buildings for a time, but a volunteer brigade finally brought it under control.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Feb. 16 —(CP)— Synopsis: Temperatures have been steadily rising over all of the province during the night and readings above freezing are anticipated in Southern and Central Ontario by early afternoon today. Snow which spread across Northern Ontario during the night will change to flurries Tuesday night as colder air from the northwest moves into northern forecast areas. From present indications mild weather will continue over Southern Ontario Tuesday.

Will Seek More Funds for Greece

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP) — President Truman told Congress today he will ask more money for military assistance for Greece and Turkey.

Truman gave this word to the legislators in a report on use of the $400,000,000 they voted last year to help the Greeks and Turks resist Communism.

He did not say how much more will be asked.

Last year's fund was $300,000,000 for Greece and $100,000,000 for Turkey.

In a letter sent to Congress with the report on use of this money, the president said Greece has been subjected "to ever higher increasing pressure" by a Communist minority subservient to "foreign influence."

ESTATE OF $161,749

Toronto, Feb. 16 (CP)—Mrs. Annie I. White, widow of former Finance Minister Sir Thomas White, left an estate valued at $161,749, it was learned when the will was entered for probate. The estate consisted of stocks, bonds and personal effects.

BRITAIN AND U.S. GIVING GERMANS A CENTRAL BANK

Also Limited Permission To Make Aluminum

Berlin, Feb. 16 (AP)—The United States and Great Britain are giving the Germans in their zones a Central Bank and limited permission to make aluminum.

The bank in Frankfurt, will have power to issue new currency if and when the two Allies approve. Aluminum manufacture, considered a war industry, has been forbidden in Germany by four-power agreement.

Both grants of new authority to western Germans were made public yesterday, only four days before a scheduled London conference on Germany's future.

However, the French ministry of foreign affairs announced today that the conference has been postponed until next Monday. It will be attended by the United States, Britain, France and the Low Countries. The Soviet Union, not invited, has objected to it, but so far has voiced no reaction to yesterday's announcements on Germany.

The announcements followed a Saturday meeting of the military governors, Gen. Lucius D. Clay of the United States and British Lt.-Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, with German officials of their co-operating economically - merged zones.

That meeting, in Frankfurt, dealt with a note from German leaders asking more authority. The right to make aluminum was one of the things the Germans wanted.

On Temporary Basis

Clay said in Berlin yesterday he and Robertson had granted them that right on a temporary basis.

But temporary suspension of the aluminum ban "does not prejudice our decision that aluminum remains a prohibited industry for the future." Aluminum is one of 14 industries forbidden by the Big Four Allied Control Council with a view to keeping down Germany's power to make war.

The Russians were not told of the suspension beforehand, and they may protest.

The announcement of establishment of a Central Bank, issued by the two military governors, said, "if and when approval to issue a new currency is given, the bank would be an appropriate instrument for the purpose."

The release did not say whether the two western powers had given up trying to get Russian agreement to a new currency for all Germany to be put out in Berlin.

Plans for the London conference were announced last week. It was not known whether the result would be fusion of the French zone with the U.S. and British zones.

The French announcement today said the meeting was delayed to permit Lewis W. Douglas, United States Ambassador to Britain, to attend.

"TALKS" PLANES TO SAFE LANDINGS

Shanghai, Feb. 16 (AP)—Lieut. O. F. Jarmon of the United States navy "talked" three Chinese airlines planes to safe landings through fog here Sunday—one of them with only five minutes gasoline left. He had gone to the navy's Kiangwan airport, "on the off chance" someone might be in trouble, and found the Chinese transport planes circling in a fog with a ceiling of only 20 feet.

Price Committee Will Hear Charges On High Prices for Fruit, Vegetables

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 16. (CP) — Charges made in Toronto that wholesale dealers are charging excessively high prices for fruit and vegetables will be aired in the Commons Price Committee Tuesday, Health Minister Martin, Committee chairman, announced today.

This will be a preliminary inquiry, however, and the Committee's main investigation into inflated prices of specific commodities will start on Thursday, with bread topping the list.

He said that subpoenaes had already been issued for the bread inquiry and H. A. Dyde, Committee counsel, has been in touch with several individuals who will be required to appear.

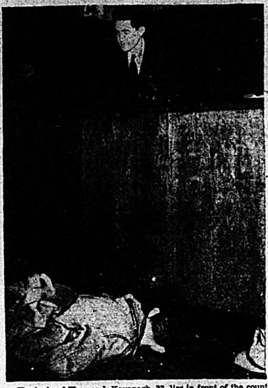
The bread probe will be followed by full-scale inquiry into butter or vegetable prices with the order to be determined later. Then meat prices will come under the Committee's attention.

Tomorrow George Christiansen, National Food director of the Retail Association of Canada, will testify concerning his charges against wholesale dealers in fruits and vegetables, Mr. Martin said.

At the same time an opportunity will be given to the wholesalers who have been charged to make an immediate rebuttal.

Mr. Martin also announced that the Steering committee met this morning with Herbert Marshall, Dominion statistician, and "steps now are underway" to obtain the information about butter holdings in Canada.

GUNMAN SLAIN IN T.C.A. OFFICE HOLD-UP



The body of Thomas J. Kavanagh, 33, lies in front of the counter in the Trans-Canada Airlines ticket office, New York, after he was shot to death by "planted" detectives, as he attempted to hold up a clerk and rob the place. William Murdy, one of the two detectives who were hiding inside the office as a result of the recent series of holdups, was critically wounded by a stray bullet from the gun of his fellow officer. Kavanagh, it turned out, was using a toy make-believe gun in the ill-fated stickup. George Mahoney, the clerk, is shown behind the counter.

Eisenhower Says First 60 Days Will Determine U.S. Fate in Future War

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, Feb. 16—(AP)—If war comes to the United States again, the first 60 days will decide the winner, Dwight D. Eisenhower forecasts.

Eisenhower, now an elder military statesman, said so in his farewell report as army chief of staff. He dealt with matters diplomatic as well as military, however, in writing his final official statement.

He saw the European recovery plan fathered by State Secretary Marshall as vital to "our sister democracies" and to the United States.

Eisenhower did not mention Russia by name but said:

1. If the Western European countries were to "become the pawns of totalitarianism, America's security would be in dire danger."

2. If the democracies of the Mediterranean area should fall and that corridor between East and West were blocked, "the effects would be instant and catastrophic.

"War, in such case, would be close to us."

Looking down the purely military road, he predicted:

"Because major nations, in the future, will be armed with weapons of terrifying destructive power, a series of lightning blows might conceivably and a future war at its outset . . .

"A corollary to this is the need for a system of major and alternate or secondary bases around which can be organized, first our own defence against air attack, and next our retaliatory counter offensive.

"This concept, featuring as it does the hope that in air power resides the possibility of avoiding long drawn out and costly land operations, nevertheless and inescapably requires the availability of effective land forces; without them, we will have no bases and can seize none speedily. We would be wide open to attack and helpless to do anything positive about it."

A day before Eisenhower's report was released, Defence Secretary Forrestal announced creation of a civilian defence study unit.

Its job will be to suggest plans for protecting the people, cities and industrial plants of the country against the destruction from atomic bombs and German warfare.

Eisenhower, in pleading for adequate defence planning, asserted:

"Scarcely any form of attack can be written off as obsolete or so fantastic in conception as to remain forever impossible."

ROBBERS SECURE $15,000 HIDDEN IN TORONTO HOME

Many Bills of Large-Size Type of Former Years

Toronto, Feb. 16. (CP)—One of the largest robberies of its kind here in ten years, $15,000 was stolen last night from the home of Mrs. Rebecca Waldman in Central Toronto.

The money was in bills in denations of $100, $50 and $20, Mrs. Waldman told detectives. It had been collected over a long period of time and many of the bills were of the large-size type of former years.

The robbers entered the house when Mrs. Waldman was absent by forcing a screen off a rear basement window and then forcing the window, Police said. Jewelry and other money was left in dresser drawers and there was no evidence the drawers had been searched.

Police said the break appeared to be the work of persons who knew Mrs. Waldman hid large sums in her home.

Police said the money was sewn between two shoe holders tacked on a cupboard door. The cloth was ripped away. Apparently a search for the money was made in a bed and mattress before the hiding place was found.

Flood Menace Eases in States

Chicago, Feb. 16 — (AP) — The crests of river floods, which took seven lives in three states last week, rumbled oceanward today, diminishing the menace upstream but intensifying it along downstream lowlands.

Hundreds of families who fled before the high water, especially in Tennessee, began to return to their mud-encrusted homes and places of business. A much smaller number were evacuated as the crests swirled downstream.

Sunshine, which re-appeared over the weekend after a long absence, began the slow process of drying out dirt roads, made impassable by nearly two weeks of soaking rainfall.

The turbulent Cumberland river was reported receding at Nashville, Tenn., after cresting. It still rose, however, at other points, sending muddy streams into low-lying streets.

Elsewhere in Tennessee the flood spectre waned.

The danger likewise diminished in Kentucky, West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana. Five persons had lost their lives from the floods in West Virginia and one each in Indiana and Mississippi.

OBSERVES 104TH BIRTHDAY

Duplessis Orders Office of Leftist Weekly Newspaper Padlocked

Montreal, Feb. 16. (CP)—Police, acting on orders from Premier Maurice Duplessis, as Attorney-general of Quebec, today padlocked the offices of the Montreal weekly newspaper Le Combat, a Leftist organ.

The action was taken under the so-called "padlock law" of Quebec which gives the Attorney-General power to close up places held to be centres of Communist activity.

It was the first time since the present Duplessis government went back into office in 1944 that the Padlock Law enacted in 1937 and directed against subversive activities was used.

Premier Duplessis ordered closing of the offices and the printing plant on St. Catharine Street East.

Adjoining offices of Le Progres de Villeray, French-language publication of the Labor-Progressive party, were also padlocked and files seized.

Deputy Director Hilaire Beauregard said Premier Duplessis' orders came after a full report had been made to the Premier on evidence adduced at the trial of Mrs. Valdimir Bjarnason (Madeleine Parent) and Azelus Beaucage, convicted on charges growing out of a strike at a Lachute Que., textile plant.

During the trial the crown said Le Combat was a Communist newspaper and this statement was not denied by the defence, director Beauregard said.

Traffic Snarled And Noon Editions Of Papers Delayed

London, Windsor Ordered To Cut Power for Week

Toronto, Feb. 16 (CP)—Compulsory rationing of Hydro-Electric power went into effect without warning in Toronto today, snarling traffic undirected by signals, delaying noon editions of daily newspapers by as much as half an hour and rousing the ire of housewives suddenly plunged into a dim-out. Teletype machines of The Canadian Press, carrying domestic and international news to Canadian papers, were silent for approximately 40 minutes.

E. M. Ashworth, manager of the Toronto Hydro-Electric Commission said all consumers, including hospitals would be cut off today for periods up to half an hour. Exemptions from the order were the Toronto Transportation Commission, the city water works and the sewage disposal system.

"We were advised today that the Ontario Hydro will not be able to supply us with enough power to meet demands for today" Mr. Ashworth said. "We have been expecting something of this nature to come. It is not possible to say what will happen tomorrow or the next day. Today all Toronto will be affected."

Explanation Given

The Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission issued the following explanation:

"Due to reduction in the volume of purchased power arriving out of low water conditions in Quebec, the commission has been obliged to ask some of the larger municipalities to reduce their load. Every effort is being made to hold the reduction to minimum and there will be a further announcement as soon as possible."

K. Clark Keith, General Manager of Windsor Utilities Commission, announced that London and Windsor have each been ordered to reduce consumption of hydro power by 4,000 horse power an hour for 16 hours a day beginning at 7 a.m. today. The reduction was expected to continue for at least this week. With industrial plants still closed because of a natural gas shortage, it was not expected there would be any need for reduced consumption today. Tomorrow, however, with the return of a normal gas supply, the new problem must be met.

BARRICADES REMOVED

Kitchener, Feb. 16 —(CP)— Barricades were removed today by police from a potential explosion area around the Anglo- Petroleum Ltd. depot after a truck skidded last night and broke a pipe on a tank, spilling 9,000 gallons of gasoline.

Motorists, helping themselves freely to gasoline with a variety of containers, eliminated the threat of an explosion, aided by evaporation, police said.

LOWER 76-TON TOWER

PRINCE OF CHURCH, CARDINAL GRANITO PIGNATELLI, DIES

Dean of College of Cardinals for Nearly 18 Years and Was 96 Years Old

Vatican City, Feb. 16 (AP) — Cennaro Cardinal Granito Pignatelli Di Belmonte, 96, second only to Pope Pius in the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church, died today of a bladder ailment complicated by old age.

Cardinal Pignatelli, who was a Prince of the Italian aristocracy as well as a Prince of the Church, expired at 10:13 a.m. (4:13 a.m. EST) in his simply-furnished apartment in the historic Vatican Church of Santa Martha.

He had known five Popes in his long life and had been an intimate of the present Pontiff and his predecessor. He had been Dean of the College of Cardinals for nearly 18 years.

Francesco Cardinal Marchetti-Selvaggiani, 76, Bishop of Frascati and Vicar-General of Rome, succeeds Cardinal Pignatelli as Cardinal Dean.

Vatican authorities, however, said there was some doubt as to whether the state of his health would permit him to assume actively the duties of Dean of the College of Cardinals. He was reported suffering an illness affecting his legs.

These informants said it was possible Enrico Cardinal Sibilia, 87, Bishop of Sabino and Poggio Mirteto, might succeed Cardinal Pignatelli as Dean. Cardinal Sibilia has been a Prince of the Church since Dec. 16, 1935.

Present at Deathbed

Persons present at the deathbed said Cardinal Pignatelli emerged from coma briefly early this morning while Msgr. Enrico Dante, Prefect of Ceremonies, was at his side. Jokingly, he asked Msgr. Dante if he had come to "make arrangements for my burial."

Somberly-robed officials of the church stood quietly in the darkened room, lit only by tall tapers, as he breathed him last.

OWNER CHECKING HIS RESIDENCE CAUSES ALARM

Provincial police were sent on what turned out to be a wild goose chase shortly after four o'clock this morning when a Herchimer Avenue resident reported she saw lights moving in a dwelling presumed to be vacant for the winter.

The alarmed resident reported a light was seen moving from room to room in the dwelling which had been closed up for the winter by the owner. Investigation proved that the owner of the property had chosen that particular time to check the vacant dwelling to ascertain if everything was in order.

38 Buildings At Mountain View To be Dismantled

Thirty-eight buildings at the Mountain View Air Station have been declared surplus by the Department of National Defence for Air. These buildings are at present standing idle, and are not in use as emergency housing, as they are not suitable for same.

The Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, a Crown company, who are administering the large scale housing program for Canada, obtained these buildings from War Assets Corporation, and have issued a contract for their demolition. The purpose of demolition is to provide much needed building materials which are to be used in the construction of homes for veterans mainly under the Integrated Housing plan. A group of these homes is to be constructed in the city of Belleville as soon as weather conditions permit, and it is expected that approximately 90% of the materials so obtained will be used in the construction of these homes.

The contract for demolition has been awarded to The Tatham Company Ltd., engineers and contractors, who are planning to start demolition proceedings at once. A large force of men will be required at the Mountain View Air Station for this work. As the Station is some considerable distance away from Belleville, Picton and Trenton areas, sleeping and boarding accommodation is planned for those men who might wish to avail themselves of this accommodation.

It is also possible that a large number of the men employed in the demolition work will be given the opportunity of obtaining steady work throughout the year in the construction of houses for veterans.

Any materials not required for use in the veteran building program as mentioned above may be made available at some future date to individuals holding proper priorities. It should be noted, however, that any such materials are allocated by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, and are not available from the contractors.

Skating Queen Shown In Group Photo

It is some years since the new Olympics figure skating queen Miss Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa appeared in Belleville to perform at the ice show of the local Quinte Skating Club, but her appearance at that time is being used by the local club to draw attention to their ice show to be staged on Friday and Saturday of this week.

A picture of the comely ice queen taken on a Belleville rink at the time of her visit here some years ago is given prominence in a photographic window to be seen at Walker's Hardware. Miss Scott also appears in a group photo taken with a number of local skaters. Pictures of the new club house and of skaters in action on the rink complete the window display.

Russian Puppet Govt. in North Korea Reported

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 16 —(AP)—A high American official said today a Russian puppet government has been established in North Korea. He declared it has an army, a flag and a constitution, in open defiance of international agreements.

The official charged that establishment of the government was timed to coincide with the United Nations commission's recent announcement of failure of its mission to Korea.

Russian occupation officials are charged with government North Korea.

Americans administer South Korea.

The U. N. commission was refused entry into the Russian zone to plan elections preliminary to giving Korea self-government. Chairman K. P. S. Menon is to report the commission's failure to the assembly next week.

The American source said "we have ample information" that an army estimated at 200,000 North Koreans is equipped with Russian materials, medium tanks and light planes.

He expressed belief the Russians were planning to act alone in North Korea, regardless of any U. N. decision.

A radio broadcast from Pyongyang, Soviet occupation headquarters, announced creation of the "North Korean Peoples Army," and a constitution which would "establish the Democratic Peoples Republic of Korea."

Prague, Feb. 16 —(AP)— The spy trial of a women who says she is Dorothy Brown, 21, was postponed today to allow Czechoslovak authorities to investigate her claims to American citizenship.

The defendant, a dumpy, pouting blonde, testified she was born in Washington. Both Prosecutor Miroslav Janesek and the woman's own counsel, a Czech lawyer, expressed belief that she was lying.

She was indicted as a spy hired by a mysterious "Czech in British uniform" to obtain military barracks plans for "a certain military power." She freely admitted the charge in an open hearing before a three-man court today.

She was also accused of spreading venereal disease. She admitted that charge, too.

Prosecutor Janesek asked the court to halt the trial indefinitely to permit further investigation of the woman's claims to American birth.

Kouba, testifying later, said he had given her a plan in an attempt to trap her as a spy "for the Americans and the British."

She insisted she was born in Washington, but said she could not remember any street address there. She said she did not go to school in the United States.

TRAFFIC SNARLED

Hydro officials at Brantford, said they expected at any time an order to reduce kilowatt hour consumption by 15 per cent. The only way it could be effected would be by cutting off power to various sections of the city for short periods.

A. W. Brandt, manager of the Hamilton Hydro system, said Hamilton industries have been cut off for half an hour. Tomorrow commercial businesses and residential consumers could expect a cut. Hospitals would also be asked to take their cut. "They'll have to arrange their operation schedules to fit it with our plan," said Mr. Brandt.

Toronto Hydro officials said methods of warning consumers of impending cut-offs were being studied to avoid a repetition of this morning's confusion. Overcast weather caused a heavier drain in power, it was explained. If the sun went behind a cloud, lights would be switched on in certain areas necessitating new cuts.

The emergency move caught thousands of Torontonians at lunch.

Housewives resorted to grandmother's Monday morning washing technique as electrically-powered washers hummed to a standstill.

Protests From Hospitals

The sudden curtailment of power brought protests from hospital officials, expecting to be included in the exemption list. "It must be a mighty urgent situation when the Hydro will discontinue power to a medical building where hundreds of sick people are being treated," said William Johnson, manager of the Medical Arts Building. Heat was removed from the building, elevators stopped, electric drills and surgical instruments were affected.

Arthur J. Swanson, superintendent of Toronto Western Hospital, said the measure was a "very delicate matter which will have to be considered very carefully before anything is done. We have emergency lighting in our operating rooms but what is going to happen if we have an emergency case on an elevator and the power is cut off?"

"Surely the Hydro will make some special provision for us in our vulnerable state," said E. W. Leonard, superintendent of Toronto East General Hospital. "All we have is a battery unit supplying emergency lights in operating rooms. But a shut-down would cut off all lights and our elevator service."

St. Joseph's hospital was recently equipped with emergency generators and lighting of operating rooms and corridors was uninterrupted as was the elevator service. Toronto General Hospital had a direct current plant which switched on automatically when power was cut off.

Early Discovery Of Fire Saves H.S. Building

Tweed (Special) — What might have been a disastrous fire early Sunday evening, was discovered in time when neighbors noticed a blaze in the High School basement. The fire department was called and the blaze was soon extinguished. However, had it had another ten or fifteen minutes headway it is believed no efforts could have saved the building.

The cause of the fire is unknown, it was stated today, although inspection proved it was not likely caused by wiring or the furnace. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

That Thaw

Whatever the drawbacks and inconveniences of the weekend thaw, everyone felt a sense of relief from the long-drawn-out spell of frigid weather. Though January passed without the usual melting, that fact has been compensated for in part at least by the arrival of the spell about two weeks behind time. It was welcome even if it had to give way to a cool spell heralded since Friday morning last.

Up here people are used to cold winters. Down near New York City, some are doing such strange things, which prompt the New York Times to say that "we wish people, this winter, would not have their pictures taken . . . bathing amidst chunks of ice in Long Island Sound or other bodies of water. People who fall into water while skating or from boats while proceeding on lawful errand, may be understood, pitied, hauled out, thawed out and forgiven. People ought not to get into the water, outdoors, in this latitude, in a winter like this, even if they think it is good for them. It is not good for the rest of us. The rest of us are doing what we can to keep warm . . . We would all enjoy seeing people in swimming or even, pictures of such people, in Florida or Alabama. But it makes us chilly to see pictures of people playing tag with hunks of ice."

Accustomed as people in this region are to cold weather, the lengthy spell of cold did not prompt people hereabouts to dip in the cold waters of the Bay to have their pictures taken.

Now down in New England people are seeing first robins on every hand, they say. "Those birds, says the Windsor Star, are no mirage nor are they a sign of spring. They are looked upon as "members of a strong-charactered community of redbreasts that choose New England for year-round residence. It is said wiser birds refer to them as deep-freeze robins and suspect their choice of climate is really imposed by youthful improvidence. In other words, they are profligates who omitted to lay anything aside for a snowy day and must now take their punishment . . . The robin, it seems, is now forced from his hiding place by a need for food, just as the New Englander is by a need for shovelling."

Hereabouts there has not been any talk of robins being seen since early autumn. Sometimes in winter word comes of one being sighted, but their wisdom and a sense of self-protection must have guided robins in general to go southward this year. According there is yet to be seen the first robin of spring and he is not expected yet for a fair length of time by the calendar.

Cone Seed Machine

Ontario Department of Lands and Forests has to its credit a tree seed extracting machine which has been designed and built by the members of the Department. Announcement of the completion of the machine was made a few days ago by the Hon. H. R. Scott, Minister.

In the work of reforestation which is on every time it is necessary that there be large amounts of cone seeds available for distribution free to landowners from the provincial nurseries. As high as twenty million have been sent out in one year. The usual process of heating and drying the cones to secure the seeds has been slow and laborious work and losses were considerable. To Ralph Carman, Superintendent of the Eeed Extraction Plant at Angus and R. N. Johnston, chief of the Seed Division of Research three years ago conceived the principle of a machine using infra-red heat lamps to open the cones. The device was designed by M. H. Baker of the Research Division and a prototype constructed in 1947 by Vic McMullen of the Research staff and in 1947 an improved model was made and tested.

The time of passage through the machine is four hours as compared with fifty hours under the previous method.

While the Department is not making any extravagant claims for the machine, "all available evidence indicates that it is very successful and the only one of its type in the world," says the Hon. Mr. Scott. Chief of the Division of Reforestation. E. J. Zavitz thinks it may lead to a considerable increase in the number of trees available for planting in Ontario.

The Unchanged Lincoln

The figure of Abraham Lincoln whose birthday was celebrated a few days ago, remains as one of the greatest personalities of all history. Since the anniversary a year ago, new information has come to the public in a great number of items long in the possession of his son, Robert Lincoln. They had been withheld because Robert Lincoln thought their publication might be unfair to living men or perhaps to the first generation descended from leading figures of the Eighteen Sixties, says New York Times, remarking that "there is no indication that Lincoln's stature will be either increased or diminished . . .

"Lincoln had to flatter vain men, put backbone into weak men, make use for his grand purposes of scheming men and even bad men. He was thankful for unselfish heroes when he found them, but they were not numerous enough to save the Union. We do not doubt that Abraham Lincoln would be the most surprised man in history if he could know that the necessary pettinesses of his official days, the long tedium between the great moments, had made of him a demigod. But he would have to submit to that role, for the democratic tradition demands demigods in the image of the common man — only bigger and better. And let us remember that the Lincoln tradition would not live, the man would not still be loved, if there were not something of the greatness ascribed to Lincoln in the hearts of the masses of the American people. For we make our demigods as well as our gods in our own idealized image; we make them not so much what we are as what we powerfully long to be.

"We are now in another great period. Like Lincoln's great period, there is much in it that, seen at close quarters, is narrow, selfish, mean, confused, illogical. But who can doubt that in this nation, in common and obscure men as well as in the conspicuous, the greatness that Lincoln evoked still lives?"

Braking

One of the most practical bits of information to come our way this winter was in the form of a report on the result of automobile traction and skidding tests that have been conducted over a period of several years on frozen lakes and on ice-covered or snow-sheathed roads in northern Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Dr. Donald S. Berry director of the traffic and transport division of the National Safety Council, which was sponsor of the long study of motor car performance under conditions of winter, recently wrote:

"A number of tests were made to determine which was the most effective, 'pumping' the brakes or 'locking' them. In general, it was found that 'pumping' reduced braking distances from 5 to 20%, depending on the vehicle. Contrary to the general belief that the proper method of 'pumping' is to apply the brakes in a gentle pumping action, the tests demonstrated that the shortest possible stop is obtained by a series of very rapid and hard jabs on the brake pedal, continuing until the vehicle is brought to rest, making certain that the brake is completely applied and completely released on each individual stroke."— Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HEDGES AND WILD LIFE

A few years ago, clean fences and walls were one of the signs of a good farmer. Today wise farmers are leaving a strip of grass and brush along their boundaries. The experts of the department of agriculture and the experiment stations have found that it pays to leave these strips of brush. These hedges are havens of wild life. The song birds and pheasants make their homes in these protected areas. In return for their nesting sites, the feathered friends of man aid him in controlling insects of all kinds. This is practical, inexpensive conservation. — Guelph Mercury.

THE CHANGING CARES

Away from the noise of the highway,
And back to the cawing of crows;
From the clamoring: "Get out of my way!"
To screen doors that never will close.
Away from the telephone ringing
And the fear not to answer each call,
To mosquitoes, incessantly stinging,
And curious creatures that crawl.

Away from the paper each morning,
To one that's a day or two late;
From motor horns sounding a warning,
To the clang of an incoming freight,
Away from the neighbor who rises
At daybreak to mow down his lawn,
To the racket that nature devises—
The crowing of roosters at dawn.

Perfection is something that never
On earth may the living achieve.
Drop one form of fretful endeavor,
Another we're bound to receive.
Life seldom on mortals takes pity;
It will try them wherever they go.
Who flees from the woes of the city
The cares of the country will know.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Did Theodore Roosevelt advocate the recall of judges?

Theodore Roosevelt, contrary to a common impression, never actually advocated the recall of judges. What he did advocate was to confer upon the voters the right to recall or nullify "judicial decisions" that declare acts of the Legislature unconstitutional. In other words, he favored putting a limitation upon the power of judges to interpret the Constitution without making the tenure of their office dependent upon the sudden whim of the voter.

The popular misconception that T.R. advocated the recall of judges arose from certain statements he made February 21, 1912, in an address to the Ohio Constitutional Convention at Columbus. On that occasion the former President came near such a proposal. He said:

"I do not believe in adopting the recall (of judges) save as a last resort. But the recall will have to be adopted or else it will have to be made much easier than it now is to get rid not merely of a bad judge but of a judge who, however virtuous, has grown so out of touch with social needs and facts that he is unfit longer to render good service on the bench."

Elihu Root, then the chief elder statesman of the Republican party, rebuked T.R. severely for this intimation that he might favor the application of the initiative, referendum and recall to judges.

Three days later, in a speech before the Massachusetts Assembly, he hastened to correct any false impression he may have created, by saying: "I am not advocating the recall of judges; I am advocating a measure which, if adopted, will prevent the necessity of the recall of judges. I am not advocating the recall of the judge. I am advocating the recall of legalism to justice . . . My proposal applies only to the legislative acts which the courts declare unconstitutional."

The platform adopted at Chicago, August 7, 1912, by the Progressive Party, which nominated Roosevelt for President, contained the following plank:

"The Progressive Party demands such restrictions of the power of the courts as shall leave to the people the ultimate authority to determine fundamental questions of social welfare and public policy. To secure this end it pledges itself to provide: (1) That when an act, passed under the police power of the State is held unconstitutional under the State Constitution, by the courts, the people, after an ample interval for deliberation, shall have an opportunity to vote on the question whether they desire the act to become law, notwithstanding such decision. (2) That every decision of the highest appellate court of a State declaring an Act of the Legislature unconstitutional on the ground of its violation of the Federal Constitution shall be subject to the same review by the Supreme Court of the United States as is now accorded to decisions sustaining such legislation."

This language left some people in doubt whether decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States invalidating Federal laws were included in the Progressive plan. In his speech accepting the nomination, T.R. made it plain that he interpreted the proposal as extending to the Supreme Court.

Weekend Crashes Take Dozen Lives In East Canada

(By The Canadian Press)

Twelve persons lost their lives in accidents in Eastern Canada during the weekend, five of them in traffic mishaps, a Canadian Press survey showed today.

Of the others, two died in fires, two in falls, one was asphyxiated, one accidentally shot and another struck by a train.

Mrs. Frank Donnelly, 50, of Dublin, Ont., was killed and her husband suffered severe injuries in an automobile-truck collision near Mitchell in Western Ontario's Stratford district. Police later charged truck driver Kenneth MacVicar of London, Ont., with dangerous driving.

Other victims of traffic accidents were Judson Pue, 45, Lakeview, Ont., struck by an automobile as he adjusted a skid chain on his snowplow truck; Henry Gadden, 42-year-old Ottawa mill worker knocked down on the outskirts of the capital; Linson Brock 65, Toronto, hit by a bus; Grant Clitheroe, Grafton, Ont., struck by a car.

Rescue Bid Fails

A flash fire started by a gasoline stove explosion cost the life of Clayton Lucas, 46, of Dresden, Ont., who was burned to death in his home after a rescue bid failed. John Flahey, 50-year-old market gardener, set fire to a mattress while smoking in bed and died in a Toronto hospital.

Switchman James Finnucane, 22, of Killaloe, Ont., was killed at Hamilton when struck by a locomotive as he signalled a train to stop.

John Ward, 19, of Port Colborne, died of a broken neck suffered in a fall from a haymow. Alex Miller, 52, was fatally injured in a fall down a flight of stairs in his Toronto home.

Accidental discharge of a .22-calibre rifle in the hands of his 15-year-old brother, Leon, killed George Guillet, 19, of Sudbury.

Capt. Gordon Noble of the Toronto fire department was overcome by carbon monoxide fumes in his garage. Fellow firemen tried in vain to revive him.

20,000 Workers Return to Jobs On Tuesday

Toronto, Feb. 16 — (CP) — Because today is traditionally washday, upwards of 20,000 Southwestern Ontario workers, idle since dipping temperatures and natural gas shortages struck almost a month ago, will not begin their trek back to work-benches until early Tuesday.

A. R. Crozier, Ontario Fuel Controller, said yesterday he had agreed to restoration of gas services to almost 350 industrial firms after engineers assured him that field pressures had improved.

However, as home hot - water heating units would be in general use today, he said the order will not be effective until tomorrow.

With the controller's long - awaited order came a pat on the back for domestic consumers:

Their response to his order of last week calling for both compulsory and voluntary rationing—with mounting temperatures — are responsible for the improved situation, he said.

An example of how the district co-operated during the emergency was given by Mr. Crozier. The Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton agreed to accept 70,000 gallons of tar for fuel and in turn, released 1,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas to the United Gas and Fuel Company of that city for every 3,000 gallons of tar consumed.

Obtained by the Union Company of Windsor, the tar was a by-product of an oil-cracking process for manufacturing gas.

About 350 plants in the area are expected to call back employees as gas pressure resumed and normal production is restored.

SCHOOL IS NOT SO DANGEROUS NOW.

In this column recently I commented on the vicious policy of the school authorities of some states who base the allotment of school funds on the attendance record in each school district and so encourage teachers in the practice of urging pupils not to remain at home for "a simple cold." This is a dangerous practice because nobody, not even the physician, can tell in the early stage of an acute respiratory tract condition of the kind ignorant people call "cold" will prove to be a minor or a serious illness, a noncommunicable or a communicable disease. For that reason there is but one way health authorities, school authorities or parents can deal with pupils who present any symptoms that an ignorant or dishonest person would explain away as a "simple cold," and that is to keep the pupil out of school until the danger of spreading disease is past.

Now I learn that this safe and sane way to prevent respiratory infection—which causes three-fourths of the illness physicians attend—is to receive some consideration by the school authorities in one state. It appears that a few months ago the California Legislature revised the system of allotment of funds so that a child who is out of school on account of illness is not to be counted as absent for apportionment purposes. This legislation was passed with a view to removing from teachers, nurses, school physicians and others any possible temptation to keep children in school when for health reasons they should not come to school.

In a Los Angeles school publication, "Guidance for Teachers," issued by the office of the Superintendent, some good sound principles of hygiene are stated:

"Since nearly all of the communicable diseases start with the same early symptoms .. a child having any of the following signs or symptoms should be excluded from the school room immediately and reported to the principal, in the absence of the nurse:

Unusually flushed face
Unusual pallor of face
Any rash or spots
Swelling of neck glands
Coughing or sneezing
Red or sore throat
Stiff or rigid neck
Nausea or vomiting
Red or watery eyes
Dizziness or headache
Chills or fever
Listlessness or sleepiness
Disinclination to play
Pain in chest, limbs or back of neck.

Teachers should never diagnose, but only refer the child with signs or symptoms ..". That is, let the school physician, nurse or principal take the responsibility.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Altitude

My daughter complains much of the discomfort from her ears "stopping up" whenever she travels to any considerable altitude. Is there any way to prevent that?

Answer. She should indulge in a wide gape or yawn at frequent intervals when ascending or descending—to aid escape of air from middle ear cavity and equalize pressure. With ascent the air is more rarefied, pressure lower than pressure of lower altitude, and that leaves too high pressure within the ear cavity, unless the Eustachian tube is opened enough to allow some of the air under pressure there to escape.

Pin Missing

Could a child now six possibly have a small safety pin in his body which he may have swallowed when he was 1½ years old? One X-ray at the time did not show anything. The child is fairly well, but never has much appetite, occasionally nosebleed. I am worried. (Mrs. B. H.)

Answer — Unlikely. If the child really swallowed the pin chances are that it was expelled in fecal mass within forty-eight hours.

Oatmeal Water

As a young man in West Indies I noticed firemen on steamboats soaked oatmeal in their drinking water — they said it was cooling for the blood. (A.S.W.)

Answer—Seems contrary to the familiar notion that oatmeal is "heating." Perhaps the effect they derived was due to the salt in oatmeal. More "cooling for the blood," more refreshing, more likely to prevent heat cramps and heat exhaustion is the practice of taking some salt with each drink of water—about ten grains with each pint, or five grains with each glass of water, when working or playing in extreme heat.

Residents Still Looking for Rum Lost 100 Years

York Factory, Man., Feb. 16 — (CP) — The 400-odd residents at this northern trading post on the bleak shore of Hudson Bay would be the last to deny that the northern lights have seen queer sights.

They're not talking about moonshine either, but 100-year-old rum, thick and strong in brass-bound, oaken casks known as hogsheads.

The only trouble, insofar as the York Factory population is concerned, is that nobody but the northern lights has seen this rum, at least during the last 100 years.

For, that matter, there is no documentary proof to indicate that the rum in question actually exists. But the residents are hopefully continuing the search that has been going on unsuccessfully and thirstily for the last century.

It all started, according to tradition, when the Hudson Bay Company buried a large quantity of rum before Northwest Fur Company forces besieged the point where the trading post stoo point where the trading post stood. That was early in the 19th century.

Unfortunately, nobody thought to make a map showing location of hidden liquid treasure. Of if they did, it was lost.

Ottawa Theatre Groups Take Every Award

By KAY REX
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Kingston, Feb. 16 — (CP) — A little "cash" encouragement may prove the spark which will set the amateur theatrical movement ablaze throughout the upper St. Lawrence and Ottawa hinterland.

Announcement that the Eastern Ontario Regional Drama Festival has set aside a fund of $200 to encourage small theatrical groups to hold more competitions, came Saturday at the close of the three-day regional festival.

"Only groups that haven't participated since the war in regional festivals will be allowed to compete," said Dr. William Angus, E. O. R. D. F. director. "The winners of these smaller contests will receive cash awards on condition they enter the regional festival."

Ottawa little theatre groups were undisputed winners of this year's festival. They captured every prize on the board.

For its presentation of "Papa is the Ottawa Drama League Work- the Davies Trophy, awarded by Senator W. Rupert Davies, publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard, for the best full-length play.

Further honors came to the Ottawa group when adjudicator Robert Stuart selected Bernard McManus as winner of the best-actor award for his presentation of "Papa," in the winning play.

Presentation of a Canadian-written comedy, "Eros at Breakfast," won the Fulford Shield for the Ottawa Drama League Workshop, as the best one-act play. The rollicking fantasy by Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner, last year won the $100 award in the workshop's playwrighting contest.

Ottawa's Carleton College Drama class was represented on the festival prize list by Ruth Ruggles, who took the best actress award for her portrayal of Ellen Creed in "Ladies in Retirement."

In his adjudication of this popular play, Mr. Stuart emphasized that amateur groups should attempt more public performances to give their plays that necessary "polish."

"One public performance is worth 10 rehearsals," he said.

Palestine Issue Seen Fraught With Danger

By JOE MacSWEEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Halifax, Feb. 14 (CP)—Arthur Creech Jones, British Colonial Secretary, left here today for Lake Success to discuss Britain's stand on the Palestine question—a question he told reporters here was fraught with danger.

Jones predicted greater bloodshed in Palestine, where 1,161 have died in fighting since announcement of the partition plan in November.

He told reporters:

"We have fully co-operated with U.N. in every possible way and have given them much practical help but the proposed arrival of the commission in Palestine will be the occasion of fiercer conflict."

Until Britain's withdrawal deadline Aug. 1 "we will not enforce on Arabs or Jews a policy which one or the other actively resists."

Newfoundland and Canada

Referring to the Newfoundland convention's rejection of Confederation with Canada as a possible future form of government for the old Colony, he said any British action in the matter would be "largely conditioned" by the wishes of the people concerned.

He declined to comment when a reporter said that more than 49,000 Newfoundlanders have petitioned the British government to insert the question of confederation on a referendum ballot, tentatively scheduled for May.

Prospects for closer co-operation among the British Caribbean islands with a view toward ultimate dominion status seemed encouraging to the veteran British Socialist.

Movements Not Restricted

A fellow passenger aboard the liner Aquitania, arriving here last night, was Brig. J. V. Allard, C.B.E., D.S.O., Canadian military attache at Moscow for the last two years, en route to assume military command at Quebec. The Canadian soldier said his contacts with Russian officials behind the so-called "iron curtain" were few and far between but his movements had not been restricted.

Brig. Allard, who arrived at Moscow at the time of the espionage trials in Canada, said there "was no mention of them to me". Foreign military staffs in Russia had little contact with officials of the foreign department but there were no official restrictions on travel either in Moscow or to any part of Russia.

The tall, broad-shouldered brigadier said he does not know the present whereabouts of Col. Zabotin, one-time Russian military attache at Ottawa and alleged spy-ring leader who was withdrawn from Canada shortly after the investigation began.

Three Arrested May be Members "Numbers Gang"

Ottawa, Feb. 16 — (CP)—Hull police are waiting the arrival of Deputy Chief John Patrick of Kitchener to launch an investigation into the possibility that three men held in Hull may be members of the notorious, safe-cracking "numbers gang."

Chief Constable J. Adrien Robert said yesterday he expected the deputy chief to arrive Monday and that in the meantime the men are being questioned. They were arrested in a Hull hotel last Thursday in possession of arms and safe-blowing materials.

On Saturday Kitchener police said they believed the trio were suspects in the attempted armed robbery last Dec. 7 of a Kitchener five-and-ten cents store where Constable Richard Cowan was wounded by gunmen who shot it out with police.

Lorne Morgan Burns of Toronto, captured after the gun battle, was sentenced last month to 20 years for armed robbery and wounding. Three other bandits escaped during the shooting.

The men held in Hull have been identified as Douglas McAvella, 29, of Toronto; William Campbell, 23, of Hamilton; and Eugene Nadon, 30, of Montreal.

They have been remanded a week without plea on charges of illegal possession of firearms.

British Liberals Showing Alarm At Coalitions

By FRASER WIGHTON

London, Feb. 14. (Reuters)—British Liberals are showing alarm, and labor quarters uneasiness, at the spread of Conservative-Liberal coalitions against the Labor Party in parliamentary constituencies.

Some think this form of anti-government front would result, if extended, in extinction of the Liberal Party, now only a small group in the Commons, and the restoration of the Conservatives to power in a future general election.

So far there have been only a handful of cases. Focal point of the issue at present is the by-election in Paisley, near Glasgow, on Feb. 18, where the succession of Socialist Oliver Baldwin to his father's earldom has created a vacancy. The contest will be a straight fight between the Labor candidate and an opponent representing both Conservatives and Liberals.

The resignation of Lady Glen-Coats, chairman of the Paisley Liberal Party, in protest at the "arrangement", was evidence of local bitterness. The local Liberal party is, nevertheless, adhering to his pact with the Conservatives.

The orthodox Liberal Party, with 12 seats in parliament, abhors these local arrangements and has rejected time after time Conservative proposals for a common front to fight Labor.

Many distinguished Liberals have expressed their view that apart from having the worst possible effect on the country, such a plan would mean the end of the Liberal Party.

Orthodox Liberals represent the bulk of Britain's floating vote of approximately 3,000,000 electors, which is capable of deciding the issue of a general election either to right or left.

Orthodox Liberals who, just over a quarter of a century ago were the majority party in the government, are still making a desperate stand for independence against Socialist "dictatorship".

TO SAVE THE CHILDREN OF OUR WORLD...

As representatives of Canadian workers, we know that saving the lives, minds and bodies of the world's children is the most important task facing our world today.

Most of the members of Canadian unions have children of their own. We know that a large proportion of the world's children who are hungry, ragged and homeless, growing up bitter and suspicious, are the children of workers. We know they must have food, clothing and education if we are to assure a healthy peaceful world for OUR children.

CANADIAN APPEAL FOR CHILDREN has given all of us the opportunity to share in this vital work. Its importance is so apparent that we are assured of the full support of Canadian workers. We are asking the members of our organizations to pledge one day's pay to the Canadian Appeal for Children.

Labour is solidly behind this appeal—an appeal upon which the future of the world depends.

West Coast Trend In Fashion Has East Canada Look

By ERWIN A. FRICKE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Vancouver, Feb. 16 (CP) — There is a new trend in women's fashions here. No, it isn't the "new look"; it might be called the "Montreal and Toronto look".

Maybe the absence of Vancouver representation on a Canadian magazines recent list of Canada's ten best-dressed women—it must have rankled a bit—had something to do with it. Or maybe it is just the restrictions on United States apparel.

At any rate, Montreal and Toronto dress designers appear to have lured milady here away from the "California" influence. At two Spring fashion shows last week, the Canadian-made "new look"—with the required padded hips, lifted busts and tightened waist—was received with delight.

There were evening gowns with no neckline and skirts slit to the knee on one side; suits, featuring the ballerina skirt, with two types of jackets—hip-bone length and the bolero, and taffeta petticoats.

The conquest by Montreal and Toronto milliners, however, may be only temporary for their success apparently has given confidence to local couturiers, resulting in an outburst of new smart shops opening.

But will this awareness of style overcome handicaps of rainy winters—dictating tweeds, rubbers and California sport clothes—and place Vancouverites on the same level of fashion as Torontonians, Montrealers and Ottawans?

One chic young wife wasn't hopeful: "women here are not as fashion-conscious as in the East. They want to 'wait and see'."

Harry Adaskin, Wife Given High Praise By New York Critics

New York, Feb. 16. (CP)—Morning paper critics today had high praise for the Toronto violinists, Harry Adaskin, and his wife, Frances Marr, who gave a recital at Times Hall last night featuring a concerto by Barbara Pentland, Toronto composer. Miss Marr played the piano accompaniment.

The Times critic said the recital was "unusual for its direct musical appeal. . .instead of the usual balance of musicology and virtuosity, the fare consisted of four 20th century compositions, offered in unpretentious, communicative performances."

The Herald Tribune Review called the recital "distinguished both as to its programming and execution."

The other works in the recital were Delius' Concerto; Serenatè, by Vittorio Rieti; and Hindemith's Sonata in C Major.

MISS CAMPBELL AND MISS HARRISON ARE IN TORONTO.

Paris Fashions Picture Some Lower Hemlines

Paris, Feb. 16. (AP) — Paris dress designers have substantiated the "New Look" vogue in this season's showings to such an extent that it seems to be all set for a long stay.

Skirt lengths, which seemed to provoke the greatest controversy last summer, were dropped to seven inches from the ground by several fashion houses. The moderates have settled for around 12 or 13 inches. Skirts lengthen as the day shortens.

Artificial aid for the figure is widely condoned but opinions vary on how tight the corset strings are pulled and how many layers of padding are used.

Buckram is used extensively for lining basques and top coats and for flared petticoats, to make skirts look twice as full as they really are.

Although no completely new silhouettes have emerged this season, variations on the original theme have been plentiful.

The strictly tailored suit has been replaced by dressier affairs with fancy fluted peplums of all depths.

Bustles and poufs seem to be bigger and make the wearer often look as though she's stepped out of a gay '90's musical comedy.

Pencil skirts, often slit to the knee, are prime favorites, particularly on suits and button-through dresses. Pierre Balmain has introduced an effective "half bias" cut which he uses for innumerable pencil-lined numbers in his collection.

Skirt fulness, via panels, gores and plaits, both pressed and unpressed, is either strung from a snug hip yoke or falls from a fitting waistline.

Sunray and accordian pleating has made a comeback. It was seen in every collection.

Fashion Flashes

VERY GOOD versions of the ensemble are ready for Spring. A double-duty outfit consists of a black and white dotted crepe coat dress made with narrow shawl collar, bracelet sleeves, slim waist and full skirt. Under it a sheer black dress with deep square neckline, elbow sleeves and skirt with deep, inverted pleats.

WE LIKE the suit with a jacket that can double as a topper. Glen-plaid woollen is used for a suit of this type, the boxy jacket decorated with a sextet of slit pockets. Convertible collar and shallow cuffs.

NOT TOO EASY to find is an after-five frock that is smart yet basically simple. Such a frock is of black silk sheer with high, rounded neckline and short sleeves. Three circular lace bands set into the bodice converge to a point in back. Circular bands on the longish, full skirt.

COLOR IS RISING, judging by some of the new hats. Mauve-pink felt is used for a small hat that is swung to the right side. It is bound in light violet velvet and scarfed with violet chiffon placed to accent the split cuff brim.

FOR SOMETHING DIFFERENT some shops are importing magnificent saris from India. Fashioned of the finest silk —in glorious colors threaded with gold or silver bullion threads —these saris make the most exquisite evening gowns or wraps, especially for the woman who is an Oriental type.

FIRST PRIZE for the most beautiful bag of the season should go to a bag that has a wide frame of gold kidskin that encloses a panel of Beauvais embroidery rich with colorful beading.

Diversify Courses In Quebec School

Montreal, Feb. 16 (CP)— Only seven per cent of Quebec pupils complete their high school education, it was revealed in a report of the superintendent of education. A tremendous increase in school facilities will be necessary before the province of Quebec attains university high school education.

The report shows that for the year under review there were 560,029 Catholic and 66,883 Protestant students in the province. The number of pupils in Grade I was 90,325. The number in Grade XI, however, dropped to 6,566, or just over seven per cent of those who entered school.

Protestant pupils did somewhat better than Catholic students in this regard. There were 7,125 in Grade I and 2,413 in Grade XI, or approximately one-third in the final year. The Catholic figures show 80,200 in Grade I and 4,163 in Grade XI, that is, five per cent.

In an effort to keep boys and girls in school longer, educationists are diversifying the courses so that not all will have to follow the academic course, in which only a few continue through to university matriculation.

In addition a big building program now is under way. It is estimated that school buildings to the value of approximately $1,000,000,000 will be created in the second half of the present century.

$2,000,000 Willed B.C. Woman, 82

Victoria, Feb. 16 (CP) — "The telegram did give us a flutter — but we were over it within a matter of minutes." That is the way 82-year-old Mrs. Arthur Lovekin of Victoria today described her reaction to word received Saturday that she had inherited $2,000,000.

The telegram announced she was to receive one-third of the $6,000,000 estate left by her brother, a textile magnate in the Eastern United States.

"Dear me," she said. "I don't know what I'll do with it. My husband (age 85) and I are comfortable now. We don't worry about money."

The bequest was contained in the will of Moses T. Stevens of North Andover and Boston, who died Feb. 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Lovekin, who some years ago lived "averagely" in Honolulu, currently are patient-guests in the Mount St. Mary's Hospital here.

They have two children, Dr. Osgood S. Loekinv of San Diego, Cal., and Mrs. Jerome S. Donovan of Yorkton, Sask.

Wedding Usher Should Offer Right Arm

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Last Saturday I went to my cousin's formal wedding, which took place in one of the largest and most fashionable churches in New York. When I had entered the church I was very much surprised to have the usher, who came forward to escort me to my seat, offer his left arm to me. Of course, I took it and we proceeded up the aisle. I thought that perhaps he was left-handed, or that perhaps this was the custom in New York. I became more perplexed, however, as I noticed that two or three of the other ushers (there were ten ushers) also offered the left arm. But the other ushers offered the right arm. What is the answer, Mrs. Beeckman?

Dorothy G.

I, too, have had this same experience at large, formal weddings in New York, as well as, I must add, in other cities. And I find it just as surprising and perplexing as you do . . . that the ushers at such important and supposedly carefully-planned weddings should not know that an usher should always offer his right arm to a lady to escort her to her seat. The only answer, I suppose ,is that it is (mistakenly) taken for granted that a man who is invited to be an usher at a wedding (particularly a large, formal wedding) should know enough to offer his right arm to a lady. Therefore the ushers are not instructed about this, as they should be. If this error continues to be as blatant as it is now, perhaps it will be part of the wedding rehearsal for someone directing the rehearsal to "hint" the proper escort-procedure for ushers. This procedure should be as meticulously directed as is the processional and recessional procedure. . . there should be no deviation from the correct pattern.

When Vegetables Are Served in Small Individual Dishes

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When, in a restaurant, the meat is served either on the dinner plate or on a small platter that is placed above the plate, and the vegetables (usually two) are each served in a small side dish, should I eat the vegetables from the small dishes or put them on the plate with the meat? And why do not all restaurants do what some restaurants do; that is, serve the vegetables on the plate with the meat?

S.N.

Do as you prefer . . . It is correct either to eat the vegetables from the small dishes, or to serve the vegetables from the dishes to your plate, either all at once or in small portions. (Serve the vegetable to your plate with a spoon, or a spoon and fork. . . don't "dump" it from the small dish on to your plate!) Many restaurants consider it more practical to serve vegetables in the small individual dishes because it is easier and more time-saving for the one serving in the kitchen to give each service the same quantity. Also, if you don't like one of the vegetables, it won't be on your plate to have its taste combined with the tastes of the other foods on your plate.

"Pleased to Meet You" Not Correct Acknowledgment, of Introduction

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My sister says it is never correct to say "Pleased to meet you" when I acknowledge an introduction. Is she right about this?

Phyllis

Yes ,absolutely right! If you acknowledge an introduction with these words, you will immediately show the person to whom you are being introduced that you just don't know what's what. . . certainly an unfortunate way, an unnecessarily unfortunate way, to begin an acquaintanceship. Make a good first impression by saying, in a gracious, cordial manner, "How do you do," adding the name if you wish, "How do you do," Mr. Davis."

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

CHOICE OF ORNAMENTS

Think how much of the world's industries are devoted to the business of making woman decorative and attractive! Looms produce exquisite fabrics for her to carry on her svelte back. Dress designers search museums for designs for her costume. Men dig for diamonds for her to place upon her fingers. Gardens and forests provide her with delicate perfumes. Beauty shops thrive by the thousands to give professional attention to her hair, to keep her complexion youthful and lovely. Cosmetic chemists supply her with the synthetic blush, nail glow, the dozens of items for the toilet table.

If woman should suddenly decide that she doesn't care how she looks or what she wears, that she is through with all that, that she would just as soon retire to a vast wilderness and get old and homely in peace, she would throw a monkey wrench into innumerable industries. But that will never happen. When a woman doesn't care how she looks, she doesn't care about anything.

It is her desire to be decorative, but not too much so. She, herself, must dominate her attire. When she arrays herself in glad rags, she must know when to stop. To be overdressed ruins the picture.

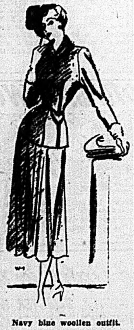
Jewellery calls attention to itself more definitely than any other detail of dress, be it real or synthetic. An elaborate necklace makes pathetic the neck that has become wrinkled and yellowed with age, just as showy rings are no help to hands that have aged. The woman who is afflicted with large ears makes a mistake when she wears jewelled pendants. There are ornaments suitable for elderly women, but they must be selected with the utmost care, must be of delicate character.

A pretty arm can carry an array of bracelets, but even the prettiest hand should not bear more than a single sing. The idea is decoration, never display, except perhaps on the grand social occasion.

Few women realize that brooches, clips, necklaces and earrings can seem to change the contour of the face. A clip worn at the centre front, has a slenderizing effect upon the round face, while two clips, one at each side of the neckline, draw the observer's eye in a horizontal movement across the wearer's face and neck, giving an impression of more width.

Choker necklaces increase with width and roundness of the face, add fullness at the neck. Numerous short strands of beads are helpful if the neck is thin and the face long. No woman who is cursed with a double chin should wear them.

Spring Suit

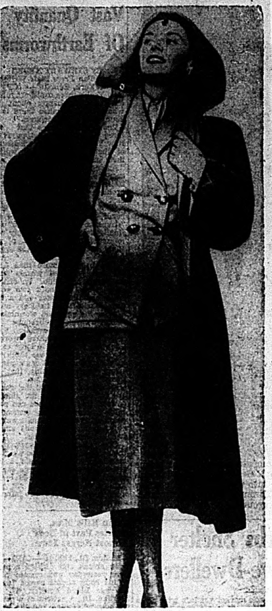


Navy blue woollen outfit.

By VERA WINSTON

CLASSIC TAILORING softened with pretty touches is always a good suit formula and it has been used with excellent effect this season by many designers. Navy woollen is the material for this most attractive and wearable suit which is nice under a coat now, on its own or with furs later. The rolled collar and shaped pockets are accented with piping of matching navy faille. The skirt is flared with much of the fullness concentrated in front.

Tweed Suit and Coat



By PRUNELLA WOOD

COLOR and cut do much to make the stalwart worth of pedigreed tweeds shine in new fashion roles. Not that the American fashion ever was tweeds with the baggy, country look, but now with more dyes available, more interesting models can be made using color cunning.

This ensemble includes a light tweed coat and skirt with a companion coat of plaided contrasting colors, and which uses the suit tweed for coat facing and cowl hood. Basic theme colors may be wine, gold or green.

Advice to the Lovelorn

MORE FUN FOR MOTHERS

It would certainly be a fine thing if the average husband could be broad-minded enough to set himself the job of finding out what it is like to run a house and take care of children all day long.

The object of doing this, of course, would be for him to gain a realization of what it is like to sty inside the four walls of a home day after day, washing, ironing, and cleaning; making beds, preparing meals, and, at the same time, looking after lively youngsters who get into everything if you take your eyes off them. I think one day with such a routine would be sufficient to convince most husbands that wives should have more relaxation and recreation, that mothers ought to have more fun.

It is all very well for a man to come home at night tired from his work in the office, factory, or wherever. But at least he has had the change of seeing something besides the inside of his home, and has had the stimulation of meeting and talking with people outside it. To the wife who has been coping with all the things mentioned above, ever since he left in the morning, and has only an evening of the same to look forward to, it is pretty hard to take when, if she happens to say that she is tired herself, her husband replies: "Why should you be tired What did you do all day long?" Under such circumstances, no woman could be blamed for feeling, as one of my correspondents says she does, that "I could hit my husband over the head with something."

This woman's husband, like many another tired business man, refuses to take her out in the evening or to have company, and is ever unwilling to have her go out alone, no doubt because, if she did, he would have to take care of the children. To add insult to injury, when he does feel like going out after his day's work, he wants to do it alone.

It seems to me that the only thing a wife who has had the misfortune to marry such a character can do is to make up her mind to go out and have some recreation whether her husband likes it or not. In this particular case, the wife speaks of having "a good mother," and the implication seems to be that this mother lives with her. If this is the case, it shouldn't be too hard for her to arrange time off for herself during which the mother could look after the youngsters. No doubt this woman has friends of her own with whom she could spend an afternoon or an evening. If she has been too tied down to keep up her friendships, then she should start about renewing them, and also making new friends by joining some club or other organization that has an interesting program of activity.

I think that if she is able to make the arrangement of having her mother look after her children, she should take at least one afternoon and one evening a week off for herself. If her husband quarrels with her about this, she should try to keep her temper and refuse to argue about it. In her letter, she says that whenever she has gone out by herself he has made such a fuss that in order to avoid a quarrel, she stays home.

But a good idea to remember is that it takes two to make a quarrel, and if she simply declines to let herself be drawn into one, he will not be able to carry it on very long. It will, of course, require great effort to maintain good temper and calmness in the face of reproaches and nagging. But if she can do so, and carry out her plan calmly and consistently, it might easily give her husband a new respect for her as a woman of independent spirit and resourcefulness.

At any rate, such a program is worth a try, and I hope she will give it one.

Ottawa, Feb. 16 (CP) — Pancakes and maple syrup, pancakes and sausages—whichever way you prefer them they make a tasty dish this chilly weather — either for breakfast or supper.

Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, suggest a new-form pancake with a modern flavor.

Wheat Germ Pancakes — ingredients: two cups sifted all-purpose flour or 2¼ cups sifted pastry flour; 1¾ teaspoons baking soda; one-quarter cup wheat germ; one-half teaspoon salt; two tablespoons brown sugar; 2 cups sour milk; 1½ tablespoons melted fat.

Sift flour, soda and salt together. Add wheat germ and sugar. Add milk slowly, and beat until the batter is smooth, and then add melted fat and mix well. Drop by spoonfuls on to a hot griddle, or lightly greased frying-pan. Cook until bubbles form on top and the edges are done. Flip and cook on the other side, and serve at once. This makes about 18 cakes.

In place of two cups of flour and one-quarter cup wheat germ, 1½ cups flour, and one-half cup whole wheat flour may be used.

One way of making the family arrive for supper on time is by serving a hot main dish that you know they'll like.

Corn and Cheese Souffle — ingredients: four tablespoons fat; four tablespoons flour; one teaspoon salt; few grains pepper; one cup milk; one cup grated cheese; four egg yolks; two cups corn; four egg whites.

Melt fat, add flour, salt and pepper. Add milk gradually, stirring until thick. Add grated cheese and stir until melted. Pour over beaten egg yolks, add corn, and mix well. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Pour into greased casserole. Oven-poach in a moderate oven until set—about 50 minutes. Serves six.

—o—

Shepherd Souffle—ingredients: one cup left-over meat; one teaspoon minced onion; two tablespoons fat; two half-inch slices soft bread; 1½ cups hot milk; two eggs, one-half teaspoon salt; one-quarter teaspoon paprika; one cup thinly sliced cheese; one tablespoon fat; one tablespoon minced parsley.

Put meat and onion through grinder. Panfry for three minutes with two tablespoons fat. Arrange in bottom of baking-dish. Break bread into small pieces. Cut cheese into small thin slices. Combine bread, cheese, beaten egg yolks, and hot milk. Add remaining fat, parsley, salt and paprika. Let stand 20 minutes, or until ready to bake. Then fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into baking dish over meat. Oven-poach in a moderate oven until set — about 45 minutes. Serves four or five.

Plotting Groups Unable To Shake Franco's Regime

By STUART UNDERHILL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Madrid, Feb. 16 (CP) — Nine years after emerging victor in a bloody civil war, Francisco Franco is still cock of the roost in Spain and there is little indication any rival will emerge in the immediate future.

Sometimes Spaniards let their thoughts stray to the possibility of the monarchy being restored but, as far as the general public is concerned, the idea is not strong enough to be considered seriously.

Undoubtedly Royalist plotters are at work. But the plump little general with the sulky mouth and black moustache probably knows of all their activities and how far it is safe to let them go.

A more serious threat to his security, in the opinion of many observers is Spain's internal financial crisis. Signs of acute inflation have multiplied alarmingly in recent months and the government has been curiously slow in taking any concrete steps to check them.

Perhaps Franco counts on relief under the Marshall aid program from which Spain so far is excluded. Spanish officials are highly optimistic that 1948 will bring a change in international opinion — that not only will Marshall aid be extended, but that Franco Spain will be accepted as a member of the United Nations.

You can sense it in the almost arrogant tone of their conversation as they describe Spain's long fight against Communism, a struggle they say now has become international. They contend the world should recognize the basic justice of Spain's attitude.

Controls Army.

Franco's hold on his office is consolidated by his control of the army, which dominates the country. Few Spaniards see anything strange in this, or in the fact that after nine years of "peace" there are still no civil trials for political offenders, who may languish more than a year in jail before being brought before courts-martial.

Such measures are excused for reasons of "security," on grounds political scheming would otherwise result in Communist-incited civil strife, which Spaniards fear more than anything.

"Spain is a mixture of left and right," one influential cabinet minister told me. "On the one hand we are conservative, in that we insist upon protecting the security of the family. But where measures for workers are concerned, we are almost socialist."

More has been accomplished in the field of social service under Franco than under any other previous regime. Social insurance of various kinds has been extended to more than one-third of the population and schools, hospitals and housing estates are being constructed.

But accomplishment has been nowhere up to planning. It will be years before the great barrier of illiteracy and ignorance which shuts off the people from self-government, can be worn down.

Economic difficulties have harassed the program. Poorlypaid staffs try to scrounge extra work elsewhere to supplement their salaries, with the result that administration suffers.

Political Apathy.

Politically, the situation is stagnant after nine years of rigid press censorship. All serious, organized opposition has been stamped out or driven underground. People seem curiously indifferent to politics.

Because they are allowed to print only articles which reflect credit on the government, the newspapers are held in contempt by most readers, whose attitude is to doubt everything they read.

They can see through propaganda moves of the government, such as the Bill of Rights, a statement of noble, liberal principles which has been approved by the Cortes (national assembly). No legislation has been introduced to make possible the liberties it proposes; although the newspapers frequently refer to it in applauding terms as an example of the government's liberalism.

Franco's enemies criticize his economic policy, which recently has been particularly hard to understand. But he has brought the country through some difficult times, hampered by drought, shortages of raw materials and indifferent administrators. His hope obviously is to make Spain self-sufficient.

Franco is no spell-binder. Millions are undoubtedly mildly against him. An equal number may hate him. But it looks as if he will be cround for a long time.

ALBERTA HOSPITAL CLAIMS IT CURES PROBLEMDRINKERS

Edmonton, Feb. 16 (CP) — The only hospital of its kind in Canada—and possibly on the entire continent — is operated by the Edmonton chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous.

It will be two years next July 16 since the Alberta government bought a large nine-room house in the central residential section and leased it to the Edmonton A.A. chapter for a three-year period at a nominal rate of $1 a year.

Since the chapter was formed in Edmonton in the summer of 1945, Premier E. C. Manning has been impressed with the reports he has received about the work of the A.A. Others in the cabinet —Works Minister W. A. Fallow in particular—also were impressed. It was through Mr. Fallow's department that the deal for a chapter house and hospital was financed.

A. A. members wished chiefly to obtain offices and clubrooms for regular meetings. But the idea the place would also serve as a hospital for alcoholics soon found favor.

Three well-furnished bedrooms, each containing two beds, were set aside. Soon the "patients" began to come in. Though the undertaking was not a large one, scores of alcoholics have been admitted and discharged since the chapter house began functioning.

Those admitted for hospital care, so far as can be ascertained in advance, are only those who sincerely desire to quit the liquor habit through the psychological and spiritual theraphy afforded by A. A.

In principle, no one is refused admittance. No attempt is made to treat those seriously ill with acute alcoholism. Any such cases are received by the regular city hospitals after examination by physicians indicate they are serious.

Medical Examination

Everyone admitted to the chapter house is examined by a doctor called in by an A.A. officer or a member of the three-man house committee.

Two non-member physicians, Dr. C. F. Connolly and Dr. Kenneth Hamilton, always are ready to lend a helping hand. The housekeeper is Mrs. Gertrude Flintoff, a practical nurse.

Main objective of the hospital treatment is to allow the sufferer to rest until his physical condition has improved sufficiently to enable him to absorb the basic teachings of the A.A. Only the true alcoholic or problem drinker is admitted to the chapter house hospital.

"Controlled" social drinkers who perhaps get a bit too rowdy on occasions are not encouraged to use the A.A. house as a hideout until they sober up.

When a patient feels well enough to return to work or to his family, a house committee member hands him a bill. He is told the chapter expects to be paid if and when he can spare the money. The hospital care is provided at actual cost.

Every effort is made to hold the patient's interest in the practice and policy of A.A. Top officials of the movement claim that 75 per cent of all who join sincerely wishing to quit drinking "make the grade" and live happy, useful and sober lives thereafter.

Officials here say the hospital care provided by Edmonton chapter is proving successful. Chapters here and in the United States are watching the experiment with keen interest.

Madrid's Suburbs Shelter Families of Cave-Dwellers

By STUART UNDERHILL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Madrid, Feb. 16—(CP)—Dinner at eight o'clock is an unheard of thing is Spain—no one would dream of dining that early.

Instead restaurants start filling about 9.30 p. m. and really hit their stride between 10 11. No one knows how the custom developed. Efforts have been made to reverse the trend but without success.

Even tiny villages keep late hours, but their similarity with the cities ends there. Madrid, for example, is a sleek, fast-moving European capital—though there are cave-dwellers on its outskirts. Most of the thousand of little villages dotted over Spain haven't changed in 300 years.

And don't feel too sorry for the cave-dwellers. I inspected the home of one family, and found a series of big, airy rooms dug out of dry soil. It even had a front door that closed.

"It's better than squeezing the family into one room in the city," said the housewife, whose husband had come from the Valencia area to seek work in Madrid when last year's orange crop failed. "Besides, there's no rent to pay."

Their quarters were better than many village homes I saw. In architectural line all of these possessed a graceful beauty, but the stonework of most was crumbling after 200 or 300 years of neglect. Big rooms let in the rain and draughts. Often the only cooking or heating facilities were a handful of twigs on the hearth, or a brazier of charcoal under the table to warm the feet of an honored guest.

Outside, heavily-laden mules plodded up rough, narrow streets, coming or going from fields where villagers were picking olives or pruning grapevines. Social facilities were as meagre as sanitation —dignity, continuity and contentment.

About half of Spain's 28,000,000 population lives this way. The women find relaxation in exchanging gossip in the village streets; the men by dropping into the local cafe where, like their big-city cousins, they can while away the time until 2:30 or later.

Fond Of Crowds

Wherever they are, Spaniards gregariously like to get together. Madrid's broad boulevards and narrow winding side streets bear a careless flow of pedestrians, window-shopping or just parading and cafes are packed with patrons who spend hours drinking "cafe con leche"—half milk, half coffee.

The crowds are liberally dotted with the khaki-clad army and grey-clad police. Soldiers slouch along in twos and threes, their forage caps over their eyes, the red tassels brushing their noses. Broad -shouldered officers march purposefully through the throngs.

Traffic cops are tyrants in Madrid. White-helmeted, wearing blue raincoats and leather leggings, they overwork their whistles, blast pedestrians who try to cross in the middle of the block and endlessly delay others at intersections, even though motor traffic has been cut to a trickle by gasoline restrictions.

But they pay no attention to the black market vendors who ply a busy trade, usually at the exits and entrances of subway stations. Women offer American and British cigarets, bread and candy ,and small boys sidle up with fountain pens and costume jewelry. Vying with them in soliciting attention are raucous newspaper vendors and licenced beggars who peddle tickets.

Except for the weight of numbers, there is little outward ev- People crack their little jokes about Gen. Francisco Franco—he was Francis the Eighth when he cut the olive oil ration to an eighth of a litre a month, and is frequently the butt of a riddle he is called "Fran."

Why Fran? Because the "cisco" comes afterwards—"cisco" meaning "disaster" in Spanish.

There is no sign of organized opposition, however and those who are rash enough to foment it usually find themselves, after months in jail, brought up for court-martial at some remote town, sufficiently far removed from any large city to prevent the chance of demonstration.

Platypuses Eat Vast Quantity Of Earthworms

By STEWART NEBBS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York, Feb. 16 — (CP) — New York's three ornithorhynchus anatinus are happy about the whole thing because there is an abundance of Oligochaets.

That simply means that the three duck-billed Platypuses in New York's Bronx zoo are assured of their daily quota of worms, their main dish.

Among the latest additions to zoo, the three imports from Australia presented somewhat of a problem as each eats 800 worms a day.

Zoo officials scratched their heads, took another look at the "strangest animals on earth" and finally decided that the only way to satisfy the appetites of the Platypuses was to start a worm farm.

"We brought more than 3,500 fat and beautiful worms from California and Ohio," an official said. "Then we built two score little breeding boxes and a big, deep, earth-filled hatchery-nursery for the eggs and wormlets.

"Earthworms reproduce by casting off egg capsules. Each capsule averages three worms. Counting pin heads in loose earth is quite a job but we think we have 60,000 to 90,000 egg capsules —and they're hatching, that we know."

Its a good thing that the worms are turning because the amount of food that a Platypus can consume is comparatively enormous, considering that a fat male weighs only about 4 1/4 pounds and a female considerably less.

One female, who answered to the name of Jill and who weighed exactly two pounds, ate 1 3/4 pounds of food—400 large earthworms, 338 grubs and 38 crabfish—in one night while she was nursing her baby, the zoo informant recalled.

Tin Can Islanders Find Another Home

By J. C. GRAHAM
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Auckland, N.Z., Feb. 16 (CP) — The people of Niua Fo'ou, or Tin Can Island, have been on the move again. In 1946 they were taken from their island home—famouse because their mail, placed in tin cans, was thrown overboard from passing steamers —as successive volcanic eruptions had deprived them of much of their land and danger was increasing.

Now they have been transported from their temporary home near Nukualofa, capital of Tonga, to Eua, another island in the Tongan group which they will make their permanent home.

The 1,100 natives of Niua Fo-ou were reluctant to leave their original home in spite of the eruptions, but the Tongan government decided it was necessary and transported them to Nukualofa where they built a village on one of the estates of Queen Salote of Tonga and were supported by the hospitality of their brother Tongans until their first crops were harvested.

Meanwhile, Eua was selected as their eventual home. It is the most fertile island in the group but was populated by only a handful of Tongans. Its soil is so rich that sweet corn can spring from seed to ripeness in six weeks. Advance parties cleared the land and marked out holdings for the immigrants and stock was transported before the main body of settlers arrived.

It is expected that the new community will become self-supporting within six months but the newly-planted cocoanut plantations will not bear a copra crop, main source of income for the islanders, for six or seven years. In the meantime, the natives have been exempted from Tongon taxes, which amount to about $5.00 a year.

But, in spite of the amazing fertility of their new home all the settlers are not happy. Some have petitioned the Tongan government to be allowed to return but the government takes a realistic view and has declined the request.

L.B. Calnan, Picton, Addresses Marmora Chamber of Commerce

Marmora (Special) —The regular monthly dinner meeting of the Marmora Chamber of Commerce was held in the Royal Hotel on Thursday evening, Alex Fraser, president, was in the chair. The speaker of the evening was Mr. L. B. Calnan, editor of the Picton Gazette, who gave a spirited talk on the tourist trade question. A resolution was later passed calling upon the Department of Lands and Forests to close the deer season south of No. 7 Highway. The chairman of the various committees, now that the personnel of these committees has been completed, were called upon to prepare their program for the year's work and present it at the next meeting. In course of the meeting some discussion centred on a covered rink project.

Owing to the slippery condition of the road the T.V.L. hockey game Hastings vs. Marmora, in Madoc, was called off. It is understood the game may be played on Saturday evening.

The third annual banquet and meeting of the Deloro Quarter Century Club is being held in Deloro hall on Tuesday evening.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Elva Tyme has the wrong slant on the lead to a finesse. She has the idea that you always lead toward the high card. Not So. You lead toward the lower-than-opponent card.

Study the finessing chances in these south and north hands:

SOUTH
♠6 4 3 2
♥Q 8
♦A K 3
♣Q J 4 3

NORTH
♠A Q 7
♥A 7 3
♦J 7 6 4
♣A 7 6

In spades, lead south small toward the north queen. Not because the ace is there. Because the queen is there. It is toward the card that is lower than opponent king.

In hearts, lead north small toward the south queen. Notice it is not toward the ace. It is toward the queen; the card that is lower than the opponent king.

In diamonds, lead south small toward the north jack. Notice it is not toward the ace or king. It is toward the jack; the card that is lower than the opponent queen.

In clubs, lead north small toward the south queen and jack. It is not toward the ace. It is toward the queen and jack; cards that are lower than the opponent king.

Suppose you lead south club queen toward the north ace. If west covers with club king, north ace wins. South jack will then be good. But your combination will take only two tricks.

When you lead south club queen toward north ace, suppose east has the king. It will win the queen. North ace and south jack will then win two tricks. But not more than two tricks.

It is possible to take three tricks if you lead north small to south queen and jack. East may have the king. It will win. But ace and queen and jack can then take three tricks.

It is understood, of course, that a finesse has only half a chance. But give yourself that half a chance instead of none.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 16 (AP) — "The picture business will have to go back to making entertainment—or else give up."

Mack Sennett, the man from Denville, Que., who made a continent laugh, was telling his views on the state of the screen.

"I see all the pictures that come out. Many of them are terrible; there's too much murder in the films. Where are the belly laughs that we used to put on the screen? Comedy is becoming a lost art. Why? Because there is no training school for comics."

Sennett, who left Canada to become a film titan as a producer of comedies, gave a rare interview. Surrounded by mementoes of the past, including an Oscar for his great contribution to film comedy, he lives alone and conducts his business there.

Movement Forgotten

He had much to sa yabout how the screen has forgotten the value of movement. He also commented on some of the newer comedians. Red Skelton, he said, is "wonderful," Danny Kaye "amusing." Of Bob Hope: "He throws so many puns at you, you have to laugh at some of them."

"Charlie Chaplin, whom Sennett discovered, is "the greatest comedian of all time." But he didn't approve of Chaplin's latest film.

"I told Charlie: 'There are hundreds of actors who can do that serious stuff as well as you, but no one can match your comedy. Why waste time in trying to be dramatic'?"

Still Busy.

He told me he keeps an office in New York and is reissuing his old comedies. "Think of the possibilities in 16 m.m. and television!" he said. He also plans a feature-length collection of some W. C. Fields and Bing Crosby shorts and others. He showed me the manuscript of a fiction book he had written. And M.G.M. and Warners are bidding for his film biography. "Do you call that being idle?" he asked.

Sennett attributes the eclipse of his comedies not to the advent of sound, but to the double feature. The culprit, he declared, was a theatre owner of Providence, R.I., whose customers complained they had nothing to do after the show was out at nine o'clock. So he gave them another picture to keep them happy. The double feature idea spread and finally killed the two-reel comedy, ending a happy and colorful era of movie history.

In closing, Sennett upheld the purity of his films. They never made sport of religion, politics, race or mothers, he said.

"We kicked hell out of mothers-in-law, but we never touched mothers," he smiled reminiscently.

Winter Sports Draw Thousands To Laurentians

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ste. Adele, Que., — (CP)—It's probably the most amateur of winter sports but it can be said in all truth that skiing, growing by leaps and bounds in the Laurentians this last two decades, has come of age with growing gusto, attracting folk from six to 60.

In the 80 or so villages of the Laurentians where the snow lies deep and dry and the temperature plummets with startling speed, the best guess is that some $50,000,000 or more has gone into making the mountains attractive for the hill-riders.

Some of this expenditures has been to bring in summer vacationers but most of it went for ski tows—tee bar and rope—extravagant chair lifts up sheer mountainsides and chalets and sundry-buildings.

Owners, riding a wave of ski enthusiasm, get extravagant when they talk about their hoped-for profits. Some guesses in the aggregate scamper up to $30,000,000 as the gross business that may be done this year from skiing. But anybody can guess.

For as little as $3.50 a day a skier can board at a Laurentian farmhouse turned into a partial inn. Ski chalets cost a little more. And for those with an unlimited bank roll there is always Joe B. Ryan's Mont Tremblant lodge at $18 a day with three miles of ski tows and unnumbered trails down Quebec's highest mountain.

Elsewhere in the mountains the ante is less and the St. John's Ambulance operates the ski patrol which keeps constant vigil over the welfare of perhaps 200,000 skiers a winter from Montreal up through the 90 miles of hills to Tremblant.

Few Canadians, comparatively speaking, go to the Tremblant as guests. The price is too high, the living somewhat too posh. But few others than Canadians, comparatively speaking, go to Tremblant to ski.

On the ski-tows you find Canadians number 80 per cent of the people, who for the day, pay their 50 cents a time to climb such well-known trails as the Flying Mile, the Kandahar, or the Devil's River Run or the Upper Nansen. These require more than an ordinary measure of skill.

But the Laurentians boast nursery slopes for the skiing beginner; you can get lessons almost anywhere and sometimes for very little; and as encouragement you have the example of 13-year-old Lucille Wheeler of St. Jovite who ran Tremblants thrill-packed Taschereau Trail's two miles in three minutes and 57.2 seconds. Crack men skiers can do it in more than a minute less, and this year, on the north slopes look for skiing as late as May 15.

Lucille, living in the mountains as she does, must miss half of the skiing fun—she doesn't ride the ski trains that run north on the week-ends from Montreal. Nobody has to ski to have fun on these "juke" trains, whence the skiers take off for their favorite hill or perhaps a cross-country run on the 100-mile Maple Leaf trail.

It's on these trains you hear the songs of the ski country and if you never saw snow, or a ski before, you'll see them here—and learn the words of such songs as, "I know the name of a muffin man, who lives in Drury's Lane.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Feb. 16 — (AP) — Earl Hilligan, the American League tub-thumper, recently pointed out that there'll be some terrific tussles for places on teams in his league when spring training begins next month . . . perhaps it was just a coincidence that most of these tussles centered around first base — and the same condition extends to the National League . . . Outside of big John Mize, the National League's clout king, it is hard at this time to name even one first baseman who is sure of a major league job . . . The Yankees are ready to pit George McQuinn against a wide open field; for the Red Sox it's Jake Jones vs newly - acquired Stan Spence and the Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis American League clubs must depend on newcomers with at least two candidates on each team . . . the National League likely will produce a couple of free-for-alls at first if the Cards' Stan Musial and the Dodgers' Jackie Robinson are returned to the outfield and second base respectively, and even such fixtures as Earl Torgeson at Boston and Babe Young at Cincinnati will have to defend their jobs . . . Okay, you gotta say it—who's on first?

He set out to build a machine to test punching power but Joe Louis convinced him it was more practical to apply the idea to golf.

Toronto Maple Leafs Gain Tie With Detroit Red Wings For Leadership of the N.H.L.

By HARRY ECCLES
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The Toronto Maple Leafs drove into a tie with Detroit Red Wings for the National Hockey League leadership in a weekend of close battles, and there wasn't anything closer than the way the Leafs wiped out a previous Detroit lead of three points.

Saturday night the Leafs beat Montreal Canadiens 4-2 at Toronto, while New York Rangers and Boston Bruins were tying 4-4 at Boston. Sunday the Leafs tied Rangers 4-4 at New York, and Canadians lost by 2-1 at Chicago. The Detroit Wings were beaten 3-1 at Boston in their only start of the two nights.

The Rangers could be forgiven for thinking they had the Leafs whipped at Madison Square Garden last night. They led 3-1 in the second period, and had a 4-2 lead with less than nine minutes left.

Frankie Eddolls, Ed Kullman and rookie Do Raleigh banged in the first three Ranger goals, with Bill Ezinicki getting one back. Ted Kennedy got another for Toronto before Phil Watson scored Rangers' fourth goal. Dipsy-doodle Max Bentley then brought it to 4-3 in Rangers' favor and it was that when Leafs gained a face-off in the Ranger zone, yanked Turk Broda from the nets, sent six men up and got the tying goal with 15 seconds left on the clock as Watson from close up scored on the short pass from Apps.

The game produced a hard break for the Leafs when forward Viv Lynn crashed heavily into his own goal and was taken off with a torn cartilege in the left leg.

Not Much to Cheer For

In the game at Toronto, an uproarious cheering section of 100 members of Montreal's Junior Chamber of Commerce didn't have much to cheer for. They presented Syl Apps with a plaque and within two minutes Max Bentley scored the first goal for Toronto and Apps collaborated with Harry Watson on a second. Ted Kennedy in the second and Nick Metz in the third period got Toronto's other goals, while Glen Harmon and Billy Reay scored for Montreal. Reay was the star of the night.

The other Saturday night game at Boston, was the 10th tie for the Bruins in 45 starts. There were only three penalties. This one was close all the way. Clare Martin scored first for Boston, then Edgar Laprade tied it. Defenceman Frank Eddolls and topscorer Buddy O'Connor got two for the Rangers before Fern Flaman of the Bruins tallied. That sent the teams into finals with Rangers leading 3-2. Pete Babando and Woody Dumart scored to give Bruins a 4-3 lead, and the tying goal was scored by Phil Watson with less than four minutes to go.

Had Better Luck

Against the Wings last night Boston had better luck, with Frankie Brimsek turning in a brilliant job in the Bruin goal. Brimsek had no less than 41 saves while Harry Lumley had only 17. But Lumley was beaten by rookie Paul Ronty in the first period, Grant Warwick in the second and Jimmy Peters in the third, while the only one that Brimsek lost was a dead-on shot from Leo Reise on a long pass from Jack Stewart.

The Wings in an effort to maintain sole possession of first place did everything but score, Brimsek facing a barrage of dangerous shots throughout.

At Chicago, victory for the tail end Hawks brought them within two points of the fifth-place Canadiens. Gerry Plamondon scored for Montreal early in the first period, but that was the only one that the Hawks allowed. Meanwhile Durnan was scored on by Gaye Stewart and Gus Bodnar as Hawks continued their mastery over the Canadiens They've won three straight now over the Montrealers.

Goalie Scores Shutout In First Pro. Game

Twenty-year-old Bob DeCourcy played his first professional hockey game last night when he went into the nets for St. Paul Saints of the United States Hockey League, and he came through in true story - book fashion with a shutout.

St. Paul defeated Fort Worth Rangers 5-0.

The five goals were divided among Hal Brown, Lin Bend, Mitch Pechet, Gino Rozzini and Joe Levandowski.

In the other Sunday game Kansas City Pla-Mors hung up their third straight victory with a 7-3 decision over Tulsa Oilers. Kansas City goal getters were Doug Baldwin, Bert Olmstead, Joe Conn, Ray Powell, Jack Millar, Henry Blade and Ivan Wilson. Tulsa scorers were Doug McMurdy, Clint Smith and Andy Chakowski.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

BY GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

You don't suppose that the vorus of lethargy that was woefully apparent in the bloodstreams of our Reds last Wednesday against the Peterborough Hockey Club is contagious, do you? And you don't suppose that our buckaroes in a spirit of revenge handed the Petes squad a jolt or two of the bad medicine. Or on the other hand, did Dingo Haynes inject some unknown serum in to the system of his Saints to cause them to nearly smash the three-year record held by the Petes for being undefeated on their adopted ice pasture in Omemee, when they held the vaunted Petes to a three-all tie?

• • •

However, our grapevine operator up around the Liftlock village way informs us that the Petes team and the Legion squad aren't performing any Alphonse and Gaston acts between scenes and that the intracity rivals are exactly that in all senses of the word.

• • •

So it would seem that the crafty Petes city squad will sit back in more or less glee and watch the Legion bucks made the long trek to Kingston for the semi-finals playoff series.

• • •

Now it wouldn't be that. No it couldn't, surely. In any event the score was 3-3 in Omemee Friday night.

• • •

In any event it is all over, as far as the Belleville Veterans are concerned. Frankly we were a mite disappointed in the team this year. They started off as though they might be a topflight squad in Senior 'B" circles but they were as inconsistent as a four-ply divorcee. At times they came up with exhibitions that marked them as a smart aggregation. At others they were mediocre. And they had the benefit of pre-season practice and conditioning games, so the old training alibi of former years when no artificial ice was available here doesn't hold water.

• • •

And for the half-dozen redhot Reds fans who panned us for panning the Reds after Wednesday night we can only say that there were 1,500 people in the pews—and 1494 can't be wrong.

• • •

It appears that the 5-4 defeat handed to the Kingston Vics by the Belleville Rockets last Monday night had a more or less far-reaching effect. For an ominous note was sounded in the Kingston sheet on Saturday by Mr. Michael Rodden, who said that there are "ugly rumors going around about one of the Belleville stars, and that the Kingston Vics "strictly within their rights are conducting an investigation."

• • •

Ho Hum, here it comes again. The player in question has not only played in the two playoff games against the Vics but also during the schedule — or part of it. On the face of things, it seems that had the Vics been victorious against our Rockets last Monday, with only one game to play to cop the group title, nothing would have been said about the matter—if there is one. But now that the teams are on even terms, and it has been proven that the Vics can be beaten despite Kingston alibis up comes the perennial Limestone Village squawk.

• • •

If such "ugly rumors" are true and the Vics are conducting an investigation, why was this not done after it was learned that the player in question had been signed by the Rockets and played for them. There wasn't a squawk from Maxie Jackson, Rodden et al at that time, but now that the supposedly invincible Vics have been beaten and in their own backyard at that, they decided to go into sudden action.

• • •

As far as Belleville is concerned, the Rockets management informed this desk this morning that they have the certificates of all signed players, and that they are in order. And it might not be a bad idea to adhere to O.H.A. regulations and in future games demand that the management of teams opposing Belleville produce their certificates before a whistle is tooted.

• • •

The Kingston story said that the Belleville management has not been guilty of any misdemeanors in connection with the matter, and are in no way to blame. Blame for what?

• • •

Tonight the Rockets trek down Kingston way to take on the worried Vics in the third game of their three-of-five series. The Rocks, are hot, and confident that they can repeat their win of last Monday night. But they will have to play hockey, if they do. Because these Vics, regardless, are a smart hockey crew and know all the answers. That defeat of last week doesn't "sit" any too well with 'em and with the fourth game scheduled for Belleville on Wednesday you can bet your grandmammy's "New Look" that they'll be a fighting battling squad out there this gloaming.

• • •

In any event, win or lose, the chips will be down here on Wednesday. If our kidlets happen to cop the duke tonight, they'll be out there on Wednesday to cinch the series. If they don't, they will be going all out to once more even the series at-two-all and force the third game.

• • •

Tonight's hockey fare is the Intermediate "A" struggle between the Trenton Flyers and the Cobourg Pavilions, in Memorial Arena. The Cobourgs are in second place far behind the group-leading Trenton town squad while Flyers are more or less in the third position which is the last playoff slot in the group. Should be an interesting brawl as the Flyers, who appear to have gained their former stride in their defeat of the Port Hope team last week, will endeavor to strengthen that playoff position.

Cleveland Barons Now Hottest Team In American Loop

(By The Canadian Press)

Cleveland Barons, the hottest team in the American Hockey League, came up with a win and a tie over the weekend to place them three points back of the second-place Buffalo Bisons in the western division.

Saturday, they tied Hershey 3-3 and Sunday edged New Haven 3-1. Buffalo won its only outing, downing Springfield 6-5.

The eastern pace-setting Providence Reds split a twin bill with Philadelphia, dropping a 5-1 decision on Saturday but coming through last night to win 8-4.

Pittsburgh Hornets leaders in the west, battled the tailend Washington Lions to a 2-2 stalemate. Indianapolis whipped Hershey 5-2 last night after losing 7-3 to St. Louis on Saturday.

In the only other contest, New Haven whipped Springfield 7-2.

Pete Leswick, Johnny Holota and Church Russell got singles as Barons downed New Haven. Wingy Johnston scored Ramblers lone marker. The same trio scored on Saturday for Cleveland while Lloyd Gronsdhal scored all three Hershey goals.

Tommy Cooper with four goals paced Buffalo while Les Douglas and Jerry Brown got one each. Bill Gooden with two goals stood out for Indians. Other Springfield scorers were Bill Summerhill, Ken Hayden and Paul Courteau.

A Different Story

It was a different story in Providence as Johnny Chado paced Reds with a two-goal effort. Whitey Prokop, Ray Laplante, Al Stanley, Harvey Fraser, Roger Bedard and Maurice Arcand also scored. Wally Stefaniew scored three of the Philadelphia tallies and Steve Wochy added the other.

At Pittsburgh veteran Mel Hill and Pete Langelle lit the light for Hornets while Herb Lovett and Eddie Cluman scored for Washington.

Cliff Simpson, with two goals, paced Indianapolis to a triumph over Hershey. Other Cap scorers were Pat Lundy, Gerry Couture and Baldy MacKay. Roly McLenahan and Pentti Lund scored for Bears.

On Saturday, Bill McComb and Don Grosso rammed in two goals each to lead St. Louis to an easy victory over Caps. Eddie Olson, Hec Pozzo and Joe Glada scored one each while Nels Podolsky, Eddie Bruneteau and Couture scored for Indianapolis.

Wingy Johnston turned in a two-goal performance to lead New Haven in the victory over Springfield. Steve Rymnak, Buck Davies, Mickey MacKintosh, Jack Gordon and Nick Micoski also found the mark. Paul Courteau and Eric Unger picked up goals for Indians.

No games are scheduled tonight.

Canada to Have First Priority On Venue of Games

Canada could probably stage the 1949 world figure-skating championships if it wanted, H. J. Clarke, of London, president of the International Skating Union, told The Canadian Press at Davos, Switzerland, Saturday night.

"Canada and the United States have the world's Singles Champions and they'll have first priority on venue if they ask for the tournament," Clarke said.

Although Canada had not formally approached the I.S.U., "I can see no reason why they should be refused," Mr. Clarke said. "It costs money to get European skaters to North America and back but if they want to underwrite the expenses of the competitors, they'll have the first priorities when the subject is discussed at the I.S.U. meeting this Summer."

Canada's R.C.A.F. Flyers, Olympic Hockey Championship team, racked up two victories over the weekend, defeating the Bern Hockey Club 5-2 and downing the Mont Choise Club at Lausanne 12-3.

The University of Toronto Blues defeated the hometown Queen's University Hockey team 9-6 Saturday. Murray bagged four for the losers and Wallis and Mercier got the others.

Paisley, Ont., opened its new $35,000 War Memorial Community Centre and Toronto Marlboros hockey team of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league liked the new rink so well they defeated the district intermediate all-star team 14-6 in an exhibition game.

Fort William Legion thumped visiting Port Arthur Bearcats 9-3 Saturday in the first game of a best-in-seven series for the Lakehead Senior Hockey championship. Second game is scheduled for Tuesday.

McGill University was walloped 66-50 by the University of Toronto Sunday in a Senior Intercollegiate Basketball League feature.

Harvey (Busher) Jackson has returned to the hockey wars, this time as coach. Saturday he guided Nanaimo, B.C., Clippers to a 6-3 victory over visiting New Westminster Cubs in the Pacific Coast Senior 'B' hockey league.

Dapper Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago and singing Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., finished in a tie Sunday for first place in the lower Rio Grande River Valley open with 269 for 72 holes and will meet today in a play-off for first money.

King Ranch's Assault today became a 7-5 choice for the mile-and-a-quarter $50,000 added Widener handicap at Hialeah Park Saturday, replacing Calumet Farm's Armed as the favorite. Armed, winner of the Widener in 1946 and 1947, finished third behind the 49-1 shot, Elmono, and Riskolater, in the McLennan Saturday and the Calumet General Manager, Ben Jones, said "He's not himself".

An international radio chess match, played between teams from New York and Amsterdam Stock exchanges, ended early yesterday after 15 hours of continuous play with Amsterdam the victor by 5 1-2 to 4 1-2.

It was the second international chess battle conducted by the new automatic radiotelegraph relay service.

Playoff Spots In Junior 'A' Are Settled

(By The Canadian Press)

At least the junior 'A' fans of the Ontario Hockey Association can't call Toronto "hogtown" any more with the final Queen City team — Marlboro Juniors—gracefully bowing out of the playoff picture Saturday. The other two Toronto teams, St. Michaels College Majors and Young Rangers were the two last-place clubs for most of the season and were not given much rating from the start.

All teams in the junior loop now have consolidated their positions either in or out of the "money series" and only a few remaining games are left to finish out the regular schedules.

Top-place Windsor Spitfires squashed any mathematical hope the Marlie had of taking a playoff position by handing them a 2-0 whitewashing. St. Catharines Teepees took over sole possession of that coveted sixth position standing the Marlies were seeking, when they edged out Guelph Biltmores 4-3. Galt handed St. Michaels a 6-4 decision in overtime while the second-place Oshawa Generals trounced Stratford Kroehlers 8-2 and Barrie Flyers swamped the hapless Young Rangers 16-1.

Two in Senior

Only two games were played Saturday in the senior A loop as the league - leading Hamilton Tigers finished their schedule with a neat 5-1 victory over Owen Sound Mercurys and Stratford Indians played solid hockey to hand Hamilton Patricias a 4-0 defeat.

Windsor scored their two goals in the first period on plays by Jim Unias and Johnny Wilson and then settled back to play brilliant defensive hockey as the junior Marlies drove in desperately. Ivan Walmsley in the Spitfire nets had to be good to hang up the shutout and stave off the goal - hungry Duke forwards who roared in time and again in their attempt to make that final playoff spot.

In sewing up that sixth - place spot, St. Catharines Teepees had their share of trouble with Guelph Biltmores whose light line of Yacker Flynn, Glen Sonmor and Tatter McLellan continually bored in on Cec Gruhl in the Teepee nets. Poor defensive play by the Garden City crew almost lost the game several times. Fiery Goegan paced the winners with two goals while Red Sullivan and Topper Toppazzini scored one apiece. Lorne Ferguson was best for Biltmores with two counters while Tatter McLellan counted once.

Generals Run Wild

At Oshawa, the Generals wiped out any hope Stratford Kroehlers had of tieing Barrie for third place as they defeated Stratford in their final home game of the season. Evenly matched for the first two periods, the Generals ran wild in the third to score five times. Top men were Gerry Scott and Ross Lowe with two goals apiece while Georgie Schols, Dick Gamble, Joe LaFrance and Sandy Air added the other Oshawa tallies. Dinny Flanagan and Billy Mitchel counted the two Kroehler markers.

Lyal Gibson broke up the Galt-St. Michaels game with two overtime goals in a scrambly - played tilt. The win consolidated fifth - place for the Rockets, Besides Gibson, Wiggie Wylie of Galt scored twice while Bill Mulholland and McNally scored one. Joe Primeau, Jr., led the Irish with two goals while rugged Tim Horton and Bill McNamara each scored once.

The Barrie - Young Rangers tilt proved to be a point-fattening affair for Barrie as shifty Paul Meger drove in for a total of six goals. Bruno Favero with three goals, Doug Ashbee and Jerry Reid with two, Rusty Alkin, Sam McNabney and Stan Long with one apiece, were the other Barrie marksmen. The cellarite Young Rangers managed only one goal on a driving shot by Les Biddle.

Wind up Schedule

In the senior loop, the Hamilton Tigers wound up their schedule with their win over the Owen Sound Mercurys. Clare Shillington moved into the scoring lead over Johnny McCormack of Toronto Marlboros, who were idle, by scoring two goals. Ab Conick, Carl Smelle and Swat Mason added the other goals. Jack Ingoldsby scored the lone Mercury goal.

Stratford Indians played just about their best game of the season in blanking Hamilton Pats. Jack Porter in the Hamilton nets played brilliantly as Stratford forwards sifted through the defence practically at will and only his netminding efforts kept the score as low as it was.

Billy Flick, Mickey Roth, Bill Woodward and Pete Long were the Indian goal-getters.

The only game scheduled for tonight is a junior tilt as Windsor invades Stratford.

Olympic Skating Queen, Barbara Ann Scott, Also Wins World's Title

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Davos, Switzerland, Feb. 16 — (CP)—Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa whose spectacular career has been followed with almost hysterical excitement throughout the figure-skating world, today holds the world championship for the second successive year following victory over the cream of the amateurs from Europe and North America.

Her climb to the top has been studded with victories unknown in the Dominion's history of sport. The 19-year-old "darling of the blades" who capped a life-long ambition with her Olympic triumph less than two weeks ago, became the first Canadian in the 24-year history of the Olympic games to win the event.

Barbara Ann demonstrated that she is the possessor of the classiest pair of figure-skating feet in the world. There was no other title left to add lustre to her fame.

Her official score in winning the world title with the convincing official point-total of 1,643.4 and 11 placements, which in the final analysis was the deciding factor in the complicated scoring system, was astounding.

Pink-cheeked and chubby Eva Pawlik, Australia's champion, was a poor second with 1,601.1 points and 25 placements.

Seven of the nine judges rated beauteous Barbara Ann tops on their score sheets—the only dissenters were judges Hans Meisner of Austria and Ilemer Tertak of Hungary who each awarded her a second placing.

Favored by Many

The concurring judges were Melville Rogers of Canada, George Torchon of France, Harry Meisbruk of Denmark, Bernard Fox of the United States, Adolf Kinkler of Switzerland, Karel Yemen of Czechoslovakia and Major K. M. Beaumont of England.

When Barbara Ann knew she had won her first words were "I am happy, thrilled and I want to go back to Canada for the Canadian championships." But it will be three weeks or more before she returns.

She leaves Davis Wednesday and will give exhibitions at Oslo, Copenhagen, Paris, Bern, Vienna, Budapest, Garmish-Parken-Kirchen and London. She expects to start the return trip to Canada early in March.

Canada's other representatives Suzanne Morrow and Marilyn Ruth Take, both of Toronto, uncovering their skating talent in Europe for the first time in their lives, placed 12th and 13th, respectively in the Olympics.

In the five-day world event here, dubbed by some observers a "post-mortem" following so closely upon the Olympics, dark-haired Marilyn Ruth was 14th and blonde Suzie 12th.

The Big Seven

(By The Canadian Press)

Buddy O'Connor keeps piling up the points at a steady clip and during the weekend the feather-footed New Yorker upped his National League production to 50 points on a goal and a pair of assists. Toronto's Max Bentley fired two goals to keep the second spot, but dropped six points behind the leader. Bud Polle of Chicago earned an assist to move into a third place tie with Elmer Lach of Canadiens who went pointless.

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Feb. 16 (CP) — Want to buy an ex-champ cheap? Harry Sheppard is reported offering Danny Webb's contract for $8, F.O.B. .. but there's one hitch: the former lightweight champion of Canada was supposed to have been sold to George Gainford, manager of welterweight champion Ray Robinson.

It's all so confusing .. after Webb was belted out of his title recently by Toronto's Li'l Arthur King, Jim (Toronto Globe and Mail) Coleman reported that Mr. Sheppard had sold Webb's contractor to Gainford .. but that he was not pleased about the deal. Jim said Harry told him: "I haven't even been paid for his contract yet. Furthermore, I asked only $1,500 .. naturally, I'd ask more than that if he hadn't been a pain in the neck to me."

What Column D'Ya Read?

But now Al (Montreal Herald) Palmer says that Sheppard offered him Danny's contract at a slight reduction .. the $8 mentioned earlier. "I want to get rid of the deal and if you think I'm no longer his manager, forget it," Al says Harry told him. "I still have his contract."

Sheppard is also quoted as saying Webb made $15,000 in two years under his tutelage but claims he was worked too hard. "The kid just doesn't want to fight any more," Sheppard says.

Palmer then tosses in a final exchange:

Sheppard: "So you don't buy the contract?"

Palmer: "So I don't smoke marihuana either."

Rocky Road

Webb, who came up out of the Canadian army as a promising boxer, has had many ups and downs .. while in England he fought one Al Phillips .. and was knocked down 15 times .. Webb claimed he was sick at the time and his manager pushed him into the match .. in August, 1945, Webb won the Canadian lightweight crown from Dave Castilloux .. then Sheppard took him to New York but couldn't break into the match-making combine at the Garden.

A Cheer for the Deacon

Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara, has a kind word for Branch Rickey of Brooklyn Dodgers, in a comment on Jackie Robinson's new contract: "Jackie — is getting three times as much as last year which is very good and shows that Rickey is not so cheap as he is painted" .. maybe that Flatbush air breeds generosity.

How a better range-element makes new jobs for Canadians

The original Calrod element consisted of a resistance wire embedded in magnesium oxide, and the whole encased in an iron tube.

In an effort to get faster cooking and longer life, tests were conducted with numerous other metals. These tests showed that tubing of Inconel, an alloy containing 79% Nickel, outlasted all other metals as sheathing for heating elements.

The Calrod element of today consists of a resistance coil of Nickel-chromium alloy inside an Inconel tube. Inconel is strong, rust-proof, and resistant to corrosion by food acids.

Since 1929 when the Calrod element was introduced, hundreds of tons of Canadian Nickel have been used in producing fast, long-lasting elements for electric ranges and other appliances.

This new market for Canadian Nickel was brought about as a result of scientific research. It has created employment for many men in the Canadian Nickel industry.

The expansion of the electrical industry because of better heating elements, has given employment to additional hundreds of Canadians. Thus does research develop better products, create more employment.

Adventure in Love

By Kathryn Bemis Wilson

CHAPTER 17.

Oh, she wasn't doing right, she was certain she wasn't doing right. It couldn't be right to shield a robber—a murderer. And now she knew Louise was involved, the responsibility of her guility knowledge was overwhelming. For Marie Clark's sake, even though she thoroughly detested Louise, she must count the effect of every move she made from now on. Murder, robbery, love—ugh! Three unrelated acts (or was love an emotion?) trying to lie in the same basket of evidence.

In the heat of her perplexity, she scarcely thought of the chagrin Clarence Pell had caused her. She was remained of it when the clerk in the Y. W. C. A. office handed her a letter as she passed his desk on the way to the elevator.

She glanced dully at the inscription. Lake Ingus. This of course was from Clarence. She took the letter to her room and flung it unopened on the dresser. She had much more important perplexities to thrash out now. Clarence, though whom she had gotten a splendid job supposedly on her own merit! Clarence, because of whom she had given up this same job!

It was queer that she must continue to make so many idiotic blunders; queer that she must love Tom Orville, queer that her whole world must crash because he was a criminal. Or wasn't he a criminal? Oh, she couldn't believe it! Anyway, she felt bound to Tom, to his very existence. If she could only believe that she did not love him.

She turned off the radiator in her bedroom, threw open a window. The sudden gush of cold crisp air blew Clarence's letter to the rug. She picked it up, tore open an end of the envelope. She started violently as he telephone rang.

Her first impulse was not to answer it. Then the thought that Tom might be calling hurried her to the instrument.

He spoke quickly, Velma— I must see you at once."

She did some quick thinking. If he were now in a sane mood and wished to discuss everything, murder included, it might be wise to see him.

"I'll be over for you in ten minutes. We'll drive around and talk."

"I'll be ready ," she returned shortly.

Velma was waiting nervously in the lobby when Tom drove up to the entrance. Herheartsank the instant she saw him. He was driving a new maroon coupe ,an expensive looking car; he was driving it like a man who had recently acquired a fortune. The newspaper accounts of John Scollar's murder flashed through her mind. A sample case containing valuable jewelry, which John Scollar had been seen carrying around the day of the crime, had not been found. Evidently, it had been stolen by the murderer.

An unnaturally pale, trembling Velma went swiftly out to the street to meet the exasperating grin of Tom Orville. She could not return his cheery "Hello!" with even the semblance of a smile; she scarcely could speak to him.

He instantly sobered. He assisted her into the car, asking solicitously, "Velma, what is it? You look positively wretched."

Her lower lip became uncontrollable, she felt like sobbing out all the cruel torment of her heart on his broad shoulder. He couldn't —he couldn't have committed a dishonorable act in his whole life, much less a crime.

Now, looking into Tom's dear hazel eyes again, Velma realized that he couldn't be a robber and murderer. Yet this new car! His tweed suit and topcoat looked new, also. He must have been spending a great deal of money lately.

"You have a—a new car," she said hoping to draw him out.

He smiled down at her, pressed the starter. "About time, wasn't it? That old wreck of mine! When I ordered this one, I was feeling pretty low—thinking how much I'd like you to ride in it—and perhaps you never would. But now here you are—and we're going places! We'll have a long visit—get to the bottom of all our misunderstandings."

Her anxious gaze fastened on the busy street ahead.

The car shot into the right hand lane. She could not trust herself to speak. In spite of fighting against it, she felt her spirits rising. To be alone with Tom, whatever Tom was, seemed altogether too perfect to be true. So many times she had longed for him when he had been cruising with Louise. Now, she was with him, wondering if it were wicked to love him, and, shameful fact, not much caring if it were. Something stirred within her. It was like rose-tinted temptation to her senses.

She looked at the profile of his broad hard jaw, his finely molded strong nose, the line of his high broad forehead, all of which were somehow reassuring. He was fully occupied now with directing this long, low-slung, easily moving automobile through the early afternoon traffic. He wore no hat, and the sun lit his hair into a flaming torch. She longed to run her fingers through it with a lingering tenderness.

He suddenly inquired, "Had your lunch?".

7,000 Jobless At Halifax Cause Alarm

Halifax, Feb. 18 (CP)—Halifax, which for six war years bustled with activity as 30,000 ships came and went with war supplies and troops, today is almost a ghost port.

Civic, industrial and labor leaders expressed great alarm over the drastic slump as unemployment reached a new peak Saturday—7,000 jobless.

The longshoremen blamed the situation on the equalization of freight rates between Halifax and Saint John, N.B., and Portland, Me. Shippers said this was partly the cause of the heavy unemployment list.

Meanwhile, Mayor John E. Ahern scheduled a meeting today in Montreal with Halifax's two members of parliament for discussion of the Halifax waterfront, unemployment and the steel shortage. He went armed with complete reports on the situation and determined, he said, to get to the bottom of the problem—"or else."

That seemed the nearest anyone had got to solving the problem.

There were no jobs in the offing except for workers laid off at Halifax Shipyards Limited who hoped that steel shipments to the yards would increase sufficiently to enable work to begin on construction of three cargo ships for the Argentine government.

Employment service officials also viewed the situation with grave misgivings. They reported that unemployment was growing.

War Assets Corporation was consolidating its offices here and 50 per cent of its staff would soon be let out. The Federal Civil Service also was considering a large lay-off of "temporary" employees.

Exactly 4,000 men and women in Halifax and in Dartmouth, across the harbor, were registered with the National Employment Service Saturday as seeking work. Added to this were more than 600 thrown out of jobs at Halifax shipyards.

The waterfront workers, who also are not included in the employment service figures, brought the grand total to 7,000 jobless.

DROVE 11,000 MILES

Windsor, N. S. — (CP) — Earl Crowe and four companions have arrived home after an 11,000-mile automobile tour of Canada started last Aug. 4 The youths stayed longest at Taber, Alta., where Earl worked as a machinist and the others as carpenters. They also visited the northwestern United States and California.

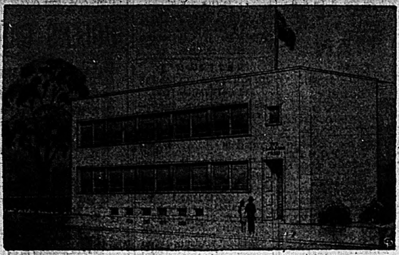
NEW HEAD OFFICE FOR NEWS ASSOCIATION



The Canadian Press, national news co-operative, has started construction of a new head-office building in Toronto, Ont., from which world and Canadian news will flow by wire to daily newspapers and radio stations from coast to coast. Two storeys as pictured above will be completed in August with provision for two more later. The building, on University Avenue near King Street, will also house the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association and Press News Limited, C.P.'s radio subsidiary. It is designed by Mathers and Haldenby of Toronto under the personal direction of Brigadier Eric Haldenby.

Expectations of reporting industries:

Annual gross value production of $8,600,000,000, 2½ times in dollar value and 1¾ in physical volume their pre-war production;

Export target of $2,100,000,000, 3½ times pre-war value and 2½ times pre-war volume;

Employment level of 980,000, twice pre-war.

Production of 200 new commodities formerly not produced in Canada but imported — from scientific instruments to diesel engines.

"In the recovery of war-devastated countries and the growth of international trade, Canada has a more important stake than almost any country," the report states.

Of 1,174 new plants involving $383,000,000, 676 costing $167,000,000 to 24 larger cities; 96 costing $70,000,000 to medium-sized cities between 10,000 and 30,000 population; and 402 costing $146,000,000 to communities of less than 10,000.

"Many enterprises are finding it more promising to locate new industries in smaller localities where the local labor supply is more plentiful, their initial capital costs lower and their taxation rate more moderate . . ."

The report comments that expenditures in St. Catharines are mainly due to expansion of industrial capacity in iron and steel products, textiles and food processing; in Kingston to large expansion in the production of aluminum and chemical products and transportation and railroad equipment; in Kitchener to rapid industrial development in the manufacture of rubber goods, sheet metal products and industrial equipment; and in Three Rivers to expansion of cotton goods manufacture and paper production.

The report was prepared by Dr. O. J. Firestone, deputy-director-general of the economic research branch of the department, assisted by E. J. Brower.

the greater part for processing and canning vegetable products; iron and steel $170,000,000; textiles $122,000,000; non-metallic minerals $122,000,000, including cement, lime, salt, clay, stone products, fuel and fuel products; chemical and allied group $117,000,000; commercial shipping $101,000,000.

PRINCE OF CHURCH

His death reduced the membership of the College of Cardinals to 60. Its full strength is 70.

Cardinal Pignatelli, second in rank only to Pope Pius in the hierarchy of the church, was stricken with a bladder ailment last week. Because of his great age little hope had been held for his recovery.

Pope Pius visited him last Saturday and gave his blessing and a message of sympathy. Extreme unction also was administered Saturday. He fell into a coma last night.

The prelate, as Prince of Belmonte, was a member of the Italian aristocracy. As Count of Copertino he held a place in the society of his native Naples before many of his brother cardinals were born.

Born in Naples

Cardinal Pignatelli, who would have been 97 years old on April 10, was the last surviving cardinal created by Pope Pius X.

Born in Naples in 1851, he had been a cardinal nearly 37 years, and had been dean of the College of Cardinals since 1930.

After his ordination in 1879 he had a long career as a Vatican diplomat. He served as counsellor of the nunciature in Paris for a period of years and in 1899 was elevated to the titular Archbishop of Edessa and at the same time was made Papal Nuncio to Belgium. In 1904 he went to Vienna as nuncio, remaining there until he became a cardinal Nov. 27, 1911.

As Dean of the College of Cardinals, he presided over its sessions and led the college to the Pontiff each Christmas Eve to extend Christmas greetings.

The cardinal, though bent by the years, remained busy until the end, rising at 4.30 a.m. daily. As Prefect of the Sacred Congregation of ceremonies, member of the congregations of the council, rites and extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs, protector of more than 40 religious orders and as Dean of the College, his day was full.

19 LEFT HOMELESS

Ottawa, Feb. 18 —(CP)—Nineteen persons were left homeless in an early morning fire yesterday, which razed a two-storey, two-door tenement house on O'Conno Street. Damage exceeded $3,000. The blaze started in a kitchen stove, flames spread quickly upward and had gained a strong hold by the time firemen reached the scene.

Milder Weather Comes to Huron For By-election

Seaforth, Ont., Feb. 18—(CP)—Milder weather came to Huron riding today after a weekend cold snap as voters went to the polls in the first provincial by-election in Ontario since Premier Drew's Progressive Conservative government swept the province in the 1945 general election.

Some 20,000 voters were eligible to vote in the straight two-party fight to name a successor to Progressive Conservative Dr. Hobbs Taylor whose death last December led to the by-election.

The choice lay between two friends and business men from Exeter, a town of some 2,000 persons 30 miles north of London. The Progressive Conservative is Thomas Pryde, 59, an unsuccessful candidate for the Huron-Perth seat in the 1945 Dominion election. The Liberal is 49-year-old Benson Tuckey, now serving his ninth term as Exeter's reeve.

The two parties have split even in the last four elections in the riding. A Liberal won in 1934 and 1937 and Dr. Taylor took the seat in 1943 as well as 1945. In 1945 Dr. Taylor polled 7,081 votes, Liberal James Ballantyne had 5,152 and I. E. Huckins, C.C.F., 1,211. The C.C.F. is not contesting the by-election.

Party standing in the 90 seat legislature before today's vote — Progressive Conservative 65; Liberal 11; C.C.F. eight; Liberal-Labor two; Labor-Progressive two; Labor one; vacant one.

Seaforth Headquarters

Returning Officer W. E. Southgate established his election day headquarters in this town of 2,000 persons, 22 miles west of Stratford, and the two candidates are expected to be here tonight to receive returns from the constituency which embraces the southern two thirds of Huron county along the shore of Lake Huron. Largest urban centre is Goderich, a Lake Huron port of some 5,000 population.

Condition of the roads is expected to have an important bearing on the size of the vote. Forecasts were for a temperature slightly above freezing. Main roads are reported to be in good condition and well plowed.

The Liberal party wound up the intensive three week campaign Saturday night when Farquhar Oliver, fighting his first election campaign since he became Ontario Liberal leader last May, addressed a rally of committeemen at the town of Zurich where he repeated earlier campaign charges that the Drew government was responsible for the power shortage in the province.

Mr. Oliver campaigned in the riding for three weeks, centring much of his criticism of the government on hydro policy. He criticized the appointment of Mayor Saunders of Toronto as chairman of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario and accused the government of political interference in the affairs of the $400,000,000 publicly owned utility.

Norman Hipel of Preston, former Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests and now president of the Ontario Liberal Association, also took an active part in the campaign.

Premier Makes Appearance

Premier Drew made one personal appearance in the campaign — last Friday night at Goderich where he defended his government's liquor policies. He pointed to its action in revoking beer sale licences held by hotels in Huron after the Privy Council upheld the validity of the Canada Temperance Act. Huron is one of four Ontario areas where the C. T. A. — which bans sale of liquor or keeping for sale — is in force. Elsewhere in the province sale is handled either directly by the government or by government license.

The premier was also heard in one recorded radio broadcast in which he blamed the hydro shortage on the former Ontario Liberal administration of which Mr. Oliver was a member and denied the charge of political interference.

Several cabinet ministers entered the campaign — Agriculture Minister Kennedy, Highways Minister Doucett, Provincial Treasurer Frost and Welfare Minister Goodfellow.

Home March 15

Following the homecoming celebrations — on March 15 — Barbara Ann probably will make a five-day trip to Toronto to appear at a carnival to be staged at Maple Leaf Gardens.

From Toronto she will hop to Calgary to compete March 24, 25 and 26 in the Canadian figure skating championships — the competition she neglected last year because of her European commitments.

If she wins the contest — and there is little doubt about it — Miss Scott will have won every major amateur championship.

Calgary will have Barbara Ann for another three days after the Canadian championships. Then she will appear in Manitoba, at Brandon and Winnipeg, on April 4 and 5.

Three days later she'll be in her old training quarters at Schumacher, Ont., where she'll stage another exhibition with the Porcupine Skating Club Carnival on April 8 and then back to Ottawa to join her friends at the Minto Skating Club when they put on the Minto Club Follies April 15, 16 and 17.

But she won't stop there. On April 20 she returns to Toronto to appear at the Toronto Granite Club.

To add authenticity to scenes in a Quebec newspaper office, Canadian newspapermen were drafted to act as extras. In the makeup department Marc Thibault of Le Canada and Roly Young of The Globe and Mail are being given movie complexions, Roly by Monica Salmon, a former Torontonian.

15 U.S. Sailors Drown As Launch Strikes Obstruction

Men Returning to Carrier After an Evening Ashore

Hyeres, France, Feb. 17—(AP) — At least 15 American sailors drowned early today in a launch accident which occurred while sailors of the United States aircraft carrier Midway were returning from a Riviera party ashore.

Fifteen bodies have been recovered from the sea.

Agence France - Presse earlier said 40 men were missing after the launch went down.

(Reuters news agency, quoting the Maritime Chief of the Port of Marseille, said that 45 sailors were believed to have drowned. Many others were injured, the agency added, and taken to hospital at Toulon, about 20 miles from Hyeres.)

Officers conducted a roll call aboard the Midway, which has a complement of 3,500 men, to determine definitely how many are missing.

Accounts of how the accident occurred were not immediately clear. Most reports said the launch was carrying from 160 to 200 men. One said the launch hit a pyramid of stones, throwing all the men into the water.

The Agence France - Presse said the launch struck an obstruction and sank.

The men were returning from a casino at the small island of Hyeres, off the Riviera. The Midway is anchored off another of the small islands in the Hyeres group.

The accident occurred at 1 a.m. (8 a.m. Monday, EST).

Eye- witnesses said rescue scenes were like something staged in the movies. Searchlights from the Midway and smaller ships played over white-capped waves, catching craft of all sizes in their beams as ships and crews searched for victims.

One account said many sailors lost their lives after diving overboard from the launch to lighten the load and help pumping operations to keep it afloat.

Many survivors swam more than a mile to shore.

The Midway, which the United States has maintained in the Mediterranean for several months, was paying a courtesy call to the French Riviera. Hyeres is east of Toulon. The small Hyeres Islands are just south of here.

NEW FINANCIAL AID FOR VETERANS NOW BEFORE HOUSE

Emphasis Laid Particularly on Needs of Family Man in Face of Rising Costs

Ottawa, Feb. 17 (CP)—Government proposals for new financial aid for pensioned and student veterans were before parliament today and the emphasis lay particularly on the needs of the family man in the face of record living costs.

Protests from a veterans bloc within the Liberal party in the Commons were believed virtually to have ended after Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced yesterday that:

1. The government is nearly ready to bring in a revised pensions bill which would boost the rate for a totally disabled veteran from $75 to $87 a month; from $25 to $30 for his wife; from $15 to $18 for a first child, $12 to $14 for a second, $10 to $12 for others, giving a man with wife and three children $161 instead of $137 and putting lesser pensions on a proportionate percentage scale.

2. Widows' pensions would be raised from $60 to $70 and there would be the same increases for their children as for those of totally disabled pensioners; the maximum rate for a dependent parent would be increased as for widows; and orphans' rates would go up from $30 to $36 for a first child, $24 to $28 for a second and $20 to $24 for others.

Increase $10 Monthly

3. The 16,000 married veterans attending universities of vocational schools would get $90 a month instead of $80, plus $18 a month instead of $12 for a first child, $14 for the second instead of $12 and $12 for a third instead of $10. Thus, a man with wife and three children would get $134 instead of $114.

Yesterday's announcement worked out to about 16 per cent or $12,000,000, raising the annual pensions bill to more than $84,000,000. The Canadian Legion has been asking 25 per cent. A leading member of the Liberal bloc said they were satisfied, but opposition and Legion cries were expected to continue, although not so stridently.

The pensions boosts will be retroactive to Oct. 1, 1947, but the larger cheques will not go out until "a matter of weeks" after House approval. The bill will be sent to a select committee on Veterans Affairs.

The students' increases are retroactive to Jan. 1 and will be put through by Order-in-Council, that is without reference to the House. But it may be April before cheques reflect the change. It will add $1,200,000 to expenditures on veterans' training which are expected to run to $20,000,000 this year.

Amps Not Satisfied

Toronto, Feb. 17 (CP) — Rev. Sidney E. Lambert, president of the war amputations of Canada, said today that the association was "disturbed at the inadequacy" of government proposals for a 16-per-cent increase in the basic rate of pensions for disabled war veterans.

Protesting the announcement of Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the House of Commons in Ottawa yesterday, the Dominion Council of the association met in emergency session last night and dispatched telegrams of protest to the Prime Minister, the leader of the opposition and leaders of other political parties. An opportunity to appear before the parliamentary committee on Veterans Affairs was requested.

"The various associations of war disabled throughout Canada are unanimous in asking for a 33 1-3 per cent increase in the basic rate of war disability compensation established over 25 years ago," said Mr. Lambert in a prepared statement.

Davos, Switzerland, Feb. 17—(CP)—Barbara Ann Scott, world figure-skating champion, will join such celebrities as Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Gen. E. G. L. McNaughton, Canada's representative on the United Nations Security Council, in Madame Tussauds famed London Wax Works.

Tussauds now are seeking the Ottawa champion's exact measurements in preparation for the display but Barbara Ann was too rushed today to give any details until her arrival in London early next month.

There is one thing she will be definite about—"I want to be in blue—my favorite color," she said.

Observe Mars to Find if Planet Contains Water and Trees or Grass

Fort Davis, Texas, Feb. 17 — (AP) — Astronomers at McDonald Observatory here hope to settle within the next 24 hours two key questions about the possibility of life on Mars.

As the planet swings closer to earth tonight than it will be at any other time in two years, they may determine:

1. Whether or not water in the form of ice or water vapor, is present.

2. Are the green areas obvious on Mars trees or grass or weeds, like our own, or are they some other vegetable form?

The astronomers not only hope to settle some of the intriguing questions about Mars, but they plan some close-ups of the moon through the observatory's 82-in. reflecting telescope.

Dr. Gerard P. Kuiper, observatory director, said it would "not be surprising" if the observations revealed the green areas of Mars to be a primitive, lichen (moss-like) plant that can withstand "terrible cold and terrible periods of drouth."

Such plants grow on rocks of the western deserts.

"Good telescope in a good climate shows some interesting things about Mars."

Thus observable are:

White clouds float occasionally in its atmosphere, storms of yellow dust blown over wide areas.

Mars has polar caps that grow during its very cold winter and shrink in the summer. Green areas shown up on the surface of the planet. They grow in size and become greener after the polar cap melts.

There are no oceans or lakes.

THOMAS PRYDE, CONSERVATIVE, WINS BY-ELECTION

Liberal Candidate Defeated by 684 Votes

Seaforth, Ont., Feb. 17—(CP)—Thomas Pryde, 59-year-old monument maker from the village of Exeter, brought about a fresh triumph at the polls yesterday for Premier Drew's Progressive Conservative government of Ontario.

The Scottish-born veteran of two wars won Huron riding by a majority of 684 votes over Liberal Benson Tuckey in a two-party fight in Ontario's first provincial vote since the Drew government's resounding victory in the 1945 general election.

The result keeps the Progressive Conservative strength in the 90-seat legislature at 66 against 11 Liberals, eight C. C. F., two Liberal-Labor, two Labor-Progressives and one Labor.

Mr. Pryde's election was assured less than two hours after the polls closed in the mainly rural riding — it contains no cities — lying alongside Lake Huron.

When returns were complete he had 7,618 votes to 6,934 for Mr. Tuckey, a fellow business man from Exeter. Dr. R. Hobbs Taylor, Progressive Conservative whose death last December led to the by-election, polled 7,081 votes in the 1945 general election to 5,132 for Liberal James Ballantyne and 1,211 for C.C.F. candidate J. E. Huckins. The C. C. F. did not contest yesterday's by-election.

Favorable weather and good road conditions combined to bring out a record 14,552 of about 20,000 eligible voters. In the 1945 election, held in June, 13,444 voted.

Three Youngsters Burned to Death In Their Beds

Oshawa, Ont., Feb. 17 — (CP)— Three youngsters whose foster mother worried about leaving alone in the house were burned to death in their beds while she shopped at a store only 75 yards away.

Mrs. Molly Mask, 33-year-old Irish war bride, before going shopping yesterday tucked in her foster children — Patricia Ann Adams, 18 months; Alan Grebowski, four; and his sister, Gloria, two.

Fire broke out in the Masks' small frame cottage at Fairport Beach, 15 miles west of here, and an hour later firemen found the children's bodies — Patricia Ann in her charred crib and Alan and Gloria huddled together in what remained of their bed.

The children were wards of the Children's Aid Society here. Mr. and Mrs. Mask had taken out adoption papers on Patricia Ann while Alan and Gloria, boarding with the Masks, were to return to the Children's Aid Society home in a month.

Mrs. E. Chambers, proprietor of the store where Mrs. Mask shopped, said: "Molly was always so nervous when she left the children to come to the store that she always rushed in for her groceries and was never gone for more than five minutes.

Power Interruptions in City Starting on Wednesday Will Be Effective at Different Times

Commensurate with the order of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario that because of the acute power shortage the daily consumption of kilowatt hours was to be restricted to 90 per cent of the daily average of October 1947, Belleville users will be faced with power interruptions until further notice it was announced here today by O. H. Scott, manager of the Public Utilities Commission.

The power interruptions will be effective in every part of the city with the possible exception of the Belleville General Hospital. The interruptions will be of one-half-hour duration and will be effective in different times each day. The interruptions will become effective on February 18th.

"Under the order power consumption in Belleville must be cut by 11,000 kilowatt hours each day," stated Mr. Scott. "And this can be done only through power interruptions." Daily average consumption of power in the city is 110,000 kilowatt hours.

Because of the complex power distribution system it will not be possible for the local commission to state at what hour any part of the city will be blacked out. However various sections of the city will be affected at different times. Some of the interruptions will necessarily be at night, it was stated, and will be at hours which will cause the least inconvenience to the majority of the public.

Power economy on the part of the consumer, such as leaving off porch lights and turning of unnecessary lights and appliances in the home will help considerably in saving power and if co-operation is received it is possible the interruptions may not continue too long.

Low water conditions in the Ottawa valley district from where a considerable amount of power is received for Ontario consumption are responsible for the power reductions, it is stated. Because of low water conditions in this area two Quebec power stations have drastically reduced their deliveries of power to Ontario.

Russians Accuse Britain, U.S. Trying to Negotiate Separate Peace in Mid-War

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Feb. 17 —(AP)— Russia has accused Britain and the United States of conducting secret talks for a separate peace with Germany in the midst of the Second World War.

The Soviet Union made the charge last night in the fourth instalment of its reply to United States state department disclosures of documents regarding Russian-German relations.

A statement said Allen W. Dulles, a brother of John Foster Dulles, represented the United States in talks with a German spokesman in 1942 which touched on the question of concluding a separate peace with Germany.

It also charged that the son of Lord Beaverbrook, British publisher, represented Britain in similar peace talks with a German representative in September 1941.

The statement further accused Britain and France of seeking to start war with the Soviet Union in 1940 instead of fighting Germany.

Officials said this was the final round of statements before publication of captured German documents Russia claims to possess.

"From these documents it can be seen that in the autumn of 1941 and also in 1942 and 1943 in Lisbon and in Switzerland, negotiations were carried on behind the back of the U.S.S.R. between representatives of Britain and Germany, and later between representatives of the United States and Germany on the subject of peace with Germany."

The Russian statement asserted that Dulles, with authority from the White House, conferred with Prince Max Hohenlohe, who acted as Hitler's representative.

"Dulles more or less agreed to the political and industrial organization of Europe on the basis of large territories on the assumption that a federated greater Germany (similar to the United States) with an adjoining Danubian confederation, will constitute the best guarantee of order and rehabilitation in Central and Eastern Europe."

(Allen Welsh Dulles, former chief of the United States Office of Strategic Services in Europe worked with underground forces seeking to overthrow Hitler from 1942 on.

(Dulles also arranged for the surrender of the German armies in Italy. Later he helped prepare the case against the Germans at Nuernberg).

In the charge regarding British negotiations with Germany, the statement said:

"On Sept. 13, (1941) There was a meeting between (Max) Aitken, son of Lord Beaverbrook, and an officer of the British army and later a member of parliament representing Britain, and Gustav von Koeber, a Hungarian who acted with the authority of the German ministry of foreign affairs.

Russia claimed Aitken asked Von Koeber whether "behind-the-scenes possibilities of peace" could be discussed.

Russia said Hitler's invasion of the Soviet Union in June, 1941, pleased many persons in Britain and the United States. It declared that:

"A prominent member of the United States Senate, now president of the United States, Mr. Truman, stated the day after Germany's attack on the U.S.S.R.:

"'If we see Germany winning we ought to help Russia and if Russia is winning we ought to help Germany and that we let them kill as many as possible.'"

Detroit Motor Heir Admits Buying Fake Painting When Drunk

London, Feb. 17 (AP)—Maj. Horace E. Dodge, Jr., Detroit motor heir, testified today he was drunk when he bought a painting from a London art dealer back in 1945.

Dealer Charles Lewis is suing Dodge for payment of £6,800 ($27,000). Payment had been stopped on a bill of exchange for that sum.

Cross-examined, Dodge was asked:

"Your case is that you were so drunk that you know nothing about the purchase or giving the bill?"

"It's a bad way to put it, but it's true," he replied.

Dodge testified he was tricked into buying the painting as a genuine work of Sir Thomas Lawrence, an 18th century master.

London art authorities and the picture were in court yesterday. One of the critics testified the painting was not a Lawrence.

Princess Causes Excitement During Visit to Court

London, Feb. 17 —(Reuters) —Princess Elizabeth unexpectedly visited the Tower Hill juvenile court today and listened to the cases of several juvenile delinquents.

The impressions among the several boys and girls were varied. They had been informed that the Princess was in the court by a girl, who, when her case was finished, rushed into a corridor full of the news.

One little girl, clinging to her mother, cried: "Whatever will she think of me. I'll never be naughty again."

"Coo," murmured a boy, accused of theft. "I bet my mum wishes she had come witt me now. She stood for a night and a day to see the Princess once. She could have had a marvellous close-up without waiting today."

The Princess, dressed in powder blue, showed keen interest in the cases.

TEMPERS RUFFLED AS OPPOSITION SNIPES AT GOVT.

Attack Centred On Trade Minister Howe

Ottawa, Feb. 17 —(CP)— Progressive Conservative members sniped at the government's currency-conservation bill throughout yesterday's Commons proceedings and concentrated their attack on Trade Minister Howe, who will be granted wide powers over industries seeking to import capital equipment from the United States.

Tempers were ruffled in a half-dozen minor clashes as opposition speakers likened the brusque trade minister to an economic dictator and said any minister granted such powers as he might be tempted to blend favoritism with his administration.

Bogging down on a preliminary clause dealing with the issuance of import permits, the chamber by a standing vote of 49 to 42 rejected a C.C.F. amendment which would have focused the whole force of the import quotas and prohibitions against the United States. As the bill now stands, the restrictions apply equally to all countries.

The discussion accompanied clause-by-clause study of the legislation in committee of the whole House.

At the House opening, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced married student veterans will be given an extra $10 a month and larger allowances for their children while the basic scale of pensions for totally-disabled veterans and pensioned widows will be boosted to a rate above that now paid on behalf of captains.

Financial Minister Abbott told a questioner the matter of increases in domestic rental ceilings "obviously is a question of government policy" which will be announced in due course.

Will Not Publish

External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said the government "is not disposed" to publish its confidential correspondence with the King in connection with new letters patent for the Governor-General.

Labor Minister Mitchell said indications are that the "rather unfavorable" employment situation in the Maritime provinces is largely seasonal in character.

Farm Group Supports Warble Fly Control

Kingston, Feb. 17 —(CP)— Kingston and district Junior Farmers are circulating petitions for township legislation supporting warble fly control in Kingston and Pittsburg townships. Main method of control is use of anti-warble fly powder issued by authority of township councils which have adopted a bylaw, making control compulsory. The flies attack milch cows and beef cattle particularly.

They cut breathing and escape holes through the skin of the animals in which they are living.

Dominion Agriculture Department officials estimate these flies cause losses of $14,000,000 in reduced milk of supply among the cattle affected.

Biggest Plague of Grasshoppers In 8 Years Faced by Saskatchewan

By GEORGE FORSTER

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Regina, Feb. 17 (CP) — Storm warnings are flying along Saskatchewan's farm front and official statements say Canada's greatest wheat-producing province faces its biggest plague of grasshoppers in eight years.

Hordes of the ravenous insects swept the wheatlands last year, leaving millions of eggs in ditches and stubbled field. Farm officials now say only vigilant control measures can stop them from wreaking more than the $14,000,000 damage they caused in 1940.

Officials forecasts warned the whole southwest — stretching from North Battleford some 300 miles south to the American border and from Alberta to a line running north through Estevan, Weyburn and Regina — can expect above-normal numbers.

Forecasts show a light infestation in the east but say only extensive use of poison bait — a mixture of sodium arsenite, sawdust and bran — can save southwestern crops from heavy damage.

Prairie folk lore records that if hungry enough, hoppers can eat anything in their path —from washing on the clothesline to the shingles on the roof. Hundreds of farmers will attest that acre after acre of ripening crops disappeared in the wake of record hordes during the 30s.

Power Allocated On Basis 90 P.C. Oct. 1947 Load

Reduction Result of Water Shortage for Power Plants

Toronto, Feb. 17 —(CP)— Toronto citizens went through another day of power cutoffs today, in line with hydro policy of curtailing consumption in the face of a shortage which may last until the spring breakup restores normal water flow conditions through generating plants.

There were cutoffs too at several Ontario cities — among them Brantford, Hamilton, London and Sarnia — as local hydro officials took steps to meet a conservation order from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, which supplies most of the power used in the province.

However, at Windsor, also affected by the order — it was hoped to meet the situation by voluntary conservation measures.

There was hope of an easing in Toronto — which went through three cutoffs yesterday hitting different sections of the city at different times. General E. M. Ashworth of the Toronto Hydro Commission said it was hoped that "only one round" of the city —one half-hour break — would meet the situation today.

Yesterday this city of 700,000 was thrown into confusion for two half-hour periods during the day and a later 15-minute break when the Toronto Hydro-Electric system without prior announcement shut off power in homes, offices, factories and hospitals.

The resulting outcry brought a statement from R. L. Hearn, general manager of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission that though the commission had ordered a 10-per cent cut in all Southern Ontario power by Wednesday, it did not agree with the Toronto system's way of handling it.

It also brought a statement from Premier Drew of Ontario that the Toronto system had ignored advice from the commission which would have avoided the blackouts. He said the local system had full control over the power it receives from the commission and "the serious inconvenience to Toronto consumers . . . is the responsibility of the Toronto Hydro." . . .

Must Save 350,000 K. H.

E. M. Ashworth, general manager of the Toronto system, said the power cuts will continue at the same hour each day under the necessity of saving 350,000 kilowatt hours daily on instructions of the H.E.P.C.

"The duration of such interruptions will, however, vary according to the amount of reduction in the consumption power that is required from time to time."

In a statement the Ontario body said that "owing to a continued shortage of water in certain areas of Ontario and Quebec, power supplies to all Hydro municipalities and direct customers in the southern system . . . will be reduced by 10 per cent, effective Feb. 18."

Officials said power will be allocated on a basis of 90 per cent of the daily average killowatt-hour consumption in October, 1947, and that the enforced reduction resulted from a water shortage caused by sub-normal rainfall last autumn.

Commission spokesmen, saying they had tried to obtain additional power from every possible a general reductionfiS
source without success, added that a general reduction to all classes of consumers was taking the plane of a cut to industries. The later could take no further extensive cuts without crippling the economy of the province.

Mr. Hearn said London and Hamilton power officials had arranged a voluntary power reduction. The desired reduction was hardly 10 per cent and he thought city officials should inform manufacturers and residents of the need for saving electricity before taking drastic action.

SCOTLAND YARD HOLDS COUPLE FOR QUESTIONING

In Connection With Murder of Constable Last Friday Night

London, Feb. 17 — (CP)—Scotland Yard today took into custody a man and a woman living in a small boarding house in the Stockwell district south of the Thames and announced that the couple are being held for questioning in connection with the murder last Friday night of police constable Nathaniel Edgar.

No charges were immediately laid against the couple, Donald George Thomas, identified as an army deserter, and Mrs. Noreen Winkless. The woman's photograph had been widely circulated in the newspapers as wanted for questioning in the case.

Edgar was shot to death in Southgate, a North London suburb where there has been a number of burglaries lately. It was the first fatal shooting of a policeman in Britain since 1942.

The suspicions of the couple's landlady, Mrs. Edward Smeed, were drawn to her tenants after she had seen the woman's photograph in a newspaper. She telephoned police and officers burst through a bedroom door to seize Thomas who was still in his underclothes.

Police later removed a revolver from the bedroom.

Mrs. Smeed described the pair, who had been staying in her house for about a fortnight and whom she knew as Don and Noreen Winkless, as "ideal lodgers."

Meantime the police hut continued for John Edward Allen, the so-called "mad parson" who escaped recently from Broadmoor asylum for the criminally insane.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S FUND GIVEN BOOST BY AUCTION OF CIGARS

The Rotary Club fund for crippled children was augmented by the sum of approximately $14 at the weekly club luncheon Monday noon when as result of club members' generosity and a bit of good salesmanship a box of cigars was retailed at considerably above its regular market value.

One of the club members turned up with the cigars by way of recognition of the arrival of the stork at his home, stogies being promptly auctioned off to the one and only bidder at 25 cents each. This member then did a bit of high pressuring his fellow members until the box of cigars had disappeared.

City Water Main In Sidney Twp. Under Discussion

At the regular meeting of the Public Utilities Commission on Monday afternoon, a delegation from Sidney township council, Reeve Frank Campbell and councillor Lee Grills, appeared before the Commission with respect to purchasing the water main supplying the O. S. D. and other residents in that area and make it a part of the water area for the township. The commission explained that the contract to supply water to the O. S. D. must be carried out and the delegation was advised to contact the Department of Education in Toronto and after that agreement is consummated the main and the new services put in would be sold to the township at a nominal cost.

Bills to the amount of $156.78 were ordered written off after the manager, O. H. Scott stated it would be impossible to collect the same. The members were informed that the Commission was fully protected in their contract with the Canada Dredging and Rock Company, who are laying a water main across the Moira River. Every effort is being made to complete this work before the breakup although the mild weather has caused the contractors some uneasiness the past few days. A letter will be sent to the City Council with respect to the gas deficit and the sale of the property to the Commission.

The members discussed at length the power reduction that is to take place but the subject is dealt with in another column of this edition.

Concert Assoc. Hears of Plans For Coming Year

The annual meeting of the Community Concert Association was held in Bridge Street United Church parlors with a good attendance. The president briefly reviewed the past season's activities and expressed confidence that the coming year would find the association with a "sold out" membership thereby enabling the members to hear another four outstanding concerts during 1948-49.

Reports from the different chairmen were then read including the treasurer's report which showed a small surplus to be carried into next year. Operating costs were slightly higher due to increased charge for rental of pianos, which are brought down from Toronto for each concert.

It was decided to hold the membership campaign for next season, March 1st to 6th and this will be started off with a campaign dinner as usual. The Community Concert organizer from New York City will be in Belleville during that week to assist the local committee. A pre-campaign letter will be mailed out to all members giving them the opportunity of sending in their renewals by mail, before any new members are taken in. The capacity of the auditorium will necessitate the membership to be limited to 875 adult members, and 200 students.

Mayor Sends Letter of Thanks To R.A. Pringle

Appreciation of Mayor D. L. Storey and members of city council to former Industrial Commission chairman Robt. A. Pringle for the time which he had given to the performance of his duties over the past seven-year period has been expressed to Mr. Pringle in a letter from City Clerk Wilfred Holmes.

At the end of last year Mr. Pringle tendered his resignation to city council as a member of the Industrial Commission, but later withdrew his resignation at the request of other members of the commission.

"I have been instructed to thank you very sincerely for the withdrawal of your resignation and your decision to again act as a member of the commission," the letter stated.

"The Mayor and Aldermen appreciate the fact that you have given much time to the performance of your duties and have expressed the opinion that you would be too valuable a member to lose."

Napanee Tax Rate Set at 60 Mills

Napanee, Feb. 17, —Napanee Town Council at a special meeting last night struck a tax rate of 60 mills for 1948, an increase of five mills over last year. Deputy Reeve H. W. Webster, chairman of the finance committee, explained the increase was necessary in view of the increased estimates for the board of education. Estimates for the streets and property committees were halved in an effort to curb the spiralling demands on the revenue of the town.

The overall receipts from taxation for 1948 are estimated at $124,973.43. Non - charitable grants included $100 such to the L. & A. Agricultural Society and the L. & A. Game and Fisheries Association, $200 to the 47 L. & A.A. Battery reunion being held here next May and a total grant of $1,000 to the Chamber of Commerce. A by-law to provide $16,540.00 for the maintenance of streets was passed.

POLICE COURT

That local police take rather a dim view of motorists responsible for splashing pedestrians as they drive along in their autos, was seen in police court this morning when a local taxi driver, Delbert Latchford, of Cannifton, appeared on a "splashing" charge. The driver pleaded guilty to the charge and was assessed $5 fine and $3 costs by Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

Another local taxi driver, Ernest Dunley, was charged with failure to obtain a licence to drive a taxi, contrary to the city taxi by-law. He also pleaded guilty and was assessed $10 fine and $2.50 costs.

Russell Hill of this city appeared on a charge of stealing a quantity of butter from the Citizens' Dairy and on the request of his counsel, A. B. Collins, was remanded for two weeks. Bail was granted. Hill is a former employee of the dairy and is charged with taking the butter over a period of time last November and December.

George Asselstine, Sidney township, pleaded guilty to a charge of false pretences involving the passing of a worthless cheque and was remanded until Friday for sentence. One other person associated with Asselstine in the cheque passing charge is being returned to the city to appear on an uttering charge.

Charges under the L.C.A., and a number of offences of failing to stop at "stop" streets, and overtime parking completed the morning court docket.

Sidney School Area Board Completes Survey

Accompanied by Inspector R. H. Macklem, the members of the new Sidney Township School Area Board completed their initial tour of the eighteen schools under their jurisdiction. Survey sheets were filled out regarding teachers' and caretakers' supplies, immediate needs, repairs, etc. These will be used as a basis in determining the amount and nature of work to be carried out at the schools this year.

Only three schools, S.S. 17, S.S. 22, and S.S. 24 are without electric facilities, due to there being no direct hydro line by them. Plans are being made to have them wired as soon as power is available for them. The toilet systems, in two schools especially, were in need of attention, and the Board has taken steps to have them remedied.

In those schools where scribblers, etc., had not been supplied before, the teachers were given authority to get whatever immediate supplies they needed, or prepare a list and send it to the secretary.

Weekly meetings have been held by the Board in order to clear up the large amount of business and to get things running smoothly. The Board, at its meeting in Marsh Hill School, Friday night, made a temporary arrangement whereby each member was given authority to arrange for, and oversee if necessary, any minor repairs needing immediate attention in the schools in his locality, as they were assigned at the first meeting. They may be gotten in touch with directly or through the secretary.

The membership fees to the Foxboro and District Film Council have been paid for the three schools which were members last year. Subject to their approval, the following men were appointed as representatives to the Film Council for their section:

S.S. 13, Mr. Lawrence Ketcheson; S.S. 16, Mr. E. Emerson; S.S. 20, Mr. Harry Coulter.

On a motion by H. Rutter and J. Sargent, Harry Brown of Glen Ross, was appointed to represent the Board at the Ontario Educational Association meetings in Toronto during the Easter holidays.

The next meeting of the Board was tentatively set for Feb. 27, in Mr. Macklem's office, if possible.

Will Relax Ban On Carrot Imports

Ottawa, Feb. 17. (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said yesterday in the Commons it will become necessary "in the not too distant future" to issue permits for the importation of carrots, now banned under the government's currency conservation restrictions.

He made the statement during study of the bill giving legislative force to the restrictions.

There have been reports of an increasing shortage in supplies of carrots in Canada. The ban recently was relaxed to allow importation of cabbages.

Author of 'Father on the Farm' Dies After Suffering Stroke

Ottawa, Feb. 17. — Kenneth C. Cragg, parliamentary correspondent of The Globe and Mail and author of a best-selling book, died suddenly here yesterday.

Mr. Cragg, who was 43, had been in indifferent health since he had a stroke a year ago. A hard worker, he nevertheless had attended the parliamentary press gallery daily for the past few months. Early Monday afternoon he suffered a seizure in the press gallery lounge. He was removed to the Ottawa Civic Hospital, where he died a few hours later without recovering consciousness.

It was while he was confined to his home here by illness last year that Mr. Cragg wrote his widely known book of humor, "Father on the Farm". The book was partly fictional, but its essence was soundly based on recollections of his own farm upbringing near Drayton in Wellington County. "Father" in the book was, in real life, his uncle, on whose farm the author had stayed as a boy. He began writing these "reminiscences" merely as weekly features in The Globe and Mail. They attracted the attention of the publishing trade and were made into a book which headed the list of Canadian best sellers at Christmas.

Had Sharp Wit

Under a seemingly grouchy and disillusioned manner, Mr. Cragg masked a sharp wit. He was popular among his newspaper acquaintances here and in Toronto. M.P.'s on both sides of the House of Commons valued him as a friend. He loved to tell stories, and his drawling hesitant manner of telling them put a further touch of fun into them.

As an Ottawa correspondent, Mr. Cragg made a specialty of agriculture news. News stories of this kind, of course, had become increasingly important during the war and since. Intensely interested in everything relating to farming, Mr. Cragg could dig up agricultural news where a less practised hand might have thought it non-existent.

Lately, to rebuild his health The Globe and Mail had instructed him to take it easy and to send only feature articles which could be written when and as he pleased. It was a difficult thing for him to slow down. He still wrote every day and the office usually had a dozen or more of his stories on hand. Then he would complain to colleagues that he was not writing enough.

Raised Near Drayton

Mr. Cragg was born and brought up near Drayton, where his father Joseph Cragg, still lives. From early youth he wanted to be a newspaperman. He wanted to get a job on the old Globe, the paper which had come regularly to his home as a boy. However, at the start, he had to be content with a cub reporter's job on an Oakville weekly. At the same time he acted as The Globe's Oakville correspondent.

By this route he finally managed in 1926 to get a job as a reporter on The Globe. He remained there until 1930 when he went to the Evening Telegram. He became the Telegram's Queen's Park reporter and covered the legislature for many years. In 1938 he joined The Globe and Mail, continuing to cover Queen's Park.

In 1943, he became the resident correspondent of The Globe and Mail in Ottawa and had lived here ever since.

Covered Many Events

Among his big assignments were the arrival of R-100 at St. Hubert airport in 1930, the first and last dirigible to be moored there. In 1945 he covered the San Francisco Conference for The Globe and Mail and thus was present at the gathering which wrote the charter of the United Nations. The story he liked most to talk about was the North Grey by-election of 1944 when Gen. A. G. L. Mc Naughton was defeated as a Liberal candidate on the conscription issue. Mr. Cragg was in North Grey throughout the by-election and had half a dozen absurd tales to tell of behind-the-scenes incidents he witnessed there.

Mr. Cragg's wife, the former Margaret Reycraft, was also in the newspaper business. They met while both were reporters on the old Globe. Besides his widow and his father, he is survived by an aunt, Mrs. Hannah Grigg, who lives at his home in Ottawa, and two children, Brian, 14, and Catherine, 11.

The funeral will be held in Toronto at 1 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 18, from the A. W. Miles Chapel, St. Clair Ave. W., to the Necropolis.

More than 30,000,000 acres of United States forest land are burned annually through lightning and the carelessness of woodsmen.

Convicts Recaptured

Jackson, Mich., Feb. 17 —(AP) —Three long-term prisoners who fled Southern Michigan prison yesterday afternoon were captured early today, 20 miles from here.

The trio — two lifers and a third man serving 15 to 30 years —were returned immediately to the prison. They apparently made their getaway by using secretly-manufactured keys, officials said.

One of the fugitives, Melvin O. Childress, 43, was convicted in July, 1943, in a sensational Detroit crime, the strangling of Mrs. Sybella McGrath. The woman was strangled and raped in her apartment while her six children watched, police charged.

Benson identified the other escapees as John Woos, a 25-year-old Chinese prisoner sentenced to life four years ago in the slaying of a theatre owner in Bay City, Mich., and Harry Hoffman, 34, sentenced from Van Buren county in 1941 as a three-time felon.

POWER INTERRUPTION

To comply with orders of The Ontario Hydro Commission it is necessary to restrict the use of electricity by 10% or 11,000 K.W. hours per day.

To accomplish it the Belleville average load of 6000 K.W. will have to be restricted for approximately 2 hours each day.

The load includes all users domestic, commercial, industrial.

The restrictions come into effect Wednesday, February 18th.

The electricity will be shut off for 4 PERIODS of ½ hour duration and arranged to cause the least inconvenience to the majority of users.

The interruptions may not occur at the same time in all parts of the city.

The restrictions will continue until further notice but will be reduced if the users cooperate and curtail their uses to a minimum.

Please TURN OFF all lights and electrical equipment whenever possible.

BELLEVILLE UTILITIES COMMISSION

ALLOCATION OF HYDRO POWER

SOUTHERN ONTARIO SYSTEM

It has become necessary, due to a reduction in the amount of purchased power available, to issue the following notice to municipalities and direct customers of the Commission in the Southern Ontario System.

> "Effective February 18, 1948, and continuing until further notice, the daily consumption of kilowatthours shall be restricted to a maximum of 90% of the average daily consumption of kilowatthours in the month of October, 1947. This reduction shall not apply to customers whose power supply was interrupted by the Commission in October, 1947 to the extent of 10% or more of normal delivery."

This is a temporary emergency arising from sub-normal rain fall last Autumn which has forced two of the Quebec power companies to drastically reduce their deliveries of power to The Commission.

This restriction will be lifted just as soon as circumstances permit and in the meantime, all consumers must play their full part by saving electricity at all times. If the specified reduction in consumption of electricity is not obtained, it will be necessary to cut off the supply of electricity entirely for definite intervals of time each day, wherever the specified consumption is being exceeded.

Their Influence

Canadian Scout and Girl Guide membership has reached the total of 165,000. The Boy Scout membership is at an all-time high of 103,759, which shows a healthy increase in the past year of 5,282. Junior Scouts, known as Wolf Clubs, showed the large addition to their numbers numbering 52,044 as against 47,800 the year before and the Boy Scouts 39,077.

Canadian Boy Scout-Girl Guide membership now stands at an all-time high of 103,759, or 5,282 more than last year. The Junior Scouts, Wolf Cubs, showed the greatest gain from 47,800 the year before to 52,044. Boy Scouts number nearly 40,000. Adult leaders increased from 8,491 to 8,954.

Of Canada's 2,319 active Scout groups 1,403 are sponsored directly by churches.

Registered camps increased from 580 to 647 and unregistered from 221 to 46. These camps were attended by 21,039, an increase of nearly 30 per cent. This means that more than one in every five boys in Scouting in Canada last year went to camp. Short-period camps, not included in other camping statistics, numbered 263 with 2,937 boys in attendance.

Ontario Scouts number 51,120 as against 48,469 in 1946.

These figures indicate the character and the influence of the Scout and Guide movement among the boys and girls of Canada.

It was forty years ago that the late Lord Baden-Powell inaugurated this movement which has grown across the world.

This Week is to be marked by exchange of visits, correspondence and gifts between members of the Canadian groups and those who are organized in other lands in an effort to "bridge the barriers of space and language" and to "unite them in their sense of duty to God and of helpfulness to others at all times."

There are not distinctions of faith but the Scout-Guide movement is religious at heart in loyalty to God and country and the duty of conscientious service.

The organizations has an appeal to the boys and girls in training, in co-operation with others and in self-discipline. The history of the organizations is one deserving of the highest praise as seen by the results of this movement among the youth of this land and other lands.

Holds World Crown

Once again Barbara Ann Scott has triumphed. She has won every title after which she can go as a figure skating artist. Four titles have come to her since a year ago, the world's crown in 1947, the European championship, and the Olympic honors, recently and again she has for the second year carried off the world's title.

Such honors come to few and the wearer of the crowns in world skating competition in the European games and in the Olympics will carry her honors with the grace with which she outmatched all contenders.

Canadian sport must look upon Barbara Ann as one of the finest developments in Canadian history. She has made world history and Canadian sport history for she alone in the twenty-four years of the Olympics won an Olympic championship.

This healthy, gracious Ottawa girl who set a high goal for herself when she was seven years old, through her very character and will to succeed brought to pass the developments in which she has figured during the past year.

A world which takes a deep interest in sport of all kinds feels the honor she has brought upon such quests as those to which she has devoted herself. She has adorned sport. She is a true queen of the skating world.

Break in Severe Weather

Winter's first break into a mild spell which has already brought a considerable thaw was a welcome relief from the rigorous night-after-night repetition of zero weather.

There have been other days during the winter which were mild but the spell of the weather on Monday gave a hint, a somewhat distant hint as yet, of the time when thawing will be the general occurrence. It is years since people have felt the need of a change of weather as much as they did this change. What the winter has been for more than a month was winter with cold dominant and snowstorms playing less of a role than might be expected..

A break such as has come will have an effect in reducing the consumption of coal, always a welcome sign. This year Belleville's dealers have been able to provide for the people well in the matter of coal supply in spite of unusually hard weather. If there is a little stringency in fuel, the weather ahead is all in favor of the consumer. The warmer weather with the mercury at or above freezing for a short period has broken the spell of severe weather. When it again turns colder, there is the satisfaction that a cold spell in the future cannot last as long as the late cold wave or series of cold waves.

Everything is on the side of the growing warmth as the sun climbs higher and higher and makes its rays felt, especially on the banks of snow which begin now to show the wear and tear of winter as it ages towards spring.

Movies in British Schools

All schools in Britain are to be equipped with cinematograph projectors and other visual aids to teaching. A new organization, to be known as the Educational Foundation for Visual Aids, is being set up by the Minister of Education, Mr. Tomlinson, to develop the use of educational films on a large scale throughout Britain. Films and other material required will be bought by local education authorities through this new organization. It will be financed by a loan from public funds to be repaid from the income derived fro mthese sales. The Foundation's activities will not be confined solely to Britain. One of its aims is also to promote the interchange of visual aids both within the Commonwealth and with other countries.

Make Church Work Known

A new organization for making the work of the church better known is to be discussed by Britain's Church Assembly at its spring session next month. A central information board of twenty members is recommended, which will make use of all generally recognized means of publicity. The cost of this new organization is estimated at £14,000 ($56,000) a year. It would include a central staff, comprising a chief information secretary with an assistant, a press officer with two assistants, publishing officer and visual aids officer. The board would advise the Archbishop of Canterbury on public relations and stimulating press information and contacts in each diocese in Britain. It would also develop a liaison with publishing houses and organize the use of films and lantern slides, as well as modern exhibition techniques.

NEW HOUSING RECORD IN U. K.

Official returns issued in January show that permanent houses completed in Britain during the last month reached the new high monthly total of 17,800. This sets up a fresh record surpassing the previous one registered in October last by well over 2,000. 3,500 temporary homes were also finished. This makes a grand total of 336,800 new dwellings constructed since the housing drive was initiated in April, 1945. It represents the equivalent of seven years' work after the first World War.

FOOD AND YEARS

"I have lived to be one hundred because I have aways eaten as much of anything as I liked whenever I wanted to," a centenarian recently told reporters. That is about the most attractive recipe for longevity we have heard. Unfortunately, however, it discourages hope of reaching the century mark with porterhouse and mushrooms at present-day prices, says Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

(Copyright, 1948, Edgar A. Guest)

HAPPIEST PHRASE

Ask the father in the hall
What's the happiest phrase he's heard;
What three little words of all
Have his spirit deeply stirred,
Ended heartache, banished dread,
Changed despair to rapturous joy,
And he'll say: "To hear it said:
'It's a boy!'"

Just three tiny words, and yet
Every anxious father knows
Happier news he'll never get Told with sweeter words than those.
Still there is another way
Joy will set man's brain awhirl,
That's to hear the doctor say:
"It's a girl!"

Run the dictionary through;
Search for words from A to Z;
Study phrases old and new,
These will still the happiest be.
Speech to rouse the dourest churl
Nurse and doctor oft employ,
Heard by fathers: "It's a girl!"
"It's a boy!"

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

How did "Mississippi" originate?

The first white men to see the Mississippi River were Hernando de Soto and his followers. In their westward journey from Florida they reached the Mississippi in May, 1541, and the point where they crossed is supposed to be in the vicinity of Memphis. But de Soto gave the river no name that stuck.

At an early date the French in Canada learned from the Chippewa (Ojibway) and other northwestern Indians of a great river that had its source west of the Great Lakes and ran southward. In 1639 a French missionary reported that the Indians told him of a western river comparable in beauty and size to the St. Lawrence. Seven years later another French missionary referred to this river as "Messipi."

Most authorities suppose the second element in the name to be from Algonquin Indian sipi, sibi, or sipu, "water" or "river," but the origin and meaning of the first element in the name is not known for certain. Some suppose that it is the French rendering of Algonquin maes or maesi, "fish," and that the whole name literally means "fish river." Others suppose that it is the Algonquin missi or michi, "great,' 'and that the name literally means "great river."

Whether the Indians used the term as a name for this particular river or as a descriptions of any large river, we have no means of knowing.

The translation of the term as "Father of waters" (French vieux Pere des Rivieres) is sheer poetic license and probably would have been meaningless to the early Indians.

When Jolliet and Marquette explored the river in 1673 the spelling already was "Mississipi" and the name was too firmly established to be changed, although in their accounts Marquette called it "Conception" and Jolliet "Buade."

TEDIOUS RESCUE

Lyndney, Gloucestershire, England — (CP) — A policeman was lowered into a narrow, 50-foot hole to rescue a dog, but became wedged in himself. He was lowered a second time and emerged triumphantly — with the grateful dog licking his face.

FEWER GRADUATE

Edmonton — (CP) — Fewer Alberta students have graduated from grade 12 this year than in 1947. Diplomas now are being mailed to 2,736 students. Last year, when many veterans completed their high school courses, 3,183 students graduated.

MAN FOUND DEAD

North Bay, Feb. 17—(CP)—His old dog huddled against his cold body, aged John C. McDonald was found dead Sunday in the tiny cabin where he lived on O'Brien Street in the township of Widdifield.

Mr. McDonald, believed between 75 and 80 years of age, was last seen alive on Friday. When he failed to appear during the weekend, neighbors peered thru the window of his tiny dark cabin, and discerned his body lying inside, with his dog and cat huddled nearby.

Dr. E. J. Brennan said he believed death had been due to natural causes.

TEMPERS RUFFLED

With Mr. Howe and Mr. Abbott piloting the legislation, the Commons currency debate prompted these ministerial statements:

From Mr. Howe:

1. Estimates are not yet available on the savings in U. S. dollars which will be made through restrictions on the import of capital goods. However, it is expected those applying to the automotive industry will save $70,000,000.

2. His department is preparing regulations as rapidly as possible so it can cover each industry separately.

3. As an example of the time limit set in which an industry granted a permit to import capital goods had to start earning U. S. dollars, a permit was issued to a pulp mill that would start bringing in American funds in about 18 months.

4. He would have no authority over industrial projects which did not require U. S. materials.

5. As for the duration of the restrictions, any domestic industry which expanded its operations on the assumption the controls might continue for a year or two would be adopting an "unwise" policy.

From Mr. Abbott:

Strong Trade Incentive

1. In December, the first full trading month following imposition of the restrictions Nov. 18, Canadian imports from the United Kingdom totalled $20,254,000 against $11,664,000 in December, 1946.

2. The quota system provided a strong incentive for trade with the U. K. and British exporters already were moving in to take over Canadian markets formerly served by the U. S.

3. Permits soon will be issued for the importation of carrots to bolster faltering domestic supplies. However, permits for the entry of American vegetables will not be issued to the extent where there will be a "flooding" of the market just before domestic produce becomes available.

Howard Green (PC — Vancouver South) protested that Mr. Howe's powers were making a "farce" of parliament since they enabled the minister to do "just whatever he wishes without any curb on him by parliament or the government." Merely by letter, he could "arbitrarily" tell industry what it could do.

In a brief clash with John Diefenbaker (PC — Lake Centre), Mr. Howe told the western member he was taking statements "from the sewer of his own mind" but bowed to the ruling of committee chairman Ross Macdonald (L — Brantford) that he should withdraw.

The minister made the retort after Mr. Diefenbaker said the legislation would give the minister power to say that under the legislation Mr. Howe might find that "political fitness would become the qualification" for the issuing of import permits.

Protests Statement

Protesting the statement, Mr. Howe said he never had had such an insinuation aimed at him, although in the last eight years he had had probably "more opportunity than any other man in public life to favor my political friends and punish my political enemies."

J. M. Macdonnell (PC — Muskoka - Ontario) said that while some unusual steps undoubtedly were necessary at this time Canadians "ought to have at least a residue of some of our liberties."

A. L. Smith (PC — Calgary West) said it was a "complete distortion" to say that sales to the United Kingdom for gold were as good as sales to the United States for dollars.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said he believed the U. S. would agree to Canada applying the "escape" clause in the Geneva trade agreement if she gave assurances that the restrictions would be lifted once the dollar reserves no longer were in jeopardy.

The escape clause would enable Canada to apply restriction on imports against only the countries with which she has an adverse balance of trade.

Says Gandhi Death May Promote Unity

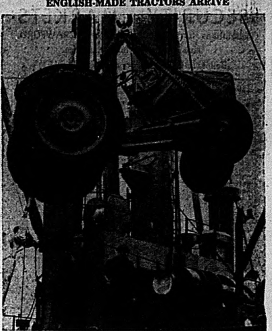
Toronto, (CP) — Through Gandhi's death, India might unite in a common effort to calm the unrest, said Miss Lois Cox, general secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association for three years in Karachi, Pakiston, when she returned here recently.

Miss Cox said nobody could accurately predict what would happen in India, but the death of Gandhi might be the pivot upon which the country will build unity.

The best help Christians could give India was full-hearted service regardless of race or creed. Example of this service was in the Y.W.C.A. which had proved on various occasions that the staff could "do a job". Christians were an intermediate force between the Hindus and Moslems and as such could bring order out of chaos when given the chance.

Miss Cox gave examples to show how both Moslems and Hindus had called upon the Y.W.C.A. for non-sectarian organization. Only after the Protestant churches forget their denominational differences in missionary work could widespread conversion be possible, she said.

ENGLISH-MADE TRACTORS ARRIVE



The first shipment of English-made tractors has arrived in the U. S. The machine shown swinging to the docks at Philadelphia, Pa., was one of 200 consigned to Detroit. Arrival of the machines was hailed as an aid to the enforcement of the Marshall Plan.

CAUSE AND CURE OF WINTER ITCH

The kind of winter itch which numerous correspondents describe commences in the late autumn and persists throughout the winter. It is most annoying at night when the patient undresses or tries to settle down to sleep. There is no rash or apparent cause of the itching. Hence it is called pruritus (itching without apparent cause), or, if you have ten dollars in your hip pocket, we'll call it pruritus hiemalis. On the other hand, if you have only two bits to spare, make sure the piece is clean, that is not stuck with glue, paper or other adhesive matter, send it to me with a stamped self addressed envelope, and ask for the booklet Save Your Skin, which tell you how to deal with winter itch or any other kind.

Speaking of itching, as I do from experience, pruritus is annoying, I admit, and so is scabies, but if your trouble is mere pruritus, scabies or a visitation of bedbugs you just haven't itched yet. Wait till you get ivy poisoning and then you'll know how it feels to itch. Incidentally when or if you do, remember this suggestion and you'll bless me for it —go straight to a physician and have an injection of a minute (I won't say homeopathic this time) dose of ivy extract or toxin. One hypodermic or intramuscular injection may make the attack subside within 48 hours, or in some cases another dose next day or even a third dose the third day may bring cure.

In a great many cases winter itch is due to the bad habit of bathing. Especially daily hot baths with soap and water. A tepid shower of sponge bath is better than soaking or wallowing in hot water. Still better—from the viewpoint of good hygiene and personal comfort—is an air bath, or spending as much time as you can minus clothing every day, say while you are doing your setting-up exercises or taking the sun if there is any available.

One with winter itch should not take a wet wash every day, but only once or twice a week and see how well the skin responds to the kindness.

It is essential that sufferers from winter itch at least replace the skin oil which a hot bath and particularly a soap and water wash removes from the skin, by applying to the skin immediately after each wash a little oil of one kind or another—animal or vegetable oil, not mineral oil. Home made preparations for the purpose are described in Save Your Skin.

Another essential for these sufferers is provision for keeping the indoor heated atmosphere humidified throughout the season of artificial heating. Short or built in or specially installed air conditioning, the best way to keep the indoor atmosphere humidified is by evaporating at least a gallon of water a day for each ordinary size room in the apartment or house, by whatever means one can contrive — say a tank on radiator register or stove, wiht many folds or loops of wicking or Turkish towelling suspended on a wire frame above the water and dipping into it.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Basal Temperature

Please describe how to use the basal temperature reading instead of basal metabolism tests for determining thyroid dosage.

(A. W.)

Answer—It is described in booklet "Rules for Reducing," for copy of which send twenty-five cents and stamped envelope bearing your address.

Carots and Yellow Skin

If a person eats a lot of carrots will it give his or her skin a yellow tinge?

(E. W. J.)

Answer—It may temporarity cause the skin of palms and soles to look yellow, but not the skin of face or body.

Aspirin Is Dope

Please advise whether this statement, made by a health official, is true: Aspirin not only makes colds more bearable but also helps to cure them.

(H. S. R.)

Answer—In my opinion aspirin is of no remedial value, only analgesic (pain or sense deadening). Personally I should take a dose of it only when or if I could not bear to endure the pain or ache or distress without it. Aspirin is a less dangerous dope, analgesic, pain-killer than acetanilide, in fact it is the least dangerous dope I know when dope must be used. But there is no evidence that it has any remedial action other than relief, for a while, of pain or distress.

POWER ALLOCATED

Dependent on Flow

When the acute shortage will be relieved is dependent on the flow of water in the Ottawa River and a thaw was needed. Sometimes, he said, "we get an early break in March."

Justifying yesterday's Toronto interruptions, Mr. Ashworth declared that power shortages can only be met by saving power. Any prior announcement would have been met by a storm of protest.

The city's power cuts will end by 7 p.m. and there will be no interruptions to trolleys, waterworks, sewage disposal plants or street lights, he said.

Yesterday's cuts disrupted traffic when traffic signals were blacked out, disrupted wash-day work, cut off power in elevators, halted factory operations, made newspapers late and delayed meals. The breaks halted transmission of news to newspapers and radio stations from the head office of The Canadian Press.

At London tighter rationing of power was announced for today, with power cut off to nearly 25,000 homes for "several" 15-minute periods daily. Store and office "brown-outs" will be extended and factories will probably close an hour earlier.

Local utilities manager E. V. Buchanan said at London he rejected the suggestion of the H.E.P.C. to act arbitrarily and insisted that advance notice be given to London consumers.

Similar action and comment came from other Ontario cities, including Brantford, St. Thomas and St. Catharines.

Expansion of the Red Cross Sick Room Supply Loan Cupboards, which served more than 10,000 home patients in Canada in 1947, depends on contributions to the national campaign for $3,000,000 opening March 1. Crutches, wheel chairs, hospital beds and other expensive and hard to obtain supplies are loaned free of charge.

THOMAS PRYDE,

Mr. Pryde won eight of the riding's 13 municipalities and four of the eight townships. Mr. Tuckey led in this town 22 miles west of Stratford where returning officer W. E. Southgate established his headquarters.

In Toronto Premier Drew said he was "delighted" with the result of the by-election and added: "Thomas Pryde has received a convincing endorsement from the people of the riding and Huron county will have a splendid representative in the Ontario Legislature."

The new member worked at Toronto and Windsor before settling in Exeter in 1919. A former reeve of the village, he served in the Army and Air Force in the First World War and was a flight lieutenant in the R.C.A.F., in the last war.

Mr. Tuckey, 49-year-old native of the London district, is in the trucking business at Exeter where he is serving his ninth term as reeve. He was an unsuccessful candidate in the 1943 provincial election when Dr. Taylor wrested the riding from the Liberals who had won it in 1934 and 1937.

High Cost of Living Causes Moans of Anguish in U.K.

The feeling of optimism which prevaded Britain before Christmas seems to have changed to one of bewilderment as government spokesmen hammer at the same old theme of production needs and the dollar scarcity.

The government has tried to take the people into its confidence as much as possible on steps to meet economic difficulties but its subject is far beyond the grasp of the average worker—it even bewilders many experts.

What the average man knows is that he was heartened at the year-end by the rising figures of coal and steel production and other industrial output and by the fact that scarcities forecast in the early autumn hadn't materialized.

From the point of view of food, he had the best Christmas since the war and entered 1948 with the conviction that everything was going to be all right.

New Year Shock

The first New Year shock was the sudden jump in prices. They've been mounting steadily since the war but the government kept brakes on many commodities with subsidies. Removal or pegging of these subsidies meant price increases passed on to the consumer.

Commodities which have gone up steadily in the last few weeks include eggs, chocolate, furniture, textiles, shoe repairs—and those are only a few.

While moans over the mounting cost of living were becoming louder, Prime Minister Attlee announced what amounts to a freeze of wages but Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, cushioned it by proclaiming that prices of most commodities would be pegged at New Year levels.

Cripps More Urgent

But at the same time, Sir Stafford has become more and more forth-right in his demands for increased production to try to bridge the dollar gap. He doesn't hesitate to use phrases like "fighting for your life" when exhorting workers to additional efforts.

However, the average worker may take a more materialistic view than Sir Stafford, who tackles difficulties with the inspiration of his religious beliefs. The workman is more likely to agree with trade union leaders who contend that if you peg wages, you take away the incentive to work harder.

The Marshall plan is another confusing factor. Most Britons have only the haziest idea of what the plan involves. They see it as a vast fund for the relief of Europe that will be released after due palaver at Washington. They feel that it will buoy Britain through her present difficulties.

Sir Stafford, doubtless unintentionally, has fostered this feeling by his recent statements that Britain can't hope to close the dollar gap without some assistance.

The chancellor, who has emerged as the dominant figure of the Labor hierarchy, is admired by most of the country. But as for understanding his economic admonitions—whew!

Police Pressing Search for Three Armed Bandits

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 17—(CP)—Police today pressed their search for three bandits who hustled 4 persons into a vault at gunpoint and made off with between $2,100 and $2,200 in a pre-closing time holdup at the recently opened Tecumseh Boulevard Branch of the Royal Bank of Canada yesterday.

No new leads have been uncovered and police have little information from the three employees and one customer, Rev. George Burdikoff, who spent five minutes in the vault while the bandits scooped up the money.

The manager, D. W. Boynton, today was nursing a bump behind the right ear where he was struck with the butt of a revolver when he was slow to obey an order which he didn't hear.

Mr. Boynton said a lone man entered the bank at about 2:50 p.m. and took up his position behind Mr. Burdikoff at the teller's wicket.

Employees assumed he was a regular customer.

However, he turned up his coat collar, drew his revolver and waved the teller, T. G. Gibson, formerly of Chatham, back to the wall.

Simultaneously two other men entered the bank. One was armed with a revolver, his face covered with a handkerchief. The other man remained at the door. It was not known whether he was also armed.

While the four men were guarded, the original bandit went around behind the counter and scooped up all bills.

They then ordered the four into the vault and told them to stay there for five minutes. It was when Mr. Boynton failed to hear this command that he was struck behind the ear.

Scant descriptions offered by employees indicated the bandits were all about 25, dark complexioned and of medium height.

It is assumed the three made their escape in an automobile.

Women's Land Army Asset To Farmers

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, (CP) — Sturdy young women in green sweaters and cord breeches who left sheltered homes and warm offices to farm Britain's lands in wartime are being invited to stay on the job.

Agriculture Minister Williams announced in the Commons Britain must be ready to keep the Women's Land Army for a few more years and aim at reaching the highest possible strength to maintain enlarged farm production.

He proposed to improve conditions of service, including more attractive dress.

The W.L.A. reached a peak of 80,000 members during the war when young women over 18 volunteered for farm work. They received a minimum wage of 22s 6d ($4.50) weekly, plus overtime, with a guarantee of regular employment, a minimum of one week's holiday with pay, no deductions for sickness or wet weather and a stout uniform.

"This young, sun-tanned, green-sweatered, cord-breeched army of one-time shop girls, typists, mannequins, mill girls, hairdressers, parlor-maids, through the war was in the forefront of the battle," said an agriculture review.

"They figured in every ordeal and triumph farming has to offer. . . . They went through all the campaigns of winter and summer, struggling with storm and mud, milking, sewing, harvesting, threshing, living in wild, unfamiliar parts of the country among strangers and strange ways, often completely cut off from the world in which they had been brought up."

After the war many girls went home and the total membership dropped to 17,000.

In the last two years the force was built up to 26,500 and recruits are coming in at the rate of 100 weekly.

Improvement of hostel facilities—now provided at 450 centres—will be undertaken and recruits and experienced workers will be reminded that more home-grown food means a vital contribution to Britain's recovery.

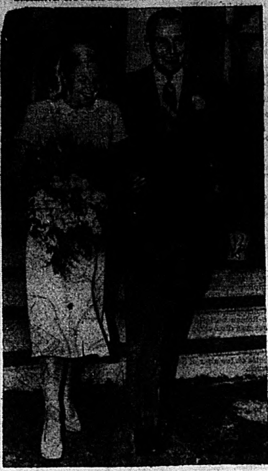
SMILING ROCKEFELLERS AFTER MARRIAGE



On their way down the steps of Winston Guest's estate in Palm Beach, Fla., are heir Winthrop Rockefeller and his bride, Mrs. Barbara Sears, the daughter of Lithuanian immigrants. They were going to a reception that preceded their wedding some hours later. The pair are reported to be planning to spend their 10-day honeymoon in Palm Beach, just relaxing.

Among the few guests at the wedding of Winthrop Rockefeller and Barbara Sears was the Duchess of Windsor (above right) once the centre of a famous wedding story herself. Pictured with her is the socially prominent Mrs. Crawford Hill. Although the Rockefeller hosts, the Winston Guests, held a reception before the wedding, very few people were present at 12:14 a.m. when the actual ceremony took place.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, followed by a cookie demonstration with recipes from the members.

SCOTT'S WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

The women of Scott's United Church met at the home of Mrs. J. A. Lott, on Friday, to join in the program of the World Day of Prayer. Only eight ladies were present but these spent an inspirational, and consecrated hour, with everyone taking some part of the prescribed program.

A meditation on "The Lord's Prayer", phrase by phrase, brought to all present a truer realization of God's presence, drawing all the world into one great fellowship with Him and with His children. Prayers were offered for peace, for guidance in the United Nations deliberations, for consecrated lives, for the youth of today, and for Christian people in all lands. An offering was accepted and dedicated and every lady present felt that this hour of devotion would constitute a help toward stronger Christian living.

SCOTT'S W.A.-W.M.S.

More than sixty people partook of the monthly W.A. dinner served Feb. 11th., in the home of Mrs. K. Faul, followed by the regular W.M.S. and W.A. program.

In honor of Mrs. H. W. Rose, who was celebrating a birthday anniversary, the song "Happy Birthday" opened the meeting. During the devotional period Mrs. Faul read "Remembrance" as a reminder that the children of Israel in the wilderness had something which Christians of today lack. "Life has become so filled with a number of things, that folk do not take time for a practice of the spiritual side of life. We still have a promise of God's help, but we must reach out for it, if we would walk through our 'wilderness' and reach the 'promised land'." Mrs. J. A. Lott read a letter from Rev. Glenn Beatty, in which he told of experiences at the "Adult Planning Conference" in Geneva, Wisconsin and at Beaverton, in a leadership training camp. He also mentioned the National Convention held in Iowa, and the O.R.E.C. conference at Cornwall, Ont.

Mrs. Morley Sine presented Chapter Six of the Study Book on Burma, dealing with the story of Judson, who translated the Bible into the language of the Burmans in spite of many hardships. Chapter Eight was reviewed by Mrs. Alton Sine, telling of Wm. Carey who was made an overseer of a factory in India, so that he might continue to live in the country, and to work on a translation of the New Testament, which, with the help of two other men, he printed, despite the opposition of the East India Co. The motto of these persevering men was, "Attempt great things for God. Expect great things from God."

Mrs. Lott, the temperence secretary, said that alcoholism is a disease, a deadly one.

Twelve members and three visitors were present for the W.A. meeting. The next dinner will be held at the home of Mrs. Farmer. Mrs. Lott and Mrs. Frost were delegated to purchase two cords of wood for the church. The meeting adjourned.

CENTENARY W.M.S.-W.A.

Centenary — There was a splendid attendance at the home of Mrs. Gordon Woods on Friday for the Worlds Day of Prayer. In the absence of the W.M.S. president, Mrs. Geo. McDonald, through illness, Mrs. G. Sills and Mrs. R. Thrasher, led in the special program provided. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. R. Thrasher, Mrs. T. Hall, Mrs. B. Roblin, Mrs. R. Edmondson, Mrs. R. Hart, Mrs. D. Holton and Mrs. Fred Aikens, the scripture lesson was read by Mrs. F. Edmondson. It was inspirational and impressive to be numbered among the millions of women meeting for special prayers the world over.

At the close Mrs. Stanley May, Christian Stewardship Secretary read a letter outlining the aims of the W.M.S. for 1948.

A short W.A. meeting was held with Mrs. Elwin Hart presiding in the absence of the President Mrs. E. Ray, several items of business were discussed and a committee appointed to consider arrangements for a banquet. Mrs. R. Edmondson read a letter from Rev. A. C. McCallum acknowledging the many expressions of loyalty and kindness shown him during his recent illness.

An interesting letter from a former member of the society, Mrs. Farley, who left Belleville recently to make her home with a son in the west, was read by Mrs. F. Aikens.

A social time was enjoyed, with dainty refreshments served by the hostess and the committee in charge.

BAYSIDE W.M.S.

The Bayside W.M.S. ladies made their annual "pilgrimage" to the home of Mrs. George Bush, Charles Street, in Belleville, for the observance of the World Day of Prayer, in conjunction with women of all churches across Canada. The President, Mrs. Clifton Rush, was in charge and was assisted by other members of the auxiliary in fulfilling the presentation of the prescribed program, the theme of which was "The Lord's Prayer".

Scripture was read by Mrs. G. Bush, and Mrs. George Clapp rendered an appropriate solo. Seventeen ladies enjoyed the impressive service, and thanks were voiced to Mr. and Mrs. Bush for their kind hospitality.

FOXBORO AND DISTRICT FILM COUNCIL

The February meeting of the Foxboro Film Council was held in Frankford Public School, Feb. 11th., when it was decided that the executive make plans for the raising of money to buy films.

Rev. W. Neelands led an interesting discussion on "The Kind of World in Which we Want to Live". The status of the Negro race, as viewed by white men, was discussed ,as was the discrimination against them in Canadian laws, as they have qualifications equal to those of the white man.

Racial prejudice relative to other peoples and religious intolerance were brought to the fore with everyone present contributing something to the discussion. It was decided that these discussions make people think, study and plan to remove prejudice and intolerance, so that we may have "The World in which we want to live".

Mr. Ward, of Peterborough, in reviewing film work, said that in Eastern Ontario, during January, 474 showings were recorded.

The March meeting will be held in Wallbridge Public School, with Mr. Macklem leading the discussion.

I.O.D.E. ANNUAL MEETING

Marmora.— The annual meeting of Marmora Chapter I.O.D.E. was held at the home of Mrs. E. Brady on Thursday evening. Following the annual dinner, the meeting opened with the Regent Mrs. J. R. Reynolds, in the chair. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. C. Brady, followed by the treasurer's report by Mrs. H. Forbes, which was very gratifying. Reports were received from the various committees, such as Post War, Echoes Magazine and Educational Secretary. The guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. Hugh McKinnon of Belleville, was introduced by Mrs. J. Acheson. Her subject was "Occupational Therapy" and was very interesting.

Correspondence was read and a motion was passed to give aid to a needy family. A number of pianoforte selections were rendered by Mrs. J. Acheson. One new member was received into the Chapter. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. E. Brady for the delicious dinner served. The meeting closed with the presentation of the flag and the National Anthem. Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

I Can Tell You What To Do, "Heartbroken!"

Dear Miss Fairfax;

I'm a girl 15 years old and like a boy who goes steady with another girl. He loves her very much, but she acts as though she doesn't love him, because she is constantly talking about other boys.

He knows I like him very much, yet he won't even give me a second look, but whenever he breaks up with the girl, he comes up to my house. Then before you know it, he's back with her again.

I've tried going out with other boys, but just can't seem to get interested in them, and when I'm out with them I don't have any fun because I think of the other boy all the time. What am I to do?

"Heartbroken"

Dear "Heartbroken":

I have a very specific suggestion for what you might do. That is, to make up your mind that you'll stop behaving like a silly little girl who has set her heart on some particular toy and refuses to be happy unless she gets it. Only babies act that way. Sensible people don't allow themselves to mope about what they can't have, but instead resolve to find something or someone else with whom to have good times. And it strikes me as just dumb foolishness to be willing to let a boy take up with you when it happens to suit him and then drop you ditto. That's the poorest way in the world to get him to think of you as anyone worth looking at twice.

Don't Try To Rush Things, "Troubled Girl"

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I've got to know the one answer to this question:

At what age should a girl be able to go to boy-and-girl parties, and at what age should a girl be allowed to go with boys to the movies in the daytime?

I'm 13 years old, and quite popular, but I have to snub boys because of my parents, who are very strict. I can't go any place with my girl friends and can't have them over to my house. My parents do not trust me.

"Troubled Girl"

Dear "Troubled Girl":

I think you must be mistaken about your parents not trusting you. I'm sure the only reason they are so strict about what you do is that you are so young.

As for giving you "the one" answer to your question, I'm afraid it's not quite simple as that. The age at which a girl should be allowed to go to boy-and-girl parties and to the movies with boys would depend on many things. Whose parties they were, for instance, and what kind; what boys she wanted to go out with; whether she had a normal good sense for her age, or was unusually childish. Things like that.

I don't see any reason why a girl of 13 shouldn't go to the regular type of party that young folks of her age give, however, nor why she might not occasionally be allowed to go to the movies in the afternoon with some boy among her friends who is known and approved by her parents. And I think she should certainly have her friends come to her house. But don't try to rush boy-and-girl relationships. The 13-year-old should wait a while for anything like that.

Better Make Up Your Mind What You Want

Dear Miss Fairfax:

When I was in the service, the letters I received from my girl friend led me to believe that she was in love with me and wanted to marry me. Several months after I was discharged, I asked her to marry me, but she said she wasn't sure yet.

Quite often when I ask her for dates now, she tells me she is going out with girl friends or relatives. I never doubted her until on several occasions, when she was supposed to be visiting relatives, my friends saw her out with another man. Whenever I am with her, however, she acts as though she were in love with me and never mentions dates with other people.

Could you tell me what to do?

"Bewildered"

Dear "Bewildered":

What you should do depends on what you want to do. That is, if you are so serious about this girl that you are willing to wait until she makes up her mind whether or not you are the man she wants, I'd suggest that you play along with her for a while and don't try to force her to decide. Don't forget that in the excitement and glamour of war days, many girls thought they were in love with servicemen, only to find themselves uncertain when the men came back.

On the other hand, if you'd rather know your fate now, so that you could close that particular romantic chapter and start a new one, if necessary, that's another story. Then it would simply be a matter of telling the girl that you don't plan to hang around indefinitely and it's up to her to say yes or no. It sounds to me, however, as though she'd be more likely to say no than yes if you confronted her with an ultimatum at this point.

Her Boy Friend "Got Fresh"

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going with a fellow 22 for a year and a half. I am 19. We are going to become engaged in the near future.

One day he got fresh, and I told him I would write a letter to his father, as he is very strict. He told me he would not do anything wrong again, but he did. He said that every fellow once in a while will get fresh and that it doesn't mean anything.

What should I do to make him behave? I want you to tell me so I will know whether to get engaged or not.

"K.H."

Dear "K. H.":

Your young man is quite wrong when he tells you that "it doesn't mean anything" when he "gets fresh," as you put it. It certainly does mean something. It means that he is not the gentlemanly sort of chap to whom a decent, self-respecting girl should want to become engaged.

If you have told this fellow that you don't like his behavior and he continues to try to take liberties with you, then, if you mean what you say and aren't just playing coy, you can easily put an end to it by refusing to have anything more to do with him. Of course, if you aren't in earnest about it, that's something else again.

Fashion Flashes

FAR to the back of the head goes the new Spring sailor. A new and pretty sailor is of emerald green felt, covered with a heavy mesh black veil that floats in back. Trimmed with red crown band and upshooting coq feathers.

ONE WAY to use a long pearl bead necklace is to twist it around a rolled silk scarf as an accent for a suit or to fill in a low neckline.

DELICATE TOUCHES and trimmings add beauty to new gloves. A long black suede glove is trimmed around the cuffs and up one side with delicate flowers in open black lace work on pale pink kid.

A BIG ROLE is played by contrasting fur trim in new fur fashions. A very full coat of black Alaska sealskin has a wide curved back yoke of leopard, which continues to narrow in front to form long ties for a big fur bow.

INDISPENSABLE is the silk suit, nice under coat, smart on its own, come warm weather, and easily dressed up or smartly left as is. Fine black faille is used for a handsome suit, with padding placed under minute darts of the jacket to give the rounded look, with waistline nipped for further emphasis. Jacket buttons up to the high - placed, small, pointed collar with tiny jet buttons. Skirt is flared with folds starting just below jacket hem.

YOU'LL BE SEEING plenty of natural Milan and Leghorn hats when the straw hat season rolls round. Natural Leghorn is used for a handsome hat, the brim forward posed and softly curved in front, with interesting pleated detail at the side where the brim soars high. Trimmed with big bow loops of iridescent taffeta ribbon in shades of green and blue.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Long Eyelashes Have Allure

No girl can expect to have eyewinkers as long and thick and curly as the lovely heroine of the silver screen whose lids are aided and abetted by fake, demountable lashes. But she can do much to increase the growth if hers are thin and stubby.

These little hirsute trimmings thrive on lubricants. Mineral oil is safe to use; it will not irritate the eyes. Make a rule to friction it in night and morning. Use a light touch, rubbing from one end of the lid to the other. If some of the oil remains on the surface of the lids, all right and good, if not better. The eyelids should not carry a dull finish. If they shine, they give the eyes a dewy look.

In the daily hygiene of the body, eyelids, brows and lashes are often overlooked, yet they require the same daily care that is accorded to the hair, the complexion and the teeth. Bathe the eyes with warm water, then with cold. Now and then give the eyebrows a soapy treatment; they are dust catchers of the first water; a casual sweep of the washcloth will not get them clean. They too enjoy oily applications that will make them shine like a good deed in a naughty world, cause them to march in formation, so that the pattern is pleasing and no strays wander away from the fold.

Use eyebrow brushes freely, not only on the brows but also on the lashes. Keep them scrupulously clean. Have one for grooming, another for applying mascara if it happens that your brows and lashes need a bit of coloring. Shun black mascara; it is in too strong a contrast to the skin, makes the face look hard and brittle. Select a deep brown and, we implore you, do not be too livish with its application. Make-up is following the natural school these days, is never lithographic if one follows up-to-date beautifying methods.

Long, silky lashes, especially when they have an upward tilt, are an asset to any face. They make a mysterious, romantic appeal. The stern and growly sex is particularly susceptible to this good-looks element.

Beautiful lashes are never seen on weak eyes or diseased lids, so the health of the eyes is important if lashes are to be abundant. Eyestrain may cause little scales to form along the roots of the lashes, in which event one should seek the services of a medical man who specializes in treatment of the eyes. Hot compresses of a boric acid solution are recommended under such conditions. Dissolve a teaspoonful of powdered boric acid in a cup of hot water. Strain through muslin, dip in a piece of sterilized gauze and hold close to the flesh.

No girl can expect to have eyelashes as long and curly as those seen in the movies.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Gallant Gesture That All Girls Like!

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When a man and girl enter a restaurant and are shown to a table, either by the headwaiter or by a table-waiter, should the man let either of these hold the girl's chair and seat her, or should the man go around behind the girl's chair to help her take off her coat, and arrange it over the back of her chair? I had always thought this was part of the service of either the headwaiter or waiter, but my "heart throb" of the moment insists that this is "the responsibility of a well-bred man." Is she right about this?

"Phil."

According to my judgment, she is absolutely right! I'll grant that authorities are on your side, but I still insist, as does your "heart throb," that a man who is careful and proud of his courtly manners takes over this gallant gesture in a restaurant. All girls like and appreciate this courtesy, but not many have the social bravery to speak about it to their escorts. Now, if you'll abide by this gallant courtesy, see what a hit you'll make!

Shaking Hands With All Members of the Receiving-Line

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have been invited to a large formal reception for the installation of officers in a very important organization. I understand that there will be a receiving-line and that the officers will formally receive the guests. We are new residents in this city, and have not before attended this kind of reception, and we are wondering if we shake hands with each person (some are men, and some women) in the line, or do we merely bow and pass along the line?

S. M.

I am positive that you will both be expected to shake hands with each member of the receiving-line, man or woman...in fact, I think you will find that each one in the line will extend his or her hand for a hand-shake. To each one you also say a gracious greeting and a few words of congratulation.

Leave Unused Pieces of Silver on the Table

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When one is at a dinner-party in a home where there is a wait-

Sally.

Yes...proper, and quite often done. And in this case the gifts to your bridesmaids should be exactly alike.

People Differ About Handshaking By Mrs. Beeckman

Don't be offended when someone whom you think should offer his or her hand to shake hands, doesn't do so. Some people seldom or never have the impulse to shake hands, and it doesn't at all mean that they aren't really friendly people. They just aren't the "hearty" type.

Food Rationing Remains Headache for U.K. Housewife

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

ondon — (CP) — Britain's diet sheet in 1948 see-saws between scarcity and sufficiency, with gains in food supplies in one direction offset by losses in another.

The margarine ration is helped by a few more whales taken in the Antarctic and weakened by slow progress in bringing new acres of peanuts to production in Africa.

A three-month agreement with Canada ensures bacon shipments for the time being, but future meat supplies from Argentine, which provides one-third of Britain's needs, are jeopardized by difficulties in negotiation.

Poland, Denmark, Russia and other European countries undertake to send food for man and beast, but they can't send enough to compensate for the £68,000,000,000 ($264,000,000) reduction food purchases from dollar countries.

Vast Ausrtalian areas of waste land will be brought into use to raise livestock and crops, helped by British finances if necessary. But it will be years before this production fattens the British ration. In the meantime, Food Minister Strachey says he may be unable to maintain the potato ration of three pounds a head weekly.

Soon the peace will be three years old — and British rations are smaller than when Hitler stood on the French coast. The new year dawned with the promise rations would give the individual 2,700 calories daily compared with 2,870 in 1947 and 3,000 before the war.

Prices Mount

Food prices are increasing. Shell eggs have been boosted from 1s 9d to 3s a dozen. Other recent increases have been bacon, up by between 5d and 9d a pound, sugar by from 3d to 5d and tea by an average of 4d.

These gains follow the government decision to hold present food subsidies at the present level of about £392,000,000 ($1,568,000,000) annually. This means that when higher prices are paid for Canadian bacon and similar imports the individual consumer feels the effect at once.

Britain's children still get special consideration, including rations of cod liver oil and orange juice and free milk in schools. But older people especially elderly couples or those who live alone find rationing increasingly harsh. The basic ration which includes nine ounces of bread daily, 1s worth of meat weekly and eight ounces of butter and fats, provides a bare subsistence diet.

Extra swhich used to be available, such as canned meat, dried eggs and imported apples, are harder to find.

Food Minister Strachey is often under fire at housewives' meetings. In his own Dundee constituency he was silenced by women who shouted that there was plenty of food but they were not allowed to buy it. Strachey later said the women were from the better-off section of the community and had nothing to grumble about.

Swallowed Pin

One of the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd swallowed an open safety pin. Dr. C. R. Richmond who was called probed the baby's throat and found that the open end of the pin was sticking upwards. While preparations were being made to rush the baby to the hospital at Kingston. Dr. Richmond managed to turn the pin with two fingers and successfully extract the obstruction without having to take the child from the home.

Consider Visual Survey in Primary Grade Children

Members of the Kinsmen Club of Belleville will consider sponsoring a visual survey of children in the primary grades of the various schools in the city, it was decided at the regular meeting of the club last evening.

A special committee heading up the club Eye Clinic work will investigate all angles of such a survey, what it would cost and what could be hoped to be achieved and bring suggestions to be acted upon by the club as a whole.

Two local young optometrists, Spence Wonnacott, of Edwards and Wonnacott, and Sid Rose, of McFee's were guest speakers for the evening, these men noting how modern living made increasing demands upon the eyes and how a visual survey in the schools would serve to determine ocular deficiencies during the early stages and thus through treatment obviate in many cases the necessity of wearing glasses.

Spence Wonnacott told how the eyes of primitive man had been long trained to see at distance whereas the modern age called for eyes that could see clearly at near. As an instance he stated that since 1900 reading had increased 170 per cent.

Remedy of Eye Trouble

He estimated that as a result of a visual survey 60 to 70 per cent of early eye trouble could be remedied by visual training and in this manner possibly eliminate the necessity of wearing glasses. Sponsorship of a visual survey by a service club would be a step in the right direction in Belleville, he said.

Eye examination by the simple eye chart as is used in many schools was totally inadequate as a definite means to determine eye trouble, according to Sid Rose. A child with good visual acuity might pass such a test with flying colrs and yet be a virtual visual cripple.

Purpose of Survey

Like Mr. Wonnacott the speaker emphasized that a visual survey was not intended to determine the number of children who need glasses, but to determine eye trouble in its early stages and thus avoid glasses if possible. He estimated that in 40 per cent of the cases where glasses are worn this might have been avoided if the proper treatment had been given earlier.

Educational authorities were becoming alarmed at the increasing percentage of visual defects found in pupils as they progressed in their grades. He emphasized that it was preventative treatment rather than curative measures which was needed.

Value of Statistics

Optometrists were interested in visual surveys for two reasons. The first was for the compiling of statistics and secondly as a service to the community. Proper quarters and the right type of equipment were needed to conduct an efficient survey. And this would bear fruits only if continued each year.

The speaker recommended that a survey be started in a small way and suggested various ways in which this could be accomplished. One suggestion was that visual surveys be conducted in every other grade in the public schools; another that the second and eighth grades be surveyed, and still another that one or two schools be chosen with all pupils being given the survey.

Kinsmen Ross Schryver introduced the two speakers with Walt Harden expressing club appreciation. Past President Harry Rollins conducted the meeting in the absence of President Arthur Crujl.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

You may not notice any change in me. But I have graduated into a celebrated circle. It is the noted group that charges the mythical $100 fee for answering a bridge question.

Wherever I go, one story is always thrown at me. It goes: "A friend of mine sent a bridge question to Culbertson. The answer came back with a bill for $100."

The friend, continues the story, went to his lawyer for advice. The lawyer said not to pay it. The following day the friend gets a bill from the lawyer for the consultation.

Before Culbertson, this story went the rounds about Lenz, Whitehead and Work. It never was true. All bridge kolmists invite questions. There is never a charge. It is part of their fan mail.

Rumors first said I billed $10 with each answer. Soon it was $25. Then it was $50. And there it hung for so long I was almost getting discouraged.

It hurst my feelings. Not because it was said I charged. But because it was said my charge was less than $100. When not getting anything, I would rather have it in amounts of 100 than 50.

Why should Culbertson be expected to not get twice as much as I do not get? Did people think he was not worth half as much as I was not worth? Or maybe I mean twice as much, as any fool can see.

But all this has changed. Rumors are now flying that my charge is $100. This puts me in the bigshot class at last. Is there anything more for me to live for? No coaching from the audience, please.

Never have I charged anything for answering. Even for my pages explaining why three hearts is the opening bid for this hand:

♠ None
♥ A K Q 9 7 6 2
♦ J 5 4 2
♣ A 6

It is a pleasure to answer bridge questions. My only burden is writing addresses to those who neglect to enclose a self-return. Maybe I should charge them with negligence.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 17 (AP) — Make-up magic has turned the plight of the movie monster into a virtual cinch.

Actors who played Frankenstein's monster, the wolf man, etc., used to submit to six or 8 hours applying painful makeup before each day's work. They need suffer no more. For "the Brain of Frankenstein," expert Buddy Westmore has devised skin tight rubber masks to be worn by Lon Chaney (Wolf Man) and Glenn Strange (Monster). The new process takes a mere hour and a half to apply.

Westmore is the guy who dreamed up the mermaid costume for Ann Blyth. Nothing seems to faze him.

Mack Sennett told me Glenn Ford would be ideal to portray the famed Canadian-born comedy producer's life on the screen...

Vera-Ellen has joined Virginia Mayo in departing from the Goldwyn fold. Economy marches on! Tyrone Power's next picture will be "the Dark Wood," with Jennifer Jones mentioned as his co-star...

Robert Walker says he won't do another film for M.G.M. until they find a script he likes...

John Payne is hoping for Ava Gardner for his leading lady in "Larceny." But how long will Metro keep farming her out? ... Jimmy Durante is spending all his time at Palm Springs between air shows. He has a couple of months before starting "My Only Son," in which he'll play the father of four...

Movie Miscellany

Frederic March says he'll start the Columbus film a month after he finishes "The Judge's Wife." So hopeful producers can stop casting him in their pictures ... Pat O'Brien has a daily finger wave for his "Boy with Green Hair" role. He objected to have a picture taken of the process, but acquiesced — after sticking a manly cigar in his mouth ...

Xavier Cugat now is in the business of selling candy drinking glasses caricatures, ties, chihuahuas and music boxes. Just in case the rhumba business blows over, as he thinks it might...

10-Second Review

"Sign of the Ram," (col.) is an auspicious return of Susan Peters to the screen. She purposely chose an unsympathetic role and she shines in it. Portraying a crippled Englishwoman who uses deceit to dominate her family, she delivers a fine performance and it is hoped that more roles can be found for her.

"Lured"

Something new, stirring and sensational in screen entertainment is promised in the psychological mystery-romance, "Lured", now at the McCarthy theatre.

Enlisting a distinguished cast of outstanding screen favorites in co-starring roles, such as George Sanders, Lucille Ball, Charles Coburn and Boris Karloff, this superb Hunt Stromberg production possesses in good measure every element necessary for out-of-the-ordinary film fare.

The production is given elaborate and unique treatment. In its sumptuous settings and strangely compelling action-development the story rises to unimagined heights in the realm of mystery-chillers.

"Lured" was produced by James Nasser under the executive supervision of Hunt Stromberg, who can definitely add this unusual film to his long roster of successes. Douglas Sirk can take the bows for its expert direction, with Nicolai Remisoff, famous Hollywood designers, in charge of the elaborate sets, and Elois Jennsen taking credit for the beautiful costumes worn by Miss Ball throughout the film.

The story concerns an American show girl working in London, whose best friend disappears, and is thought murdered, after answering an ad in the personal column of a daily newspaper. Lucille Ball plays the fast-talking, alert American girl to perfection. She is willing bait when Inspector Temple (Charles Coburn) of Scotland Yard elicits her aid to round up a dangerous maniac responsible for this and many similar crimes. During the course of Lucille's hair-raising adventures, she meets up with many strange, suspicious characters, like Boris Karloff, Joseph Calleia, Geo. Zucco and Sir Cedric Hardwick. Even George Sanders, with whom she has a swift, overpowering romance, does not evade suspicion.

But it would be unfair to give away the denouement of this intriguing mystery at this point. You must see this fascinating whodunit and find out for yourself!

We can say, however, that the stars involved give fine performances throughout, with an equal degree of perfection sustained by the imposing list of featured players.

Situation in India Pictured By A.G. Morris as He Saw It In Past Two Years on Y Work

Highlights of the current political unrest in India were outlined to members of the local Rotary Club on Monday, when at their regular weekly luncheon meeting they were address by A. G. Morris, member of the World Service Committee of the Y.M.C.A.

Speaking from two years' experience in Y.M.C.A. war service work with British troops in India, the speaker told of arriving in that country when the temperature was at 120 degrees and right into the midst of rioting among the various religious factions of that immense country. He told of personal interviews with leading Indian leaders and of being literally at the mercy of refugee Sikhs and Hindus during a hectic train journey across the interior of the country.

He personally had seen the massacre of approximately 17,000 Indians which resulted in the rioting following the termination of British rule in India.

Nehru Quoted

But the death of the above number of persons as result of religious rioting has not caused undue alarm in the minds of Indian leaders, according to Mr. Morris. Speaking of an interview with Nehru, noted Indian leader, the speaker said that this man expressed the opinion that upwards of forty millions of people might meet death before the country settled down to an ordinary form of government. As a civilized country India was many years behind western civilization, he said.

Assassination of Gandhi by a Hindu, one of his own religious cult, proved that there was an opposition group even among the Hindus. Had Gandhi been killed by a Moslem, terrible bloodshed would have resulted.

Through circumstance Mr. Morris stated that he was right in the midst of the millions of refugee Sikhs and Hindus as they evacuated following the partition of the country. Into a train compartment hired by him which was intended for only two persons a total of 28 Hindus crowded.

Offered Food to Hindus

For his own protection Mr. Morris offered food to the Hindus —food which under ordinary circumstance their religion would forbid them to accept from a Christian. The fact that he had fed these desperate people was the means of saving his own life, he said.

The speaker touched lightly on the political situation in the island of Ceylon. This country now had its independence from Britain but the speaker would not hazard a guess as to the duration of the present government.

Canadians Highly Regarded

Canadians, said the speaker, were held in high regard in Ceylon and in India. However, there was a great need for Canada to advertise abroad. For instance there was an impression among the people of India that in Canada there are concentration camps for Indians. This was but a mistaken interpretation of Canadian Indian reservations.

Rotarian Davis, Y.M.C.A. secretary for Belleville, introduced the speaker, while club thanks were expressed by Rotarian J. Shortt.

Also on the program was the showing of a film emphasizing the forthcoming appeal of the Canadian Aid to Children Fund.

X-ray Bullet Lodged Near Heart 35 Years Ago

Elkhart, Ind., Feb. 17 (AP) — Police Commissioner Edward J. Cullen went to hospital for a routine physical checkup.

An X-ray technician looked at one of his plates yesterday and told him: "You're lucky to be alive." He found a bullet within half an inch of Cullen's heart.

Cullen decided that must have been the reason it hurt when he was shot in the back 35 years ago with a blank cartridge while on a boyhood camping trip. He said his family doctor at that time treated him for tetanus and released him.

Cullen says he hasn't decided what to do about the bullet.

Hold No Hope For Further Cuts In Meat in U.S.

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—Economists tossed a wet blanket today on American consumers' hopes for further price cuts in meat.

The meat price dips probably will be short lived, said agriculture department economists in Washington.

Meat animals on farms in the United States are decreasing, they added, and consumer demand is expected to continue high.

The warning coincided, however, with an announcement by the New York Division of Safeway Stores, Inc., that it was reducing prices on 105 meat items from two to ten cents today.

The consumer, meanwhile, faced price gains on other fronts. The inter-state commerce commission told 96 more railroads to raise basic passenger coach fares to 13.63 per cent.

Price boosts also were ordered by Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation and the National Supply Company, but they won't be felt by the consumer as quickly. Jones and Laughlin hiked prices $6 to $10 a ton for steel pipe and the National Supply announced an increase of $8 to $12 a ton.

The commodity markets yesterday had one of the strongest rallies since the big price break began almost two weeks ago.

Grain, hogs and cattle were climbing when the markets closed. Butter gained in both New York and Chicago wholesale markets. Although the volume was small, prices pushed ahead on the New York Stock Market.

30 DUMPED INTO CREEK

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 17 — Twelve persons were in hospital today after a pedestrian bridge collapsed and dumped 30 persons into flood-swollen creek.

A 30-foot section of the bridge gave way under the combined weight of some 60 persons who had gathered to stare at an automobile which had plunged from a parallel traffic bridge.

The automobile plunged from the bridge after colliding with another car. No one in the cars was hurt.

Johnny Thompson Outpoints Majury In Main Event

Toronto, Feb. 17 (CP)—Nearly 7,000 fans watched at Maple Leaf Gardens last night as Johnny (Spider) Thompson of Buffalo, N.Y., outpointed Ernie Majury of Toronto in the main event of the Newsboys' Welfare Fund Boxing show.

The crowd hooted the decision and marred later proceedings, including the presentation of the Willie Frankel Memorial Trophy to the gamest loser, Bernie Meinzinger of Kitchener and a special award to the best prospect on the card, Mike Garcia of Guelph.

Thompson, a Buffalo Golden Gloves champion who is regarded as a sure bet for the United States Olympic boxing team, outboxed Majury in a close scrap but the best fight on the card was the bout between Garvia, a lightweight, in his five-round decision over Joe Garza of Detroit.

Garcia used a good left jab and telling blows to head and body all the way on his willing opponent.

Results included:

130 pounds, Mike Garcia, Guelph, defeated Joe Garza, Detroit, decision (5).

147 pounds, Tony di Peloni, Buffalo, defeated Bill Goulding, Oshawa, decision (5).

CANADIAN SPORT SNAPSHOTS

By DON HUNT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Feb. 17. (CP)—Many National Hockey League fans are wondering these days when the N.H.L. is going to revert to overtime in league games.

And they have their reasons. To date, there have been no less than 229 tie games out of 139 played—about 20 per cent.

Nudged on by irritated reader Andy (Montreal Standard) O'Brien quipped, "unlimited, sudden-death overtime would seem the only way to eliminate the tie game but, O brother! what dull hockey you're inviting."

Raking his mind for a solution to the problem, Andy couldn't help remembering that 1936 struggle between Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Maroons here in Montreal which lasted through 116 minutes of scoreless overtime hockey (?) .Said O'Brien, "I sat through that classic stinker."

But for all the beefs, he concluded, "there isn't a team in the big time in favor of a return to overtime."

Silver and Gold

While many cities are reporting a slump at the sport box office, Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson reports that Montreal is still spending money freely on their sporting heroes.

Says Fergie: "There doesn't seem to be anything wrong with the sport public's bank-roll in these parts. In fact, legal tender is still very loose and plentiful here for sport and affiliated events."

This despite the recent decline of the Montreal Canadiens who still continue to pack them in regularly.

Barbara Ann

Now that Barbara Ann Scott has retained her world figure skating title after successfully capturing the Olympic crown, the Ottawa skater continues to be the talk of the Canadian sport scene.

Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll says: "Not since Bobby Jones accomplished his grand slam in golf has anyone cleaned up in a sport like the field of. figure skating. It doesn't seem logical now that she won't cash in on her great talent."

Rickey Discloses Opposition Met Over Robinson

Wilberforce, O, Feb. 17. (AP) —Branch Rickey, president of Brooklyn Dodgers, defied the formally expressed opposition of 15 major league clubs to give Jackie Robinson, first Negro star, his chance at organized baseball.

Robinson broke in with Montreal Royals of the International League before coming to the Dodgers last year.

Using the annual football banquet of Wilberforce State University, a Negro school, as his sounding board, Rickey said last night:

"After I had signed Robinson, but before he had played a game, a joint major league meeting adopted unanimously a report prepared by a joint committee which stated that 'however well intentioned, the use of Negro players would hazard all the physical properties of baseball."

"You can't find a copy of that report anywhere, but I was at the meeting where it was adopted.

"I've tried to get a copy of the report, but league officials tell me all were destroyed.

"But let them deny they adopted such a report, if they dare."

"I have had this Robinson story inside me for a couple of years, Rickey said, "and I've decided the time has come for me to tell just how I feel about the whole thing."

"I believe that racial extractions and color hues and forms of worship become secondary to what men can do. The denial of equality of opportunity to qualify for work to anyone, anywhere, any time, is understandable to me.

"The American public is not as concerned with a first baseman's pigmentation as it is with the power of his swing, the dexterity of his slide, the gracefulness of his fielding, or the speed of his legs."

Rickey said that he had spent $25,000 in 1945 scouting Negro players, but that his scouts thought they were seeking talent for a Negro league.

"In seeking my first Negro player I needed a superlative man, a man who had to be an outstanding player on the field, and a thorough gentleman off it.

"When I called Robinson to my office he had no idea I wanted him for a white team. I dramatized six situations I knew he would come up against in baseball. I called him names. I all but hit him. And, don't kid yourselves, this Robinson is no 'gentle breeze'. He's a competitor, a gentleman and he has great personal respect.

Buddy O'Connor Heads Into Stretch With Good Lead

Montreal, Feb. 17 (CP) —Buddy O'Connor New York Rankers' feather footed playmaker, heads into the last five weeks of the National Hockey League with a comfortable five-point lead at the top of the scoring list.

Official statistics released today show Buddy ruling the roost for the seventh straight week with Toronto's Max Bentley, two-time winner of the scoring crown in second spot five points behind.

O'Connor was an even 50 points on 21 goals and 29 assists while Max Bentley boasts 25 goals for his 45 point total.

Each collected three points during the last week.

Norman (Bud) Poile of Chicago Black Hawks edged into third place with 43 points, one better than Montreal's Elmer Lach, who went pointless during the week.

Detroit's prize marksman, Ted Lindsay and rookie star Jim McFadden, failed to add a single point to their totals in the last week, and now find themselves in a fifth-place tie with Doug Bentley of the Hawks, each with 41 points.

Lindsay's 26 goals rate tops in that department, but Max Bently is coming fast and now has 25 markers to his credit. O'Connor leads the assists column with 29 helpings.

Harry Lumley of Detroit, most improved netminder in the circuit, has the best goals- against average among the backstops. Harry has allowed 111 goals in 47 games for a 2.36 percentage. Toronto's Turk Broda comes next with a 2.45 goals-per-game average. Lumley also tops the shutout list with six.

Bill Barilko, Leafs' rugged rearguard, still is off by himself in the penalty parade, with 123 minutes spent in the cooler.

Oshawa Generals Can Tie Windsor For Top Spot

(By The Canadian Press)

It looks as though that fight for final first-place standing in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior "A" loop between the two top dogs—Windsor Spitfires and Oshaw Generals—won't be decided until the final whistle of the last game between the two teams.

Windsor could have clinched first place with a win over Stratford Kroehlers last night, but just to keep everybody guessing, Stratford handed the favorito Spitfires a 7-5 defeat. Oshawa Generals now can tie Windsor at 47 points if they defeat the Spitfires at Windsor in the last scheduled game there Wednesday. If that happens, goal average will have to settle the feud.

At that, Stratford had to come from behind to win as Windsor went into a 4-1 lead at the end of the first period. The Kroehlers came back in the second to narrow the gap with the period ending 5-4. Then Stratford scored three times in the third frame while Windsor was unable to get any.

Right-wing flash, George Armstrong, potted the winning third period goal and also added another just eight seconds later to put the game on ice. Scoring was well distributed with Dunc Daniels, Matt Mesich and George Armstrong scoring twice each for Kroehlers while Malcho potted one.

Windsor marksmen were Jack Taylor, Johnny Wilson, Lorne Wilson, Bert Giesebrecht and Geo. Ouellette.

No senior games were scheduled for last night but tonight all eyes will turn to Toronto where Marlboros tangle with Owen Sound Mercurys in their final game of the schedule. The Marlies, safely entrenched in second place, will be shooting for two individual honors—the scoring crown and the best goal average.

Two Points Behind

Johnny McCormack of the Marlboros is just two points behind Clare Shillington of Hamilton Tigers who finished their schedule Saturday, and will be shooting for three points to take the individual scoring championship.

The Duke goalie, Howie Harvey, has a one goal edge over Art Childs of Hamilton Tigers for goal-keeping honors and he has to shut out the Mercurys to protect his lead. Harvey had let 85 goals past him in league play so far while Art Childs finished the season with 86.

The Marlies will use Ray Timgren and Bobby Hassard of Marlboro juniors to help fill out the forward brigade. Both players have played their maximum of three games as seniors and are ineligible to return to the age-limit ranks.

The Mercurys will be at full strength for the tilt with such forward scoring stars as Tommy Burlington, Doug Gillespie Pat McCreavy and Jack Ingoldsby.

At the other scheduled senior game between Hamilton Pats and Kitchener-Waterloo, the Flying Dutchmen will be hoping for a Mercury win over the Marlies with themselves taking a decision from the Pats to enable them to move into fourth place, one point ahead of the Mercurys.

Marlboro Juniors at Galt finish out the night's play with the only scheduled game in the junior division.

Kingston Vics Defeat Rockets By 8 to 2 Score

Belleville Rockets for the time being at least are behind the eight ball as a result of an 8-2 defeat at the hands of the Kingston Vics in the third game of the Junior "B" group playoffs at the Jock Harty Arena on Monday night. The game was witnessed by a large crowd with over 200 Belleville fans being in attendance but who had little to enthuse over until the latter stages of the pastime. The fourth game of the series will be played at the Memorial Arena on Wednesday night and the locals have got to win this one to stay in the running for the group honors.

The losers were at a disadvantage from the opening whistle for from the faceoff the puck was cleared back to Schreider and in trying to bat the rubber away from the front of the net beat Lefort, his own goalie, with a backhander. This really took the wind out of the sails for the Rockets and before they recovered the Vics netted five tallies without a reply and the hockey game was over. The locals recovered somewhat from this reverse and in the last two periods played the Vics to a 3-2 count but the damage had been done. In the second frame tempers flared as is usual when Kingston and Belleville teams meet and before the fracas was over referee McEachern had banished Reynolds and McKeown of the Vics and Hurst and Defelice of the locals for five minutes. They were the only four that were sent away but nearly every member of both teams was in the mixup and it took considerable time to get matters straightened out.

The front line of Joyce, Flint and Aiken were the thorn in the side of the Rockets although McKeown performed the 'Hat Trick' and was easily the best man on the ice for either side. Schreider played a hard game after his initial setback with Green and Don Semark on the front line showing up well. Stone played an outstanding game for the winners although the losers could have had more goals in the third frame if they had been more accurate when they got inside the Vics' defence. The team is not beaten yet and there will be a large crowd out to see them go on Wednesday night.

The lineups:

Belleville — goal, Lefort; defence, Schreider and Hurst; centre, Defelice; wings, Green and D. Semark; subs, Milligan, J. Semark, Bone, Nolan, Taylor, Wardhaugh and Adams.

Marmora Wins From Hastings

Marmora.—By the score of 11-5 Marmora defeated Hastings in the return game at Madoc on Saturday evening. The visitors arrived with only nine players. The game was devoid of penalties. Although Marmora had the edge on play, Hastings forced a number of lively scrambles around the Marmora goal. Scriver in the Hastings nets was playing his first game in two years. Regardless of the goals that beat him, he stopped numerous close-in drives from the Marmora players. Marmora lacked the services of their left wing, K. Trumble.

Midgets Defeat Brockville 11-3 At Lansdowne

The Belleville Merchants Midgets are rolling down the playoff trail in the O.M.H.A. series and their latest conquest was an 11-3 victory over the rugged Brockville sextet at Lansdowne on Monday night. This was the first win in the group playoffs and the second game of the series will be played in the Memorial Arena here on Thursday night. Plumping in four goals in the first period with only two replies the team was never headed and they played smart hockey to defeat a team that had them outweighed plenty but the winners had a big advantage in the skating department. Those who accompanied the team stated that, the Brockville crew were big and threw their weight around but the kids simply skated them into the ice and shifted off the hefty body checks.

The contest was exceptionally clean with the exception of Rumsby for Brockville, who was banished four times for tripping. This boy, it is stated is not dirty, but is inclined to stick his stick out any time a player is passing and thus gets himself into a peck of trouble. The front line of Barrett, Doran and Carey went well but Brown jumped into the limelight with the "hat trick" besides getting a couple of assists for a nice night's work.

The lineups:

Brockville — goal, Laras; defence, Heffernan and Rumsby; centre, MacNaull; wings, Caster and McDonald; subs, Companion, R. Leeder, McCumber, J. Leeder, Kennedy, Ollepson, Heild.

Belleville — goal, Barclay; defence, Green and Milligan; centre, Barrett; wings, Doran and Carey; subs, Strahan, Brown, Gilmour, Jones, Hurst, O'Brien; sub goalie, Schreider.

Referee: Vern Goyer, Belleville; linesman, Jerry Ross, Brockville.

Canada's Hockey Team Made Many Friends in Europe

(By The Canadian Press)

Sydney Dawes, president of the Canadian Olympic Association, said yesterday in a report on the winter Olympics at St. Moritz "that all our winter sports competitors were good ambassadors of Canada," and described Barbara Ann Scott as "the most popular individual at the winter Olympic games."

He stated that the Canadian hockey entry was "well-chosen," and won themselves friends and respect everywhere as well as winning the Olympic hockey championships "under trying circumstances."

"Ice hockey in Europe is a very clean game, and the least roughness calls for a penalty, which is immediately increased if the recipient talks back to the referee. This was the first lesson that our team had to learn on arriving in Europe," he said.

Lloyd Mangrum moved out in front among the winter circuit money players with his playoff victory over Jimmy Demaret yesterday in the $10,000 Lower Rio Grand open at Harlingen, Texas. Mangrum, fired a five-under-par 31-3-56 in the playoff to take the top prize of $2,000 and raise his earnings to $8,188.

Demaret won $1,400, bringing his winnings to $7,448, which is second only to Mangrum.

Frank Crosetti, a coach with the New York Yankees for most of last season, will return to active play during the 1948 season. The 37-year-old veteran was the 33rd member of the world champions to sign a contract.

A reliable authority yesterday stated that Russia will join the International Skating Union and will participate in future international skating competitions. The source went on to say that Russia joined the Union Jan. 29, two days before the Olympic games.

Carl Liscombe of Providence Reds added two more points to his scoring leadership in the American Hockey League last week to go into a 10 point lead over second-place Cliff Simpson of Indianapolis. Simpson has collected 74 points, two more than Harvey Fraser of the Reds who is third with 72 points. Bas Bastien of Pittsburgh leads in net minding honors with a 2.58 goals against average and two shutouts.

George Agar of Houston Huskies leads the individual scorers in the United States Hockey League with 29 goals and 47 assists for 76 points, league statistics showed today. Ray Powell of Kansas City was 10 points behind Agar followed by St. Paul's Gino Rozzini who had 64 points. Hal Brown of St. Paul led the goal-getters with 34 while Rozzini was the top playmaker with 49 assists.

CHOICE IS QUITE WIDE

Washington, Feb. 17 (CP) — Buck Newsom said today that he expects to announce pretty soon that he has another job in baseball.

Asked by a reporter about the outlook, Newsom replied:

"Just tell 'em I've narrowed my choice down to 15 clubs, all in the majors. It may be any team except the Yankees."

His release from the Yankees became official yesterday when all clubs waived on him.

LOST HIS FLASK

Edmonton — (CP) — One man convicted here of possessing liquor illegally found that "confiscation" of it meant confiscation of its container as well — which in this case was a silver flask. The flask became the property of the province.

Three of Last Year's Winners Still in Fight

Toronto, Feb. 17. (CP) — Weary curlers embarked today on their third round quest for top honors in the 21st annual Ontario Bonspiel iced at four Toronto Curling Clubs after completing the longest curling day in the 'spiel's history.

The opening competitions, yesterday in the week-long event lasted 17 1-2 hours because of hydro-electric power interruptions. Toronto Granite Club was without lights four hours with cut outs at other clubs of half-hour duration. A record in playing time on ends was also claimed at the Granite rink with their four-hour break.

Three 1947 trophy winners still are in the fight for the major event, the Royal York trophy with completion of the second round early today. Last year's second award winners, G. R. Meech's club and 1947 third cup holders, have won two games in their two starts. The London rink skipped by R. E. Wilson and last year's sixth award winners have two victories.

The 1947 fifth event winners, T. F. Beattie's Toronto Curling Club quartet were defeated 11-7 in the first round by A. E. Sackrider's Kirkland Lake rink.

Three London rinks including Wilson's form the strongest opposition to the ten Toronto rinks who are entering the third round for top award. The two other London foursomes are skipped by Dr. J. A. Wright and S. Thomson. Losers in the top event's first round completed their first round of the second cup—with losers of this round meeting today in the third award contest.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York, Feb. 17 —(AP) — Possibly it is the influence of the basketball season that has led to so much whistle blowing in sorts recently ... that isn't the kind of tooting the court referees do but blowing the whistle on various customs that have been more or less under cover for years ... first it was Ed McKeever's "White Paper" about football eligibility and now the pro golfers' fuss over using winter rules ... it has been no great secret that the golf tourists have interpreted the rules rather liberally, on the theory that low scores attract paying customers, and that various groups and individuals are constantly feuding —though it seldom breaks out in fisticuffs ... neither has the recruiting of college football players been entirely cloaked in secrecy, though McKeever has been called "unethical" for talking too much about it ... sharpest criticism of McKeever to reach this corner is that he gave the kids a "bum deal" by hauling them clear across the country and leaving them stranded while he joined the pros.

Pass the Seegars

The University of Wisconsin's wrestling program this winter has been nearly wrecked by babies ... first it was Clarence Self, football halfback and 165-pound grappler, who became a pappy and missed several workouts while sitting with the newcomer ... then heavyweight Bill Bennett was absent from a couple of matches while wearing out the carpets in a Madison hospital and his substitute, Bob Freund, replaced Bill on the floor walking beat ... now coach George Martin, watching the other married men on the squad just calls it "infant mortality."

Seeing Fru-It

Brooklyn Dodgers, operators of baseball's most extensive farm system, apparently have added a pineapple plantation to their string ... at least they've signed catcher Andrew Didinha of Kekaha, Kauai, Hawaii ... and scout Paul Taylor reports he found Andrew "behind the 64th pineapple in the 19th row."

AHL at a Glance

Phil Hergesheimer became the second player this season to reach the 200-goal mark in the American Hockey League. He joined the select group of Fred Thurler, who also reached the mark this season, and Les Cunningham and Lou Trudel, previous season entrants into the club. Hergesheimer's companions in the Double Century Socieyt are or were members of Cleveland Barons...

Famed surveyor and cartographer of the Northwest Territories over a century ago, David Thompson's early maps guided two generations of Canada's pioneer settlers. FOUNDER of pioneer colonies in the early 17th century, Calvert, Man of Vision, said of the New World: "My resolution is to build . . . it is a good country."

CHAPTER 17.

"Lunch? No, I suppose not. I forgot about it—I was too worried to care. I'm not hungry—really."

"Oh, yes you are," he contradicted cheerfully. "I'm taking you out to Bingham's Inn—a quiet spot where we can renew our hectic acquaintance, Miss Wilkins." He chuckled at his own pleasantry, still keeping his eyes on the street.

She glanced at him again covertly. His face was happily lighted; he looked like a man without a care in the world. She sighed, tears brimmed her eyes. She turned away without a word, pretending to look out the half-opened window on her side.

They continued to drive on without further conversation. The car was finally flying down the open highway in a wild burst of speed, as though Tom were counting upon getting this girl beside him as quickly as possible to a place where they could be at peace with each other again.

Soon, thy were seated at a little table under a gay umbrella canopy on a sloping green lawn, the ravages of early frost. The nearby rustic inn, the sharp keen fall air sifting through old maple trees, the gurgle of a brook winding around them, seemed to encourage appetites. All at once, Velma felt that she could eat a huge mound of food.

After the waiter had gone to fill their order, Tom leaned over the red and white tablecloth, his big square hands spread toward her. "Now, my dear," he began earnestly, "I'd like an explanation to all those unkind notes you flung at me—notes that blasted so many fine plans I made for—our special use. Why did you treat me like that, darling?"

Her eyes opened wide, she stared at him uncomprehendingly. "What notes, Tom?" she asked.

"Don't pretend with me, Velma. It's not your role. You've always been the straightforward type—dependable—"

"But Tom—I haven't the faintest idea what you're talking about! What do you mean by notes ? I never wrote a note in all my life!"

"What? You didn't send a note to me by Louise—that day she and I played tennis—saying you had another engagement? You didn't write me you couldn't go on that cruise—you didn't send Louise instead? You didn't refuse to talk to me on the phone practicall all the time you lived at the Clarks?"

Abruptly, Velma saw the light. Tom's apparent neglect, his equiring of Louise, was all too clear now.

She laid her two hands impulsively in his. "I've never written you, Tom," She repeated. "It's plain enough now—what Louise has done. It must prove how much she— she cares about you. You must forgive her—after you'r, married—"

"Married?" He laughed shortly, squeezed her fingers tightly. "She sent that engagement notice to the papers to force me into proposing to her. But I never did—please believe me, dear. Now that I've discovered her tricks, I could soundly thrash the little minx. Great Scott! The suffering she has caused! If you've suffered as much as I, sweetheart—"

Remembering what she prayed she could forget, she pulled away her hands, clutched them frantically in her lap.

„We've so many more—vital things to discuss now, haven't we?"

"Yes, dear—but you look so alarmed. What is it? Don't you love me at all? After all the miserable hours when I thought you didn't care—can't we make up for them at last? Now, with more money, our future is assured."

The waiter set a crabmeat salad and hot coffee before her. The food was a blur before her eyes. Now with more money? That was what he had said. More—money!

They were surrounded by a dozen or more gay umbrellas over empty tables. It was getting to late in the season for out-of door customers. The tangy air seemed to have whetted Tom's appetite. He cut into his barbecued sandwich with zest as the waiter left them.

"Having more money, Velma, makes it sooth sailing for us from now on. We can be married and—"

"Tom!" It was a heartbreaking cry wrung from the depths of her very soul. "Tom—how can you talk like that?"

He laid down his knife and fork. It was his turn to stare uncomprehendingly. "But when two people love each other—I know you love me, Velma—isn't marriage the ultimate solution?"

"Not—not in our case, Tom," she said tremulously.

He stared at her in pained amazement. He was inclined to be provoked at her. A flush slowly mounted through his tanned cheeks to his brow.

He said, in a hurt tone, "I'm beginning to think, Velma, you're the oddest girl I ever knew. If you'll kindly explain what this is all about, I might know how to act."

A distinct coolness now lay between them. His eagerness had oozed into grim determination. He crossed one leg over the other, and lighted a cigarette with unsteady hand. He'd have to get to the bottom of Velma's stubborness or foolish convictions, or whatever it was that threatened to separate them again.

Then suddenly they began to talk. She talked very fast. She talked as if she must unburden herself or burst from carrying around a load of guilility knowledge.

"Tom, how can you sit there and discuss marriage? How can you think for a minute I'd help spend money got in such a way? Why—it's tainted! It reeks with—with blood! That poor man in the alley—I can hear him yet—crying for help. Oh, if I had only rushed to him, I might have saved him!"

Tom crushed out his cigarette on an ash tray. His drawn face esarched her pathetically. He gripped the edge of the table. He gasped out hoarsely, "Velma! What are you talking about?"

"You know very well what I'm talking about!" she flung back, a little shrilly. "You left John Scollar dead in that alley—you rushed out to the street so surprised to see me standing there! When I jumped out of your car, that wallet hit my foot. I've—I've got it here! Ten thousand more dollars—to add to your collection!" she ended bitterly.

He half rose in his chair, sat down again. "Velma, I swear I didn't do it! I swear I wasn't—" He paused as if some one had snipped off his tongue. His eyes were filled with a fear that was near to stark terror.

His voice sounded unnatural when at last he said, "You'd better—perhaps you'd better give me that money—you don't want to become involved—in this."

The neckline of her blue sheer blue frock fortunately was loose enough to allow her quick nervous fingers to dive to her girdle. She snatched out the wallet, tossed it across the table, her expression one of withering contempt.

"There you are!" she rasped out brokenly. "I hope you—buy more motor cars—more new clothes—a yacht maybe—and—and—"

She buried her face in her hands and buurst into wild sobs.

Tom, ignoring her, beckoned the waiter for the check.

"We'd better be going," he said flatly as he rose.

She used her handkerchief, then stood up, stoutly defiant.

He flung the waiter a bill, saying, "Keep the change," and followed her to the driveway.

She thought sarcastically, "A man with so much capital can afford to be magnanimous.

Velma and Tom got into the car as though they had suddenly become the bitterest of enemies. His face was set and chalk-white. He seemed to be fighting some inner conflict.

Youths Under 17 Playing Big Part In Crime Wave

London, Feb. 17 (Reuters) — Britain's undermanned police forces, fighting an expected post-war crime wave, have found that youths under 17 are playing a big part in the increased housebreaking, theft and crimes of violence.

Government statisticians in a report published today, disclose the exact extent of these developments.

The latest available annual total of juveniles found guilty in the English courts, that for 1945, was 73,620, compared with a pre-war average of about 55,000.

Three types of offence increased out of all proportion to this general rise. There were approximately twice as many convictions for breaking and entering and for violence as before the war. And the number of sexual offences jumped by 1-4 to 1-3.

In 1939, about one in every 13 persons convicted was a juvenile. In 1945, youth rated almost one in every six.

The number of persons found guilty of indictable offences increased from 78,000 in 1939 to nearly 116,000 in 1945. Most alarming increases were of breaking and entering, which almost doubled; sexual offences, up by more than 50 per cent; and violence against the person, up by 40 per cent.

The less serious, non-indictable offences, declined considerably, particularly illegal betting and drunkenness.

The drop in drunkenness has been helped, but not fully accounted for, but cuts in the supply of spirits now that Britain is exporting a substantial proportion of the output. Britons drank 9,000,000 proof gallons of spirits in 1946, compared with 10,000,000 annually before the war.

The police force dealing with the crime wave in England and Wales numbered 51,000 in 1946, more than 10,000 less than in 1939 and nearly 14,000 short of authorized establishment.

Average prison population increased from 10,326 in 1939 to 14,708 in 1945.

Little Benny's Note Book

Yesterday ma bought a pound of Morning Dew coffee from the Buy and Save store to economize on coffee and see if pop would notice the difference, and this morning she watched him when he drank his coffee to see if he would make his usual sounds of pleasure and claim there's nothing like a cup of coffee in the morning.

Which he didn't, and after a while ma said, How do you feel, William?

How do I look? pop said, and ma said, You look perfectly normal, I mean you have your usual half-alive morning expression.

Then I suppose I feel the same way, I've always been a very consistent man, pop said.

And he kept on eating his breakfist without saying anything about anything, including the coffee, and ma said, William, you cant fool me, I can see you've got something on your mind.

And you cant fool me, my dear, I can see you've noticed it, pop said. Well, you're bound to find out sooner or later, so I might as well tell you now. Thieves broke into the house last night, he said.

What? ma said, Why William, that's impossible. I mean how do you know, what did they take? she said and pop said, They took the coffee and tried to cover their tracks by leaving in its place a mixture of ground acorns, pulverized straw, dried roobarb and dehydrated spunge.

Oh, then you mean you really did notice a difference? ma said, and pop said, I did and I do, and if you wish I'll explain it to you simply in werds of several sillables.

No thanks, you've explained enough for land sakes, ma said.

And she made coffee all over again with the reguler coffee, and pop drank 3 cups with happy sounds, and ma wouldn't even tell him the name of the other coffee on account of not wanting to give him an excuse to keep mentioning it.

Retailers Claim Excessive Margin Of Profit Made

37 Per Cent on Oranges Declares Witness at Probe

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 18 (CP)—The inquiry into high prices of fruits and vegetables was continued today in the Commons price committee with the prospect that wholesalers may be called soon to answer charges aimed by the Retail Merchants Association of Canada.

Representatives of the fruit and vegetable wholesalers of Toronto sat through yesterday's session while an official of the retail organization charged that "excessive" margins of profit were being made by wholesalers in these commodities.

George Christensen, national director of the food division of the Retailers' Association, produced several retail invoices, indicating that wholesalers were making as high as 37 per cent profit on oranges.

The Prices Board only allowed a 15 per cent profit during the war, added the witness.

In addition to its present initiated inquiries, the 16-member committee, seeking the causes of the present increase in prices, may investigate increased commercial rentals being asked for the period after controls on this form of rent end next month.

Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Englington) asked if the scope of the committee's inquiries included commercial rentals. The matter has been referred to the steering committee.

He said he had many complaints from people in Toronto that an increase of 350 to 400 per cent was in prospect in that city in these cases.

Earlier, Mr. Christensen hesitated to make public the names of retailers, noted on the invoices which he used to back up his charges against the wholesalers.

He indicated that he felt the wholesalers might penalize the retailers.

However, the witness finally submitted the invoices to the committee, without the names of either retailer or wholesaler being made public.

Aliens Are Using Detroit as Their Biggest Gateway

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP) — Aliens are using Detroit as their biggest gateway to sneak into the United States, representative John McDowell (Rep.-Pa.) asserted today.

"The situation," McDowell told reporters, "has become a very, very bad one."

He said he has heard that "busloads" of Communists have slipped past immigration officials.

"Unquestionably something has to be done up there," McDowell said. as chairman of a House of Representatives un-American Activities sub-committee, he called in immigration inspector Francis Langthorne for questioning behind closed doors.

Langthorne on duty several years in the tunnel linking Detroit and Windsor, Ont., was described as a "friendly witness."

He said he has reason to believe the inspector has information that "hardened Communists, criminals and Fascists have been coming through thick and fast."

McDowell said they apparently head for Detroit, after getting into Canada from overseas, because more people go in and out of the country there every day than at any other spot along the borders.

"Thousands of good proper Canadians work in Detroit factories," he said. "And thousands of good, proper Americans go into Canada. Because there are so many thousands, the inspectors sometimes are careless and that gives these aliens a chance to sneak by."

Extortion Attempt Charges Laid Against Trio

Toronto, Feb. 18 (CP) — Geo. Miloff, 19, Joseph Adams, 20, and Samuel Adams, 32, today were remanded in custody to Feb. 25 on charges of attempted extortion of $10,000 from Michael Blidner.

Magistrate R. L. Browne refused bail for Joseph and Samuel Adams, but said he would discuss the matter with crown counsel A. O. Klein later.

The charges arose out of a series of threatening telephone calls allegedly made to the home of Blidner, known as the "Clergy King." Blidner, part owner of the Dominion Fruit Company, said repeated telephone demands had been made, asking him to pay $10,000 or suffer the consequences. Firing of a rifle bullet through an upstairs window followed one demand.

The final call was made a week ago when Blidner was ordered to pay $5,000. Police said this call provided them with the clue which led to the arrest of the men.

DUCKS BY THOUSANDS IN UPPER NIAGARA RIVER

Niagara Falls, Feb. 18 (CP) — A fifteen mile stretch of the upper Niagara River between the Horseshoe Falls and Fort Erie today is dotted with thousands of ducks in what game overseers describe as the finest display of water fowl seen along the Niagara frontier in many years.

The presence of ducks at this time of winter is unusual. Officials fear that unless the birds move off before the spring ice run commences hundreds may plunge to their deaths over the falls.

Church Criticizes Skiing on Sunday

Ottawa, Feb. 18 — (CP)—Skiing in the Gatineau hills on Sunday — one of Ottawa's favorite pastimes — was sharply criticized by the Ottawa Presbytery of the United Church yesterday.

They also criticized attempts to "commercialize" the Sabbath in the Ottawa area and finally passed a motion to have broadcasts of Quebec Senior Hockey League games banned from an Ottawa radio station.

TWO WOMEN ESCAPE FROM BRITISH PRISON

London, Feb. 18 — (CP)—Two women escaped today from Holloway prison in North London.

They were identified as Annie Croft, 35, serving 12 months for larceny, and Doris Carter, 28, serving eight months for larceny.

Prison officials said they escaped while working outside the grey-walled building in the hospital sisters' quarters.

Nothing Like Trees or Plants on Mars Possibly Low Form of Plant and Water

McDonald Observatory, Fort Davis, Tex., Feb. 18 —(AP)— The green spots on Mars may be some lower form of plant life.

But they are not plants like the earth's trees and grass.

Astronomers at McDonald Observatory last night failed to give a flat answer to the intriguing question of whether there is life on Mars but Dr. Gerard P. Kuiper director of the observatory, listed these factors for and against the possibility.

For:

1. There is some water.

2. The temperatures are not too cold.

Against:

So far, it appears the deadly ultra violet rays of the sun would kill any form of plant growth.

The conclusion that the green spots are neither seed plants nor ferns — the two highest forms of plant life — was reached by comparing infra-red photographs of such earth plants with those of the verdant areas of Mars, Dr. Kuiper explained.

Another factor favoring a primitive form of plant life on Mars is the knowledge that temperatures, while "desperately cold," are not prohibitive to such life.

The Mars studies will continue at top peak for the next two weeks. Mars came within 63,000,000 miles of the earth last night, closest it will be for another two years.

COMMONS MAKES LIMITED PROGRESS ON LEGISLATION

Dollar-Saving Program Under Constant Fire

Ottawa, Feb. 18. (CP)—The Commons made limited progress yesterday in its clause-by-clause study of the Government's Currency-Conservation Bill, backbone of the dollar-saving program, and turned aside a Progressive Conservative attempt to pin a time limit on the contentious legislation.

By a standing vote of 40 to 29, the Chamber rejected an amendment by Harry Jackman (PC-Toronto Rosedale) which would have provided that the measure expire 15 months after it comes into force.

Finance Minister Abbott explained that many of the tariff and other regulations embodied in the bill were in the nature of "budget" changes and it was essential that no advance notice be given of their removal.

At the same time, the minister himself made several minor changes in sections dealing with ministerial powers to meet opposition objections that his powers under the act would be too broad.

He also amended, at opposition request, a section dealing with offences and penalties to limit prosecutions to persons who "knowingly" commit an infraction under the act..

All the clauses had been passed at the adjournment hour, but as the tariff schedules forming the substance of the bill were reached, C.C.F. members served notice that they planned to seek elimination of items in the schedule of prohibitions which ban the importation of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Tenant Really Feels He Has Landlord Trouble

Montreal, Feb. 18. (CP)—Gilbert Vanderlip is becoming convinced things have gone a little too far and perhaps his landlords don't want him in the Harvard Avenue premises after all.

Vanderlip took his troubles to Superior Court and was awarded an interim injunction against the landlords, Richard F. Flanagan and wife.

The gist of Vanderlip's troubles, as set forth in his petition:

Part of the rear wall has been removed.

The furnace was taken out during the recent bitter weather.

The chimney was taken down.

Plaster was removed from the walls.

Gas and electricity were cut off.

All this, tenant Vanderlip said, violated his lease and was in contempt of two previous court judgments which upheld his right to stay.

Mr. Justice Hector Perrier issued the interim injunction returnable Feb. 26. It orders the landlords to discontinue any construction work, on the premises and to stop molesting, theatening, intimidating or interfering with tenant Vanderlip.

City Power Interruptions Will be Twice Daily With Hour Duration at Each Time

Sixty minute power interruptions, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, will be tried for three days by the local public utilities commission starting Wednesday as a means of saving ten per cent hydro consumption ordered by the Ontario Hydro. This was announced yesterday by O. H. Scott, utilities manager, following a meeting of Retail Merchants and Industrialists.

Originally it had been intended to have half hour interruptions at different times during the day but as result of the above meeting it was decided that sixty minute interruptions in the morning and afternoon would cause the least inconvenience to the majority of users.

Power will be cut off throughout the city between seven and eight o'clock in the morning and also between four thirty and five thirty in the afternoon. There will be no power interruption at the Belleville General Hospital, it was stated.

The above schedule of power interruptions will be tried for three days and if the necessary ten per cent reduction in power consumption is not achieved another schedule will be worked out.

"If householders will co-operate by turning off every light not being used and by not using appliances more than is necessary, the situation will be eased," stated Mr. Scott.

Another meeting of the retail merchants and industrialists is scheduled for Friday to further discuss the power shortage.

French Expedition into Arctic To Collect Data for Aviation

By WILLIAM LATHAM

Paris, Feb. ,18 —(Reuters) — Preparations are being made here for a French government-sponsored expedition which will set out for the Arctic in March to install a radio-meteorological station in central Greenland and collect data for use in aviation, navigation and the study of radioactive matter.

Although France is preoccupied with rigid economy measures aimed at stabilizing the purchasing power of the franc, a French government spokesman said she considers that this expensive expedition is justified because major air lines of the future will form a network over the polar wastes.

About 50 scientists and technicians are busying themselves with equipment and preparing their personal gear while administrative arrangements are being worked out at the French National Centre of Scientific Research.

The expedition is part of an international program drafted by the Swedish geologist, Hans Halhmann.

Leader of the expedition will be 30-year-old Paul Emile Victor an authority on polar geography, lore and natural science, and probably the only Frenchman with a fluent command of the Eskimo languages — which he learned during a 12-months' stay in an igloo with a family of Eskimo hunters.

The explorers will bring back the results of several months' close study of the ice structure off Greenland for the attention of geologists.

Five Charged With Assault

Toronto, Feb. 18 (CP)—Five men were arrested last night on charges of assault and malicious damage after what police described as an attack on 15-year-old Valmore Serrie on the verandah of his east-central Dundas Street home.

They said five men who set upon the Serrie youth turned on members of his family who came to his aid. Then they allegedly entered the home and smashed windows and furniture.

Those arrested gave their names as Donald Campbell, 23; Patrick Poirer, 36; John Jackson, 24; Donald Smith, 29; and John Gillis, 22.

Mild Weather Will Help Boost Water Supply

Toronto, Feb. 18 —(CP)— The weather man said yesterday mild temperatures may prevail in the southern part of Ontario for the next three or four days, and then again they may not.

The forecaster at Malton Airport, commenting on the chance of comparatively warm weather that would boost water supply and thereby ease the electric power shortage, said he expected the southern half of the province would continue to have readings in the 40's for the "next several days but probably less than a week — and I'm going out on a limb when I say it."

However, "the chances are at least 50-50," he said.

What made the prediction risky was a body of cold air, in the area roughly north of a line from Sault Ste. Marie to North Bay in Northern Ontario. While districts south of that have been having 40-degree temperatures, communities to the north have been shivering in weather ranging from sub-zero to 10 degrees.

This cold belt could easily move south, reaching the Toronto district in as little as 12 hours.

Waitress Held On Murder Charge

Calgary, Feb. 18 (CP)—Police announced early today that they had arrested Bernice Dubensky, 20-year-old Calgary waitress, and charged her with the murder of Mah Kuo (Charlie) Wing.

Her arrest was the first break in the murder of the 50-year-old Chinese tailor last June 25.

Wing was found lying on the bedroom floor behind his Oriental tailor shop in East Calgary last June. He had been bludgeoned to death by a blunt object.

Police refused to disclose circumstances leading to Miss Dubensky's arrest, but said she had been under police investigation for some time.

Arrest Ends Five-Day Hunt In Murder Case

London, Feb. 18 —(Reuters)— Donald George Thomas, found in a London boarding house yesterday after thousands of police had engaged in a five-day manhunt, today was charged with the murder of Police Constable Nathaniel Edgar.

Mrs. Noreen Winkless, who was living with the 23-year-old Thomas in a southwest London boarding house, was allowed to go home after questioning. The woman, publication of whose picture led police to the boarding house hideout, was taken into custody along with Thomas yesterday.

Thomas will appear in court tomorrow.

Edgar was shot and killed last Friday night while engaged on anti-burglary patrol in Southgate, a North London suburb. He was found dying after he had challenged a man.

Two people told police they had seen the gunman running down the road.

Meantime in a neighbor's house in the South London borough of Camberwell, the woman's husband, Stanley Winkless, awaited his wife's return. He said he has not seen her for three weeks.

"I want to make a fresh start with her," Winkless told reporters. "She is a good mother and devoted to her children."

COMMISSION MEN WILL CONTINUE TO PULL SWITCHES

Communities Report Loss in Processes

Toronto, Feb. 18 —(CP)—Many Southern Ontario cities today faced another day of intermittent power blackouts and the probability that power commission men would continue to pull switches at intervals until the spring thaw restores shrunken water supplies in lakes and streams which feed the generating plants' big turbines.

From a dozen communities came reports of loss in industrial processes, of food destroyed, of inconvenience in hospitals and of confusion on streets and highways when traffic lights blacked out and police radio systems went off the air.

Without warning, power cutoffs started in Toronto Monday and spread swiftly to other communities in Central and Western Ontario.

Officials of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission said that in Toronto the cutting off of power was to be "the last resort, not the first." The said Toronto hydro heads could have banned use of electricity in heating equipment and could have appealed to industries to stagger hours or institute night shifts.

Assumes Responsibility

Premier Drew said that even after the switch - pulling started in Toronto — E. M. Ashworth, general manager of the Toronto system, assumed responsibility for the unannounced cutoffs—Ontario Commission officials suggested to Toronto hydro men other ways in which power conservation could be effected.

Bernard Lloyd Given Suspended Sentence

Sixteen-year-old Bernard Lloyd of the Village of Marmora was sentenced in that village Tuesday afternoon for the wounding of his father during a family argument with a 22-calibre rifle. The shooting occurred on the morning of Jan. 13.

The boy, who shot his father in defence of his mother, was given a 2½-year suspended sentence and was placed in the hands of Capt. Ruston of the local Children's Aid Society. The boy was represented at the hearing by R. D. Arnott, Belleville barrister, who was employed by the citizens of Marmora. Four character witnesses were present at the Lloyd trial, which was tried by Magistrate J. L. Lloyd of Northbrook.

SAYS HE CARRIED 390-POUND SAFE

London, Feb. 18—(CP)—Alex Wallace Beer, 145 pounds, claimed he carried off without help a safe weighing 390 pounds from a local restaurant. He pleaded guilty to breaking in and stealing $400 in the safe. He was sentenced to 12 months definite and 12 months indefinite.

German War Bride Now in Canada Once Was Slapped by Goering

Brantford, Feb. 18 — (CP) — First German war bride to arrive here, Mrs. Bert Cudney once was slapped by Hermann Goering.

The 20-year-old woman, her maiden name is Gisel, told this story:

While attending one of the training camps of the compulsory German youth organization for girls she showed a lack of interest in the organization.

Goering was inspecting the camp. Strutting, he lectured her on the proper attitude of women toward the "new order."

Then, he hauled off and slapped her across the face.

Her attitude toward the Nazi party: "I am a Catholic, a good Catholic, so I was not a Nazi."

Mrs. Cudney's parents didn't fare any better. They were fined $9 a week for neglecting to attend Nazi meetings.

A native of what now is the Russian zone of Germany, her dislike for the Russians led to her meeting with her husband.

She fled the Russian zone to the United States zone where she met Mr. Cudney, then a sergeant in the United States Army. Occupation laws required that their marriage last December take place twice — once before a German justice of the peace and again before a United States chaplain.

She arrived here recently with her husband. He was born in the United States but was raised here where they intend to make their home.

New Leader Gets Support From All Opposition Parties

De Valera Has Headed Eire's Government for 15 Years

Dublin, Eire, Feb. 18 — (AP)— John A. Costello today was elected Prime Minister of Eire a few minutes after parliament defeated Eamon De Valera's bid for reelection.

The 65-year-old De Valera had headed Eire's government since 1932.

He mustered only four votes outside his own party, the Fianna Fail (Soldiers of Destiny), in his bid for return to power. He lost 70 to 75.

Costello, 56, a Dublin lawyer, was nominated for prime minister and was supported by five opposition parties.

The vote for Costello was 75 to 68.

Fianna Fail is six votes short of the necessary 74 - seat dail (parliamentary) majority, having lost its margin in the Feb. 4 general elections. De Valera had expected to recoup by getting a half-dozen National Labor party and Independent votes.

But the gaunt prime minister's hopes were dashed last night when five National Labor party deputies suddenly switched to the anti-De Valera coalition.

The principal opposition seemed to grow from resentment at De Valera's long term in office. De Valera opposed a coalition government in his campaign speeches and said he would resign if his party did not get a majority.

Lined up in opposition to him were the Fine Gael (31 seats), headed by Gen. Richard Mulcahy; the Farmers (seven seats); Clann Na Poblachta (Republicans - 10 seats); National Labor (five seats) and Labor (14 seats).

Political observers were dubious as to how long the Conservative Fine Gael Party would work in harness with the Socialist-inclined labor and republican parties. Both of these favor drastic monetary reforms.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Feb. 18 (CP)—Tempolar air over the prairies and pouar air over the prairies and Northern Ontario this morning while readings above freezing are being recorded over Southern Ontario in the mild Pacific air flowing across the Lower Lakes regions. The boundary of the cold air is bulging slowly southward toward Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence Valley this morning, but over the north central plains of the United States the polar air is retreating slowly northward again. From the latest weather map it looks as though the colder air will slip south of Toronto during tonight, but Thursday should find us again in the milder Pacific flow.

$30,000 JEWELRY STORE ROBBERY BAFFLES POLICE

Three Masked Gunmen Bind, Gag the Owner and Three Employees

Montreal, Feb. 18 (CP) — Detectives combed Montreal's underworld today for a tip that would lead to the arrest of three masked gunmen who netted nearly $30,000 yesterday in the largest and most daring holdup here in several years.

The bandits—with drawn guns —entered a jewelry manufacturing firm located in the second floor of the Southam building on downtown Bleury Street, bound and gagged the owner and three employees and made off with cash, gold, rings and diamonds.

The robbery occurred while Moses Lasker, owner of the jewelry manufacturing and diamond importing firm, was working on designs with his three employees.

The door suddenly burst open and the bandits, their faces masked and each carrying a gun, came in. While one stood guard, watching the corridor, his two partners tied and gagged the victims.

The safe was open at the time and the bandits took their time in selecting the valuables. They scooped up $1,500 in cash, $1,200 in powdered gold and about $27,000 worth of rings, cut and uncut diamonds.

After ransacking the premises the gunmen locked the door leaving Lasker and the employees on the floor.

Lasker succeeded in freeing himself and called police.

He told detectives the bandits rummaged through the office for more than half an hour, carefully selecting the jewelry they wanted.

He said one of the bandits was six feet tall and wore an army greatcoat while the other, a little shorter, had a three-quarter length parka coat with a fur collar.

HOLES IN PAVEMENTS CAUSE COMPLAINTS

Winter fills in street excavations which have sunk to make holes in the street are causing complaints from motorists. Holes have appeared in streets in many parts of the city, the department of public works being notified as soon as they appear. One motorist this morning complained of his car striking a hole in the pavement, resulting in a broken spring and a blowout to his tire.

ASHES CAUSE BLAZE

Hot ashes which had been dumped into a cardboard box and then placed on a back verandah resulted in a small blaze at 143 Pinnacle Street early this morning. Firemen answered the alarm turned in at 2:45 in the morning and quickly extinguished the blaze. The fire caught in a cupboard sitting near the box of ashes.

Season's Make At Albert Factory Scores First Grade

Something of a record in the way of top grade cheese manufacturing was established during the past making season by F. W. Brennan, maker for the Albert Cheese Factory, north of Marysville, when the entire season's make scored first grade.

A total of 3,200 cheese, or approximately 288,000 pounds scored 100 per cent. The Albert factory was the only one in the Bay of Quinte district to achieve a perfect grading for the year. The average score for Ontario was 92,798 and the average for all Canada 92,556.

Mr. Brennan who has been maker at the Albert factory for the past 33 years, paid tribute to the factory patrons for his high score, stating that the high quality milk received at the factory was what made the achievement possible.

President of the factory is Jerry Wring with W. J. Walsh as secretary. The cheese are graded in Belleville.

Boy Scout Week Observed By Kiwanis Club

Boy Scout Week was fittingly observed on Tuesday at the Kiwanis Club luncheon at Kiwanis Centre when Fred Churchill, Scout Master of the troop sponsored by the club was the principal speaker, his subject being "Scouting." Previous to the address a film was shown depicting the abject want of children in Europe and run in conjunction with the "Appeal for Children" fund. The film was most instructive and showed that children in Europe are in dire need.

Mr. Churchill outlined the life of Baden-Powell with respect to the founding of scouting, stating that the books he had written on scouting are among the best sellers and only the Bible is printed in more languages than the one issued by the Scout Leader. The speaker stated that it was necessary to trust a boy and find out what he was interested in and allow him to use his own initiative. "The moral factor should start in the boy's home said the speaker. He claimed that a boy must have training all through his life and this was the greatest essential. Mr. Churchill stated that only in rare cases were the resources of a boy found out by his father.

The speaker was introduced by Bill Doyle and Kiwanis appreciation was expressed by Norman Edwards. Ted Schwab conducted the meeting with Vic White as song leader and Phil Huddlestone at the piano. Fred Rawson was the fine taker.

NO BLACKOUTS IN OTTAWA

Ottawa, Feb. 18 (CP) — The only city in Ontario to have automatic induction regulators, Ottawa is able to reduce electric power consumption without experiencing "blackouts."

This was disclosed by S. W. Canniff, general manager of the Ottawa Hydro-Electric Commission yesterday.

By use of the regulators, he said, it was possible to make a seven per cent reduction in the voltage supplied, which results in a reduction of approximately 10 per cent in kilowatt hours.

A very successful Valentine bridge and euchre party was held Monday evening in the assembly room of King George School, sponsored by the Home and School Finance Committee.

Prizes for bridge were won by Mrs. Larry Hopkins and Mr. C. D. Lunday, with the consolation going to Mr. Jack Allin. Winners at the euchre tables were Mrs. M. A. Wodzak and Mr. Charles Tice, with a consolation prize being awarded Mrs. E. Vesterfelt.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harry Brodie and her committee, bringing to a close a very pleasant social event.

Sale of Licences Slow in City

Sales of motor vehicle and drivers' licences at the Belleville office have been slow since the beginning of the year with only a small percentage of the total number of licences yet sold, it was reported here today by Fred Symons, local licence issuer.

"Unless the tempo of sales is stepped up considerably during the last part of the month there will be a tremendous rush for licences at the end of February." Mr. Symons warned. "It is just possible that our office facilities will not be able to handle the last minute rush of motorists to get their licences.

Although no official word had been received as to the deadline for 1947 markers, it is generally considered that starting March first 1948 markers will be necessary.

HERDED INTO BEDROOM

Philadelphia, Feb. 18 (AP) — Caleb F. Fox, Jr., Philadelphia banker and sportsman, was robbed of $40,000 in valuables by 4 masked bandits who invaded his home early today, police reported. The thugs herded the seven persons in the house into a bedroom tied them up and left them there while they ransacked the house. The loot included fur coats, jewelry, silverware and other valuables.

Power Shut-offs Necessary Despite Complaints Says Utilities Manager

Industrial employees in the city are not taking kindly to the power shut-off which commencing today will result in their losing 2 hours work each day, it was reported today by industrial heads. The complaint in turn was made known to officials of the local public utilities commission who ordered the power interruptions as a measure to conserve electrical power.

"We appreciate that the power interruptions will affect the workers' pay envelopes," stated Mr. O. H. Scott, utilities manager, "but there is just nothing we can do about it. We must save the power."

"And the answer to the problem is for the workers to go home and cut off lights and unnecessary electrical appliances. If sufficient power was saved in the homes and in business places, possibly there would be no need for industrial power cut-offs."

Mr. Scott was of the opinion that considerable power could be saved if the full co-operation of the householders was given. He felt too that many of the stores could cut their power consumption without seriously interfering with their business.

"After all," he said, "these power shut-offs affect the merchants in that the workers have just that much less money to spend."

As result of the power interruption at 4:30 in the afternoon, at least one of the largest department stores in the city will close for the day at that time on Thursday and Friday, it was learned today. However, it is not known if this practice will be general in all stores.

In the opinion of this merchant it would be almost impossible to keep large stores open when power interruptions go into effect so late in the afternoon. And it would not pay to re-open stores for the other half hour before the regular closing time.

Brigadier Genet Addresses Club

The regular monthly supper meeting of St. Andrew's Men's Club was held in the Sunday School rooms Tuesday evening when guest speaker for the occasion was Brigadier J. Genet of Rednersville, formerly Chief Signals Officer with the Headquarters Staff of the Canadian Army.

Speaking of his 34 years' experience in the permanent force of the Canadian Army, Brigadier Genet referred to the various personalities he had met, including top ranking army officers and world politicians. The speaker was introduced by Ed. Rutherford with club thanks being expressed by Richard Hart.

President J. MacKenzie presided over the meeting with Roy Wilcox as song leader and W. P. Youdale acting as piano accompanist. Dinner was served by Mrs. Gordon Shaw's group of the Womens Guild.

Information Needed To Determine Number Of Bulls Required

As a follow up to the recent meeting in Belleville regarding the formation of an artificial insemination unit for dairy cattle in the Quinte district, plans have been completed for the holding of meetings throughout the entire district.

Mr. R. H. Graham, assistant director of the Ontario Live Stock Branch, will be on hand at the meetings to discuss the set up as well as answer any question the farmers may have.

It is expected that the bull stud will be located in the Belleville area and that local centres will be established wherever it is deemed necessary. A life membership fee of $25 will be charged with an insemination fee of $5.00 per cow. Membership forms will be available at the meetings and farmers wishing to join the unit may do so at that time.

It is imperative that all interested farmers be present in order that the committee may have an idea as to the number of bulls that will be needed in the district as well as the number of centres that must be organized. It has definitely been proven in the past few years that it costs in the neighborhood of $150 to keep a bull, why not replace the bull at home with a good cow that will be bringing in money. Although bulls as yet have not been purchased, it has been the policy in the formation of other units to purchase only bulls with outstanding production records behind them.

Meetings will be held on Tuesday, February 24th, either in the Community Hall, Stirling, at 1.30 p.m., or Thurlow Township Hall, Cannifton, at 8.30 p.m.

NOT SO MANY CHICKS

The United States Agriculture Department reported today that the modern, mechanical "mothers" aren't doing so well. The fuel oil shortage, you know.

That, coupled with a drop in demand, caused commercial chick output in January to drop nine per cent below that of Jan. 1947, the department said.

Jack Sullivan Placed in Charge Barbara's Medals

Zurich, Switzerland, Feb. 18— (CP)— "The box" and I were up early today, prepared for another nerve-wracking day. The first thing was a quick peak at the contents of the light brown box.

Barbara Ann Scott's Olympic gold medal still was there with an Olympic torch surrounded by five Olympic rings on the front and inscribed: "Citius Altius Fortius." The reverse inscription was "Vmes Jeux Olympiques D'Hiver St. Moritz 1948."

Flanking it was the world championship medal. A little larger than a half dollar, it has the figure of a woman figure skater on the front and the words "Palmevi Meruit Ferat." On the back is inscribed: "Lady Champion of the World Davos 1948."

Also safe was the Ottawa star's European medal. It is a little larger than the Davis award and also had a figure skater and the inscription "Palman Qui Meruit Ferat" on the front and the words "Lady Champion of Europe, Praha (Prague) 1948," on the back.

Attached to the latter is another medal in bronze. This one was given to all the Prague competitors. It is the biggest of the lot with a map of Prague on the front and a plain reverse side. There also is a silver tray awarded the champion at Davos. Inscribed on it are the words: "World Championship in Figure Skating Davos First Prize."

Over breakfast I had a heart to heart talk with the contents of the box.

"Look," I said, fingering the Olympic medal Barbara Ann won so brilliantly. "You and your pals just take things easy from here in."

"I promised the champ I would get you to London and put you on a Canada-bound plane.

"When you get to London you will be insured to the hilt, done up in fancy paper, and forwarded to the champ's hometown. She will claim you from doting citizens on her return.

"So let us never lose sight of each other until you are put on the plane."

Continue Search For Eight Missing U.S. Sailors

Aboard the United States Aircraft Carrier Midway Off Hyeres Roads, France, Feb. 18—(AP) — The 45,000-ton Midway will stay here another two days while search is continued for the bodies of eight missing men believed drowned in a launch accident Monday night.

The missing men — one officer, a Marine and six seamen — were part of the big carrier's 3,500-man complement. They were returning from a farewell party given at the small island of Hyeres when the accident occurred.

Fifty-three other men of the Midway were rescued from the water off the French Riviera.

Investigators aboard ship were trying to learn from survivors what caused the accident. Initial reports indicated a freak sea had quickly filled the 50-foot motor launch while leaving it upright and intact. A rescue boat was damaged when it rammed the launch later, in the dark.

London Taxi Hits Car Carrying Royal Couple

London, Feb. 18 —(AP)— A limousine carrying Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip was hit by a taxi today. No one was injured. The accident occurred at busy Hyde Park corner near Buckingham Palace.

The car was undamaged and after a short delay the Duke drove off. The taxi's rear mudguard was slightly buckled.

The Duke and Princess were driving from their home at Kensington Palace to Buckingham Palace. The Duke later motored to the admiralty for his regular duties.

IN MEMORIAM

MURRAY—In loving memory of my father Mr. John Murray, who passed away one year ago, Feb. 18th., 1947.

One year has passed and gone,
Since the one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth,
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we placed upon his grave
May wither and decay,
But the love of him who sleeps beneath,
Shall never fade away.

Always remembered by daughter Marguerite and son-in-law Ernest. F18

GOULD—In loving memory of a dear brother, William Joseph Gould, who left us Feb. 18th., 1947.

When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear brother, how we think of you
Friends are friends if they are true;
We lost our best friend, when we lost you.

Loving sister Mae and family.

MURRAY—In loving memory of a dear husband John, and father who passed away Feb. 18th., 1947.

Sometimes a note of an old-fashioned song,
Brings us a thought of you,
Sometimes a flower as we pass along,
Or sky that is azure blue,
Or a silver lining in the clouds,
When the sunshine's peeping through.

Ever remembered by his wife and family. F18

MURRAY—In loving memory of a dear father, John Patrick, who passed away Feb. 18th., 1947.

In tears we saw you sinking,
And watched you fade away,
God knows how much we miss you
As it dawns one year today.
We think of you in silence,
And oft repeat your name,
But all that is left to answer,
Is your picture in a frame.

Ever remembered by his daughters and sons-in-law. F18

Attempt to Seize Territory Termed One of Aggression

Santiago, Feb. 18— (AP)—President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla of Chile warns that any attempt by a foreign power to seize territory claimed by Chile in the Antarctic will be considered an "aggression against all the nations of the Americas."

Gonzalez Videla made this statement during an address to Chilean troops guarding tiny Greenwich Island, centre of a dispute involving Britain and Chile. Britain claims the island. The full text of his remarks — made on arrival there yesterday — was issued here early today.

"The bad habits of antiquated European imperialisms," the Chilean president asserted, "threaten with armed violence to seize these lands of ours from Chile and America."

(The text did not say whether his remarks were intended to refer to the Monroe Doctrine of the United States which defines foreign interference in any of the Americas as an unfriendly act and a violation of American peace and safety.)

Britain recently protested against Chilean activities in the Antarctic and announced she will support British Governor Miles Clifford of the Falkland Islands, whose administration covers Greenwich, far down on the rim of Antarctica.

Britain has sent the 8,000-ton cruiser Nigeria into the Antarctic to "show the flag."

"Many times in history," Gonzalez Videla Kyaid, "Chile has known how to face with serene dignity such threats of aggression which disturb the peace and security of its people. But America does not live today disarmed and disunited in such a way that aggression by a power of an outside continent can come about.

"Those who are ruled by the nervous strain of a convulsed Europe . . . trampling the principles of the United Nations Charter and American international law, must remember this and weigh carefully that such aggressions are aimed against all the nations of the Americas."

(In London, the News Chronicle said yesterday that "uranium in the Falkland Islands is believed to be one of the reasons for Argentine and Chilean claims to British sovereignty.")

Argentina has laid claim to the Falklands. An Argentine task force is now en route to that area, north of Greenwich and off the Argentine coast.

Belleville Couples Honored by Friends At Plainfield

Refreshments were served by the ladies.

Ceilings Again On Citrus Fruits

Ottawa, Feb. 18 (CP) — The Prices Board today announced reimposition of markup control on oranges, grapefruit, limes, lemons and tangerines in a move to clip dealers who have been taking "unreasonably" high margins of profit on citrus fruit sales.

The controls become effective Thursday.

Officials said the action was in line with the government's policy of imposing markup — margin of profit—control on those imported fruits and vegetables now under import restrictions.

Toronto, Feb. 18 (CP)—Hog prices were unchanged at Hull, dressed, grade A, delivered, $28.50 off truck unquoted, unchanged at Stratford, grade A delivered to farmers, $28.55, to truckers $28.70, in markets reporting early this morning.

World Day of Prayer Inspiring Services At Madoc and Foxboro

Madoc. The Interdenominational World Day of Prayer was observed Friday afternoon in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, when ladies from the congregations of Trinity United, St. John's Anglican, Standard Church and Holiness Movement united with the ladies of St. Peter's congregation for the service prescribed.

Miss Vankleek, president of St. Peter's W.M.S., conducted the service, assisted by Mesdames Poulter, Earl Armstrong, McFarland, DeWolfe, Smith, J. McCaffrey and Miss Holmes. The address was delivered by Rev. M. W. Haslip, on the theme of the service, "The Lord's Prayer", and Miss Anne Nickle contributed an appropriate solo, "Peace I Leave With You". Mr. Stanley Hawthorne presided at the piano.

Foxboro—Mrs. S. C. Gay played quiet music for the World Day of Prayer service held in the United Church, and Mrs. George Priest opened the program by introducing the theme, and leading in "The Lord's Prayer". Other ladies assisting were Mrs. C. Bailey and Mrs. C. Beattie, Mrs. H. Wickett and Mrs. M. Reynolds. Intercessory prayers were offered by Mesdames W. Hodgen, J. Daniels, W. Scott, W. Wickett, C. Bailey, J. Juby and Earl Ketcheson. Mrs. E. Tummon read the Scripture lesson, and Mrs. A. Shorten feelingly contributed the solo arrangement of "The Lord Prayer" by Albert A. Malotte. Mrs. McMillan delivered the address. A generous offering was accepted and dedicated by Mrs. George Priest, and an inspiring service was closed with a benediction.

Anchor May Be From Wolfe's Fleet

Ottawa, Feb. 18 —(CP)— An antique anchor which may have helped moor General Wolfe's ships off Louisburg, N.S., before his successful attack of the historic port, fell into the hands of the Transport Department today.

Officials here received word that the department's icebreaker Saurel pulled up the old anchor and chain at the end of its own anchor today. The Saurel anchored off Louisburg last night.

Capt. William Poole, master of the icebreaker, informed department officials that the shape of the ancient anchor dates back to the days of Wolfe.

Minning Engineer Leaves $100,000 To McGill

Montreal, Feb. 18 — (CP)—A $100,000 endowment to create a scholarship in honor of one of McGill University's former professors has been made through the will of the late Ernest Hibbert, mining engineer, who died in Toronto recently.

The scholarship will be in memory of Prof. Harold H. Hibbert, brother of the late engineer, who served the university for many years as the E. B. Eddy Professor of Industrial and Cellulose Chemistry.

He did much to foster research in the pulp and paper Research Institute at McGill directed towards conservation and a better usage of Canada's forest resources.

The will, through which the endowment was made, provides that the scholarship shall be for research to be carried on at McGill but open to students of other universities.

The total value of the estate of the late Ernest Hibbert as outlined in the will is $1,122,942.

The will set up funds of $100,000 each to pay life incomes to Mrs. Beulah Cole Hibbert, of New Haven, Conn., widow of Professor Hibbert and Louise Hibbert living in England, widow of another brother, Arthur.

Legacies of $25,000 each, plus the residue of the estate to be held in trust to pay income, went to each of two nephews and a niece in England. A Finnish couple who worked as houseman and maid were left $5,000.

Fewer January Fatalities

It is good news to the people of Ontario that fatal accidents in the first month of this year were reduced by seven from the total of January, 1947, and 35 lower than in the peak year of fatalities, January 1941. Still there were 22 deaths last month in traffic mishaps and that number goes close to the establishment of a low record. The previous 10-year average was 32 fatalities in the month of January.

However lower the toll in life, it must be remembered that cold weather kept many cars off the road, the Minister, the Hon. George H. Dowsett, points out. He says, "Ontario drivers and pedestrians will have a hard time to keep this good record up unless we all make it a point to learn and obey thaffic laws. Everyone has some of the responsibility; every man ,woman and child in Ontario can help prevent death and injury simply by being careful."

The fact that cold weather kept some drivers off the road should provide thought for those who might have been using the highways and roads if the weather had been less severe. The fact that there were fewer accidents of a fatal character in January might mean if a law of average holds then some of those who might have used the roads would have been themselves victims of accident through the greater congestion or some of those who were driving the roads might have been fatalities if more persons had been driving the highways and roads. That puts the question directly up to every driver and every walker on the roads, that he or she must see that nothing amiss happens through their inattention or error of judgment or neglect to obey the rules of the road.

The story is very clear. Of the 22 accidental deaths last month, pedestrians bore the brunt of the losses, fourteen of the twenty-two being persons walking. Weather conditions no doubt accounted for many of these deaths but pedestrians have the duty to see that they do not cause death to themselves or others by failing to watch out for traffic.

One of the tragedies appearing in every report is that children are so often victims. Five lost their lives during the month on Ontario's roads, one less than for January a year ago.

Here rests a double duty, unusual care to be taken even by the child and of course by the driver. Special attention is being given to safety education of children, the Minister points out, through their teachers and parents with safety messages and lessons designed for the various age groups. That these school and home admonitions of warning have borne good results, there can be no doubt.

Whale Meat and Boat Race

Crews for the famous Oxford and Cambridge boat race, due to be rowed at the end of March, are training hard. A pretty grim problem has faced both of them — food; and they've tried out various ways of adding to their rations.

The Oxford team has secured a large quantity of whale steaks — hardly a substitute for the roast beef of pre-war years, but better than nothing. Last semester some of the men in the trial eights had frozen whale meat kept in the college ice box, and served to them with their dinner. This semester pretty well ,all the rowing men are eating whale.

Cambridge has bought a boat club cow, and members of the crew are learning to milk her! She's kept on a farm just outside Cambridge, and is making a welcome addition to the crew's one quart a week milk ration.

Bread and potato rationing have hit both sides — they get ravenous after a hard afternoon on the river and there's nothing much to fill up with. The race itself will use up 3,000 calories, each practice costs every man 2,500 calories. That doesn't leave much out of the daily United Kingdom average of 2,700 calories a day, to ride a cycle home. The Cambridge coach insists on a hot cup of meat extract — not rationed — immediately after rowing. He says his crew's psysique is just as good as pre-war, but they're not as well nourished.

Whale steak, when available is increasing in popularity with Britain's housewives too. All have their own ideas on how to cook it. The secret of the success of whale meat lies in the cooking. When it has been skillfully prepared and served with onions or suitable seasonings, many people have been deceived into thinking they were eating beefsteak.

Patience of Winter

Man evolves new instruments of power and increases his tempo of living. But Earth is infinitely patient and the cycling seasons follow their appointed rounds with unhurried regularity. Man gropes toward the ultimate sources of power and learns to speed himself and his products around the planet. Nature ordains the time of sowing and the time of harvest. In each cycle of time while Earth follows its course around the sun there is a period of rest.

He who will can learn a lesson in living from the patience of winter. The snowstorm that disrupts man's taut order of business means deeper, safer covering for the roots of trees and grasses. Meadows and upland fields sleep beneath protective cover. Valley creeks and pasture brooks make muted music as slow water flows toward the deepness of the sea.

You can feel winter's patience in the sugar bush, where gaunt, rough-barked maples stand guard around weathered saphouses. You can feel the quiet acceptance of winter in the groves of white pines and hemlocks. You can hear it in the subdued murmuring of the branches overhead. Walk along a country road and you can see Earth's patience in the scraggy lifted arms of the sumacs above snow-capped stone walls. Climb to a pasture hilltop and look across the sleeping valley to the mountains against the horizon. Winter is the time of patience and in the season's lesson is meaning for him who is attuned to the verities. —New York Times.

Alley Cats for Europe

It's no job for milk-fed kittens or pampered, pedigreed, pillow-lounging felines. Only terrible toms, screeching night-yowlers and Dead End kittens need apply to join the latest expeditionary force proposed as aid to Europe, says Minneapolis Star.

The American Feline Society would like a million tough alley cats to sign up for duty. They would invade the Continent some time this summer to make war on Europe's rats now eating their way into meagre food reserves.

This latest mode in expeditionary forces to Europe raises only one mouse-sized reservation.

What's an alley cat's politics?

We're just afraid they aren't up to the fine distinctions that divide the world between the "democracy" of proletarian socialism and the democracy of "capitalist-monopoly."

Isn't there grave danger they will roam beyond the iron curtain, to eat the satellites' rats — and so would clearly be playing the Russian game?

To be a Methuselah?

The Chancellor of the University of Chicago, declares that when atomic energy is fully applied to peacetime uses, it will make man live as long as Methuselah. It may be recalled that Methuselah was a son of Enoch and the grandfather of Noah. He is said to have lived 969 years.

It is certainly a somewhat startling prospect. Three score years and ten will become nine hundred, three score and nine. Insurance salesmen now have to pursue their clients through the years. Then they will have to pursue them down the centuries.

And think of the college reunions when the graduates of 900 years crowd back to the campus. The place will look a bit different after 900 years. But the memories will be there.

For the raconteur the opportunities for telling tall tales will be taller than ever. But the difficulties in finding an audience will probably be as great is now. It is all a rather dismaying prospect. We'll still settle for the old three score and ten. The briefer span will both sharpen our pleasures and diminish our sorrows. Let it be as it has been. — Montreal Gazette.

LINES TO AN ANGRY DAME

While driving home the other day
A woman in ill-temper passed;
What riled her so I couldn't say,
But oh, the angry looks she cast!

I knew not what had taken place,
Nor why to rage at me she chose;
But plainly stamped upon her face
Were evil words no lady knows.

Were not made shatter-proof the glass
Through which the names she called me flew,
It would have been a broken mass,
And I had been heartbroken, too.

Oh, lady, could yourself you see
With racing tongue and wagging jaw,
Never would such profanity
Flow from your mug as that I saw.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Who was Col. William Byrd of Westover?

Colonel William Byrd of Westover was the first American-born ancestor of Admiral Richard Byrd, Senator Harry Flood Byrd and their brother Thomas Bolling Byrd—Tom, Dick and Harry.

In 1670 William Byrd, the eldest son of a London goldsmith of the same name, went to Virginia at the age of 18, and later settled near the falls of the James River on a vast tract of land, inherited from his uncle, Thomas Stegg. This William Byrd became a prominent planter, merchant and Indian trader and served the colony as member of the House of Burgesses, member and president of the council of state, and auditor general. In 1691 he moved down the river from near the present site of Richmond and established himself at "Westover" in Charles City County.

His eldest son, known as Col. William Byrd of Westover, went to England for his education but returned to Virginia after his father's death and became a planter, lawyer, member and president of the House of Burgesses, receiver general of the colony, member of the council of state, and last but not least, one of the first wits and men of letters in America. Several times he acted as agent for Virginia in England, where he resided from 1697 to 1705 as a student and from 1717 to 1726.

Col. Byrd of Westover increased his land holdings from 226,251 acres, which he inherited from his father, to 179,000 acres. His slaves were numbered by the hundreds and lived in baronial style. He read the classics in Greek, Latin and Hebrew, had a large collection of paintings, and his library one of the largest in Colonial America, contained 5,000 volumes.

In 1728 he served on the joint commission that ran the boundary line between Virginia and North Carolina, and "The Story of the Dividing Line," deals with that experience and is one of the first American classics. He acquired a large tract of land in Carolina just south of this line and called it "The Land of Eden." In "A Journey to the Land of Eden," written in 1735, he relates how he "founded" Richmond and Petersburg on his own land. He also wrote "Progress to the Mines." All of these were first printed in 1841 as the "Westover Manuscripts." His secret diary written in his peculiar shorthand has been deciphered and parts of it published. It is one of the most curious and interesting documents in existence bearing on Colonial life in Virginia.

Col. Byrd was twice married, first to Lucy Parke and second to Maria Taylor. By his first marriage he had two sons, both of whom died in infancy, and two daughters. By his second marriage he had three daughters and one son. His eldest daughter, Evelyn, was a famed Colonial beauty. When she went to England she was presented at court, King George I couldn't resist the pun, "Certainly our colonies produce beautiful Byrds." She died unmarried in 1737 at the age of 30. Her father named one of his ships after her. "Evelyn" is still cherished by members of the Byrd family and it occurs in the names of many of them.

In that family it is always pronounced "EEV-linn" whether used as a masculine or feminine name.

Two of Evelyn's sisters, Maria and Anne, married brothers. They were the second wives respectively of Landon and Charles Carter, both of whom married three times. The three famous Byrd brothers of Virginia are descended from William Byrd, the only son of Col. Byrd of Westover.

NEW WAY TO GET HOME

Barrie, Feb. 18 — (CP)—Here is a new way of getting a free ride home when stranded. Someone broke into a railway storage shed at nearby Elmvale, moved a gasoline jigger onto the main line and rode home to Penetanguishene. The jigger was found on the outskirts of Penetanguishene.

Wallace-Backed Party Candidate Wins in Bronx

New York Feb. 18 — (AP) — The smashing unexpected triumph of a Henry A. Wallace-backed American Labor Party candidate in a special Bronx Congressional election handed Democratic party leaders a severe jolt today.

Third party strategists, on the other hand, were elated. Wallace himself, in Tampa, Fla., on a speaking tour, said: "This proves that the so-called third party can become the first party in 1948."

Leo Isacson, the A.L.P. nominee, captured yesterday's 24th district contest easily by rolling up more votes than his three opponents combined.

The victory, and especially its size, was amazing to political observers. The Democratic candidate was expected to win handily since the 24th district has sent members of that party to Congress for years.

New York State Democratic leaders were sharply interested, not only in Wallace's effectiveness but in the strength of the A.L.P.

Several large labor unions dropped out of the A.L.P. last month after it endorsed Wallace's presidential candidacy.

Isacson, a 38-year-old lawyer who will become the second A.L.P. member of Congress, won 22,697 votes. Karl Propper, Democrat, got 12,578; Dean Alfange, Liberal party, 3,840, and Joseph de Nigris, Republican, 1,482.

Wallace campaigned strongly for Isacon in the battle assailing particularly policies of the Truman administration with respect to Palestine. The Bronx district has a heavy Jewish population.

Mayor William O'Dwyer and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt spoke in the district for the Democratic candidate.

O'Dwyer and Mrs. Roosevelt declined comment, but Edward S. Flynn, Bronx County Democratic leader, blamed the results on Communist activity and apathy of many voters.

The election was called when Benjamin J. Rabin, the Democratic victor in 1946, resigned after winning a State Supreme Court post.

COMMONS MAKES

In the opening stages, Defence Minister Claxton reviewed arrangements for officer training and said it was hoped that as many as 20 per cent of the officers in the Canadian armed services would be selected from the ranks.

External Affairs, Minister St. Laurent indicated Canada will accept her full share of responsibility in any action taken by the United Nations Security Council to implement the partition of Palestine or avert further bloodshed there.

Labor Minister Mitchell reported that 2,642 persons were moved out of Nova Scotia during 1947 under his department's policy of transferring unemployed to areas where work is available.

Mr. Abbott promised to look into representations over reported delays in the payment of war savings certificates surrendered to the banks for redemption.

Throughout the currency debate, Mr. Abbott and Trade Minister Howe, who will share the administration of the act with him, were piled with questions by opposition members.

Mr. Howe said much of the "positive" side of the conservation program was aimed at making Canada independent of the U. S. in the manufacture of parts.

He also placed before the House figures which he said showed the Canadian motor car industry was not a drain on U. S. dollars. They showed that car exports in the 12 months ended last Oct. 31 totalled $79,618,398 against imports of American parts and other materials totalling $74,059,986.

The formula governing imports of electrical parts already is under intensive study and quotas for that industry will be announced soon, possibly before March 1 but certainly before April 1.

Wil Consider Requests

Mr. Abbott promised to consider requests to permit the entry of kerosene refrigerators used by farmers in areas where there is no electricity. Some 15 categories of items already have been shifted from the prohibited to the quota list.

He also said he would look into the cases of persons suffering from high blood pressure and diabetcs who claimed that fresh fruits and vegetables, now banned, were essential to their diets.

Revenue Minister McCann entered the debate briefly to report that his department had hired 20 extra employees, 100 of them women, to help enforce the regulations across the country.

Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) charged that the government had broken a "solemn undertaking" last year by Justice Minister Ilsley that the government would not use the Foreign Exchange Control Board action for purposes other than to restrict the movement of certain types of capital.

Mr. Abbott said there had been no solemn undertaking, merely a statement.

WHERE IS EVERYTHING INSIDE?

Every little while some poor geek inquiries in sombre language whether there is any help short of an operation for gastroptosis — if the poor geek calls it gastroptosis my first thought is gosh, maybe this case is hopeless, but if the poor geek call it sagging, falling or displacement of the stomach I think that maybe a few thumps on the back, at about the level of the 7th cervical vertebra, and a little lesson in anatomy and physiology, help the poor geek to get hold of himself or his stomach and learn to smile again.

The obsession that one's stomach or other internal organ has slipped its moorings and dropped, sagged or fallen from its proper place is not a happy one, and it must be frightening to the uninformed or misinformed, whether the "displaced" organ be the stomach, the colon, the liver, the kidney or the uterus. It is of course conceivable that the health or comfort of an intelligent person might somewhat suffer as a consequence, of some such ptosis or sagging of this or that organ, but in practice nearly all of the poor geeks who attribute their complaints or troubles to such displacement of one or more organs got the notion either from some dumb or designing doctor or near-doctor or from an X-ray picture.

Prior to the introduction of the X-ray even physicians assumed that the position of the stomach, colon etc., shown in those illustrations in old time textbooks of anatomy and physiology and in manikins was "normal" or the position the organs should have and any variation from the conventionalized position was abnormal. Quacks have capitalized on this error and still a nice hunk of business to it. X-ray laboratories that cater to the public and not to physicians get many customers because there are always people who like to be humbugged.

Studies of 1000 American college students in good health and without any intestinal or stomach trouble, showed that low position of stomach and colon is common in healthy young persons and does not cause any disturbance of digestive or other functions. A group of 100 patients with various stomach and intestinal troubles were found to have stomachs supported at a higher level than were the stomachs of a group of 150 healthy young persons in London.

Whatever name may be applied to it—gastroptosis (sagging stomach), coloptosis sagging colon), hepaptosis (sagging or displaced liver), nephroptosis (displaced movable or floating kidney) or viceroptosis (everything on the droop)—don't get downhearted for goodness sake. Just stand on your head and everything will fall right back into place, ker-plunk. Then take half a dozen rolls before breakfast every morning—I'm not kidding about this.

If you don't know how to roll 'em, send a stamped self addressed envelope and ask in writing (a clipping will not suffice) for Invitation to the Somersaultauqua which tells you how and why you should roll 'em every day.

One other bit of advice I offer every poor geek whose interior fitments gad about too much is this: Gain weight. Visceroptosis in a plump or fairly well nourished individual is as likely as a mouse's nest in the cat's ear, for the simple reason that in a healthy, well nourished individual the normal fat supports not only the kidneys but all the other organs that may sag, fall, or become displaced in the skinny individual.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

In the Baby Business

We are practically in the baby business now, as we expect our first baby about the middle of March. Can you send us your booklet "Preparing for Maternity" and "Brady Baby Book." The extra 50 cents inclosed may pay for booklets for other service men —we note you offer these bloklets free to service men or their wives who provide stamped pre-addressed envelope.

(Lt. J. G. and Mrs.—)

Answer—Actually, son, you've been in the baby business for several months. Husband and wife should begin from the very first studying what they both should know about the business—always together. Every little detail of the business is the concern of the prospective father just as much as it is the concern of the prospective mother. Keep it that way, son, and you and your family will make a success of the business of life.

The Medicine Cupboard

Why don't you compile a list of the excellent recipes or prescriptions you have given from time to time and let us have them in a form suitable to keep for references.

Answer — Send twenty-five cents and stamped envelope bearing your address, for booklet "The Medicine Cupboard." It contains many such formulas and instructions for home treatment of ordinary emergencies.

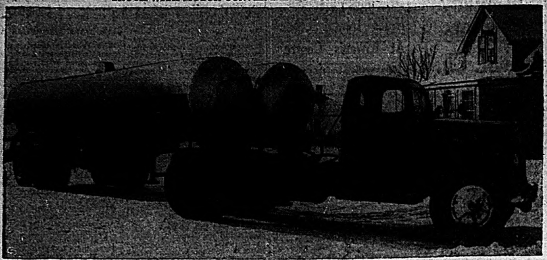
TRUCK WITH MOTOR CONVERTED TO BURN PROPANE GAS



This truck which runs 7,000 miles on each change of the crankcase oil, travelled 10,000 miles before having an overhaul and then only required a set of piston rings. Its motor is equipped to burn propane gas as fuel. Driven by Jerry Miller, Calgary, Alta., the tanker is engaged in hauling propane from Midwest Wyoming, U.S.A., to Regina, Sask., to be delivered to a firm which will sell the fuel for use in household stoves. The round trip is 1,800 miles, and since there are no places on the road where the truck can be refuelled, the running tanks are connected into the tanks which carry the main load. Each of the load tanks has a capacity of 2,500 gallons.

Canadian Press President Asks For Change in Law

Toronto, Feb. 18 — (CP) — Frederick I. Ker, president of The Canadian Press, yesterday requested that Justice Minister Ilsley introduce legislation at the current session of parliament to provide that charges of conspiracy to libel be tried in the province where the newspaper involved is published.

In a letter to the minister, Mr. Ker, publisher of the Hamilton Spectator, said amendment of the Criminal Code is necessary to assure newspapers of "the protection which parliament intended they should have and which is necessary to avoid vexatious prosecutions."

Similar petitions have been sent to Mr. Ilsley by the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association and the Periodical Press Association.

Mr. Ker's letter said members of The Canadian Press, national news - gathering co-operative, "view with apprehension the significance of certain phases of the criminal proceedings currently being taken by the Attorney-General of Alberta against Jack Kent Cooke and Harold Dingman of the New Liberty magazine."

Had the men, residents of Ontario, been charged with publication of defamatory libel they would have had the right to be tried in Ontario under provisions of section 888 of the code. Instead they had been charged with conspiracy to publish a defamatory libel.

Since every publication in a daily newspaper involves acts by more than one individual, Crown officers were now in a position arbitrarily to circumvent section 888 by charging conspiracy rather than publication. Thus, Mr. Ker's letter said, publishers, editors and employees of daily newspapers could by a technicality be deprived of the protection and advantages intended to be given them by parliament.

DEAR RUTH

Spanish People's Fear Of Warfare Aids Franco

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Madrid, Feb. 17—(CP)— Gen. Francisco Franco has one great ally in his political domination of Spain—the terrifying memories its peoples retain of the 1936 - 39 Civil War.

It is a wound that is often prodded. All open organized opposition to the present regime is stamped out with the explanation that ultimately any change would lead to civil strife. The mere through makes Spaniards shudder.

Sometimes in their clubs and cafes—where they talk with surpresing freedom. they gossip about the possibility of another regime, based perhaps around a royalist or at least a conservative oligarchy.

But such talks shows no indication of becoming general or organized, nor is it likely to unless it is speeded by some domestic crisis, such as uncontrolled inflation.

Furthermore, it takes place only among a few millions of Spain's 28,000,000 population. The majority, chiefly agricultural workers, show little interest in political affairs.

"We have a democracy of our own kind," said an earnest Madrid business man, who had just interference in his affairs.

"You can see people walking about the streets freely, cheerful and well-fed. No one interferes with them. They have security. You must live through a civil war to understand its horrors. People were denounced and dragged off and shot at a moment's notice. Houses were destroyed—families separated.

"If we sentence men to jail for political offences, it is because they otherwise would destroy that security and bring back those conditions of terror. We Spaniards are violent; we have not yet learned to do things gradually."

Course No Surprise

A two-year jail term for a woman who had an insignificant role in a plot to reorganize a former Socialist group—the leaders got up to 25 years—and sentences running to eight years for some university students who had a simillar idea, don't seem to strike the average Spaniard as harsh. They look on such people as enemies who would open the gate to Communism and civil war.

Franco has had nearly nine years to shape these beliefs. Newspapers harp on two ideas—hurrah for Spain and down with Communism! Although the Falange, Spain's only permitted "political" party, has lost much of its drive and influence, it still has an important hold on youth. Men and women in their 20's have come through the mill, their minds forcibly closed to any opposition arguments.

Youth movements and class instruction get them at a pliable age. Many of their own accord pursue these activities in university, where professors of suspected liberal views talk with care because of student informers.

One of Franco's trump cards is his persistent anti-Communist campaign. Because repressive measures have been effective, it is impossible to point to any man or group of men who might take over from Franco.

WEDDINGS

LAZIER—CUTHILL

Melrose.— A wedding of considerable interest took place at two o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, Feb. 7th., when Dorothy Gertrude, only daughter of Mrs. Laura Cuthill, Sillsville, and the late Mr. J. P. Cuthill, became the bride of Malcolm Edward Lazier, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lazier, of Melrose. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride, with Rev. H. G. Steers as the officiating clergyman.

Calla lilies, against a bank of ferns and other flowers, with pink and white streamers, were used in effective arrangement in the drawing room. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Wilfred Cuthill, aunt of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Bruce Cuthill, was becomingly gowned in a floor length model of white with a bodice of jacquard satin and peplum, featuring a sweetheart neckline and puff sleeves. The long, full skirt was of sheer chiffon over taffeta, and a shoulder length veil fell gracefully from a halo of net. She wore long white lace mitts and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white hyacinths.

Miss Phyllis Gilbert, of Napanee, was the bride's only attendant, wearing a floor length gown of sea green satin, with matching hat and mitts. She carried a nosegay of white carnations and cerise hyacinths.

Mr. Sherman Lazier was his brother's groomsman.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held when Miss Georgina Cuthill, cousin of the bride, opened the door for the guests, who were received by Mrs. Cuthill in a gown of black crepe, with a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother assisted ,wearing a gown of grey crepe, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Those assisting with the serving of the guests were Mrs. Bert Windover, Mrs. Bruce Cuthill, Mrs. Borden Young and Mrs. Harold Young. The bride's table was very attractively centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, and tall pink tapers, while a large white wedding bell hung over the table.

The groom's gift to the bride was a dresser set, and her gift to the groom was a gold expansion watch bracelet. The bridesmaid received a compact, the pianist, silver earrings, and the groomsman received a billfold.

For a wedding journey to Hamilton, Niagara Falls and other Western points, the bride chose a two-piece dress of brown bengaline, a beige topcoat with brown accessories, and wore a corsage of pink and white carnations.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Lazier will reside at Melrose.

Out-of-town guests were from Toronto, Port Hope and Belleville.

Roslin Women's Institute Sponsors Program Of Educational Films

Roslin.—On Thursday evening, a number of slides were shown in the Roslin School sponsored by the Women's Institute. The teacher, Mrs. A. Clare, ably acted as chairman for the evening and the following program was given, Community singing was enjoyed with Mrs. A. Bates as pianist; a recitation by Mr. Harold Hart, Gray's elegy "In a Country Churchyard"; a vocal duet, "Signed, Sealed and Delivered" by Misses June Sills and Shirley Morgan with guitar accompaniment was much enjoyed and was followed by piano selection by Mrs. Earl Gray.

The projectionist, Mr. Seeney, of Stirling, presented the following slides: "Warble Fly Control", this was a Department of Agriculture picture showing the destruction and loss caused by the warble fly and the benefits to be obtained by its control and eradication.

"Ski Skill" depicting skiers in the Laurentians.

"Hungry Minds", showed the facts one has to face in order to save the children of Europe, who are hungry, ragged and homeless and also growing bitter and suspicious.. They must have food, clothing and schooling. If we cannot help them, there is no hope for a future peaceful, friendly world for Canadian children.

"Reclaiming the Sea at Nova Scotia" an educational picture showing the building of sluice gates and dams to hold back the tide and make use of the rich silt soil.

The last picture was "Tomorrow's Children".

Mrs. J. Empson extended a vote of thanks to Mr. Seeney for his slides and to the young people who had assisted with the program.

Mr. Harold Hart on behalf of the young people, expressed appreciation to the Institute members for their kindly gesture in turning the entire proceeds of the evening over to the skating rink.

Refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

Wedding Gowns of Many Periods Shown in Parade Of Models at Bridge St. Ch.

Rev. D. C. Amos was chairman for "Variety Parade", presented last evening in the Assembly Hall of Bridge St. United Church, and sponsored by the Young People's Union.

"I'll Eat My Hat", a one - act play by Donald Vining, which formed the first half of the program, was a comedy of rollicking sequences which followed each other in rapid succession, furnishing considerable hilarity among the listeners in the large audience.

Following is a list of the cast, who, under the able direction of Miss Helen Sulman, entered whole-heartedly into the presentation of their respective roles:

Glen Barnum, an average husband—John Randle;

Cleo, his wife—Peggy Randle;

Nancy, a newlywed neighbor—June Dunham;

Mrs. DeVoe, a clubwoman — Marjorie Telford;

Mrs. Atkinson, another clubwoman—Ramona Eaton;

Voice on the Radio — Loretta McDougall.

During the intermission Mr. Harold McNish contributed two appropriate solos, "I'll Walk Beside You", and "Because".

Great Diversity

It would be impossible to mention each of the individual models loaned for "A Parade of Wedding Gowns," with Miss Loretta McDougall as commentator and presented to the tempo of suitable music supplied by Mr. Alec Gordon, which furnished the entertainment for the second part of the program. These models depicted the "variety" for brides over a period of more than a half century, displaying a great diversity of styles and colors, according to the dictates of Dame Fashion through the passing decades.

Opening the Fashion Show of wedding costumes was a quaint model from the days of the gay nineties, in a beautiful shade of blue, real silk, in a floor length model. The bodice was a tightly fitted basque, buttoned sedately down centre front, having leg o'mutton sleeves with lovely white lace over-cuffs at the wrists. The gored skirt was plainly prim except for a lot of back fullness, over which fell a narrow pleated "peplum" from the back of the bodice.

This was the wedding gown worn by Mrs. J. Pringle approximately sixty years ago, and was modelled by her granddaughter, Miss Helen Sulman.

Varying Length Veils

Entering upon the twentieth century, ivory and white shades predominated through the years, the materials being chiffons, satins, silks, and sheers, lace trimmed, hand embroidered, or adorned with pearl and crystal beads. The accompanying veils were of varying lengths, a preference being shown for the floor length, and the sleeves were short, long white kid gloves made up for the lack of longer ones.

During the years of the World Wars nursing sisters were married in their uniforms of blue, and two of these costumes displayed were the wedding dresses of "sisters" who were on active service, the first being Mrs. A. D. Archibald, a bride of 1919; the second Mrs. Bryson Leslie, a bride of 1940.

Other colored ensembles ranged through the shades of a deep cream lace, a floral sheer in orange and bronze, and a dark brown sheer, tightly fitted with self colored lace frills on an otherwise strictly plain costume; with this was worn a matching large hat relieved by an orange colored plume.

Outstanding among the more modern versions was a beautiful princess model of white jersey, with sweetheart neckline and long tightly fitted sleeves, worn by Mrs. D. C. Amos in 1940; a lovely white satin worn with her mother's veil by Mrs. John Randall in 1946; an ivory satin gown worn by Mrs. R. Berry at her church wedding in 1947, and another ivory satin worn by Mrs. H. Lloyd in the same year, the sleeves of which were trimmed with lace from a wedding gown worn by her grandmother in 1880.

Made in Paris

The highlight of the evening, and in a "contra-climax" to the blue dress of the nineties, was the white satin wedding gown of Mrs. C. E. Scott, (nee Miss Mackenzie) worn in Scotland in 1933. This gown was embroidered and made in Paris and was displayed at the British Empire Manufacturers' Exhibition in London, England, where it was much admired by her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth. The veil falling from a halo headdress over the entire length of the very long train, had a double ruching along the outer edges. the train and the veil being carried by small pages wearing kilts of the Mackenzie plaid, while the bride's bouquet was tied with ribbons of the same plaid. Unique? Aye, and very charming.

Following is the list of the "brides" who contributed their gowns for the parade, and the names of the young ladies who modelled them.

Dr. Jack Marshall Holds Dental Clinic At Kiwanis Centre

The regular monthly meeting of the local branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses was marked by a good attendance, on Monday evening. The President, Mr. C. B. Morgan, announced that plans are under way for the annual meeting which will be held in March. The Treasurer, Mr. K. L. Reid, presented complete reports which showed the finances of the order to be well balanced.

The members were favored by a short talk by Dr. Jack Marshall, who explained the work the dental conference is doing at the Kiwanis Centre, once every month ,where mothers bring their children from the age of six months for conference. The children are referred to their own dentist for any corrective work found necessary. Many cases of malformation have been discovered in the early stages, which, if not corrected, might have led to disfiguration, in later life.

Miss Dorothy Connor gave a complete report of the four-day refresher course which she attended in Montreal in January. The course was held at McGill University, and was attended by Public Health, Victorian Order, and Graduate Hospital nurses from Eastern Ontario.

Mrs. Warner reported for the committee on the Poster contest, which is being held to mark the 50th Anniversary of the Order. The schools have all been visited, in order to acquaint them with the plans, and the Poster Committee is satisfied with the progress that is being made.

Miss McGeary, nurse-in-charge, reported that 54 new patients were admitted, and 404 visits made in the month of January. Twenty-six babies attended the toxoid clinic, and 16 the dental conference; four weekly baby conferences were held, fifty-one babies attending in all.

Women's Activities

CARMEL W.M.S.

The February meeting of the Carmel W.M.S. was held at the home of the President, Mrs. Blake Pitman. The meeting opened with the repeating of the 23rd Psalm, followed by the "Shepherd's Hymn". Mrs. M. Ross led the Worship Service, assisted by other members who read Scripture passages. Mrs. Ross gave a few thoughts on "Bible Reading", and "The Beatitudes" were read responsively.

An article on Christian Stewardship was read by Mrs. Horton from the Missionary Monthly, and the offering was received and dedicated. Thirteen members answered the Roll Call. Parts of the program for the World Day of Prayer were assigned to various members, and it was decided to unite with the Cannifton ladies for this service. A short discussion on methods for raising money followed.

Mrs. Chas. Brintnell had charge for the program. Mrs. Hawes gave a reading, "Point of View", and Mrs. Brintnell synopsized the chapter from the Study book dealing with St. Jerome's first translation of the Bible, with John Wycliffe of England and with Martin Luther of Germany. An amusing reading, "Criticism" was given by Mrs. Norma Horton. The Mizpah benediction dismissed the meeting, and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

The World Day of Prayer was observed by the Carmel Auxiliary in conjunction with Cannifton ladies in the Sunday School room of Cannifton United Church. The inspiring program was led by Mrs. Trumpour, assisted by Mrs Harry Twiddy and Mrs. Blake Pitman. A number of members from each auxiliary led in the prescribed and in extemporaneous prayers. Appropriate solos were rendered by Mrs. Furmidge, of Cannifton and by Mrs. Sills. A brief address was given by Mrs. S. Homan of the Carmel Auxiliary.

TYENDINAGA EAST W.I.

The February meeting of the Tyendinaga East W.I., took the form of a pot luck supper held at the home of Mrs. Delbert Harvey, Friday, Feb. 13th., when despite stormy weather, a good crowd attended.

The Vice-President, Mrs. F. Hutchinson, opened the meeting and conducted the business. The topic, "The World is Taking Your Picture,—Look Pleasant" was presented by Miss Geraldine Mowers. Correspondence was read by the secretary and it was decided to send $5 to the Canadian Appeal for Children. Mrs. R. Stafford will be hostess for the next meeting, which will be held in the evening.

Mrs. B. Kimmerly had charge of the following program: Readings, "A Valentine" by Mrs. W. Bell, and "Be My Valentine" by Mrs. S. E. Winter. "Resolved that the city woman has more advantages than the Country Woman" was the subject for an interesting debate, with Mrs. F. Hutchinson and Mrs. C. J. Akey for the affirmative and Mrs. H. Sweetnam with Mrs. I. Morey for the negative. A reading "Why I Left the Farm", was given by Mrs. C. Akey and Mrs. Kimmerly conducted a musical contest, with Miss Geraldine Mowers as the winner of the prize.

The National Anthem closed an enjoyable program.

AVONDALE NEIGHBORS' AID

The February meeting of the Avondale Neighbors' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Leonard Reid. An inspiring meditation was read by the president and concluded with a prayer. Several "thank you" cards and letters from shut-ins, who had been remembered with candy or fruit, were read, also two very interesting letters from England. One was from a family, who had received a quilt, which the Aid made and donated; the other from the Matron of the "Sunshine Home for Blind Babies", thanking the Aid for donations, which had been sent some time ago and stating further assistance would be appreciated.

Several items of business were considered and reports were given of the various activities held during January, including a euchre party at the home of Mrs. Fred Denyes, and a turkey dinner, convened by two groups of the Aid, and held in the Masonic Hall in Belleville.

After a short sing-song, the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Several games and contests in the St. Valentine spirit were conducted by Mrs. A. Daniels and Mrs. T. Anger.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. S. Lough and Mrs. E. Windover, assisted by the hostess.

WOOLER W.I.

Wooler.—The February meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Nesbitt Haggerty with an attendance of thirty. The President, Mrs. P. Gooding, was in charge.

During the business period some arrangements were made for the social evening to be held soon in the Town Hall, also for the short course in Needlecraft to be held in March. It was decided to buy a piano bench for the Town Hall. Several brought their donations for the food parcel for England.

Mrs. Gerald Latimer and Mrs. Douglas Fox were conveners of the following program. Vocal solo by Mrs. Latimer; reading by Mrs. Alden Arthur; piano solo by Mrs. L. H. Rowe; and a Valentine contest by Mrs. Latimer. Mrs. Henry McColl demonstrated making a Valentine layer cake which was later served with the refreshments. Mrs. C. Dunn, Mrs. C. D. Cole, and the hostess served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Can you st any "formula" for an- ing this kind of question? ough I realize that each ion of this kind must be with individually, it seems e that it would be most ul to have a "handle" that be for general use.

have figured out that the ct "formula" for replying to ebe who asks an inquisitive too-personal question, one don't wish to answer, is to another question in return. puts the inquisitive person disadvantage . . . and deserv- so. For example, reply to much did you pay for your suit?" with "How much do think I paid?" Or briskly step that "How old are " with "How old do you I am?"

So Mother and I think it would be the best plan for my oldest brother to give me in marriage. But several of my relatives do not approve of this. Do you?

Leila F.

My suggestion is that you ask your oldest brother to walk with you up the aisle, and give your father the honor he should have of giving you in marriage. That is, when you and your brother reach the head of the aisle, your brother takes his place in the pew assigned to him on the left of the aisle, probably the second pew. Then, at the proper time in the ceremony, your father replies "I do," from his place in the first pew, either standing or, if he prefers, sitting. (This plan will, of course, be explained to the minister as the wedding plans are made.)

102nd Birthday For Trail Woman

Trail, B.C., (CP)—Mrs. Margaret Robertson, in her 103rd year is well and cheerful and likes nothing better than a good talk with neighbors

Today she recalls that as Margaret McLeod, 21, the news that Sir John A. MacDonald had called the first session of the Dominion's Parliament in 1867 was brought to her father's farm near Pictou, N.S.

Mrs. Robertson settled in Trail in 1915. She left Nova Scotia before the turn of the century to join the band of adventurers opening up the new west. She lived in Lethbridge, Alta., Fernie, B.C., (where her husband died in 1901) Michel, Nelson and Shore Acres, before coming here.

Each evening she sits in her easy chair, supervises household activities and chats.

To a reporter who visited her on her 102nd birthday and wished her good health and good fortune, she said:

"Goodbye to you, young man. Come and see me next year."

Lady Skirlers Have Own Band

Melbourne, Australia, (CP)—An "all-woman" bagpipe band is gaining wide popularity here—especially among Scots and folks of Scots descent.

Organizer of the band, dark-haired Hazel McLaine, describes the bagpipes as "a beautiful instrument," although fairly difficult to learn. She thinks that women can become accomplished pipers if they practise faithfully.

Miss McLaine learned to play the bagpipes about 17 years ago, in the Port Melbourne Ladies' Pipe Band, a memorial group formed after the First World War, and the first women's pipe band in Australia. When it was disbanded in 1933, she formed the present band which plays mainly for charity.

The bands consists of 25 girls—all with a "drap o' Scottish' in their veins. Twelve are pipers and the rest drummers. They practise once a week and wear the McGregor tartan.

Miss McLaine describes the bagpipes as "temperamental" —the weather affects the reeds to a great extent, she says. For women pipers they are generally adjusted a little to make the tone lighter.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

When a Wife Suspects Her Husband is Unfaithful

When suspicion of a husband or wife has been planted in the mind of the other partner to the marriage, there are only two things to do:

One is to bring the thing out in the open, talk it over, and try to get at the facts, so that if the suspicion is found unjust, it can be killed at once, or, if confirmed, dealt with as may be advisable. The other is to refuse to let that suspicion get a hold on you and, instead, retain your faith in the other person unless future evidence shows that faith to be unjustified.

There is, of course, an in-between course which, unfortunately, most wives seem to follow when confronted by suspicions of their husbands' loyalty. That is, to let the suspicion fester in their minds until it has poisoned their marriage relationship.

Because she adopted the first course and tried to get at the factse by confronting her husband with her suspicion, and failed, I hope that the young woman who writes me, signing her letter "A Desperate Wife", will not err in taking the middle-of-the-road position.

This is her story:

"This morning I got a telephone call from a girl who wouldn't give her name and who said that she had been going out with my husband. I told him about the phone call at lunch, and he said he didn't know who would pull a trick like that. She named several nights in the last couple of weeks when she said she'd been with him. They were nights when my husband was supposed to have been working at the garage. I sometimes call him there at night and he usually answers the phone, so I don't know whether he goes with her after he finishes at the garage or not. I don't know whether to believe him or her. I love him very much and certainly would hate to lose hom. What am I to do?"

One of the saddest things about this girl's situation is that she is only 18 years old, the mother of a two-year-old boy, and expecting another child very soon.

Under the circumstances, it seems to me that the only wise thing for this wife to do, at this time, is to refuse to harbor her suspicions, no matter what evidence there may be in favor of believing them, and determine to hold on as long as possible to her faith in her husband. To repeatedly question him and accuse him can only hurry matters toward a showdown in which the thing she fears may happen, and she might lose him. To brood over her suspicions silently will ruin any happiness she still might have. But if she is courageous enough to tell her husband that she knows he would never betray her confidence in him, and then try to make herself believe it, and act as though she believed it, it might very well bring matters to a happy solution.

Few people, unless they are worthless characters indeed, can go on indefinitely betraying a person who believes in them. If this husband is guilty, her faith may make him mend his ways. If he is not, she will always be glad she didn't treat him as though he were.

Custom of Buying Wife With Cattle Disappearing

Johannesburg, South Africa. (CP)—As natives take more and more to town life, old tribal customs —including the payment of "lobola" (payment of cattle) by a prospective bridegroom to the bride's father—are falling into disuse.

L. I. Venables, manager of the non-European affairs department of the Johannesburg city council, said in an interview that the reasons for this were the lack of parental influence on natives in the townships near Johannesburg, and economic circumstances.

"The system of lobola is not observed in the old tribal way, and in the majority of cases no substitute payments are made to the girl's parents," said Mr. Venables.

It has long been a custom among natives, particularly Zulus, to make payments of cattle to the head of the family according to his tribal status. The rule was the lobola varied from ten head of cattle for an "ordinary" wife to about 100 for a chieftain's daughter.

Mr. Venables explained that in recent years a new type of union, known as the Johannesburg form of marriage, has grown among the natives. Those who adopt it simply live together. Sometimes they paid lobola in the form of money, and sometimes they make promises about the payments but rarely fulfil them.

Affects Family Life

"This new development is an unfortunate one, and has serious repercussions on family life among the natives," said Mr. Venables. "The man very rarely recognizes his responsibility towards the woman and her offspring, and when this happens the women often forsake their children, with the result that there is a certain amount of anarchy among native children on the Rand".

Rand natives also engage in two other forms of marriage.

One is known as a marriage by civil rights, the ceremony being performed by a marriage officer duly appointed by the government. Under this system lobola is sometimes paid and a native is no longer allowed to practise polygamy, having to sign a document to that effect.

The other form of marriage, recognized for certain purposes, is known as customary union, and although regarded as legal it is not necessary for a native to renounce polygamy.

Mr. Venables added, however, that because of economic circumstances polygamy was fast disappearing from native urban life.

INFANT MORTALITY DOWN IN BRITAIN

London, (CP)—Official figures issued by the registrar general reveal that Britain has set up two records in vital statistics during the third quarter of 1947. Both infant mortality and stillbirth rates are the lowest ever known.

There were only 5,000 stillbirths which represents 22.7 in every 1,000 babies born. Deaths of children under one year were just over 7,000, giving a rate of 32 per 1,000 births.

ON SUSPENDED LIST

Toronto, Feb. 18 — (CP)—Police here are catching up with drivers whose licences are suspended. A special squad is checking between 3,500 and 4,000 in the area who are on the Ontario Department of Highways suspended list dating from 1941.

Fashion Flashes

BETWEEN - SEASON hats of fabrics are very pretty. Deep aqua blue silk is used for a turban, the fabric draped in swirls. At the right of center is a nosegay of rose-pink filowers. A pale pink veil ties around the neck with a velvet ribbon.

MIXING prints and plain fabrics is a favorite with ensemble designers just now. Navy blue woolen is used for a handsome dress with peg-top skirt and simple bodice with high, rounded neckline. It has a crushed belt of white silk crepe finely polka-dotted in navy. The print is used to line the jacket which is cut on loose lines, with the print turned back to form soft revers and turn-back cuffs.

NO MATTER where one may be — at home, en route or visiting — the good print dress is right in the picture. An all-over spider web design, printed in pink and silver-gray on black makes a handsome silk crepe frock, a two piece model. The long-waisted top has finely pleated, ruffled tiers over the hipline to contrast with a slim, straight skirt.

COMING IN strong, especially in high-style clothes, is the frock with a brief, wrappy, dolman jacket. Bright red wool jersey is used for a softly tailored frock with full skirt and simple bodice. Fabric tabs mark the soft shoulder line, and frock boasts a navy and white dotted silk tie. The short, wrappy, dolman is of navy monotone tweed with facings of the red wool jersey.

IT SHOULD BE a happy year for skirt and blouse manufacturers, since the shirt and skirt theme is everywhere, every time of day. A smart after-ski outfit consists of an ankle-length skirt of wool jersey in bold-striped purple, red, blue, gold and pink separated by a line of black. With it a pink wool jersey pullover.

JUST THE THING with full skirts is the little, waist-length battle-jacket of fur, say the stylists. American broadtail lamb and caracul are used for such jackets being readied for Spring.

That is why Canadian Appeal for Children is not only concerned with providing desperately needed food and clothing in devastated lands. Its aim is also to combat ignorance . . . re-equip "classrooms" (too often open fields or ruined buildings) . . . re-establish laboratories, libraries and training schools . . . enable doctors, scientists, artists and engineers of the future to regain the ground lost in the years of destruction.

To those lands in ruin now, the world is eternally indebted. They can make their contribution again — to our life and the life of our children — but only if we save their children now, give them new faith and courage.

This vital phase of the campaign is the special responsibility of the Canadian Council for Reconstruction through UNESCO — a volunteer body representing Canadian organizations which are active or interested in educational, scientific and cultural progress. They are undertaking special projects to aid teachers, students, scientists, artists, university students and faculty members, and to supply them with technical and material needs sorely lacking in war-devastated countries. The restoration of leadership is an indispensable step towards making the world of tomorrow secure for the children of today.

IF THEY ARE NOT SAVED,
OUR WORLD IS LOST

To contribute its share to feed, clothe and educate the world's children — upon whom the future of the world depends — the Canadian Appeal for Children must raise $10,000,000.

YOUR HELP IS NEEDED NOW. Any BANK will receive your donation. Since you may not be canvassed don't let failure to act be on your conscience — turn your sympathy and good wishes into a tangible contribution — go to your BANK and GIVE.

Of all the staple foods, milk has shown almost the least increase in cost. According to government figures the index for milk on January 2nd, stood at 154.1 against an average of 182.2 for all foods.

The price of milk is established by negotiation and consideration is given to the producer, distributor and the consumer. Thus it is also a stable price that does not fluctuate from day to day.

Milk is nature's most nearly perfect food. Today, it is the most economical food you can buy.
